MULES TRIM HARVARD IN BASEBALL GAME

Mansfield Pitches Fine Ball Until Injured

After being setback by the University of New Hampshire on Monday, Colby came back with a kick yesterday and placed the college in an enviable position in the collegiate baseball world by handing a 9 to 7 setback to no less a team than the Harvard varsity. Harvard had its off day, much the same as Bowdoin had an off day last Saturday and ten errors aided the invaders greatly in accumulating their nine counters. Captain Eddie McGrath as Harvard's worst offender in this respect, making four miscues at shortstop. Bill McHale was touched for nine hits by the Colby batters and walked four more. Bobby McNamara continued to lead the Colby stickers by garnering three hits in four trips to the plate. Herb Plumer, brilliant freshman first sacker also accounted for three hits while Wayne Roberts helped with two nice bingles, one a lousy double.

Ken Mansfield twirled good ball for the Mules for five innings, weakening in the sixth when he was relieved by Roberts who carried on until the eighth, Al Farnham finishing the game. Colby held the Crimson scoreless until the sixth inning when two hits and three errors gave Harvard four runs. Barry Wood got the longest hit of the game, clouting a triple to deep left-center field. For the first time this year the Blue and Gray outbatted its opponents, nine hits being

PAUL E. ALDEN, '18 ADDRESSES CHAPEL

Secretary of North Baptist Convention Speaks To Men

The chapel talk for last Wednesday was given by Paul E. Alden, '18. Mr. Alden is the secretary of the Northern Baptist Convention.

Mr. Alden stated at the outset that he was going to talk "in terms of a vision." He gave a view of the troubled world through "the magic door." The scene opened on Fifth avenue showing a band moving up the street and on the side a man, starving from lack of food, fall and be carried away by the ambulance. This was given as an illustration of the contrast of conditions existing in large cities. People starving in the streets and others paying outrageous sums to see a football game.

We were next given a glimpse of troubled Europe. Here it is clearly shown that "one generation can stand only one great war."

We were next carried to Japan and China and given an idea of the trouble and strife existing in those countries. We were introduced to Cagawa, the great Japanese leader, who said that any army that's afraid of being killed never wins a battle.

After our visionary trip, we were carried back to our own country with a somewhat new idea of the world's sufferings.

Y. M. Appoints Cabinet Members

At a meeting of the officers of the Y. M. C. A. the following men were appointed to the cabinet in the following positions:

Richard Cummings, '32, International Relations; Richard D. Hall, Meetings and Vespers; Frederick R. Knox, '32, Deputations; Harold F. Lemoine, '32, Conferences; W. M. Wilson, '33, Campus Relations; C. D. Brown, '33, Handbook; S. P. Mills, Jr., '34, Discussion Groups; Brittain Webster, '32, Publicity; D. F. Kellogg, '32, Church Relationship; H. F. Williams, '33, New England Field Conference.

As the ECHO goes to press word has been received from the Sisters' Hospital that Bernard H. Porter, '32, has passed the danger stage and is not seriously injured. Outside of a scratch on his face Porter bears no bodily evidence of having fallen from the second floor of the Physics Building Tuesday afternoon.

WOMEN'S DEBATING TEAM BEATS BATES

Resolved: The United States Should Recognize The Soviet Government

On Thursday evening, April 23, the women's debating teams of Bates and Colby participated in a non-decision debate on this subject: "Resolved, That the United States Should Recognize the Soviet Government of Russia." Miss Grace Ruth Foster, M. A., hygiene instructor in Colby college was presiding officer.

The affirmative speakers including Tina C. Thompson, '32, Muriel J. MacDougall, '31, and Gertrude L. Snowden, '31, all of Colby, developed three main points. Considering Communism ineffectual, they maintained the stability of the Russian Government; they asserted that non-recognition had failed, and advocated recognition which would be advantageous to trade relations with the United States; and they affirmed that we hinder world peace by non-recognition. The negative side of the question was upheld by Rebecca W. Carter, '33, Luella Jack, '33, and Edith M. Larrigo, '32, of Bates, who contended that: since Russia had not kept international obligations with other countries, there was no reason to believe that she would do so with the United States, and that our country with a policy of Non-recognition had more trade with Russia than those countries which recognized her.

SUCCESSFUL DEBATING SEASON BROUGHT TO CLOSE BY BANQUET

Annual Affair Held Last Night In Fort Halifax Inn

The end of the debating season was brought to a close by the annual banquet which was held Tuesday evening at the Fort Halifax Inn in Winslow.

The debating season this year has been of interest for several reasons. In the first place it saw the advent of debating for the members of the women's division. In the second place providing for compulsory unemployment insurance to which the employers shall contribute." The Colby team was composed of Frederick D. Poulin and Arthur W. Stetson. The decision was awarded by a board of three judges unanimously to the home team. The following day a Colby team consisting of George F. Sprague and Harold F. Lemoine debated the Con-for the first time in quite a number of years there has been an unusually large interest shown in debating as testified to by the considerable number that came out for that activity this year. The majority of the new men were from the freshman class though a few were from the upper classes. In all, the squad was composed of sixteen members, five of which were veteran debaters. This June three men will be lost by graduation, namely, George F. Sprague, president of the Maine Alpha Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, Rupert L. Loring, and Frederick D. Poulin. Of the four women who have been on the debating squad two will graduate, namely, Gertrude Snowden and Muriel MacDougall.

The debating season commenced in November when a Colby team consisting of George F. Sprague and Harold F. Lemoine met a team composed of two German University representatives. The subject of that debate was, "Resolved, That the principles of Nationalism are a positive evil in the modern world." This non-decision debate was held in the Alumnae Building before an audience of several hundred people.

The second debate marked the entrance of women into debating for the first time in the history of Colby college. This debate was between a Scottish team and our own. The debating teams were mixed in that there was one representative from each team on either side. The question under discussion was "Resolved, That the Principle of Nationalism affords the ideal basis of the organization of world society." The affirmative was supported by Mr. McCormick and Miss MacDougall while the negative was upheld by Mr. Wilson and Miss Snowden. This debate also attracted considerable attention and was held before a large audience. Like the other international debate no decision was rendered.

Three other subjects were debated by the various teams this year, making a total of five subjects. The first intercollegiate debate was with Massachusetts Agricultural College on the subject, "Resolved, That the several states should enact legislation necticut Agricultural College team and won a decision rendered by an expert judge. The following day they debated New York University in radio debate, which was non-decision. The next debate was a dual between Colby and the University of New Hampshire which decision was rendered to the opposition. The subject of all these debates was the question used in the Province of the Lakes of Pi Kappa Delta.

Another question debated was, "Resolved, That the United States should recognize the Soviet Government of Russia." This was the subject discussed with the team from Tufts College in a non-decision debate.

Debates were had with two colleges situated in distant parts of the country. The first of these was with Weber College of Ogden, Utah. The insurance question was the topic under discussion. Due to the fact that one member of the Weber team was unable to come to Waterville because of illness F. Donald Poulin, one of Colby's veteran debaters, debated with the other Weber college representative. The other debate with a distant team was the University of Florida-Colby debate. The discussion was upon the subject, "Resolved, That the Nations should adopt a Policy of Free Trade." The Colby team who participated in this non-decision debate as composed of Robert J. Finch and Frederick D. Poulin.

Two other debates were held, one with New York University and the other with Boston University. The subject under discussion in both cases was that of unemployment insurance.

The members of the women's team did very creditable work indeed. A dual debate was held with the University of Maine and with Middlebury College. The former was on the unemployment question while the latter was on the subject, "Resolved, That the talking movie tends to drive out drama." Debating relations were again opened up with Bates College after several years of forsores inactivity, for the women's teams of the two institutions closed the debating season by debating upon the question of recognition of Soviet Russia. INTERNATIONAL FRIENDSHIP SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

Dr. Wilkinson Speaks At Men's Chapel

Dr. Wilkinson's address before the men's chapel on Friday was the twelfth of a series on international friendship. "Nationalism," said Dr. Wilkinson, "is conspicuously a development of the nineteenth century." The United States had greater solidarity after the Civil War and so nationalism developed. In Germany we have Bismarck bringing about a spirit of nationalism and in Italy the same spirit comes to the foreground. Now we have the faint beginning of internationalism such as Tennyson dreamed of.

"The world state of which Tennyson dreamed and wrote will not come into being until you and I have gone to another and a better world." There are many impediments which must be overcome before internationalism will become a reality. The conditions in the Balkans hinder any such spirit. The huge tariff barriers are also factors which retard our progress.

In the world of economic internationalism you cannot say that there is much progress being made. This is caused, in part, by high tariffs which the Republican party in this country stands for. The stronghold of this high protective tariff feeling is in Pennsylvania. But from the lips of a leader in Pennsylvania business we have the statement that this tariff wall must come down. Business is strangled by the tariff.

High armaments also impede this spirit of internationalism. The armament race which is going on in Europe is unparalleled. Political nationalism is another great factor which hinders progress.

In spite of these impeding factors we find some progress being made. For example, Briand and his United States of Europe. "He is sincere, I think, in his proposal," said Dr. Wilkinson. Two states have acted. The economic bond between Germany and Austria now causes Briand to come out for economic unity for all of Europe. This will come in time and then the United States will follow.

There is progress in the field of disarmament. Next year another conference is to be held and the United States will aid in making it a success. President Hoover is a strong advocate of disarmament. The leaders of England are doing more to bring about this internationalism than any other leaders in the world. England is forced to because of her economic status. England realizes that another war would be disastrous to her. "Internationalism will come, but it is up to the college generation to hasten this day," said Dr. Wilkinson in closing.

GOLBY LEADS IN BASEBALL LEAGUE

Roundy Men Win First Two Series Games

At the end of the first week of play, Colby stands at the head of the league in the race for the Maine state baseball championship. Due to splendid pitching by her veterans, Mansfield and Roberts, Colby beat first the University of Maine, 4 to 3, and then Bowdoin, 13 to 6. These two victories leave Colby undefeated and in sole possession of first place in the league.

Bowdoin, by virtue of her two victories and one defeat, is in second place. She won from Bates, 7 to 1, early last week, defeated the University of Maine, 4 to 1, last Friday and then journeyed to Waterville Saturday only to be trounced to the tune of 13 to 6, by the sons of Colby.

Bringing up the rear of the league are Bates and the University of Maine. The latter team, considered by many to be the strongest club in the state, was unexpectedly upset by both Bowdoin and Colby and must turn over a new leaf in order to get back in the running.

Of course the season is still much too young for any predictions to be made, but the Roundymen have made an auspicious start and we feel confident that Colby will be right up in the running when the last man is called out in June.

Lemoine, '32; vice president, Hildred Nelson, '32; manager of men's debate, Robert J. Finch, '33; secretary-treasurer, Sumner P. Mills, '34, corresponding secretary, Tina Thompson, '32.

The newly elected president is the college's most experienced debater, being holder of the Order of Debate, Degree of Special Distinction, the highest standing in Pi Kappa Delta. He is also secretary-treasurer of the Province of the Lakes. For the past two years he has been manager of debate and was formerly treasurer of the society. MRS. LINCOLN TO GIVE PLAY READING

Augusta Woman Will Present "Enter, Madame!" Thursday Evening

All students in the department of Public Speaking have been invited to attend the play-reading by Mrs. Lincoln on Thursday evening. The Lyford speakers will also be the guests of the college for the evening's entertainment.

To all others, students and townspeople, the fee of 50 cents admission will be charged. For convenience of handling this evening, it is being looked after by the Faculty Committee on Visiting Lecturers.

Announcement is made by the Colby faculty committee on lectures that on Thursday of this week Maude Andrews Lincoln of Augusta is to give the play reading "Enter, Madame!" written by Dolly Byrne and Gilda Varese, in the Colby Alumnae Building.

While Mrs. Lincoln is to give this reading primarily for the 275 students of the college enrolled in the public speaking department who will have as special guests of the evening the 65 preparatory school boys attending the annual Lyford Prize Speaking contest, it will be open to the general public. It will be possible to accommodate about 200 citizens who may wish to hear this production.

Little need be said to Waterville people in regard to the work of Mrs. Lincoln. Her recent play readings before the Educational committee of the Woman's club were most enthusiastically received, especially "Green Pastures" and "Dutch Takes a Holiday." Mrs. Lincoln has just completed a course of play-reading in Lowell, and the press reports that the play "Enter, Madame," with which she closed the course, was the one most universally liked.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 29, 1931.

Several prominent educators believe in, and advocate vigorously, a more comprehensive system of education for the small liberal arts college. They see in the not too distant future a college in which a student will prepare himself for life after graduation by entering upon a deep and thorough study of some broad subject as Literature or History correlating the remainder of the courses to fit the major course. This means that a student would study, not a smattering of Economics, a little Sociology, perhaps a language and disconnected courses of all sorts, but would study in some one field of academic learning. For instance, if he chose Literature he would take, not merely different, disintegrated courses in that field, pass examinations and be done with the study, but would study all that comes under the head of Literature in any country or in any period of time. At the end of four years he would take a comprehensive examination on the entire field of Literature. The questions asked would require knowledge of anything at all connected with his major study. Thus when he graduated he would actually know his subject thoroughly and comprehensively.

Whether or not Colby College will ultimately adopt this rapidly growing scheme is a matter still problematical—but in the list of new courses in the English department we see clearly some innovations which tend to place less emphasis on cold, impersonal credits and more emphasis on the more personal and vital question of actual education. At last there will be on the Colby curricula a subject for which there will be no credit given on the Registrar's books, yet certain students must take the course. This new course will be known as English Composition 3 and 4. It shall be "required of any student beyond the Freshman year, of whose writing complaint is made to the Dean by any member of the Faculty." So here we see attention being paid to individual students, not that they may acquire credits, but that they may truly become educated, at least somewhat so.

Another move towards a comprehensive program of study is shown by the inclusion on a new course which will be known as English Literature 21-22. This will endeavor to make a comprehensive survey of the whole field of English Literature, "it will review all courses previously taken and will fit them into a harmonious whole." The course will be open only to Seniors and should go a long way towards summing up all of the Literature courses in the college and giving really interested students an opportunity to visualize the entire field with a perspective unmarred by the necessity of studying Wordsworth, then Browning, then something else absolutely disconnected. This seems but an indication of what may rightly be expected to follow. Why not a similarly all-inclusive course in History, embodying the whole field in a comprehensive manner? Or a survey of the field of Science? These matters are worth consideration because in a few short years Colby, as all other small colleges, will be faced with the problem of whether or not comprehensive study and comprehensive examinations preferable to our 100 year old slogan of "something about everything and everything about something."

THE ECHO POETRY CUP.
Last year the ECHO sponsored for the first time, a poetry contest which proved quite successful in its aim to bring out the talent that is apt to lie dormant in both divisions of the college. The Cup will again be awarded this year. The competition is open to all members of the college with the exception of seniors and the Literary editor of the ECHO who will act as one of the three judges. The other two judges will be members of the faculty, their names to be announced next week. Competition is unlimited as to subject but no poem may be less than six lines or more than 130. Also no poems are eligible for competition which have appeared previously in any other newspaper or magazine with the exception of the ECHO or the COLBIANA. The contest closes at midnight, May 13th and the winner will be announced in the ECHO of May 20th. Poems should be typewritten and sent, with the full name of the author, to the Literary Editor or the Editor-in-Chief, on or before May 13th. If a poem has already appeared this year in either the ECHO or the COLBIANA it may simply be clipped out and sent in. It must, however, be submitted in order to be eligible for competition in the Contest. The cup is at present held by Leonard Helle, '33.

MULES TRIM BOWDOIN IN LOOSELY PLAYED GAME

Behind the masterly pitching of Wayne Roberts, Colby batted out a 13 to 6 win over Bowdoin in a loosely played game last Saturday afternoon. It was the second Colby triumph in as many games and placed the Mules out in front in the race for State Series honors. Bowdoin had a most noticeable "off day," both in the field, at the bat and in the box. George Souther, veteran twirler, started on the hill for the Housemen but failed to last even for an inning. McNamara, leading off for Colby, was passed. Lovett fanned but McNamara stole second meanwhile. "Wopper" Deetjen drew a pass, then Captain Hedderic popped an infield fly over Parmenter's head, scoring McNamara. Charley being called out on an infield fly. With two away Souther was still in trouble after passing both Ferguson and Davan. With the bases loaded Roberts was walked forcing in the second run. Herb Plumer, brilliant freshman first sacker, then made a hero of himself by lambasting a lusty triple to right field that scored all three men on bases. With five tallies thus tacked up in the first inning Colby had things easy for the rest of the game with the exception of the ninth when Bowdoin scored six runs through some loose fielding and Ricker's two-ply clout.

The Mules kept after the Bears and added three runs in the second, Morrell going wild as Souther had in the first session. Ben Shute was sent in to stop the parade in the third inning and did the best job of the Bowdoin flingers for the rest of the game.

Colby added tallies in the third, fourth, fifth and eighth innings, mostly on Bowdoin's grammar school-like work in the field and Ferguson's three timely smacks. Roberts also helped his own cause by a smart two bagger down the right field foul line as well as another single.

Al Farnham, star frosh pitcher, relieved Roberts after Colby had the fracas well in hand and twirled great ball for the remainder of the afternoon. Farnham has plenty of speed, three years of valuable prep school experience and a world of stuff. With proper coaching he should develop into an outstanding boxman before his college days are over.

Bobby McNamara, diminutive right gardener had the knack of getting on the bases Saturday. He took free trips to first on no less than three occasions, also banging out a long two base hit to left-center. Mac also led the team in runs scored, crossing the platter three times. "Flank" Davidson, a most promising freshman, played a couple of innings in right field and looks like a regular for the rest of the season. He coralled a hard smash to deep right in the closing part of the game and pulled a smart bunt down the third base line to catch McKown hands down.

The Bowdoin team looked sleepy both at bat and in the field, although both infields did some sloppy work. Davan and Deetjen each making three miscues. Ricker did a good job for Bowdoin while Lewia, freshman catcher, looked good behind the bat after replacing Sonny Dwyer. The summary:

Colby Beaten By University of N. H.

Durham, N. H., April 27.—The University of New Hampshire won its opening game with Colby this afternoon by a score of 2 to 0. The game was limited to seven innings by mutual agreement due to the cold. The Wild Cats scored in the second when Chase doubled to left and moved to third on C. Hanna's bunt. Hanna was safe at first on an error and a successful delayed steal scored Chase. In the fifth Edgerly walked and went to second on E. Hanna's sacrifice. He counted on Gibbons' line single to center. Edgerly, a sophomore, pitched a fine game in his first varsity contest and whenever the visitors threatened he became invincible. Farnham, the Colby flinger, also pitched good ball, holding New Hampshire to four hits. Deetjen, third baseman for Colby, played an exceptionally fine game and succeeded in getting two of the three hits made off Edgerly.

Inter-frat Meet To Be Held Friday

The annual outdoor track and field championship for the Druid Cup will be contested Friday and Saturday afternoons. Not only will this be an interfraternity meet, but it will also serve as final trials for the selection of the track team that will represent the college in the dual meets with Middlebury and the University of Vermont, the State meet, and the New England. All entries must be in by Wednesday, April 29. No one is eligible for competition unless he has made a formal entry on or before this date.

The competition between the fraternities is very keen this year. The Phi Delt has Perkins for hooping the weights, and Robinson to do the jumping. The Lambda Chis are sure of several places in all of the runs. The A. T. O.'s, supported by Sprague, Pollard, and Flaherty, should be watched, and the K. D. R.'s and the Dekes will be heard from in most of the runs.

Following are the events as they occur:
Friday, 3.30 P. M. 440 yard run, one mile run, pole vault, discus throw, hammer throw.
Saturday, 2.30 P. M. 100 yard dash, 220 yard run, 880 yard run, two mile run, 120 yard high hurdles, 220 yard low hurdles, running broad jump, 16 pound shot put, javelin throw.

SPORTRAITS.

If the Colby nine continues its great playing, it should be a mere question of time before the State Championship pennant is ours.

After the first inning, the Bowdoin game was a farce from a baseball standpoint, but its many humorous moments delighted the spectators.

Wayne Roberts, star hurler for the Mules, besides doing a great job on the mound also was incidental in piling up a big score.

The wildness of the Bowdoin pitchers was responsible for many scores; and it seemed as if the theme song of the game was "Mmm-mmm-mmm Would You Like To Take A Walk?"

Although Charlie Hedderic didn't have the same job as in the Maine game, that is, talking the visitors out of a win, yet his spectacular catches of fouls gave the fans something to cheer about.

The diminutive Bobbie McNamara was passed no less than three times, each time starting the Roundymen off on a batting spree.

Herb Plumer, sensational frosh keystone sacker, was one of the stars of the game, coming through with a triple in the first inning with the bases loaded.

Ferguson was the big hitter of the day with his three safe smashes.

The log movement of the third Bowdoin pitcher caused many humorous remarks to emanate from the stands, as did the ragged folding of the Polar Bears. "Whoops my dear!"

Albie Farnham, the freshman pitcher, is turning out to be one of Coach Roundy's hopes in the coming State games. He pitched a great game against New Hampshire, allowing only four hits. Murph Davidson, the third freshman to get into the game, also showed his ability the short time that he was in.

This is the toughest week in the schedule with four games away from home. The team will have to put on extra pressure to take that Maine game Saturday.

DON'T TAKE OUR word for it, switch to Camels for just one day then quit them if you can. The moment you open the package you'll note the difference between fresh humidior packed Camels and dry-as-dust cigarettes. Camels are supple and firm to the touch. Stale, dried-out cigarettes crumble and crackle when pressed. But the real convincer is to smoke Camels. Every puff is a sheer delight of cool, mellow mildness; the Camel blend of choicest Turkish and mellowest Domestic tobaccos, kept in prime condition by moisture-proof Cellophane sealed air-tight.

SUCCESSFUL DEBATING.
members of the women's debating team were Muriel MacDougall, Gertrude Snowden, Hildred Nelson, and Tina Thompson.
The annual initiation and banquet of the Maine Alpha Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta were held Tuesday evening. The initiation was held in the reception room of the Alumnae Building at which seven neophytes were admitted into the fraternity. They were Gertrude L. Snowden, '31, Muriel MacDougall, '31, Hildred P. Nelson, '32, Tina C. Thompson, '32, Robert J. Finch, '33, Sumner P. Mills, '34, and Arthur W. Stetson, Jr., '34. After the initiation the newly elected officers of the organization were installed.
The banquet was held at the Fort Halifax Inn. Including members and invited guests there were thirty persons present. Professor Herbert C. Libby, '02, Debate Coach acted as toastmaster. After giving an outline of the history of Pi Kappa Delta, and stressing the value of forensic work he introduced the first speaker, Harold F. Lemoine, '32, president of the Maine Alpha Chapter. The next speaker to be introduced was George F. Sprague, '31, the retiring president of the Chapter. In presenting Mr. Sprague to the group Dr. Libby spoke of his splendid debating and other forensic abilities, pointing out the fact that one of the most outstanding and experienced debaters of the fraternity was to be lost by graduation. Other speakers were: Robert J. Finch, '33, the newly elected manager of men's debate; Clyde E. Russell, '22, who gave a most interesting account of the famous cross-country debating trip of 1922; Hildred P. Nelson, '32, vice president and manager of women's debate; Gertrude L. Snowden, '31; Arthur T. Wasserman, '33; and Frederick D. Poulin, '31, who has been one of the cleverest debaters that Colby has ever had. He has ever been ready and willing to fill in at a moment's notice and he has proven himself to be one of the leading, if not the leading debater of the year. Other members who were present were: Muriel MacDougall, Tina Thompson, Rupert L. Loring, Sumner P. Mills, and Arthur Stetson.

The rotogravure section of the Boston Sunday Herald for May 3, will contain a view of the Presentation Exercises on April 17, when the deeds to the new Colby site were presented to the college authorities by the Waterville citizens.
