First Varsity Musical Comedy Proves Extraordinary Success

Pullen and Plotkin Score Personal Triumph in Presenting "Moon Madness"

COLONY, MARY BUSS, & MACGREGOR ASSIST

Thursday evening, April 19, nearly nine hundred people greeted the musical comedy "Moon Madness" in the Waterville Opera House. When the last curtain came down the audience was satisfied that they had witnessed the finest and most entertaining performance to be given in the city for a number of years. A cast of 72 Colby undergraduates cavorted in the first varsity show, a presentation written, directed, and produced by Colby students.

John J. Pullen, '35, and Harold M. Plotkin, '34, were the instigators, authors, and producers of "Moon Madness." To them go the tributes of having accomplished a task which everyone said would be next to impossible. Although months in the making, there were only nine days of real rehearsals, but the performance showed a professional knowledge of dramatic technique on the part of the producers. When the comedy started promptly at 8.30, there were only a few vacant seats in the orchestra and first balcony of the Opera House. Never in the history of amateur dramatics in Waterville has a larger crowd attended a performance of this kind.

"Moon Madness" began with an overture played by Cecil Hutchinson and his augmented pit orchestra. Robert T. Beals, musical arranger for the show, wielded the baton as the band played a medley of the songs used, and ending with "On To Victory." The curtain then went up on the opening number, the dancing chorus of eight men dressed as chorines: Hugh D. Beach, Joseph L. Stevens, William H. Millett, Alvin L. Voe, Paul W. Stiegler, John J. Coyne, George C. Putnam, George H. Holbrook, and Eino A. Kivi. They went through a snappy dance routine to "It's Only A Paper Moon," and this hilarious beginning put the audience in a joyful and receptive mood.

Scene one, followed immediately with Bernard C. Stallard, the hero, Kathryn A. Herriek, the ingenue, Arthur O. Brown, the comedian, and Kenneth A. Johnson, arriving on the

$50,000 Left To Colby by C. P. Kling

The late Charles Potter Kling of Augusta, in his last will and testament made April 15, 1931, bequeathed to Colby $50,000. The interest on this money is to be used to pay tuitions and to buy books for needy and deserving male students of Colonial or Revolutionary ancestry. Mr. Kling left to a niece the life use of $50,000 which upon her death will be given to Colby. This money may be used as the trustees see fit. After the estate has been settled a third of the money that remains will be given to Colby. By the time Colby has received all the money that she has been bequeathed she expects to have from three to four hundred thousand dollars.

Bowdoin College is also receiving $50,000. The income on this money is to be used for the same purposes as Colby's. Bowdoin College, the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, and Colby are the three parties which are to share equally in the residue of the estate.

NEW PLAN FOR CLASS ELECTIONS ADOPTED BY STUDENT COUNCIL

At the weekly meeting of the Student Council held Monday evening it was unanimously agreed to adopt a plan which it is hoped will abolish the long prevalent system of fraternity politics in class elections. For several months a committee has been working on this matter, and the plan as finally presented is a combination of such systems as have been attempted in other colleges together with original ideas forwarded by members of the committee.

The salient feature of the plan is that names of prospective class officers are drawn up by a nominating committee. This committee consists of one delegate from each fraternity and one from the non-fraternity group. The names of the nominees are not announced until the time of election. At this time ballots are handed out with the fraternity affiliation of the voter stamped on them. One ballot is cast, following which the vote is counted and inspected by members of the Student Council. As the plan is arranged it is a simple matter to detect any violation of the spirit as well as the letter of the law.

The plan in full is reprinted below. The committee that drew up the plan and presented it to the Council is as follows: William Millett, Chairman; Thomas Hickey, and Laurence Dow.

Plan for the abolition of Fraternity politics in class elections.

McEnelly's Orchestra Plays For 150 Couples at Colorful Junior Promenade

PEG SALMOND CROWNED PROM QUEEN

The Class of 1935 has just had the distinction of having presented the best Junior Week-End ever held in the social annals of Colby College. The three-day event began Thursday, April 19, with an exhibition baseball game between Colby and the University of Maine. The same evening, the musical comedy "Moon Madness" was performed at the Waterville Opera House. Friday evening, the annual formal promenade was held in the Alumnae Building, and on Saturday evening, each of the nine fraternity houses ran open house chasers.

More than 150 couples danced to the music of Ed. McEnelly and

Dr. Padelford to Deliver Address at Commencement

Dr. Frederick M. Padelford of Seattle, Washington, is to deliver the commencement address at the 113th Colby College Commencement on Monday, June 18.

Dr. Padelford is one of the country's foremost English scholars and holds the position of Dean of the Graduate School of the University of Washington.

Graduating from Colby in the class of 1896, he continued his studies at Yale, obtaining the degree of Ph. D. in 1899. Later he spent a year doing research work at Oxford University and the British Museum. He was on the faculty of University of Idaho before affiliating himself with the University of Washington in 1901.

Dean Padelford is an authority on the Spenserian period of English literature and has contributed numerous writings on this subject. He is also author of five books as well as many periodical articles and has edited or translated a number of other volumes.

his Victor Recording Band at the Junior Prom. The gym was smartly decorated in blue and white, with stars, planets, and celestial bodies haphazardly scattered through the maize of dimly lighted streamers. The vogue of design cleverly followed the stage effects at "Moon Madness."

During the course of the evening, Miss Margaret E. Salmond, of Winslow, was crowned Queen of the Prom, and was presented a beautiful gold loving cup, suitably engraved, and a bouquet of flowers. The presentation took place in the center of the stage where a throne had been erected. Mr. Kenneth F. Mills presented the cup for the prom committee, and flashlights beamed on the smartly dressed couples flanked the Queen and paid homage to her loveliness. Miss Salmond was escorted by Mr. Jack Sullivan.

A feature of the evening was the playing of "Too Much In Love," the hit song of the musical comedy, by McEnelly's band. Miss Kathryn A. Herriek sang her own number, and continued applause greeted her rendition. The campus has been humming the song ever since.

The patrons and patronesses were: Dean and Mrs. E. C. Marriner, Dean Ninetta M. Runnals, and Professor and Mrs. J. F. McCoy.

The fraternity open-house chasers held Saturday from eight until twelve were informal, well-attended, and closed the brilliant week-end.

To Present Barrie's "Quality Street"

J. M. Barrie's play "Quality Street" has been chosen for the Commencement drama this year. J. M. Barrie, a novelist as well as playwright, has written and produced many hits. "Professor's Love Story," "Little Minister," made famous by Maude Adams, "What Every Woman Knows," "The Admirable Crichton," and "Peter Pan," in which Barrie departs into a realm of fantasy, are among his better known successes.

Although born in Scotland, Barrie is truly English. He spent his youth there and his plays and stories are steeped in English custom and tradition. He is the only great British dramatist who was not silenced by the World War; his later plays are in many respects richer in thought than his earlier works.

The cast for "Quality Street" will be chosen in the near future from members of "Powder and Wig" and from past and present students of the Dramatic Art Class.

NOTICE

The International Relation Club will hold a luncheon in the Alumnae Building, Saturday at 12.30 P. M. Miss Gineo Foster is to speak. Those wishing to attend are asked to sign the paper on the bulletin board in the Library. The cost of the luncheon is twenty-five cents.

There will be an important meeting of all non-fraternity men Thursday morning at 10.00 A. M. in Chapel. The purpose of the meeting is to select three men to serve on the committees for class elections. It is imperative therefore that every non-fraternity man be present.

Goodwin Contest Monday Night

The 24th annual Goodwin Prize Speaking Contest is to be held in the College Chapel, Monday evening, April 30, at 7.30 o'clock. The prizes offered total one hundred dollars and are the gift of Mrs. Matie E. Goodwin, of Skowhegan, in memory of her husband, the late Forrest Goodwin, of the class of 1887.

Eleven undergraduates, selected from a large number of students who took part in the preliminary contests, are to compete for the prizes, as follows: W. M. Clark, '36, W. H. Dunn, '36, W. B. Ferguson, '34, E. J. Gurney, Jr., '35, H. W. Hickey, '30, R. B. Moore, '30, R. Nathanson, '34, M. O'Donnell, '35, J. J. Pullen, '35, F. Schreiber, '34, A. W. Stetson, Jr., '34.

The general theme of the addresses will be "The Social, Economic and Political Problems of the United States."

Floods Couldn't Keep Two Girls From Prom

It took more than floods to keep two Colby alumnae from the Junior Prom last Friday. Cordelia Putnam of Houlton and Mary Smith of Mansfield, members of last year's graduating class at Colby, started for Waterville in a car, but found that between Lincoln and Bangor the state highway was submerged and declared impassable. Trucks and travelling men all turned back to wait until the high water receded next week. Business could wait, declared the Colby girls, but a date to the Prom could not be postponed, and besides, Miss Putnam was an expert swimmer, so they

25th Annual Lyford Interscholastic Prize Contest to be Held May 4

Without any question, the largest number of high school and academy students engaged in an oratorical contest, to be assembled anywhere in this country, will meet on the Colby campus on the afternoon and evening of May 4. The occasion is the holding of the 25th annual Lyford Interscholastic Prize Speaking contest, open to preparatory schools of Maine, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts. A total of 58 schools with an enrollment of 97 speakers establishes a record for the Lyfords.

This large company of preparatory school students will be the guests of the College, and a program of entertainment will be provided for them. The principal feature of the program will be a banquet served at the Elmwood at 8 o'clock Friday evening. Committees of the undergraduates will act as special hosts to the visiting school boys, and the boys will be housed in the various fraternity houses. Professor Herbert C. Libby, of the department of public speaking, will serve as the general chairman, and he will have a special committee to assist him consisting of Arthur W. Stetson, '34, Ralph Nathanson, '34, Edward J. Gurney, Jr., '35, Harold W. Hickey, '30, and George H. Hunt, '34. The preliminary speaking will open at 1.30 o'clock, Friday afternoon, with eight groups of speakers. The judging will be done by students enrolled in the public speaking classes.

The speaking in the finals will be held at 7.30 o'clock Friday evening, in the College Chapel, and the presiding officer will be President Franklin W. Johnson. A board of judges, selected by the President, will pass upon the final speaking and award the prizes.

In next week's ECHO a complete list of the students participating in the Lyfords, together with the full list of student judges, will be given.

Nine Loses to Maine in Exhibition

The Colby baseball nine suffered a 6 to 5 defeat at the hands of the University of Maine team last Friday on Seneca field. Mayor Thayer "wild pitched" the first ball to send the teams off on the first game of the season. It was an exhibition game with plenty of errors and second rate pitching. The aggregation from Orono chalked up two runs in the first by dint of two passes and Woodbury's hot single. Maine scored two more in the ninth when a Colby infielder erred. Aldrich doubled and McBride singled.

The Blue and Gray gathered two markers in the fifth on singles by Ralph Peabody, Shochan and Sawyer and an error by Osgood.

The folding gam of the day was Walton's remarkable catch of Brownie's line drive to left field.

Colby Takes First Series Game 11-10

by Stan Plotkin

The Colby baseball team auspiciously opened the State Series down at Brunswick, last Saturday by taking Bowdoin over the bumps to the tune of 11 to 10. It was a hectic, wildly-played affair with a total of 11 errors spotting the play. The egregious performance of pitcher Doug Walker of the Bowdoinese was one of the few redeeming features of the game. By his timely batting Walker accounted for five of his team's runs, while his pitching after the first two innings was of a fine type. Misplays of teammates accounted for his defeat. Opposing him on the mound for Colby was Ralph Peabody who fanned an oven dozen batters in nine innings and pitched a brainy brand of ball throughout.

In the tenth inning Woody Peabody replaced Ralph. Woody couldn't find the plate and after walking three men was yanked for his brother Jim, the

Sawyer Stars as Tufts Downs Mules

In the opening game of the Colby nine's trip to the south the Blue and Gray went down before a powerful Tufts aggregation to the tune of 9 to 4. The outstanding feature of the game was a home run by Woody Peabody, who pitched the entire route for the Colby team. This powerful swat was said to be the longest ever knocked on the Modified field. John Shochan, freshman first sacker, also connected for a four bagger. The only other Colby man who was able to touch Lupton the Tufts twirler, were Sawyer, Brown, and Geor.

Colby Runners Win Portland Marathons

Colby reached top track honors last Thursday in Portland when two Blue and Gray plodders, Cliff Voysey and Herb DeVoe, won the annual Portland Boys' Club Patriot's Day Marathons over the eight and five mile routes respectively. To complete a gala performance for Coach Ryan's proteges, Don Christie who graduated two years ago finished second to DeVoe in the five mile jaunt.

In the eight mile trek Cliff took the lead at the gun and kept it throughout the race. He defeated a field of six including Corydon Jordan, former National Interscholastic Cross-Country favorite in the time of 44 min. 48.2-5 sec. This time compares favorably with the record of 42 min. 35.4-5 sec. set by the Colby ace last year. His feat is all the more commendable that he has been laid up with a pair of very sore legs.

DeVoe led a pack of nine to the

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 25, 1934

It would seem to us that the Maine Intercollegiate Track and Field Association is a rapidly dissolving organization. The action of Bates College in withdrawing from the association because of the interpretation of a single rule and the step taken by Colby College in withdrawing temporarily have given rise to this deplorable situation. We say deplorable because we cannot agree that four cornered track competition in Maine is anything but desirable.

Obviously enough as far as our three colleagues are concerned the line up on the matter considered at the last meeting of the association was not based on a consideration of the merits of the law, but rather on the effect it would have on the outcome of the State Track Meet. Maine supported Bates because, if they were successful it would mean fewer points for Bowdoin and a greater possibility of Maine's retaining her championship. Bowdoin was opposed to the discarding of the eligibility rule in question because it would mean a loss of points and Bates College was desirous only of a better showing in the annual track classic. Colby, it would seem, held no such materialistic point of view because she had already temporarily withdrawn from competition.

In our opinion the time to act on a rule of this sort is not when it is definitely at issue. If there were no particular individual concerned, the voting would certainly be different. For this reason we feel that our representatives voted quite as the situation demanded.

However, we do not feel we can as wholeheartedly support Colby's action in withdrawing from the association, even temporarily. The argument that we are outclassed in Maine track competition is indeed sound. The effect of this action on our colleagues, though, does not seem as simple. We feel that the mess in the MIFTA would never exist had Colby continued as an active member of the Association. If our track team returns from Worcester with a poor showing, Colby College can justifiably take upon her shoulders the blame for the rapidly approaching dissolution of the Maine Intercollegiate Track and Field Association.

At the instigation of an editorial appearing in the ECHO last November the Student Council has formulated a plan which it feels will do away with "fraternity politics," a quite unsavory feature of our campus. Of course, as yet this is limited to class elections. It is hoped, however, that the theory put into effect with the passing of this regulation may be extended to include other phases of college life.

In order that this end may be consummated it is necessary that students enter wholeheartedly into the spirit as well as the letter of the law as it is expressed elsewhere in this issue. A move of this sort deserves the cooperation and support of everyone concerned. If endowed with success, it will signify that Colby College is willing to abandon the ruts established by her fraternal predecessors.

Forum Held at University of Maine

The second Intercollegiate Forum of Maine Colleges was held under the auspices of the University of Maine on the evening of April 19. The problem discussed was that of "Money." Four undergraduates, one from each of the Maine colleges, were assigned topics for the basis of discussion, as follows: "Gold Standard," University of Maine; "International Bimetallism," Bates; "Managed Money," Colby; "International Gold Exchange Standard," Bowdoin.

Each college representative is allowed a certain number of minutes to discuss the topic assigned him, then the four representatives are given the opportunity of cross-questioning one another, and finally the audience is privileged to ask questions of any of the speakers. The forum is an innovation among the Maine colleges and is proving of very great interest. A large audience attended the forum at Maine. Colby was represented by Ralph Nathanson, '34.

Upon invitation of Readfield Grange, Colby sent debate teams to this grange on Saturday afternoon, April 21, consisting of Edward J. Gurney, Jr., '35, and Harold W. Hickley, '36, affirmative, and George H. Hunt, '34, and Arthur W. Stetson, Jr., '34, negative. Professor Libby accompanied the teams and presided over the debate. The proposition discussed was that of giving the President of the United States additional powers as a permanent policy. It proved to be one of the best debates that was ever presented by Colby undergraduates. The concluding arguments on either side were vigorously applauded by the large company of townspeople who were present. An audience vote gave the decision to the negative by a very small margin.

This Saturday evening, two Colby teams will debate before the Belgrade grange, and on this occasion the students of the Belgrade High School are to be invited in to hear the debate.

New Pledge System Proposed in Council

The following is a proposed deferred pledging system to be discussed in the fraternities:

No fraternity may pledge any man before the Monday following Thanksgiving.

Rushing may begin at 12.01 A. M. of that day in the form of written invitations to be delivered to the freshmen at that time.

Freshmen will be instructed to accept the fraternity he prefers and will report at the house of that fraternity when his decision is made.

Before pledging freshmen may be treated in any manner the individuals see fit, except that no freshman may be required, asked or allowed to make any agreement with any fraternity that will be binding or that will impair the opportunity for him to have absolute freedom of choice before the day designated for pledging.

All freshmen will be warned that the breaking of a pledge with one fraternity means that he cannot become pledged to any other fraternity before the following September.

The definite date for pledging is to be announced to the fraternities through their Student Council representative and the "ECHO" at least two weeks before the actual date for pledging.

Any fraternity judged guilty of violating the above rules, by a majority vote of the Student Council in a closed ballot and after a trial by the same board shall be suspended from said board for a period of one year from date of violation. Any Freshman violating the above rules will be fined $25.

moon in a rocket. The entrance of Anthony C. Stone, the Emperor of the Moon, and his retinue almost stopped the show. Ken Johnson then sang an original song by Win Clement titled, "Maine Central Blues." He was called back three times to bow to the tremendous applause of the audience.

Robert M. MacGregor did a tap dance and an encore for the shouting crowds. Scene two followed with Kay Herrick singing another song by Win Clement, "Liar of Love." Beulah Bennett's impersonation of Mae West, especially the "d'ya follow me, boys?" had the paying customers rolling in the aisles. Joseph B. O'Toole then sang "Let's Fall in Love," a fitting preface to scene three, wherein Bernie Stallard makes love to Beth P. Pendleton, the heroine. The latter two swung into the song, "Moon Madness," and their duet of soprano and tenor voices was especially pleasing.

George T. Grace, George J. Clancy, Foshd P. Salien, Thomas G. van Slyke, and Franklin C. Forbes provided the best laughs of the evening with their stage act in the Ted Healy manner.

The most impressive number of the show was scene four, with eight members of the men's glee club singing a special arrangement of Fred Waring's Drinking Song. The men were: James L. Ross, Winthrop Clement, Ralph A. Macdonald, Oliver C. Meilen, Joseph O'Toole, John P. Dolan, Alvin L. Vose, Alfred Wheeler, and George V. Gilpatrick.

After a ten minute intermission, Larry Dow, president of the junior class, came out and introduced Miss Margaret E. Salmond, chosen as Queen of the Prom. Peg was demurely gowned in a polka dotted white organdie and provided a colorful addition to the regular program.

The next number featured ten of the smartest co-eds wearing beautiful evening gowns, especially ordered for the show by Mr. Walter Chenowsky of Augusta. The ten models were: Marjorie Gould, Janet Goodridge, Eleanor Bridges, Muriel Bailie, Helen Kelley, Eleanor Manter, Ruth Richardson, Mimma Robertson, Virginia Tarbell, and Anita Thibault. With this background of beautifully gowned women, Terri Carlyle came forward to the footlights dressed in black and white pajamas and did an impersonation of Bette Beaton, featured in the current edition of the Ziegfeld Follies. As was expected, the number was too sophisticated for most of the Waterville audience; the languid and nonchalant act of the glamorous Terri went way over the heads of the on-lookers. Nevertheless, it was excellently done.

The poetic bedroom scene followed with these pajama-clad co-eds popping alternately out of the huge bed: Mary E. Ewen, Elizabeth C. Dyson, Agnes C. Carlyle, Ruth C. Keller, Margaret B. Raymond, Wilma Stanley, Ann C. Trimble, and Kay Herrick. The scene was directed by Mary L. Buss, and ended in a blackout when Art Brown crawled out from under the bed.

The riotous classroom scene featured Bob Colomy as the professor and Terri as the "major." The Tritones sang the new "Leaning Tower Dance," music by Kay Herrick and words by Hal Plotkin, and Die Johnson and Betty Dyson interpreted it in a graceful dance which was well received. Grass-skirted Jack Coyne had the place in an uproar with his rendition of the savage serenade.

The musical comedy ended with the glee clubs and the entire cast singing the hit song of the show, "Too Much in Love," the music of which was written by Kay Herrick, and Bob Colomy wrote the lyrics.

Those in the cast not already mentioned were: Morton M. Goldfine, Carl E. Reed, Dana W. Jaquith, Francis Barnes, Jeannette Bonn, Dorothy Gould, Avis Merrill, Portia Pendleton, Dorothy Smith, Virginia Swallow. The following assisted in the production: Robert W. Colomy, associate producer; Robert MacGregor, assistant producer; Carl C. Reed, stage manager; Robert William, publicity director; Paul Stigler, property manager; Charles Pearson, assistant property manager; Virginia Swallow, répétiteur; Adele Bosko, costumes; Sybil Wolman and Nathan Alpers, makeup; Elbridge Ross, Robert McGee, Gerald Ryan, assistant stage managers.

"Moon Madness" was backed by the class of 1935 and presented as a part of Junior Week-End. The show was a great financial success as well as an entertaining feature.

tape in the time of 26 min. 51 1-5 sec., which is only 51 seconds behind the mark set by Russ Jellison of Bates two years ago. Herby took the lead at the end of the first mile and was never headed. His victory serves notice that he will be one of the best distance men in this section this spring. He has plenty of grit; in fact he runs almost wholly on this. With a little more speed work he will be able to give any man he faces this spring a hard battle.

Charles Potter Kling

educated at Harvard University, and a graduate of Harvard Law School.

While his many interests kept him away from Maine much of the time, he always considered the State as his home, and his beautiful estate at Augusta was constantly kept ready for occupancy.

Of ancient lineage and aristocratic tastes, a wise and prudent man of affairs with an international viewpoint and a patron of culture and art, he was a firm believer in the fitness of things and a quiet but generous philanthropist.

Mr. Kling was a great traveler and had many friends among the nobility and aristocracy of Europe.

Maine educational institutions interested Mr. Kling, and in a characteristically quiet way, he helped educate a number of young men in the colleges of this State. He was attracted to Colby College by an appreciation of the high standards and ideals of its institution.

He was a cousin of Florence Kling Harding, wife of President Warren G. Harding, and was on friendly social terms with every President from William McKinley to that of Calvin Coolidge.

LUCKIES

"It's toasted"

✓ Luckies are all-ways kind to your throat

We think you'd be impressed if you saw Luckies being made. You'd see those clean, silky center leaves—and you really wouldn't have to be a tobacco expert to know why farmers get higher prices for them. They are the mildest leaves—they taste better.

You'd be impressed by Lucky Strike's famous process—"It's toasted"—designed for your throat protection. And we know that you'll be truly fascinated when you see how Luckies are rolled round and firm, and fully packed with long golden strands of choice tobaccos. That's why Luckies "keep in condition"—why you'll find that Luckies do not dry out—an important point to every smoker. And you'll get the full meaning of our statement that Luckies are always in all-ways kind to your throat.

Only the Center Leaves—these are the Mildest Leaves

SPORT MILLE

by JERRY RYAN

The performance of Cliff Veysey and Herbie DeVeber in winning their respective eight and five mile marathon races in Portland on Patriot's Day is worthy of much commendation. Cliff had not been able to train regularly up to the time of the race due to a pair of very sore dogs. However, he took the lead early in the race and was never headed, breaking the worsted some two minutes behind the record which he set up last year.

This victory by DeVeber stamps him as one of the most likely looking distance men in these parts. He has trained regularly and his victory indicated that he has plenty of grit. This was the first "big time" victory ever turned in by DeVeber and as he was only fifty-one seconds behind the record, we will probably hear more from him before the track season is over.

The baseball nine opened its State Series schedule against Bowdoin last Saturday by defeating the Bear 11 to 10 in a twelve inning struggle. The papers claim that the skirmish was the most thrilling ever seen on the Bowdoin diamond, and we hope that the Mules will do their best to furnish some thrilling struggles on the home field this year. The outstanding performance of the game was turned in by Captain Ralph Peabody, who whiffed a dozen Polar Bears in the nine innings that he toed the rubber.

It looks as if the State meet has broken up. Bates announced its intention of withdrawing after a meeting on Monday of the sports heads at Bates. It is quite improbable that Bowdoin and Maine will want to meet in a dual affair for the State diadem. Bowdoin desires to enter an association with Williams, Wesleyan or Amherst. Colby will compete in the Eastern Intercollegiate Meet at Worcester on May 12th.

The golf team with such men as Captain Abbott, Ben Liscomb, Ernie Roderick, and Bob William to build around should stand a good chance of bringing the State Golf Championship with the Averill Cup to our campus again this spring. Joe Brogden, Lou Progalaski, Les Huard, and Noyes Ervin will wage a merry battle for the two open berths on the team.

Tennis should experience a successful season with such racketeers as Captain Norm Taylor, Bill Ferguson, Johnny Holden, Steve Brodie, "Smudge" Diggle, Pete Allen, Fred Demers, and the great Rothblatt storming the net for the honor of the Blue and Gray.

Ben Liscomb is the only golfer in college ever credited with a hole-in-one. . . bleacherites around Waterville who have been following Colby baseball for many years claim that Jawn Sheehan is the cleverest fielding player ever to sport the Colby spangles. . . Larry Robbins will find a place for himself on the Colby ball team if he keeps up his hitting. . . Duff will make a good infield replacement before the year is over. . . Such linemen as Paul Harold, Steve Young, Ed Goodrich, and Paul Landry are bound to give some of the lettermen on last fall's football eleven a run for their positions and don't be surprised if they beat some of their supposed superiors out despite the fact that they sport the Colby "C". . . if material means anything the Mules should have another excellent ice outfit next winter. . . a large golf schedule is being formed for next season. . . don't forget the Interfraternity track meet Saturday.

members of the Student Council. They shall record the total attendance and the number present from each fraternity.

V. One ballot can be cast by each member of the class at the time of election.

a. This ballot shall contain:

(1.) The name of one nominee for each office.

(2.) The fraternity affiliation (either pledge or member), if any, of the individual casting the ballot. This is to be stamped on the ballot which is handed to the voter.

VI. Following the election, the ballots shall be turned over to the Student Council. It shall be the duty of this organization to:

a. Count the ballots and record the voting.

b. Judge from the results of the balloting whether or not there has been any "fraternity politics" in evidence.

VII. If, in the opinion of the Council, any group or groups have offended, the ballots cast by the individuals composing those groups shall be rejected and only the remaining ballots shall be considered.

a. The Council may additionally punish offenders as it sees fit.

VIII. In the case of a tie, the deciding ballot shall be cast by a majority of the Nominating Committee.

In case one man is elected for more than one office, he shall receive the major position.

about Cigarettes

As to the cigarette paper
on Chesterfields

THIS reel of cigarette paper is sufficient to make 42,000 Chesterfield Cigarettes. It is of the finest manufacture.

In texture, in burning quality, in purity, it is as good as money can buy.

Cut open a Chesterfield cigarette. Remove the tobacco and hold the paper up to the light. If you know about paper, you will at once note the uniform texture—no holes, no light and dark places. Note also its dead white color.

If the paper is made right—that is, uniform—the cigarette will burn more evenly. If the paper is made right—there will be no taste to it and there will be no odor from the burning paper.

Other manufacturers use good cigarette paper; but there is no better paper made than that used on Chesterfields. You can count on that!
