MULES WIN STATE CHAMPIONSHIP IN HOCKEY STUDENTS PEACE-MINDED IN LITERARY DIGEST POLL

Strongly Opposed To Invasion Of Foreign Country

Hugh Majority Favor Control of Munitions

Nearly one-sixth of American university undergraduates states they would not bear arms in case the United States was invaded, according to the semifinal returns of The Literary Digest College Peace Poll conducted among the students of 115 leading universities, as published in tomorrow's issue of the magazine.

Of the 91,055 students voting on this issue 83.60 per cent. marked their ballots that they would fight in case an enemy invaded the United States, while 16.40 per cent. voted negatively.

On the policy of "should the United States enter the League of Nations?" the balloting was almost a tie—50.17 per cent. voting for entry and 49.83 per cent. signifying they were opposed.

Asked if they believed the United States could stay out of another great war, the student bodies responded with a more than 2 to 1 vote that the nation could avoid another major conflict.

The undergraduates balloted overwhelmingly negative on the question of bearing arms "for the United State in the invasion of the borders of another country." Of the 90,281 votes recorded on this section of the referendum, 17.83 per cent. were marked "Yes," while 82.17 per cent. were tallied in the "No" column.

The students balloted 90.78 per cent. advocating "Government control of armament and munitions industries."

By a vote of 33,870 to 58,025, they voiced opposition to the national policy that "An American navy and air force second to none is a sound method of insuring us against being drawn into another great war."

On the seventh question of "In alignment with our historic procedure in drafting man-power in time of war, would you advocate the principle of universal conscription of all resources of capital and labor in order to control all profits in time of war?" the vote showed 81.98 per cent. of the balloting for such universal conscription to 18.02 per cent. opposed.

Mr. G. W. Smith Speaks On Drama At Forum

Fellowship Forum, sponsored by both the Methodist and Baptist Churches, is meeting for the second semester in the fireplace room of the First Baptist Church. Last Sunday evening, Feb. 10, Mr. Gordon W. Smith spoke on "Current Drama," beginning a series of three speeches pertaining to drama and followed by discussions. This Sunday night at 5.30, there will be a supper, following which Professor Cecil A. Rollins will talk about "What's Happening in the Movies." Sunday night, Feb. 24, the last speaker of the series, Dr. Grace R. Foster, will talk on "The Effect of Movies." A feature of Forum this year has been bi-monthly got acquainted suppers, which have proved to be very successful.

Y-PLAY TRYOUTS
Tryouts for the Y. W.-Y. M. play "The Great Choice" will be held in the Chapel Friday afternoon from 3.30 to 5.30. A copy of the play is on the reserve shelf.

BASKETBALL GAME
Colby Frosh vs. Hebron Academy
Tonight at 7.30 in the Men's Gym.

Dramatic Art Class To Present Play Soon

Under the guidance of Professor Cecil A. Rollins the next presentation of the Dramatic Art class, "The White-Headed Boy," is taking form. Try-outs for this play are to take place this week. The members of the cast will be taken from the class; it is not to be open to the student body as a whole.

Lennox Robinson, who is now with the Irish Players who are touring this country, is the author of this drama. Mr. Robinson has written many other plays such as "Patriots," "The Dreamers," "A Young Man From the South," and "The Cross Roads." "The White-Headed Boy" is a comedy in three acts. It was first presented in this country by Charles Dillingham at Henry Miller's Theatre in New York City on October 21, 1921.

On April 11 at the Alumnae Building the presentation of "The White-Headed Boy" will be given.

The following list contains the cast of characters of this play for which trials are to be held:

Mrs. Georgehegan; George, Peter, Kate, Jane, Baby, Denis, Her children; Donough Brosnau, engaged to Jane; John Duffy, Chairman, Rural District Council; Delia, his daughter, engaged to Denis; Hannah, a servant; Aunt Ellen.

Dr. Dwight Bradley To Speak At Fourth Vesper

The fourth in the series of Sunday vespers will be held at 7.30 o'clock on Sunday evening, February 24, at the First Baptist Church. Dr. Dwight Bradley, Chairman of the Boston Federation of Churches, will be the speaker at this service. It will be remembered that Dr. Bradley gave the baccalaureate sermon here in 1933, and at that time he was granted the degree of Doctor of Divinity. At the present time Dr. Bradley is preaching at the Union Congregational Church in Boston. There will also be a special musical program at this vesper which is a union service between the college and the churches of the community.

Dr. William T. Bovie To Talk To Math Club

All students of biology, chemistry and physics are to be guests of the Math club on Friday evening, Feb. 15, at 7.30 in the Shannon lecture room. Dr. William T. Bovie, a well known bio-physicist, will speak on a topic of his own choice. For seventeen years Dr. Bovie has taught at Harvard University; is famous as inventor of Bovie surgical knife; and is now conducting an experiment in the Shannon physics laboratory upon the ultra-violet ray.

Religious Bodies Form New Colby Religious Council

Many Projects Dis- cussed at First Meeting

In the late afternoon of Tuesday, Feb. 5, there was launched an organization which is to effect vitally the life on our Colby campus. Holding the guide strings of the four religious associations, the Colby Council of Religion is now ready to coordinate the work of these—the Young Men's and the Young Women's Christian Associations, the Boardman Society, and the Student Fellowship Forum. With its method of surveying the various programs, of insuring no conflicts, of solving or attempting to solve problems, and of binding together the Council, which is composed of representatives from each organization, Miss Ninetta M. Runnals, Dean of Women, President Franklin W. Johnson, Dean Ernest C. Marriner, and Professor Herbert L. Newman, with the local pastors, Rev. Harold M. Metzner and Rev. John O. Brush, hopes to make organizations efficient and effective factors.

When the Council met, there were brought forward the plans of the joint Y's for the Jewish-Christian Conference to be held February 26; the Boardman project of a new World-mindedness; and the theme of modern drama on stage and screen for the Student Forum. Likewise, as a natural outcome of the Student Christian Conference at Northfield, comes the sponsoring of a News Letter to be sent out to the different New England colleges, with reports of campus activities. Thus, a feeling of contact and friendliness being promoted.

Perhaps a word should be added concerning the Jewish-Christian Conference, which brings to Waterville such electric and challenging personalities as Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, Rabbi Beryl D. Cohon, and Rev. M. J. Ahearn. Through this conference, the similarities and common ground between Catholicism, Judaism, and Protestantism will be brought forward in the joint effort of the three representatives. Our own interracial deputation team of Messrs. Dolan, Krinsky, and Dow have already started interest along these lines, a tremendous stride in the breaking down of racial barriers.

Hitherto, the individual groups have effected much; what more can they not accomplish with the Colby Council of Religion, figurative physician feeling the pulse beats of the processes and machinations of the four organizations?

ALUMNI LOANS

Last Saturday the committee on Alumni Council Loans granted money to fifteen students. The grants aggregated over $1000. The number of students who applied indicated that the Alumni Council is certainly meeting a real need in this new financial service which they are rendering to the students. The loan service is to be a permanent affair and it is the hope of the Council to increase it each year.

Dr. Wilkinson Will Conduct Study Group

On Friday evening from 6.45 until 7.30 at the Alumnae Building Professor Wilkinson will conduct the first meeting of a study group on Basil Mathew's book, The Clash of World Forces, sponsored by the Boardman Society.

Believing that a realistic religion must have not only good will, but also genuine information as a basis for action, the study group hopes, from the reading of Mathew's book and collateral material as preparation for the meetings, through a series of discussions under competent leaders, to make an intelligent appraisal of the great conflicting forces of Nationalism, Bolshevism, and Christianity.

All interested students are invited to the first meeting, at which a basis of membership will be formulated. Mathew's—The Clash of World Forces will be found on the reserve shelf. The first two chapters may be read in advance for the first meeting.

Dr. Smith Speaks On Washington and Lincoln

Dr. George Otis Smith, President of the Board of Trustees of Colby and a former member of the National Geological Survey, spoke at women's chapel Monday morning on the subject "Two Great Americans." Basing his interesting survey and characterizations upon actual visits which he had made to the memorials of Washington and Lincoln, he was able to give the students the inspiration which he had gained from contact with our material tributes to these great Americans.

The reading of such documents as the Second Inaugural Address, declared the speaker, show the deep spiritual life of a man who could say "With malice toward none, and with charity for all." Continuing in this strain, he pointed out that the New York tablet of Washington at Valley Forge depicts our national hero in a kneeling position. This persistent faith, characteristic of two men from very different walks of life was the dominating factor which contributed to true greatness and enabled each to save the nation in his day.

"With this example of two men who 'kept the faith' during times of stress, we Americans," he declared, "shall do well to turn to them for faith in our country as it was, is, and whatever the Almighty wills it shall be."

Mules On Trip To Include Yale, Williams, Brown

Defeat Bowdoin 5-3 In Overtime Last Night

By virtue of a Bowdoin win over Bates last week the Colby White Mules garnered another state championship in hockey. Last night's victory over Bowdoin made it three straight over the Polar Bears. Colby has also triumphed twice over Bates. There remains but a single game in the state series, that to be played with Bates here, February 19.

Coach Bill Millett and his powerful 1935 State Championship hockey team left town yesterday for an invasion of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut. Yesterday afternoon the Mules played Bowdoin at Brunswick, and left immediately for Boston where they spent the night. Tonight the Colby team plays its biggest game of the season at New Haven, where it encounters the mighty Yale outfit. Tomorrow the Blue and Gray sextet does battle with Williams at Williamstown, and on Friday the boys will tackle Brown at Providence. After having completed this quartet of stiff games, the Colby players will remain in Boston on Saturday where they will watch some professional hockey contests. The team will return to Waterville sometime on Sunday.

The players who went on this trip are as follows: Captain Hocker Ross, Tut Thompson, Don Robitaille, Monk Russell, Jimmie LaChance, Louis Rancourt, Bob Sparks, Al Paganucci, Rum Lemieux, Jake Guiney, Junior Sheehan, Warren Davenport, and Art Hannigan. They were accompanied by Coach Bill Millett and Manager Don Weiss.

Last evening Colby opened its foreign hockey invasion with a 5-3 victory over the Polar Bears at Brunswick in an overtime period.

With Capt. "Hocker" Ross playing brilliant hockey the Mules started out at a championship pace in the very first period. Three goals were rung up in this initial canto before the bewildered Bears could pull themselves together. Ross scored twice.

Bill Millett's lads then decided to rest up in view of the many games ahead. At the same time Bowdoin swung into action. In the next two periods the Brunswick collegians had counted three times while holding Colby in check.

The game then went into overtime. The Mules evidently decided that it was about time to cease loafing and go get some bear meat. At any rate the lads scored twice in short order and proceeded to ward off frantic Bowdoin sallies. Ross pushed home the fifth goal.

Why Not Plenty For All? . . .

WHAT we all have suspected for a long time regarding the potentialities of the economic status of the American family was clearly pointed out in an article by Stuart Chase in the current issue of Harpers.

Mr. Chase has put into interesting and readable form the findings of a certain "National Survey of Potential Product Capacity." This survey was sponsored by the United States government and was conducted by 60 expert technicians over a seven months period. It was based on the capacity of industry in 1929.

It was found that industry, had it produced to capacity, could have maintained each family at a living standard equivalent to $4400!

Writers like Stuart Chase have been pointing out this fact for a number of years. This reliable and accurate survey has proven their assertions in cold, undeniable facts.

It is about time that leaders in this country sat up and took notice of the true state of affairs. How often we have heard the cry of "poverty in the midst of abundance." Yet nothing is done about it. It may be, and a whole lot of evidence points in that direction, that the competitive system is doomed, out of date and unworkable. If such is the case why not toss it overboard and adopt a different system—perhaps a form of socialism. All this claptrap propaganda by the captains of industry concerning Communism and Bolshevism is not correcting our present sad state of affairs. There is no reason why a new economic system couldn't be worked out by intelligent Americans in a sane American fashion.

There are plenty of thinking people that question the merits of the New Deal. And if the fact is true that the system itself is entirely outmoded the government billions will merely make matters worse. Obviously if the machine and competition is continually eliminating jobs of workers some method of correcting this must be worked out. The government can not support continually increasing numbers of unemployed.

To cite but one illustration of the vicious circle of the competitive system there is the automotive industry. It has enjoyed a fair degree of sales in the past few months. Yet the workers are continually protesting their lot and they have good reason to. The age limit has come down now to about forty years! It is rare that a man over forty is hired. A piece of work that required three men in 1929 requires but one today. A job that paid $4 labor costs in '29 pays $.15, yes 15c, now. And this is true not only in the automotive industry but practically all others as well.

There can be but few outcomes if such a state of affairs is allowed to exist and continues to increase. People will listen to Townsends and Longs or they will take things into their own hands with consequent chaos.

It is not right for great wealth for a few to exist beside suffering and poverty for the many. It is not right for men to be without work and families without the essentials of life when clearly there is PLENTY FOR ALL. If the competitive system is doomed, and it would certainly seem so, why not face the facts and get rid of it. If socialism or something resembling it will at least improve matters why not have it. All this talk about the Constitution, independence, individualism (rugged), sacred competition, and all the rest isn't giving men jobs, or families food and clothing.

Prof. Colgan To Talk To Fireside Group

The first Student-Faculty Fireside meeting was held on the evening of February seventh at the home of Professor Morrow. Before an interested group of about twenty-five students, Professor Newman presented the "Problem of God." Speaking in the main from his own experience, he told of the evolution of the idea of God, and discussed the kind of God which we, in the light of modern science and philosophy have a right to believe in. After this talk questions were asked and discussion of the various points raised ensued. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Morrow, after which an informal discussion brought the evening to a successful close.

The second meeting of the series will be held February nineteenth at the home of Professor Strong. Professor Colgan will lead the discussion on the subject of "Prayer." The deep interest and fine spirit shown by both faculty and students at the first meeting testifies to a need that is being met by this discussion series.

Alumnae Libby, Hamlin Star in Ice Carnival

An ice carnival for the women of Colby was held Friday evening, Feb. 8, at 7.30 on the skating rink behind Foss Hall. Bernadine Libby and "Babe" Hamlin, both of the class of '32 were featured in an exhibition. Miss Corinne Van Norman and the guest skaters chose "Bunty" Robinson, '37, queen of the carnival. Her assistants were Marcia Duoba, '37, and Harriet Weibel, '37. The Freshman class won the cup for getting the highest number of points. The highest individual point winners were Mary Herd, '38, and Eleanor Barker, '37, and Barbara Hutcheon, '37. The general committee in charge of the carnival was composed of Amy Thompson, '37, chairman, Arlene Hayes, '36, and Eleanor Barker, '37. The class representatives were the following: Senior, Muriel Bailie; Junior, Natalie Gilley; Sophomore, Barbara Hutcheon; Freshman, Mary Herd and Helen Wade.

Brown, Hurwitz, Mills Win Murray Debate

By a unanimous vote of the five judges, the affirmative team, composed of Harold F. Brown, '35, Harold Hurwitz, '37, and Kenneth F. Mills, '35, won the Murray Prize Debate held in College Chapel, Monday evening.

Arguing on the question, Resolved, That the New Deal merits approval, the affirmative side effectively brought out many ways in which the Roosevelt administration has helped to bring the country out of the depression. Mr. Brown, the first speaker, pointed out that the New Deal has made banks more secure, has helped the farmer with the Agricultural Adjustment Act, has aided industry, and has bettered the condition of the worker. Mr. Hurwitz touched upon the social benefits of the New Deal. He mentioned the C. C. C., the F. E. R. A., the P. W. A., the F. H. A., the Child Labor legislation, Old Age Pensions, and unemployment insurance. Mr. Mills, the final affirmative speaker, maintained that the New Deal saved the country from a revolution. He vividly described the starving multitudes who would have risen up and overthrown the government if they had not been calmed by the Roosevelt unemployment relief program.

The Negative team, consisting of Melvin G. Higgins, '35, Dana W. Jaquith, '35, and Robert D. Hussey, '37, tried valiantly to point out breakdowns in the New Deal machine. Mr. Higgins said that Roosevelt is disturbing the balance between the Executive and Legislative branches of our government. He further asserted that the New Deal was rotten with graft, corruption, and mismanagement. Mr. Jaquith mentioned other weaknesses, among them the huge expenditures, the millions of people on relief rolls, and the abandonment of many of the "experiments" as unsound. Mr. Hussey concluded the constructive arguments. He mentioned the famous Section 7A, and the A. A. A., declaring that both were failures.

Professor Walter N. Breckenridge introduced the speakers, and Judge Charles W. Atchley, '03, James L. Boyle, Arthur B. Levine, '06, Professor Elmer C. Warren, and Norman D. Palmer, '30, served as judges.

Students Interviewed By B.U. Representatives

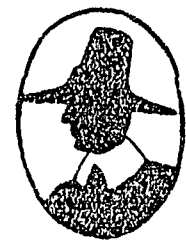

Dr. John C. Andrew of Boston University and Chaplain Witherington, representing the Boston University School of Religious Education, were on the campus last Friday and interviewed a large number of students during the day. At 4 o'clock under the auspices of the Boardman Society they met a group of interested students in the social room of the Alumnae Building where reels of film were shown of Chaplain Witherington's experiences in Hawaii. Talks of vocational interest were made by both Dr. Andrew and Chaplain Witherington. A meeting was also held at the Y. M. C. A. room in Hedman Hall earlier in the day.

Tau Delta Phi Holds Second Annual Banquet

On Monday evening, February 11, the Colby chapter, Tau Delta Phi, held its second annual banquet.

Guests of honor were Faculty Adviser Professor Hans C. Thory, Professor Arthur G. Eustis, and Honorary Frater, Dr. Benjamin D. Wolman. Benjamin Brownstein, '36, was master of ceremonies for the evening.

After the dinner, addresses were given by Benjamin Brownstein, Consul Schiffman, '35, Professor Thory, Professor Eustis, Dr. Wolman, Maurice Krinsky, '35, Richard Franklin, '36, and Arnold Green, '37.

Tracksters Go To University Club Meet This Week

Frosh Hoopsters Take Waterville

Not So Successful at B.A.A. Games

The first indoor meet of the varsity track schedule was the B. A. A. games held last Saturday in the Boston Garden. Colby sent a relay team composed of Washuk, Goodrich, Merrick, and Yadwinski, high-jumper Marshall, and Cliff Veysey to compete. The next trip takes the squad to Boston and Cambridge for the University Club meet this week. Veysey, Washuk, Goodrich, Yadwinski, LaFleur, J. Merrick, and DeVeber will make this trip.

Cliff Veysey finished in fourth place in the two mile race last week, but since there is no such event on the University Club list, he will enter the mile and relay, replacing P. Merrick in the latter. The relay team failed to show much promise in their last race, but after a week of hard training, they are expected to perform creditably. Marshall tried his jumping without success against Spitz and Johnson. This was his first attempt to jump from the boards. He should do better this week.

LaFleur and J. Merrick are figured to place in the shot put and weight throwing, respectively, in the coming meet. DeVeber is entered in the mile with Veysey, but he is not ranked as a winner. Washuk may get a few points in the broad jump and Goodrich is likely to be close to the front in the 50 yard dash.

The Colby Frosh hoopsters extended their winning streak to four games by defeating a scrappy Waterville High quintet 27-23 last Saturday afternoon in the Junior High gymnasium. It was the second victory of the season for the yearlings over the boys of Wally Donovan and Bob Violette.

The contest was nip and tuck throughout. At the half the score stood 10-10. At the three quarter point Waterville lead 20-19. The game was decided in the final few moments, the Frosh winning 27-23.

Heinie Kammandel was outstanding for the Frosh while honors were evenly distributed for Waterville.

Yearlings Edge Cony In Track

Nadeau Outstanding in 48-47 Win

Although they got off to a good start, the Colby yearling track squad was given a serious scare by Cony High in the closing moments of a dual track meet held in the field house last Saturday. Largely through the efforts of Nadeau, Davis, Pike, and Hodges the college cluster led by a score of 43-23 at the conclusion of six events. At this time, however, the Augusta schoolboys began to capture the majority of points to leave the winners a bare one-point margin for eleven events. Cony copped the relay, last race of the day, leaving the score at 48-47.

Nadeau was by far the most outstanding competitor with first honors in the 45 yard dash, high and low hurdles. His time in the dash equals the field house record and his low hurdle time is 2-5 second lower than the previous one. F. Maguire of Cony proved to be the star for the visitors when he turned in wins in the 1000 yard and mile runs. The mile was spectacular with Maguire coming from third position after two laps and establishing a lead which he lengthened lap by lap.

SCHEMER SCRATCHINGS . . .

All because of the fact that their mirror images and monikers appeared in the Collegiate Digest the week just past, our funsome foursome of class prexies of the women's division are very much in the collegiate eye . . . all have received a letter or more from admirers from here and there . . . Wonder why Larry Gray called on Roxbury's Phyllis Wolff . . . we hear it's the first entering of the Foss Hall portals in three years for Larry . . . Bibi Levine in an eye-treat appearance as she made merry last Saturday eve . . . And—to think that what I'd been waiting for took place under my very orbs and unseen until a week had elapsed . . . Paul Harold hung the pin on petite Ruth Maddock, and is everybody happy! . . . the boys call him "Paul" instead of "Louie" now for a reason of their own . . . George Clancy is first cook at Bob William's Getchell St. hovel . . . The co-eds who have never danced with Eino Kivi will probably be that amazed to know that the fellah gives the finest imitation of a canary solo you ever heard while dancing to the strains of many a number . . . Al Beerbaum, the self-declared jazz hater, hasn't missed one of Prof.

Loeb's shuffles since the enjoyable custom was started weeks ago . . . maybe he likes the femmes more than he hates the jazz music . . .

IT REALLY HAPPENED . . .

When a glass case is to be fixed in the Geology department, it's finally fixed no matter what happens during the interval . . . one of these intervals is packed with plenty of comedy and it runs this way . . . a new glass was to be placed in one of the display cases . . . Barney Holt offered his assistance but he didn't know what he was in for . . . he got inside the case and the ticklish job of maneuvering the sheet of glass into place worked fine . . . the job was done and the workers departed, but a faint rap was heard in the distance . . . they wheeled around and, mirabile dictu, there was a specimen on display in the case already—Barney was knocking frantically on the glass pane trying to get attention . . . somehow or other he had wound up inside the case when the job was finished . . . the glass had to be removed and the victim was saved . . . and since experience is the best teacher, when this news get out we betcha Barney'll get an offer of a job from Ringling Bros. as chief assistant of the bird-lady in her glass cage . . .

Another one, too . . . t'other nite a few Frosh frolikers went out to the piggery and returned with a couple of young swine that smelled anything but pleasant, and deposited the catch in the vestibule of Foss Hall . . . Miss Dunn, popular garde-malade refused to pass by the Frosh present and made ready to enter via a window . . . but she paused to ponder and finally came to the conclusion that it wasn't worth the chance . . . she was afraid this gesture might appear in the Schemer's Colyum . . . so she mustered her courage, took a hop, skip, and jump through the vestibule, and found herself inside . . . but someone didn't play loyal to Miss Dunn and so you have read . . .

CHITCHATTEY . . .

Mel Markson isn't a frequent visitor of the Castle Gardens simply because he likes the music . . . Mike Phillips, Wade Davis, and Duncan Bragg have spent more than one night entertaining two town girls on and about the vicinity of Burleigh St., who, incidentally, think their chatter and actions are entertaining . . . Jerry Brand has been calling on this particular high schoolite on Burleigh St. for quite some time now in quest of a wee bit of a get-together, but to date the little lady has always had to go to the store for eggs, keep the chickens fed, etc., etc., so that Jerry's date book page is still as white as the driven snow . . . Dot Gould had a date with one of the members of the Ted Shawn dancing group when she was away back in high school . . . Among the prettier personalities with whom it is enjoyable to converse, Alice Dignam is a stand-out . . . Leon Palmer all smiles while dancing with Willetta Herrick at the shuffle last sat. afternoon . . . Leon is looking forward to Washington's Birthday when he will be with his true love who goes to art school in Boston . . . The Evans-Wepfer tie-up has progressed to such an extent that we don't have to mention it . . . it's obvious . . . Bob Hunter trying to pull a McLaughlin . . . Here is a social note . . . Billy MacCarey and Barbara Peiser, who look the nearest to twins that Colby has at present, spent last week-end at the Hebron winter carnival . . . The Ed Hooper-Helen Lewis duo is getting along oke . . . the two will be on hand to welcome sis Bertha and Al Robinson when they come up this week-end . . . Who is Kay Watson's dark, secretive lover? . . .

CHI OMEGA . . .

Another event at the Lancey House in Pittsfield with Cliff Jackson's band providing the smooth melodies . . . Willard Libby unpurposely out of gas in a transport vehicle carrying eight . . . Bob Turbyne wanted to show how steering through a snow-bank was done . . . the result: three pushed while Dot Gould steered . . . Jane Belcher and Prof. Breckenridge again . . . In the way of blending business with sunshine, Miss Foster spent no less than the entire evening playing with a child . . . Jane Tarbell was as devastating as anything in her smart appearance . . . Kay Harvey arm in arm with Zaza Vose . . . wonder if Ann Trimble did her usual sat. eve grocery purchasing before awaying to the dance with Bud Hilton . . . Martha Burrill with indigo mooded Brin Russell . . . Beth Pendleton and Deane Hodges browsing about here and there . . . a renaisance of the Ralph Peabody-Wilma Stanley couplet? . . . a darned lovable group in the persons of Anita Turcotte and Jim Flynn . . . and Joyce Perry better be especially good or that picture episode which makes her so nervous to hear about will surely be chronicled . . .

A section of the department where Chesterfield tobaccos are blended and cross-blended.

Just what is meant by cross-blending tobaccos . . . and how does it make a cigarette milder and taste better . . .

Well, in blending you take two or more tobaccos and mix them together—a rather simple process. But cross-blending goes a step further . . .

IN making Chesterfields we take Bright tobacco from Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida. We take Burley tobacco from Kentucky and Tennessee, and tobacco from Southern Maryland.

Then in addition to these home-grown tobaccos we take tobacco grown in Turkey and Greece.

We balance these mild, ripe home-grown tobaccos with the right amounts and the right kinds of aromatic Turkish.

Then, instead of just mixing the tobaccos together, we blend and cross-blend them so that all the different flavors go together into one full flavor—the Chesterfield taste that so many smokers like.

Cross-blending tobaccos as it is done in Chesterfields gives the cigarette a pleasing taste and aroma—they're mild and yet They Satisfy.
