

"A Visit To Colby" Shown

The premiere showing of the super-production "A Visit to Colby" took place Monday evening, March 13, in the auditorium of the Alumnae Building. The theatre, which was equipped with doormen, pages, ushers, and everything similar to a Grauman's Chinese opening night, was filled to capacity by a throng of eager students, alumni, and faculty.

The picture was accompanied by remarks broadcasted over the Colby system by Carleton Brown, who introduced President Johnson, the technicians and the stars of the picture.

A newsreel was first shown, presenting scenes from last year's commencement and class day exercises, the Bowdoin-Colby football game, Doctor Taylor's funeral and other items of interest to the students. Between the newsreel and the feature picture, Horace P. Daggett, '33, played the Rhapsody in Blue on the piano while his shadow was cast on the screen.

The feature picture, "A Visit to Colby," depicted all aspects of Colby life, and included interesting pictures of the faculty and most of the student body. The stars were Miss Mary G. Palmer, '33, Miss Lois K. Lund, '36, Mr. William M. Wilson, '33, and Mr. Robert L. Gilpatrick, '36, who all gave commendable performances.

Between the reels, the audience was entertained by a broadcast of the Tri-Tones, Kathryn A. Herrick, '35, Beulah E. Bennett, '35, and Beth P. Pendleton, '35, who sang their interpretations of "Darkness on the Delta," and "Moon Song."

After the movie, a short hour of dancing was enjoyed by the audience, to music broadcasted through the microphone.

Technical Details of Production

The Colby motion picture production which flickered before the audience Monday evening was the result of more hours of work and worry than most of the onlookers appreciate.

The idea started from a suggestion from Dean Marriner that some views of the College would interest high school students. The Director of Publicity took up the idea and began planning a scenario which would serve this purpose. He soon found that it would be beyond his own efforts and asked the Colby Camera Club to take on the work of production.

On March 19, 20, and 21, the Alpha Upsilon chapter of Tri-Delta will have as its guest Mrs. Amy O. Parmelee, who is present editor of the "Tri-Delta," the national fraternity magazine. A tea will be given in her honor on Monday afternoon in the Alumnae Building and she will be entertained by the sorority Tuesday night.

Tenth Annual Women's Banquet

The tenth annual undergraduate banquet of the women's division was held at Foss Hall, Wednesday, March 15, in the form of an arithmetical progression dinner. The decorations were black and white, and the programs which bore a Colby seal, were printed in small letters throughout.

Geraldine P. Foster, '33, as toastmistress and mathematician was very amusing as she introduced the following speakers:

First term of the progression, Dorothy W. Gould, '36; second term, Mary M. Small, '35; third term, Lois B. Crowell, '34; fourth term, Charlotte L. Blomfield, '33; fifth term, Ann Macomber, '31. Each of these terms represented the increasing knowledge gained each year at Colby.

The guests of the evening were President and Mrs. Franklin W. Johnson, Professor and Mrs. Carl J. Weber, Professor and Mrs. Clarence H. White, Miss Florence Dunn, and Miss Ann Macomber.

The Colby Trio, Beulah E. Bennett, '35, Katherine A. Horvick, '35, and Beth P. Pendleton, '35, sang several songs.

The members of the committee who planned and carried out the successful program were: Doris A. Dornell, '34, Dorris Moore, '33, Margaret B. Raymond, '34, Anne C. Trimble, '35, and Lois K. Lund, '36.

Colby Sons and Daughters Dine

This year President and Mrs. Johnson gave one of the best annual banquets that the Sons and Daughters of Colby have ever had. It took place last Thursday evening, March 9, at 6.30 o'clock. Formerly it was held at the President's home, but for the last few years it has been held in the Alumnae Building because of the great increase of members. Nearly all of the fifty-two members were present besides members of the staff who are sons and daughters. President Johnson as toastmaster told some interesting stories about the alumnae and alumni who now have sons or daughters at Colby. He introduced all the members to each other, and then asked the following to speak: Vesta L. Alden, '33, president of the Daughters of Colby, Mrs. Lester F. Weeks, Mr. Alfred K. Chapman, and George C. Putnam, '34, president of the Sons of Colby.

After the banquet there were many informal games. The radio furnished music for dancing. There were two pingpong tables, and some very lively games of volleyball were played. Vesta Alden, '33, was in charge of the amusements.

Mrs. Steele In Lecture Course

The last event of the Colby Lecture course will be held this Friday evening at the Methodist church auditorium with Suzanne Corbett Steele presenting Moliere's "School of Wives." Mrs. Steele, a graduate of Colby in the class of 1909, is a noted American actress and has gained much prominence in her performance of "one-woman shows."

Mrs. Steele perfected her interpretation of Moliere's play by studying under Mme. Dussane in Paris, and has received the praise of many leading dramatists both of Paris and the United States. The Charlotte (N. C.) News said of Mrs. Steele: "That a one-woman show can be even better than a three-ring circus was demonstrated last evening when Suzanne Steele presented Moliere's "School of Wives," so deftly and so convincingly that the audience quite forgot she was a lone actress and easily believed her to be the entire cast of seven characters.

The noted Colby alumna will arrive in Waterville this evening and is to be the guest of Dean Ninetta M. Rannala, a college classmate, while in the city. Several social functions will be given in honor of Mrs. Steele on Saturday, the day following her recital.

This seventh program in the Lecture group marks the end of the series for 1932-33. The lectures of this season have included many prominent personages, William Butler Yeats, Ronie Smith, Dr. Mazundar and Dr. Hsieh, and the recital of Mrs. Steele this Friday evening is sure to bring the group to a fitting close.

Professor Warren gave an interesting talk on the Theory of Nomenclature Charts at the regular meeting of the Chemistry Society, which was held last evening at the residence of Dr. Parmenter. Refreshments and informal discussion completed a most enjoyable evening.

Lambda Chi Alpha Holds Initiation

The fifteenth annual initiation banquet of the Colby chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha was held at the Green Lantern Tea Room on Saturday evening, March 11. The new initiates are: Robert E. Jenkins, '36; Howard C. Pritham, '36; John P. Hines, '36; Howard O. Sweet, '36; James N. Buckner, '36; and George H. Holbrook, '36.

Robert F. Allen, assisted by Floyd P. Ludwig and Henry R. Thomas, made arrangements for the banquet. The toastmaster of the evening was Arthur L. Stebbins, '30. Edwin E. Getchell, '34, gave the greetings to the initiates. The address of acknowledgment was given by Robert E. Jenkins. Charles Sinclair, '34, the delegate from the University of Maine, told of the accomplishments of Beta Zeta during the past semester in rushing, in athletics, and in scholarship.

Professor Walter N. Breckenridge, the speaker of the evening, gave an excellent speech on the needs of the fraternities of today. He spoke of loyalty, friendship, and cooperation as necessary qualities of a well organized fraternity. He discussed the need for the same qualities in the world if we are ever to attain world peace. His speech dealt interestingly with some of the vital problems facing the world today.

Alumni present at the banquet were: Professor Cecil A. Rollins, '17; Rodney W. Wyman, '29; Henry G. Bonsall, '31; Roderick E. Farnham, '31; Halsted H. Jenkins, '31; and Maxwell D. Ward, '32. Others present at the banquet were Andrew Iverson of Maine; Arne O. Lindberg, '33; and Cedric Porter, '36.

WATERVILLE MEETING POSTPONED.

The dinner of the Waterville Alumni Association was originally planned to serve as a big send-off for President Johnson on the evening before he left for the Boston, New York and Philadelphia meetings. The local banking situation, however, made it seem necessary to postpone the affair, and the evening of March 29 has been set for this occasion.

Lambda Omega Initiates Seven

Saturday Iota Chapter held the first annual initiation and banquet which they have given as members of Lambda Omega national sorority. The group was formerly Alpha Sigma Delta.

The initiation service was held at the sorority rooms in the afternoon. Those initiated were: Rebecca Penniman, '34; Dorothy D. Higgins, '34; Elizabeth E. Lavallee, '35; Evelyn M. Wyman, '35; Ruth E. Longley, '35; Hyacinth H. Bachelord, '36; Teresa J. Henderson, '36.

In the evening, the members and initiates held a banquet at the Elmwood hotel. Margaret E. Adams, '32, was toastmistress. The speakers were: Teresa J. Henderson, '36; Elizabeth M. Franklin, '36; Josephine Porter, '34; Isabel J. Miller, '33; Isabel Clark, '31. The favors were silver rings bearing the sorority letters. Impromptu speaking by the patronesses and alumnae followed the class speeches. After the dinner, dancing was enjoyed.

Guests present included: Ola Swift, Augusta; Jennie Nutter, Hineley; Girlandine Priest, Hineley; Pearl King, Fairfield; Methyl Page, Evelyn Bell, Isabel Clark, Mrs. Frank Noble, and Mrs. John Franklin McCoy, Waterville.

The committee in charge of the banquet were: Elizabeth M. Franklin, chairman; Josephine Porter, and Rita C. Carey.

Fedorovsky Plays In Last Concert

The violin recital in which Paul Fedorovsky was heard provided a fitting climax with which to close the season of 1933. In no way did this concert fall short of the high standard set by the two previous ones. Mr. Fedorovsky is a violinist who knows and commands his instrument perfectly. And he is, in all senses of the word, a thorough musician.

The program opened with a Sonata in D major by P. Nardini; an 18th century work, typical in its studied classicism. We see throughout the entire sonata that Mr. Fedorovsky is not a sentimentalist; rather, his temperament is splendidly adapted to the

All Classes Participate In Junior Week End

Students from all four classes will participate in the Junior Week-End to be held April 28 and 29. Although junior men and women will have first preference for the beds, there will be plenty of tickets for members of other classes.

"Jim" Poibody, vice president of the class, announces that the sale of tickets will begin shortly, and urges the undergraduates to invite out-of-town guests if possible, for the college will be in festive array.

Leo Hannon to Play
"Die" Johnson, in charge of orchestra arrangements, has definitely signed Leo Hannon and his Musical Bolshois for the formal Junior Promenade on Friday evening of the weekend. This band has been featured on Broadway, and recently completed a successful engagement in New York's Rosemont Ballroom. Colby is keenly awaiting the opportunity to dance to the music of this famous band.

"Bob" MacGrogan, vice chairman of the general week-end, is completing the plans for chasers and incidental arrangements to the Prom.

Queen To Be Selected
"Hal" Plotkin, in charge of publicity, announces that the Queen of the Prom will be selected by the Junior Class of men two weeks before the dance. "The most beautiful Colby co-ed, combining the best personality" will be awarded a handsome loving cup as a feature of the dance.

Colby Alumni Fund Inaugurated This Week*Alumni Heads Discuss Fund

Charles F. T. Seaverns, '01,

"The alumni fund plan has already succeeded in seventy-five or more colleges in this country. It has been tried successfully by the other colleges of the Maine group. What these colleges have achieved in the organization of their alumni under the class agent plan, and the success which they have attained through this method, Colby College can and will accomplish, for no college has a more loyal group of alumni than Colby."

— C —

Dean Ernest C. Marriner, '13,

"The most progressive step which Colby College has ever taken in relation to its alumni is the creation of the Alumni Fund. This is not a sporadic campaign for a special sum in one particular year, but it is a permanent plan whereby each alumnus is asked to turn back to the college, according to his means, something of what in terms of dollar value the college through its endowment, its scholarships, and its low fees, gave to him as an undergraduate. Depression or no depression, the first year of the Alumni Fund is going to be successful."

Leonard W. Mayo, '20,

"For the last two years Colby College has been moving forward steadily in the educational field. She has not only held her own, she has assumed leadership in the collegiate world under the guidance of Franklin Johnson—the Trustees and the Faculty. The Alumni want to participate in this new era in Colby history—we too desire to throw ourselves with enthusiasm and purpose into this cause. The Alumni Fund plan gives us that opportunity. I have not felt as challenged since I left college as I now feel in the face of this privilege and responsibility."

Y. M. C. A. SLATE.

President, Edward Gurney, Clarence Morrill.

Vice presidents, John Hunt, Fredrick Lawler, Arthur Stetson.

Secretary, L. Brown, K. Lane, K. Sutherland.

Treasurer, Edward Oragin, Dann Jacquith.

The first gun will be fired for the Colby Alumni Fund this week at the annual Colby dinners at Boston, New York and Philadelphia.

The creation of this fund marks an important milestone in the alumni life of this college. Colby graduates have been loyal and generous contributors to various campaigns for endowment and scholarship aid in the past years, as well as to the annual Christmas Fund started in 1912 by President Roberts. The Alumni Fund, however, is not a solicitation by the college; it is a program conducted by the alumni themselves to provide an opportunity for the large and small gifts from a great number of the alumni to be combined into a fund which will amount to something. The sum of $5,000 is the goal for the first year's operation of the Colby Alumni fund.

The proceeds will be used to finance the alumni office at the College, and the balance will be devoted to some specific object which will be designated by a committee in conference with the College authorities. Some suggested uses for this fund are student loan funds, added scholarship aid, books for the library, faculty salary increases, and the like.

Fund Idea Always Successful.

The alumni fund idea is not new. Yale University is generally credited with the inauguration of the idea some 40 years ago. Today about 75 colleges employ some such plan, and no college has ever discarded it as unsuccessful. The three other Maine colleges have alumni funds in operation.

In 1930, Charles F. T. Seaverns, then president of the Alumni Association, appointed a committee to inquire into the advisability of adopting an alumni fund at Colby. The following year, this committee reported favorably and advised that a system of class agents be set up to promote this project and that the Colby Alum-

Neil Leonard, '21,

"I understand that Colby is the last of the Maine Colleges to inaugurate a plan of annual alumni contributions through class agents. If any one doubts the wisdom of such a step let him read Harland Ratcliffe's report of the successful experience of other colleges with their Funds. I'm sure we are justified in expecting that the contributors to the Colby Alumni Fund ought to at least equal in number the contributors to such funds in other colleges of the same size. When the 'old grand' returns he invariably begins his speech—

"The class of empty-urns was the best class ever graduated from Colby. . . . Next June it will be interesting to note which class leads in the percentage of givers and in the total amount of gifts."

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 1933

THE ECHO Board dedicates this issue to the sons and daughters of Old Colby who have passed on beyond the halls of our College to take their places in the world. The graduates, although no longer a part of the College active, feel in their hearts a love for their Alma Mater as is clearly shown by the influence of their activities for the Old College on the banks of the Kennebec. To this loyal army, ever growing in size and service, this ECHO is dedicated.

After several requests on the part of the ECHO the Student Council brought up the question of deferred pledging for discussion—then they tabled the matter.

SOCIAL events at Colby have long been a matter of conflict between the student body and the administration, but the great number and variety of social activities during recent weeks leave few student desires along this line unfulfilled. All types of entertainment have been offered, plays, lectures, forum, dances, concerts, and movies. All events have been sponsored by the students and patronized by them. The age old struggle at Colby seems to have passed its crisis, the student body happy and the administration cooperating. The plans that have already been made for the Spring give evidence that the college will not lack social functions then. So, in spite of the depression and closing banks Colby men and women will finish the college year 1932-1933 wiser in academic learning and broader in social contacts.

Colby At Smith

Colby college was represented at the Model League of Nations held at Smith College, March 9, 10 and 11. The delegates from Colby were Miss J. Foster, Miss Wakefield, Miss R. Chester, Mr. P. Mills, Mr. S. Jekanoski, Mr. M. Zeserson and Mr. C. Smith.

Colby represented Bulgaria, a country small in size but large in importance in international affairs. Mr. Zeserson was the speaker before the General Assembly. Throughout the entire conference the Colby delegation was active, speaking pro and con on matters being discussed, and making several amendments to bills presented before the Assembly.

Mr. Mills acted as an expert on armament trade and Mr. Smith acted as an expert on trade and manufacture.

The delegation, while at the conference heard Miss Woolley, the woman delegate to the World Disarmament Conference recently held in Geneva.

Her address was on the possibilities of the League in settling international disputes. During her address she voiced her disappointment with the efforts made to date in the field of disarmament, but she was hopeful that the United States would take a position of leadership.

Prize Speaking And Debating News

Members of the class in Public Speaking 7-8 have just been selected from a preliminary public speaking contest to take part in the annual Hallowell Prize Speaking, date for which is to be announced shortly.

V. L. Bolster, J. R. Curtis, S. C. Jekanoski, I. M. Malsch, W. H. Millett, R. Nathanson, R. Noyes, L. P. Progalaski, J. J. Puller, E. Ross, A. W. Stetson, A. Vose.

Preliminary speaking for the annual Goodwin Contest, open to the student body, men's division, is to be held on Wednesday and Thursday, March 22 and 23.

Edward J. Gurney, Jr., '35, and Harold W. Hickey, '36, have been named to debate Tufts College and New York University on Thursday and Friday afternoon of this week in Somerville, Mass., and New York City. Both Colby representatives will attend the Boston Colby Alumni banquet in Boston on March 16, and the New York banquet on the evening of March 17.

Monday afternoon at 4.15, in the College Chapel, Colby met New York University in debate. The question open for discussion was, Resolved, That most advertising tends to be detrimental to the best interests of society. Arthur Stetson and Arthur Wein of Colby upheld the negative while Robert Tilove and Harold Siegler of New York University spoke for the affirmative side of the question. The presiding officer of the debate was Robert Finch, president of Pi Kappa Delta.

Fedorovsky Plays In Last Concert

classics. He does not sob, and wade knee-deep in luscious sentiment through a slow movement—this we noticed particularly in the concerto, the Schubert Ave Maria, and the Gluck melody. He merely plays with fine sympathy and careful regard for the composer's conception. The musicianship of the artist was well tested by the Nardini.

It was not until the third section of the program, commencing with Schubert's lovely Ave Maria, that the rich and full tone of Mr. Fedorovsky's violin was properly appreciated. Only a true virtuoso can draw from his instrument such a tone, filled with the warmth and vibrance of the human voice. This group further continued with Schubert's The Bee; a light, delicate musical representation of the flight of a bumble bee. Following this was a melody by Gluck, arranged by Kreisler, and Sarasate's colorful

Combined Glee Clubs In Concert

The combined Glee Clubs of Colby presented their annual concert last Friday evening, March 10, in the Alumnae Building. The audience stood up in recognition of the "Alma Mater" which the combined Glee Clubs hummed as the curtain rose.

Directed by John W. Thomas, the choir rendered this selection with earnest loyalty. Following this, the same group sang "Go To Dark Gethsamane," by Noble, and "Glory Be To the Trinity," by Rachmaninoff, accompanied by Miss Winifred White. Francis Smith who is a well-known Colby violinist, played "En Bateau," by Debussy, and "Chanson Fivole," by Carl Engle. Mr. Smith's mother, Mrs. Harrison Smith, accompanied him. Horace P. Daggett accompanied the Men's Glee Club who sang "Mother O' Mine," by Tours, and "Heaven," arranged by Burleigh. The ever popular Women's Trio made up of Beulah E. Bennett, Kathryn A. Herriek, and Beth P. Pendleton, rendered "Darkness On The Delta," and "Sweet Moon Song," as an encore. Miss Myra Whittaker assisted the Women's Glee Club in giving "Winken, Blinken, and Nod." Two selections were favorably presented by a Saxophone Sextette, led by Richard Johnson with Thomas Parker accompanying them. The group was composed of: George H. Rogers, Willard C. Flynt, William Walker, Alvin L. Vose, Linwood Standish, and C. Edward Houghton. The combined Glee Clubs gave "Don't Be Weary, Traveler," by Dett with the incidental solo Gypsy airs. The audience was in no way disappointed, for the passage work was clear, brilliant and played with the ease of one who has mastered his instrument. Furthermore, the artist was fully conscious of the improvisation-like character of the first part of the composition.

One must not neglect the work of the accompanist, Mr. Slonimsky's task was performed with admirable taste, and with a fine regard for all the subtle points of the score. His sentiment was always in accord with that of the soloist's.

Mr. Fedorovsky was recalled time after time by the thoroughly enthusiastic audience. He responded by playing the Orientale by Cui, a piece by Kreisler, and an Andante of Padre Martini arranged by Kreisler.

Frosh Nose Out Sophs

The Frosh nosed out the Sophomores by the scant margin of two points in the annual track meet between the hereditary rivals last Friday and Saturday. The Sophomores piled up a larger number of points on Saturday but the Frosh had scored enough on the previous day to offset this and barely eke out a win.

The outstanding events in Friday's competition were the 40 yard dash in which Jenkins finished a hair ahead of the rest of the entrants, the 600 yard run which saw John Hunt show his heels to his competitors, and the one mile run in which event C. Veysey led the pack to the tape in the very good time of 4 minutes 43 seconds.

Saturday saw the Frosh running away with the track events and the Sophs due to the help of Springer showing marked superiority in the field events. Springer was easily the outstanding man of the meet, scoring three first and three second places for a total of twenty points. Much to the surprise of all track dopsters Springer, with a leap of 20 feet 10 inches, took first in the broad jump to defeat Dolan. Springer also led all entrants in the 35 pound weight throw and the shot put.

Cliff Veysey again proved his superiority in the longer distances when he finished ahead of John Hunt and numerous other hopefuls in the 1000 yard run. In the 45 yard hurdles and the 300 yard run the Frosh had things pretty much their own way, taking nearly all places.

The summary:

Zetes and Dekes In Hoop Lead

With the basketball season approaching its end, three more games were played last Thursday, the Phi Deltas, A. T. O.'s and Dekes being the victors. In the afternoon game the Phi Deltas beat the Tau Deltas, 33 to 26, after trailing for three periods. Davidson and Walker were the high scorers, with 20 and 17 points respectively.

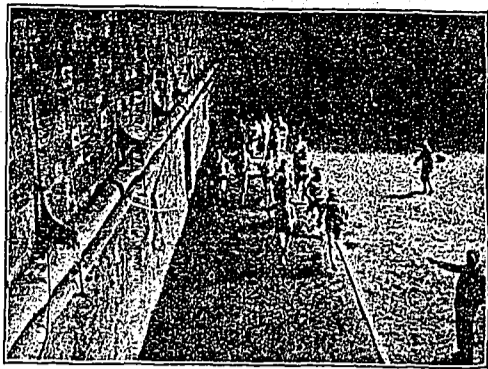

The first evening game saw the A. T. O.'s outclass the Lambda Chis, 34 to 23, Carl Holmes scoring 19 points for the winners. In the other night contest, the Dekes swamped the D. U.'s 34 to 18. The losers couldn't penetrate the strong Dekes defence, chalking up only five points in the first three periods.

ATHLETICS ABOVE PAR

The Alumni may well be proud of the year thus far in athletics here at the college of their choice. The number of men students here is below that of any of the Maine colleges, yet Colby rates a place high up in the sun as a producer of fine caliber athletes and effective athletic teams. Take the football season and compare it to that of any small college in New England, look at Bill Millett's hockey team and after considering the handicaps under which practice takes place and the irregularity of favorable weather and show us another which can match it under the circumstances, and in fact you may run through the list and in nearly every case the records of the representatives of Colby have been up there with the leaders.

MAINE JINX AGAIN

The football season is an old story and everyone knows how the jinx of the field up at Maine held true and a superior Colby team after defeating Bowdoin 25 to 0 and Bates 7 to 0, was forced to take a second place because Maine had won the Colby-Maine game on Alumni Field at Orono. The Maine game is in the position of the ham in a ham sandwich coming as it does between the Bowdoin and Bates games and this year it was a rugged piece of meat.

STATE MEET AT COLBY

With the coming of winter the track men under Coach Mike Ryan began their season which has thus far been marked by greater success than usual. The relay team has turned in several good performances under the leadership of Captain Williams. The freshman class has been successful in several indoor meets and the talent among the yearlings foretells a brighter future on the cinders for Colby. This year the State Meet is to be held here on Seaverns Field and it will be a welcome sight for the team to jump once and for all out of the fourth position.

HOCKEY SEASON

The weather up here in Maine has been enough to drive hockey enthusiasts mad. The ice down at the south end rink is of the natural variety and won't maintain its frigid qualities without near zero weather and that has been almost an unheard of temperature here in Waterville this winter. The last game of the season was to decide the championship of the state. Colby and Bowdoin were not fighting it out, but if Colby should win in this game against Bowdoin she would stand ahead of Bates. A tie would give Colby a tie with Bates while a defeat would place her in second place, but the weather was such that the game could never be played and so we believe that Bates may thank the weather man for its claim to the championship.

BASEBALL PROSPECTS

Baseball practice has been going on in the field house for several weeks and in spite of the havoc wrought by the ineligibility rule there is good reason to believe that Eddie Roundy will have a strong ball club. The infield has many aspirants for positions especially around short stop and first base. On the mound there will be Foster and Ralph Peabody and Hank Davidson as a leftie. There is a battle on for catcher and it will be interesting to see what the first starting line-up will be when the team plays its first game in the middle of April.

Cigarettes, like Foods — need Seasoning

*That's the part Turkish
Tobaccos play in making
Chesterfields Taste Better*

SMOKERS notice a certain "touch" in Chesterfields that comes from having just enough Turkish tobacco in them... a spicy, aromatic flavor that's much the same to a cigarette as seasoning is to food.

For only by blending and cross-blending the right amounts of mild Domestic tobaccos with the right amount of Turkish can we get the flavor and aroma that Chesterfield smokers enjoy.

Next time, ask for "The Cigarette that Satisfies"... you'll get Chesterfields, with Milder, Better Taste.

THEY'RE Milder —
THEY TASTE BETTER

GYM DANCE: The punch line of the week: when Louis Conant was doing that solo dance with the girl and they started to throw pennies at the couple, Louis' reluctance to leave the floor caused the girl to remark: "What are you waiting for, quarters?" Ken Lane & Winnie White, and the reason he didn't dance more often with her was because his name might be connected with her's in this column. Wally Peacock sho' can stumble. Moe Krinsky does the hairpin dance. Dickie Franklin's dancing goes over big with the girls. A cute couple, Jimmie Ross-Carolyn Williams. You wouldn't believe, but Tiny Stone, one of the best liked men on the campus, is light on his feet. One girl thought Geo. Pugsley looked "classier than ever" on the dance floor. Clancy dances the hesitating hop. Caswell and life-savers. Johnny appearing with Anne. Miller Richmond and Rachel Maher, and has she got class! Briley Thomas forlorn. We hope Louise Hinckley gets better; meanwhile kewpie-doll Faith dragged by Tom. All evening John Webb kept whispering sweet nothings into the ear of the girl with the puffed sleeves. Myron Hilton back with Ruth Keller (her engagement, as reported, has phftt). Platinum blonde Hugh Beach in a new rocking-chair dance. Rushing the spring styles.

CAMPUS COMMENTS. This was a big week-end at Colby. The faculty committee on social affairs must be having nightmares. At the Model League of Nations conference at Smith: Betty Muther is still running things, and all the Wellesley girls were asking her what to do next. Zeserson posing as a professor and making speeches. The theme song of the meeting was "Farewell to Arms." Donnell, Parsons and Buss in Prov. over the week-end. Ray Goldstein paid court costs Monday morning. Wilky made an auspicious entrance into Politics as Alderman. Why can't Colby borrow 3 million from the R. F. C., now that a local man is at the head, and build the new campus? (all I do is ask the question). Little Kay Herrick has her hands full on those Glee Club trips with DKE frosh to look after while Win & Cleo dash off. Miss Partrick assumes the role of "Sherlock" retrieving Foss Hall wheelbarrow with Miss Van Norman trailing along as "Watson." First the Phildeits faced the charge of purloining wood, now Metz is on the carpet for it. "Capt. Applejack" to be the next play by the D. A. Class. Junior Week-End will be the nuts. Invite her or him from home. There was a funeral held at high noon Sat. for Liz Weeks' goldfish, Agnes, who passed away very suddenly during the cold spell. Eino Hill and Vernon Bolster at the Fairfield dance.

My own little secretary has her say: "Who is this transfer from Cornell, who hangs his hat in the Zote house, and where does he keep himself? I hear he is the best dancer in these yere parts. Emma Small & Bob Gilpatrick remind me of a bouncing ball when they dance. Dottie Gould thrilled to pieces because the Plotter danced with her, and the Plotter just as thrilled. Two bits you don't put that in the column. (For two bits, in these days, I'd put in the one about the scandal in Foss Hall! Pay me, sister!) How about Stu Govt passing a rule saying the co-eds can have 15 minutes to say "good-night?" Miller Richmond makes you wiggle your hips when you dance with him, and do we like it! I think Noyes Ervin is awfully cute. Charlie Geer is one of the smoothest dancers. That's all for now. Thanks, sec'y, but don't sign your letters "love & kisses" anymore. I have a weak heart.

Little Sentimental Excursions: Rumor has it that a certain Frosh-Soph duo has terminated in a secret marriage! The new, but none the less insistent, combination of Joey Stovors & Peg Henderson is being generally accepted, but there's no need of him flashing the blue car at everybody. Clark Chapman is wearing a DKE pin! Bud Frost & Ruth Fuller pretty steady. Nancy Nivison has Mark Berry's monogrammed ring. Anne Duoba & Joe Orlovski jig-saw in the M. L. parlor. Bibo White with Win Clement at the Colby movies. Also Henry MacOrnelson and the tall Ruth Malloy. The charming ingenue Lois Lund was escorted by Frank Barnes. Mary Palmer looked—words fall me! Stan Bensley a bit gone on a local nurse. We're giving Jim a break this week. The love life of Bob William might be first in our future dept: "the expose of the week!"

the other evening Kay Harvey looked lovely in a brown taffeta trimmed with white organdie. Barbara Howard & Abner Bevin cavorting lately. Dot Washburn & Dick Ball clicking. B. Z. White going big for a local dentist—many appointments. Black-haired Louise (Bil-ly) Williams, Boardman big shot, seen with Geo. Hunt now and again. Annie Tuck has been sporting Winnie's diamond for some time. Chute called for a parlor date, and Ruth Stubbs flustered because Jimmie Stineford already parked there. (but why the extra clothes?) Dana Jordan met the Weston family after all. Because of Peg Jordan's heart-throb, she wrote crazy things all over her French exam book. tsk.

If the so-called "Old Medium of the Quickening of Justice," The Spotter, will review my columns, he or she will find that nothing has ever appeared here that would incriminate anyone, or cause them to be hauled up on the Dean's carpet. Your letter would have done just that—so it was squashed.

In today's (Wednesday) Boston Daily Record, Geo. C. MacKinnon who columnizes "The Wisdom Box" writes about Colby couples, including Alpers, Harry Williams & Lois Dean. Is some local gossip-monger sending him scoops on my stuff? If this keeps up, we promise a real columnist feud. The Old Maestro of the Quip and the Jest,

The Plotter.

Colby Movies

The next step was to choose the actors, assign the various parts to the technical staff and get all the participants together without conflicting with their classes. The first outdoor shots were taken in November just before the first snow. When these rushes came back, it was found that part of them were spoiled because of a flaw in the camera mechanism. The situation was very discouraging. However, upon the students' return from the Christmas holidays, due to the unusually mild weather, the snow had disappeared, so after several vain attempts to get the cast together, the outdoor scenes were successfully re-filmed.

From the technical standpoint, the interior views were the most difficult. The new General Electric photo flood lamps were employed in reflectors loaned by Carleton D. Brown, '33. The club also had the use of a wide-angle lens owned by Richard C. Shannon, '36, which made possible a number of shots which would have been otherwise impossible.

Sheldon R. Rudnick, '36, and George V. Gilpatrick, '36, took turns in running the camera during these scenes, while David S. Sherman, '33, Trueman Tracy, '34, and Francis Barnes, '36, handled the lighting equipment. Laura M. Tolman, '35, was in charge of all of the scenes in the women's division, making all the arrangements and working the lights.

The titles were made with small movable metal letters arranged on a black card and then photographed from above with a specially constructed stand for the camera. Most of this work was performed in Mower House by Miss Tolman and Virginia M. Swallow, '35.

Altogether, well over 100 separate scenes were shot, each one depicting a certain phase of the continuity. When all had been done, these had to be cut apart, arranged in the proper sequence and put together again. This work was done in the Publicity Office over the last week-end, with David Sherman and Sheldon Rudnick as the principal editors.

The Colby Camera Club has been fortunate in having friends who have given the use of all kinds of equipment. Altogether, some $2,000 worth of apparatus has been employed, including a Filmo 70 camera with F 1.5 lens from Joseph C. Smith, A Filmo 70 D camera with a complete assortment of six different lenses, a tripod, and other items from Richard C. Shannon, '36, an editing outfit and long range projector from Dr. George G. Averill, tripod, and lighting fixtures from Ralph W. Atkins.

Colby Alumni Fund

ni Fund go into operation in the spring of 1933.

One by one, the preliminary steps have been accomplished and everything is in readiness to start the plan off. The various class agents have received information concerning their parts in the campaign and considerable rivalry has developed between certain classes to see which can make the best showing. A letter from the Alumni Fund Committee will go into the mails next Monday, and from then on the success of the Fund will depend upon the energy and skill of the Class Agents in obtaining gifts of any size from a large proportion of the members of each class.

Gym Dance

Last Saturday evening a large number of students managed to find enough cash somewhere to make the Student Council dance one of the most enjoyable of the season. Music was furnished by the well known Mainonians, who were here for their second engagement.

As usual the dance began at eight and ended at quarter of twelve. In the line were the patrons and patronesses, Miss Corinne B. Van Norman, Professor and Mrs. John F. McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Smith, and Henry Davidson, representative from Student Council.

ILLUSION:

In India, the fakirs present a spectacle to tourists. Two lovely performers break bottles and lamp chimneys before the eyes of the audience, and throw the jagged pieces into a box already filled with broken glass. They step barefooted into the box and do an Oriental dance in the glass without injury.

EXPLANATION:

The performers toughen their feet in a strong solution of alum water and thoroughly rub them with pulverized resin before they appear. They throw the freshly broken glass around the edges of the platform. The glass on which they actually do dance is very thick, heavy, and filed or ground so that the sharp edges are rounded off. The girls just pretend to dance on the sharp glass.

IT'S FUN TO BE FOOLED

...IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW

One of the tricks of cigarette advertising is to pretend that "Heat Treatment" is an exclusive process, making one cigarette better than any other.

EXPLANATION: All cigarette manufacturers use heat treatment. It is a routine process of manufacture. The first Camel cigarette ever made was manufactured under the heat-treating process. Every one of the billions of Camels produced since has received the necessary heat treatment.

Harsh, raw tobaccos require intensive processing under high temperatures. The more expensive tobaccos, which are naturally mild, call for only a moderate application of heat. Heat treatment never can make cheap, inferior tobacco good.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

This is the most important statement ever made in a cigarette advertisement. Weigh its words. Consider what it means. Then try Camels.

Camels are fresh... in the air-tight, welded Humidor Pack.
