Kappa Delta Rho Initiates Seven Men

Tuesday evening the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity held a formal initiation ceremony in its chapter house on Elm street. The following men were initiated: F. D. Call, '36, Portland; Norman Beals, '37, Waterville; R. Irvine Gammon, '37, Caribou; Richard Hacker, '37, Fort Fairfield; Lendal C. Mahoney, '37, Caribou; J. Robert Marshall, '37, New Sharon; Donald Price, '37, Hinkleley.

Wednesday evening the annual initiation banquet is being held at the Elmwood Hotel.

Tau Delta Phi Holds Induction Banquet

The first annual induction banquet of the Tau Alpha chapter of Tau Delta Phi fraternity at Colby College was held Sunday evening at the fraternity house on College avenue. This affair marked the first anniversary of the induction of the fraternity into the international organization, Tau Delta Phi.

In the absence of District Chief Harold S. Goldberg, Paul E. Feldman, '34, acted in the capacity of toastmaster. He read a telegram from the national officers congratulating the chapter on its first birthday and complimenting it upon the rapid strides made during the first year.

The first speaker of the evening was Consul Selwyn I. Braudy, '34, who reviewed the history of the group and commented upon the progress made since its induction.

Professor Hans C. Thory, faculty adviser of Tau Delta Phi, spoke briefly, complimenting the group on its high scholarship and expressing his pleasure at being connected with the body in an advisory capacity. Morris Cohen, '35, and Aaron Close, '36, spoke in behalf of their respective classes.

Dr. William J. Wilkinson, prominent member of the Colby faculty and guest of the chapter, gave the closing address of the evening. Dr. Wilkinson mentioned several valuable friendships he had made with members of the fraternity, and wished the group continued success in its every future endeavor.

The committee in charge of the affair included Paul E. Feldman, '34, Saul Goldberg, '34, Hyman Kurtzman, '36, and Sheldon R. Rudnick, '36.

Chi Omega Holds Annual Dinner Dance

On Saturday, Feb. 10, the Chi Omega fraternity gave its annual dinner dance at the Lancy House in Pittsfield. The patrons and patronesses were Miss Grace R. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. MacDonald, and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Kelley. Dinner was served at six-thirty and dancing to the music of Cecil Hutchinson and his Royal Commanders was enjoyed until eleven-thirty. The dance was one of the outstanding events of the year and the committee, under the leadership of Wilma Stanley, '35, deserves much credit for its fine work.

Tri Delts and Sigmas Entertain Sororities

On Sunday afternoon Delta Delta Delta and Sigma Kappa sororities gave a tea for Theta Upsilon and Alpha Delta Pi sororities in the Alumnae Building. In the receiving line were Dorothy E. Washburn, Muriel F. Walker, Mrs. Fred Phleger, a visiting deputy for New England to Tri Delt, Lois Crowell, and Bettina D. Wollington. The purpose of the tea was to bring the girls of the respective sororities into a closer association with each other.

by Ed Gurney

Sherwood Eddy, famous author and lecturer, will make his fourth visit to Colby College on Thursday, February 15. Dr. Eddy will spend the entire day on our campus in public addresses before large gatherings of students and townsfolk. He is being brought to Colby by the Y. M. C. A. In the morning at 10 o'clock Dr. Eddy will address a mass meeting of all college students in the Alumnae Building. In order for students to obtain the fullest benefit from this address 10.25 classes will be omitted. In the afternoon an informal discussion group of the question and answer type will be held at the Alumnae Building. This is open to all students who are interested. In the evening Dr. Eddy gives an address at the First Baptist Church. This meeting is open not only to students but also invitations have been extended to churches, townsfolk, and students in secondary schools in and near Waterville.

It is a rare privilege for Colby students to hear Sherwood Eddy. He is one of the best known and most widely traveled of authorities on international events. He has recently returned from his annual European visit where he has viewed at first hand the London Economic Conference, and the recent developments in Germany and Russia.

Expert on Russia

In his tenth visit to Russia he visited many cities and smaller communities and talked not only to government officials but to laborers and farmers as well. Dr. Eddy is probably the best informed American, outside of government officials, on the subject of Russia.

To the timely and vital topic of Japanese operations in the Far East, Dr. Eddy is again keenly alert. In 1921-22 he spent five months in war-torn China. He was an eye witness to the Japanese invasion of Manchuria and from leading citizens he secured the amazing story of Japanese militarism and political intrigue in that unhappy Chinese province.

A few of the famous characters which Dr. Eddy has come to know include Ramsay MacDonald, Bernard Shaw, Hindenburg, Einstein, Gandhi, Kagawa of Japan and China's Chang Kai-shek. His better known books include "The World's Danger Zone," "The Challenge of the East," "The Challenge of Russia," and "The Challenge of Europe."

Plans Completed For Frosh Banquet

Final plans have been completed by the committee in charge of the Freshman banquet which is to be held at the Methodist Church on February 16. All indications point to its being one of the outstanding social successes of the college year. In keeping with the spirit of other similar affairs in the past this most recent edition of a Frosh banquet is to provide an opportunity for the men and women of 1937 to know each other better.

A fine program has been drawn up featuring as main speaker, Dr. Newton C. Fetter of Cambridge, Mass. Dr. Fetter is no stranger to Colby students. Two years ago he came to our campus as a member of a deputational team with Sidney Lovett, Yale chaplain, and Wilmer Kitchen, New England Student Secretary. Last year he was leader of the faculty conference on religion. Dr. Fetter is permanently engaged in student work in Greater Boston. He is without doubt one of the most versatile student workers in New England.

Lendal Mahoney, Freshman Class President, will perform in the capacity of toastmaster. President Johnson will speak, a reading will be given by Rev. Mr. Metzner, group singing led by Mr. Thomas, special music, reading by Barbara Hutchinson, speeches by Helen Jovons and Robert Hussey.

Guests of the evening include: President and Mrs. Johnson, Professor and Mrs. Newman, Dean Marlborough, Don Runnals, Professor Breckinridge, Mr. Chapman, Edward Gurney, and Lois Crowell.

Statistics prove that married students at Wyoming University got better marks than those unmarried.

Alumni Council Proposes Change in Physical Education and Athletics

A proposal to reorganize the Department of Physical Education and Athletics was the outcome of a meeting of a special committee of the Colby Alumni Council held at the college Saturday morning.

The new plan is the result of several months' study by the members of this committee and consultations with President Franklin W. Johnson. At the close of the meeting, the committee formally requested President Johnson to present the plan to the board of trustees at their April meeting.

Under the new scheme there will be set up a department of the college known as the "Department of Health and Physical Education." Included in this will be the administration of the health service, including the two infirmaries, the college physician and nurses, medical examinations and physical corrective work. There will also be a division of intra-mural athletics, which will promote a still broader program of sports than exists at present, and a division of intercollegiate athletics, which will carry on the regular program of competitive sports.

The financial administration of athletics will be entirely handled by the college treasurer, and the support of the yearly program will be a regular part of the college budget, instead of being divided between the funds of the athletic association and the college, as at present.

Johnson Favors Change

President Johnson stated that he favored the proposed changes because the new plan will mean: first, putting an end to the dependence of Colby's athletic program upon football gate receipts; second, a recognition of the close connection between the recreational and medical aspects of Colby's health service; third, more emphasis upon intra-mural sports, so that every student will participate in some form of athletics.

The committee on athletics of the Alumni Council is as follows: Neil Leonard, '21, Boston, Mass., Chairman; Charles F. T. Seaverns, '01, Hartford, Conn.; Dr. Frederick T. Hill, '10, Waterville; Leslie F. Murch, '15, Hanover, N. H.; and E. Richard Drummond, '28, Boston, Mass.

Radcliffe President Addresses Women

President Ada L. Comstock of Radcliffe College addressed the members and guests at the meeting of the American Association of University Women held in the Alumnae Building Wednesday evening. President Comstock spoke on "Purposes in the Education of Women." The senior girls of the college were the guests of the evening.

In her address President Comstock remarked that critics have said that the liberal education of women is without purpose. Women should take courses that fit them for their needs in life. She also pointed out that women should have a chance for a broader training to meet the requirements of business opportunities today.

The meeting was followed by a social hour at which refreshments were served.

Colby Applies To F E R A For Funds

Colby College has applied to the Federal Emergency Relief Administration for funds to provide part-time jobs for needy students, President Franklin W. Johnson announced last Saturday.

This step was taken upon the advice of the United States Commissioner of Education, George F. Zook, that Colby College students were eligible to receive this aid. The work done will consist of clerical, library, research assistance and work upon the buildings and grounds. Students receiving such aid cannot number over 58 and are restricted to those who would otherwise be unable to complete the year, because of financial difficulties. The pay will be the regular hourly rate paid by the college, but cannot exceed $20.00 per month for each student. It is expected that the plan will be put into operation within a few days.

Crowd Cheers As Capt. Bevin Strives To Beat Worcester in B. A. A. Relay

Arnold Adams Wins Hallahan Trophy

Although the track team did not bring back any first places from the B. A. A. Games Saturday night, the varsity mile relay team provided the closest race of the evening for the audience when track Captain Bevin was nosed out at the tape by the flying Worcester Tech anchor man to lose the race by less than a foot.

Ed Buyniski led off for the Mules and handed over a nice lead to Sol Fuller who in turn had increased the lead to 15 yards when he handed the baton to George Hunt on the third leg. The man running the third leg for Worcester was the fastest man on that team and caught Hunt near the tape. The opposing anchor man started off with a slight lead over Bevin and held it to the tape, although the Blue and Gray anchor man tried gallantly to pass him in the rush to the tape. One Boston paper said that Worcester won a sixteenth of an inch victory while another said the Technicians won by six inches which all goes to show the closeness of the race.

The freshman mile team ran a good race and finished third with Bob Marshall and Stan Washuk turning in good times. Johnny Dolan and Bob Estes did well in the hurdles and sprints respectively, but failed to land in the charmed circle of qualifiers. Herb DeVeber, Bill Paine and Cliff Voysey competed in the two mile, but were outclassed due to the great running of Johnny Follows, who lapped most of the field in this event.

One feature of the meet that the Colby boys were interested in was the fact that Arnie Adams, former Bates quarter-mile star was awarded the John G. Hallahan trophy for being the outstanding competitor of the meet. Adams was one of the great.

Series of Wednesday Lenten Chapel Services

The Student-Faculty Chapel Committee has recently announced a series of Wednesday Lenten chapel services beginning today and extending through March 21. An exceptional opportunity is afforded students to hear leading speakers. Topics appropriate to Lenten themes, a musical atmosphere provided by the double quartette, and printed programs combine to make these chapels interesting and worthwhile.

The complete program is as follows:
Feb. 14—Dr. John F. Watts.
Feb. 21—Rev. John Pendleton.
Feb. 28—Mr. Arthur Coulthard.
March 7—Miss Myra Whitaker.
March 14—Rev. William A. Smith.
March 21—Rev. Harold C. Metzner.

Chapel Talk On Lincoln By Professor Wilkinson

On Monday in women's chapel, in appropriateness to the day, Professor W. J. Wilkinson, gave an interesting talk on the significance of Abraham Lincoln's career. After comparisons with the modern conditions, Dr. Wilkinson stated that one of Lincoln's most commendable traits was his strength of character to take definite stands on certain issues.

SANROMA AND GODING IN TWO-PIANO RECITAL TUESDAY

First Appearance of These Two Artists Together

HOWARD GODING

Camera Club Movie Ready For Premiere

Saturday, Feb. 24 at 7.30 P. M. The Camera Club, The Powder and Wig Society, and the Publicity Department are putting on a movie show. Last year "A Visit to Colby" was produced and it was an extremely successful production. With this production to its credit the organization has produced the show of the year. The two leading characters also have had previous successes.

Miss Sybil L. Wolman, '34, is playing the leading feminine role. She began her dramatic career here at Colby her freshman year when she played the role of Sylvette in "The Romancers" by Rostand. The following year she played Irene, the secretary, in the commencement play "The Romantic Young Lady" by G. Martinez Sierra. Her junior year she played Columbine in a one act play "The Wonder Hat." The same year she took the role of Poppy Faure in Walter Hackett's "Captain Applejack." She further showed her abilities last year when she directed the dances in Milton's "Comus."

Mr. S. Peter Mills, '34, is the hero. His freshman year he played Monsieur Benjamin in Rostand's "The Romancers." The next year he played in two one act plays "Spreading the News" by Lady Gregory and "In the Zone" by Eugene O'Neill. His third role of his sophomore year was Don Juan Medina in "The Romantic Young Lady" by G. Martinez Sierra. His junior year he did an outstanding piece of work in the role of a retired Sergeant-Major in "The Monkey's Paw." His first role of last year was Captain Ambrose Applejohn in Walter Hackett's "Captain Applejack."

The movie is full of action. Some of the football scenes were taken from our varsity games last fall. The rest were taken of the freshman team under Professor C. Harry Edwards' direction. The movie gives a complete picture of Colby even to including Nancy, our mascot. Don't miss it.

NOTICE

It is expected that opportunities for work under the Federal Emergency Relief Administration will be available in a short time. Students desiring such work should apply at the offices of the Deans.

Franklin W. Johnson.

There can be no doubt but that the concert of Tuesday evening, Feb. 20, will of all the concerts in the history of the series, be the one most thoroughly enjoyed by every listener. And it will remain longest in the memories of those who hear it.

We are sure that we make no mistake in believing Mr. Sanroma to be Colby's favorite artist. And Mr. Goding is, as a pianist, a close second. In qualifying these two artists we can but give our hearty approval to the judgment of such famous critics as Olin Downes (Times), who says: "Mr. Goding is a player of sensitiveness and taste... he played with an unassuming poetry and command and contrast of values which made an intimate and delightful appeal to the listener..." A beautiful proportioned performance, one thoughtfully conceived, and H. T. Parker (Boston Transcript), who says of Mr. Sanroma: "He has excelled indeed, in all that he has undertaken the season through. No task was too small for his pains; none however exacting, has exceeded his ripening powers."

It is because of comments such as these that we feel proud indeed to present in their debut the two pianists.

Even in Waterville we are able to hear what, in Boston and New York, is considered well worthy of hearing.

Anspacher Lectures On Vital Topics

Monday evening, Dr. Louis K. Anspacher, nationally famous dramatist and lecturer, spoke on "Our Present Plight." Dr. Anspacher delivered one of the most interesting lectures that has been offered by the Colby Lecture Series to date.

The noted economist was vehement in his denunciation of many current political policies. He stated that the more democratic a nation becomes the more it becomes infested with graft. It is this graft to which Dr. Anspacher was strongly opposed.

As a solution to the problem of war debts, Anspacher proposed that each nation cancel the debts and disarm in proportion to the size of the debt as a sort of payment.

"We must get rid of the narrow, patriotic jingoism, and such sayings as 'my country right or wrong,'" said the speaker as he urged a policy of internationalism, because civilized countries are inter-dependent on each other.

"We are all stockholders in a bankrupt universe," was the saying he applied to the world in general.

The proposed plan for the reorganization of the athletic department which is printed elsewhere in this issue is the outcome of an extensive survey by the Alumni Athletic Council. The necessity of a reorganization has for a long time been apparent and has also been the chief interest of students, alumni, and faculty alike.

In short, the plan is one in which athletics would be subsidized by the administration. In it there would be incorporated a "Department of Health and Physical Education." This department, as its name signifies, would include all of the athletic activities of the college, both intercollegiate and intramural, as well as classes in physical education, health service, and infirmary facilities.

The chief characteristic of the proposed system as opposed to the present one is that the financing would be entirely a problem of the administration. One appropriation would be made for the department by the college. It is estimated that the annual appropriation would be in the vicinity of $35,000. This sum would be budgeted in much the same way that the present department allotments are handled. There would be, as it is proposed, a definite yearly sum allotted for each sport and for each separate phase of the department. This sum would include every expense from salaries to shoestrings.

The great advantage of the plan over the present system is that gate receipts are to be only secondary. They do not enter into either the budgeting or appropriations. In other words, regardless of the success or failure at the gate, our sports program will continue independently.

The present student athletic fee would be turned over in toto to the college. In fact, it actually becomes a part of the tuition. From a certain point of view, the plan would mean an increase in tuition with the accompanying elimination of the so-called athletic fee.

As yet this plan is only a proposal which is to be presented to the Board of Trustees for approval. It is, however, a proposal which meets with hearty endorsement on the campus and off. Its adoption would, we believe, practically unravel the present athletic tangle.

STUDENT COUNCIL

In view of the discussion on all sides of the athletic system at Colby, the Student Council had undertaken to discover the merits and defects of various systems in use at other institutions. Meanwhile a proposal for the reorganization of the Department of Physical Education and Athletics has been put forth by a special committee of the Colby Alumni Council. This proposal and such hints of the plan as are given have been seriously considered by members of the Student Council who feel they are in a position to make the following exceptions and suggestions. It should be understood that the following is general and that a definite plan is under consideration.

I. There should be established a Department of Intercollegiate Athletics separated completely from the Department of Physical Education.

II. The head of this Department of Athletics should be a graduate of Colby having a working knowledge of athletics and the best interests of the college at heart. He should be directly responsible to the President and Trustees of Colby College.

a) The director of athletics shall have under him a staff of coaches, whom he recommends for approval by the President and Trustees.

b) Schedules shall be drawn up by the director of athletics with the approval of the coaches of the respective sports and in accordance with college regulation.

c) The director of athletics shall have complete jurisdiction over matters concerning athletic equipment and the financing of athletics, which will be handled with the cooperation of the treasurer of Colby College.

III. The Department of Physical Education shall include the administration of the health service and a division for the promotion of intramural athletics which will promote a still broader program than that which now exists.

SPORT MILLE

by Bob William
(A story with a moral)

The report of a shot echoed down the halls of a large metropolitan hotel. The house detective localized the sound in room 616 and passed his way in. Stretched full-length on the floor lay the body of a man; beside him a revolver. On a writing table, conspicuously displayed, lay a sheaf of papers, the outside leaf of which bore the address "To whom it may concern." The detective turned to page one and read:

"I, Timothy O'Toole, do hereby declare that my death has been self-inflicted. For those whom it might interest I leave this story of my life and the causes which led to its ultimate end.

"I was born of normal parents in this city and, until I entered the public school system, manifested no signs of mental derangement or deficiency. At the time of my entrance into the lower grammar grades my parents became aware of abnormal behavior on my part. They noticed that I retired very early in the evenings and arose in the mornings with the greatest reluctance. I was always tired. At my desk in school I was more than once apprehended dozing in the middle of a recitation. My teachers and my fellows attributed my trouble to hereditary feeble-mindedness and my parents put it down to overstudy. Alas, they were mistaken.

"This abnormal behavior clung to me through grammar and high schools. I entered college and despite my peculiar retiring nature succeeded in ingratiating myself with my classmates. Still my affliction clung to me. Finally, after four years of tedious effort, I felt prepared to take my diploma and step out into the world. At commencement the happy faces of proud relatives filled the hall. Proudly each senior answered to his name and stepped forth to receive his diploma. With stifled emotion I awaited my turn but alas, my name was never called and I was left alone. As I stood alone in that great hall the headmaster entered and took me aside. He whispered in my ear and my heart sank.

"I left school and went to work on Wall street. Soon I met and fell in love with a beautiful girl and asked her to marry me. To my utter joy she consented and not long after I led her to the altar. There in that coruscating cathedral we stood before the man who in a few minutes would make us man and wife. The good man lifted his voice and said 'Is there anyone who knows any reason why these two should not be united in holy matrimony?' Then the blow fell! Out of the gathering a harsh voice grated 'Yes!' Then to all inquiring eyes the voice grated 'Once, in years gone by, that man, Timothy O'Toole, flunked P. T.' Alas, dear readers, it was true. That was the curse that had weighed on my youth. My fiancée looked at me aghast as did all present. Upon receiving my sad affirming nod the dear girl uttered a painful shriek and fled to her mother's arms. Again I was left alone.

"Once freed, who could stay that havoc wreaking secret in its course? I lost my position. Down, down, down I slipped into the city slime. At last, destitute of property and friends, I came here to end it all.

Signed,

T. O."

And so, little children, take your P. T. regularly while 'tis yet time.

Dr. A. Wakefield Speaks On Far Eastern Situation

Last evening at a well attended meeting of the International Relations Club, Dr. A. P. Wakefield of the Central Maine Sanatorium, father of two Colby students, was the guest speaker. During his twenty-two years in China as a doctor and professor of medicine at a Chinese university, Dr. Wakefield has observed with much interest the political and social life of the East. Commenting on the possibility of a war between Japan and Russia, he said, "I do not believe that a war between these two nations is imminent. However, it is evident that Russia will not relinquish her hold on the Chinese Eastern Railroad, and intends to retain it as a threat over the Japanese. . . . The Japanese are fortifying themselves against a Russian onslaught with their new naval program. It is improbable, though, that in the event of a war Japan will be the aggressor nation. If there is a war, the indomitable philosophy of the Japanese will urge them to fight furiously. A Russian victory would be highly improbable and would result only if the Japanese are completely annihilated." Dr. Wakefield concluded his interesting talk by relating personal anecdotes, and answering the various questions his audience put to him.

At the business meeting which followed, it was decided to hold a luncheon on February 25, at the Alumnae Building. The fee will be nominal, and all who are interested are urged to attend. To replace the officers who have left college, Muriel Walker, '34, was appointed secretary pro-tempore, and Donald Richardson, '35, member pro-tempore of the executive council. The Colby delegates to the Model League of Nations, to be held at Harvard and Radcliffe on March 8-10, will represent Norway. A new constitution for the organization has been written by Frederick Schreiber, '34, and Mr. Norman D. Palmer, faculty director. Copies will be available at the International Relations Club table, in the library, for the consideration of the members. Several new books, also, will be placed on the special table. After the distribution of membership cards, the meeting adjourned.

Glee Clubs To Give Annual Concerts

Colby's combined men's and women's glee clubs are about to begin their annual concert series which is more ambitious than ever before. This year Mr. John W. Thomas, director of music at Colby, has more talent with which to work than he has had since he became associated with this college's activities. Under his able leadership and the astute managing of Joseph Bishop, a concert schedule is now being arranged which will surpass any musical performance ever attempted by Colby students.

Sunday evening the glee clubs will make their first public appearance of the season in a religious concert at Fairfield. On Monday sixteen of Colby's vocalists are to participate in a joint concert with the members of the Macfarlane Club of Bates College. This organization is comprised of the best musicians attending Bates. Francis Smith and an accompanist will assist the Colby vocalists at Lewiston. The program is to be both secular and religious.

Plans are being completed to make the Waterville Concert this year one of Colby's most prominent social functions. A most diversified program has been arranged with a dance to follow the musical entertainment. Tickets may now be purchased for this concert which is to be held in the Alumnae Building on Friday evening, March 2.

Arrangements are being negotiated for concerts at Bangor, Skowhegan, Camden, and Dover-Foxcroft. Some of these may be mid-week concerts of a secular nature. If the Winter season is a successful one, some very interesting tentative plans for Spring concerts are afoot, one of which should bring together the best musical talent of the Maine colleges. If the student body could but realize it, the musical clubs are very influential in forming public opinion in favor of Colby by their favorable concerts in various cities of the state. In order to carry through these concerts, however, it is necessary that the students give their support to the musical clubs. One of the best ways of giving this support is for each and every student to attend the Waterville concert. Get your tickets now and benefit both the college and yourselves.

Bowdoin Sextet Edges Mules in Series Game

The Colby hockey teams' unstained record of wins in the Maine state league was sullied last Saturday by a capable Bowdoin sextet. The game, staged at the South End Arena, was skillfully played by both aggregations, and finally culminated in a 4 to 3 win for the visitors from Brunswick.

The aggressive Bowdoinese forged ahead auspiciously in the first period. "Doc" Billings strung up the first marker after a brilliant unassisted expedition into the Colby net. A scant 6 minutes later this same omnipresent Billings slapped brother Pete Mills' pass through Robitaille, Colby goal guard.

The honors in the next session broke even. Richardson's two goals, following rebounds, swelled the Bowdoin score considerably. Paganucci and Rancourt clicked for Colby via the rebound route also.

Special mention must be awarded Keville who afforded one of the most spectacular goal tending exhibition witnessed in Waterville this season. Keville's big stick and bulging pads stopped 44 pot shots during his 60 minute term in the Bowdoin cage.

Lemieux, the flashy freshman puckster and the ever-steady "Hockey" Ross worked beautifully for the Gray and Blue.

Colby Fails To Place in B.A.A. Meet in Boston

est track men ever turned out at Bates and has many friends on the Colby campus. Ken Black, anchor man on the Maine two mile team which won the two mile title also received several votes.

Colby's next track meet will be the University Club meet to be held in Boston on February 24. This meet is in reality the New England Indoor Meet and is divided into classes A and B. Harvard, Boston University, Mass. Tech, Dartmouth, etc. compose class A while the smaller colleges such as Bowdoin, Bates, Colby, Maine, Amherst, Williams, and like institutions form class B. The meet is counted on the basis of five places. Two years ago Colby led for the greater part of the meet, but was finally overtaken and finished in third place.

This year Coach Ryan is hopeful and thinks the boys will do as well as in past years. The events to be contested are: 40 yard dash, 45 yard high hurdles, 45 yard low hurdles, 880 yard run, mile run, pole vault, high jump, and relay races.

Bob Estes and Ed Buyniski are the Colby hopes in the 50 yard dash and it is possible that either of them will pick up a point in that event.

Johnny Dolan and Hal Hickey will run in the hurdles. They will not have much chance to score as Phil Good and Charlie Allen of Bowdoin along with Royce Purington of Bates are the favorites.

In the 880 Johnny Hunt, Cliff Veysey, and Captain Bevin are liable to score. If Hunt regains the form he displayed last spring there are few who will lead him to the tape. They will face such stern competition as the Black twins of Maine and Don Smith of Bates, last year's winner.

Colby's best bet to score points seems to be in the mile run. Cliff Veysey, Buddy Hilton, and Herb DeVor will be the mule entrants in this event. Cliff is one of the favorites in this event and it would not be surprising to see him break the tape in first place. Hilton grabbed second place in this event last year after leading the pack most of the way. If he is in form he should score again this year. DeVor has not had the experience of the other two, but he will be in there and may surprise.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editors of the ECHO:

In your last issue you published a letter titled "Aroostook Speaks, by Cracky," (an expletive practically unknown to the citizens of Aroostook county) of a somewhat loud and obnoxious tone and signed "A potato farmer from Aroostook and proud of it."

I gathered from the letter that this alleged potato farmer is in favor of:

1. Abolishing all formal wear.
2. Getting up at 5 o'clock every morning.
3. Rising by honest effort like Andrew Jackson.

Now the person who wrote it either does not come from Aroostook and possesses a moronic sense of humor or else he does come from Aroostook and should be taking an Agricultural course at the U. of Maine, where I am sure he would be very happy indeed. Coming from Aroostook myself, I do not wish to see it represented by this letter alone, because from such expressions the world at large assumes that:

(a) Three fourths of the people* in Aroostook stay home and raise "the finest potatoes on earth."

* Part of these live in trees.

(b) The remaining fourth goes out to brag about it.

The chief thorn in the flesh of this Embattled Farmer seemed to be the wearing of formal dress at some of our dances. He would, it seems, organize a society for the Suppression of Stiff Shirts upon the slightest provocation.

But the fact remains that there should be something about a college dance to distinguish it from the Tom, Dick, and Harry variety. Your enterprising young collegian, even if he does not have brains enough to get a college education proper, can often continue to look as if he had by the manner in which he wears his clothes and executes the social contacts that the outside world is sure to bring. This sometimes is a bewildering fact for the struggling young man to accept who is "striving by honest effort" to get up at 5 o'clock every morning and go out of college with a Phi Beta key and a shamble reminiscent of overalls.

As I remember it I never noticed anything dishonest about the wearing of a tuxedo, but then as Ophelia says "there's tricks in the world." The native shrewdness of the pertater farmer has undoubtedly perceived some treacherous, fraudulent, or deceptive action in the wearing of a tux,

But to get back to my main point, there should be something distinctive about a college function. This can best be achieved by a uniformity of dress known as formal wear. I will admit that the average male looks with a disgruntled eye upon the prospect of an evening spent behind a starched front, but as yet nothing better has been offered.

After the pertater farmer has risen by honest effort and become President of the United States, he can have a law passed abolishing all tuxedos—and be known to thousands of men as the Great Emancipator. Until then there seems to be nothing we can do about it.

Signed,
Aroostook Speaking Again.

Dear Gladiator:

Monday afternoon there was held on the Freshman field a so-called Winter Carnival. Doc Edwards, popular athletic director, planned a substantial program; there was plenty of snow and cold; there was offered a prize in the form of a cup to the fraternity scoring the most points; yet a

What is the answer to the indifference displayed by Colby students toward this extremely healthful and popular winter sports. Other colleges in a similar position as Colby have capitalized heavily on a winter sports program, sponsoring teams and staging elaborate carnivals. Now it is not to be presumed that Colby could swing such an affair as the famous Dartmouth Winter Carnival, or that we should attempt to support a team engaging in this activity. But certainly with the natural facilities that are in Waterville and with a member of the faculty willing to spend time and effort to promote interest in winter sports it seems as though there ought to be whole-hearted support given to Professor Edwards and his Outing Club.

But again what is the answer to the lack of interest displayed by the students. Is it because a bunch of pansies roam the Colby campus, is it because we're too sophisticated, or just plain indifferent? I think it is the last. Proof of this is in the fact that large numbers of the student body engage in various forms of winter sports when the presence of the opposite sex offers an inducement. The skating rink is well populated, tobogganing, skiing, and snowshoeing parties are numerous, and there have been a goodly number of sleigh rides the past few weeks.

It is the opinion and hope of those interested in winter sports that a Colby Winter Carnival could be made a great success. With a minimum of expense, a week-end of competition in various events, ending with a brilliant ball in the gym could equal the Junior Week-end as the other outstanding social event of the year. All that is needed is a little encouragement in the form of support by the student body.

They Satisfy

... people know it!

Same thing with a good cigarette or a good wood-fire. All you need is a light. And all you want is a cigarette that keeps tasting right whether you smoke one or a dozen. That's what people like about Chesterfields. You can count on them. They're milder—and they taste better. In two words, they satisfy. That says it.
