RUTH MAILEY CHOSEN QUEEN OF JUNIOR PROM DEAN MARRINER IN BLAST ON COLBY FRATERNITIES

Must Cease To Be "Little Scorpion Clubs" Dean Says

Advocates Six - Point Improvement Program

In the most significant chapel address of the year, Dean Marriner served notice upon the fraternities of Colby in no mincing of terms. After a general survey of the fraternity situation in this and other colleges the Dean laid down a specific six point program which he indicated should be followed closely if the fraternities should survive here.

The general student opinion concerning the Dean's talk was that the college administration must regard the fraternity situation as something to cause real concern to provoke the plain talk made by the Dean. Undoubtedly much of the administrative

Second Junior Week- End Show Rapidly Rounds into Shape

Cast Working Hard

Bob Colomy and Ann Trim- ble Have Leads

The Waterville Opera House on Monday afternoon was a veritable bee-hive of activity—another Junior week-end show in the throes of production. Early at 8.30 arrived the cast, director, stage manager, property manager, light experts, women with vacuum cleaners, stage hands, floodlights, hammers, screw-drivers, and all the odds and ends that characterize a morning theatre rehearsal. Forthwith stage manager Crosby began to bang flats with a hammer, prop manager Kelley drew flourishing floor plans and expert Banzi juggled a baby spot from the light bridge. Above

Introducing the Queen of the Prom

Miss Ruth L. Mailey, '36

Stunning, Rusty Haired A. D. Pi Junior's Choice

Ruth Will Be Fourth of Colby's Queens

Presenting the Queen of the Junior Prom, Ruth L. Mailey, the fourth in an illustrious line of Colby queens. A member of the Junior class, incidentally the second queen to be chosen from among the Juniors (the last being Peg Raymond), tall, slim, with beautiful hair of a rusty shade. Ruth certainly deserves the honor bestowed upon her by Charlie Geer and company. No co-ed has a more stunning appearance or is more universally liked in both divisions than the red-topped Mailey.

Ruth has been active throughout her college career. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi. This year she has been social chairman on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, member of the Runnals Cup committee, and a member of the committee which inaugurated and manages the open houses at the Alumnae Building on Sunday nights. Then too the Alpha Delta formal was under the charge of Chairman Mailey.

The Juniors may be congratulating themselves that they first recognized Ruth as outstanding among the more charming co-eds but they are wrong. Joseph Smith merits that distinction. He recently selected the new Queen as the co-ed to be used in a college publicity program. A large cut and write-up of Ruth as the "typical Colby co-ed" appeared in the Boston American about a week ago.

This and that: a native of Andover, Mass., her dad is superintendent of Worsted Division of the Pacific Mills in Lawrence . . . graduated from Abbot Academy, exclusive female school in Andover . . . has one sister who is a junior there . . . and a brother who is a sophomore and a kappa sig at Denison University, Granville, Ohio . . . her mother attended Colby which admits Ruth to the sons and daughters society . . . gets a kick out of dancing and is one of Colby's better dancers . . . perhaps the best manicurist in college, ask the many lowers . . . swimming and hiking get the queen's o.k. as sports . . . secret ambish is interior decorating, but may do something in the line of social work as a result of exposure to Donk Morrow's sosh courses. Thus Ruth Mailey the queen of the Junior Prom.

All applications for 1935-36 scholarships, including the new Kling scholarships, as well as the general awards, must be presented not later than May 1, 1935.

Colby Leads Maine Colleges in Huge Demonstration For Peace

President Johnson Leads Im- posing Array of Speakers

With the impressive, restrained and thoroughly thought-provoking meeting in the interest of peace on Friday, April 12, Colby proved once more the right to her eminent place among Eastern colleges. In a sincere, purposeful frame of mind a large number of the student body of both divisions and the faculty met to express and signify their views on World peace and the menace of Fascism, while the other Maine colleges, notably Maine and Bates, were hanging back apathetically.

The meeting was dignified and the tone was raised by the presence and speeches of President Johnson, and Professors Wilkinson and Breckenridge, as well as student speakers including John Dolan, Kenneth Johnson, Lucile Jones, Myra Whittaker and Harold Hickey. No small measure of praise is due to John Dolan, the chairman of the almost impromptu gathering, and the committee of students who so quickly and ably made practical and possible the meeting; and even more especially to the forward-looking members of Zeta

BENEDICT ARNOLDS

Evidently the strike against war didn't please Howard Calhoun of Waterville, patriotic instructor of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. In a fiery statement Monday he bitterly attacked students who participated. His concluding words were, "I say that any person or groups of persons holding such demonstrations are worthy to be called in the class of Benedict Arnolds." The mammoth mass meeting here at Colby must have particularly irked Mr. Calhoun.

Too bad Mr. Calhoun, the Veterans of Foreign Wars are not as actively opposed to armed conflict as are the students of Colby and other colleges.

Baseball Lid Off Saturday; Maine Here For Annual Exhibition Game

Bears Won Last Year

Colby Looks Good With A Strong Veteran Nine

The Mules will open their baseball season Saturday afternoon on Seaverns Field when they will face the University of Maine in the annual exhibition game. As this contest has no bearing on the State Series, Coach Roundy will probably give some of his new men a chance to show what they can do under pressure.

Coach Fred Brice has a veteran team up at Orono and the Pale Blue nine will try to duplicate last year's feat and take Colby in this contest. Win Hoyt, Stan Henderson, Bruno Golobski, and Gene Wakeley are the veteran hurlers available at Maine. Then there is Al Bell, a sensational sophomore who formerly pitched for Lewiston High. Bell has all kinds of speed and "stuff" and should be one of the stars of the coming Series campaign. Due to his hitting ability, he will probably be used in the outfield when he isn't pitching.

Woodbury returns for first base duty, Steve Marshall is again available at second; Milt McBride is ready for another season at short. The third base position is open, but "Foxy Freddie" has several candidates ready to step into this position. Carl Honer, Red Walton, and Al Bell will probably see action in the outfield.

The receiving berth on the Maine club is open to someone who can do a little hitting. There are several men available who saw action last year, but Coach Brice has intimated that he is out to find a hitting catcher.

Colby's supporters will have a chance to see a veteran team in action, but often a veteran team does not mean a winning team and Coach Roundy is hoping that his charges will not become too confident concerning their chances in the coming State Series race.

Al Farnham is expected to get the starting call on the mound, but Al Berrie, Art Hannigan, "Lefty" Cole, and Bob Hunter will also be in line for hurling duty. Art Brown will probably be on the receiving end for his third consecutive season, although there is a possibility that either Danny Ayotte or Les Huard will see action.

The veteran infield combination of Jack Sheehan, first base; Charlie Geer, second base; Rum Lemieux, shortstop; and Capt. Dick Sawyer, third base; is expected to start the game. This combination has been looking better than ever this spring and will have plenty of chance to show their class against the Black Bears.

"Hocker" Ross will be available for his old left field position. Ray Farnham will probably get in at center field; while Ralph Peabody may start in the right field pasture. Danny Ayotte and Charlie Caddoo will also be available for outfield duty.

The boys have been showing hitting tendencies during the past week and it wouldn't be at all surprising to see a ball or two sail out of the confines of the playing field Saturday. Curt Layton, a freshman third baseman who may see action, parked a home run over the left field fence Monday afternoon. On this same day Ralph Peabody and Tom Yadwinski also hit the ball for distance. Ralph's wallop went far over the center fielder's head, a blow which must have been easily 400 feet. Yadwinski hit the top of Shannan Observatory with a towering drive and with a little more experience "Yad" should go places.

THE MULE KICKS

By Jerry Ryan

The favorite national pastime will be revived for the 1935 season Saturday afternoon when Coach Roundy's Mules meet the strong University of Maine nine in the annual exhibition contest. Both Maine and Colby have veteran nines and should be in the thick of the scrap for the State Championship bunting. The Mules have won the coveted title for two years running and have a good chance to make it three straight.

— C —

Spring football is proving very successful and should go a long way toward giving Colby a winning team next fall. Thirty-five experienced candidates are working out daily under the direction of Coach Eddie Roundy, Bill Millett, and Larry Dow, captain of last year's eleven. No men have been singled out up to the present time as being outstanding as the drills have not been of the contact or scrimmage variety, but in another week it will probably be possible to pick out a couple of teams for scrimmage drills. At the end of a three weeks period of training a regulation scrimmage game will be held and this will give Coach Roundy a good chance to get a line on what some of his new men are capable of.

— C —

The track season opens on the 27th with the Blue and Gray spiked shoe artists facing the University of Vermont in a dual meet. Last year our boys were able to take the measure of the Vermonters, but several valuable performers who scored points in this meet will not be available this spring, either because of graduation or ineligibility. Cliff Veysey is looking forward to the most successful outdoor season of his career and don't be surprised if he cracks the college records in both the mile and two mile runs.

— C —

The golf and tennis teams are attempting their most ambitious schedules in years and will be doing well to come out on the winning side of the ledger. The golf team will be defending the State Championship and with such men as Capt. Doc Abbott, Bob William, Ernie Roderick, Noyes Ervin, and Johnny Reynolds available, it would seem that they have an excellent chance of repeating. Capt. Jim Ross will be aided by such men as Izzy Rothblatt, Pete Allen, Joe Antan, Frank Barnes, and Freddy Demers in the coming tennis season.

Myra Whittaker Wins Runnals' Cup Award

The supreme recognition of personality achievement, and the climax of the Y. W. C. A. program came when, at the annual banquet, the Runnals Cup was awarded to Myra Whittaker.

This cup, significantly bearing the name of the Dean of Women, is given each year to the Senior girl who most exemplifies the qualities of Christian Citizenship. Miss Runnals in making the presentation told of Myra's influence on life at Colby college during her three years here. It is well known that besides being a house mother, founder of the Student Fellowship Forum, president of the Women's Glee Club, and president of the Boardman Society, Myra has contributed vitally of her wealth of personality to those who have known her. Not only in music, but in literary and speaking ability do her talents take expression. She has been a winner at each of the Coburn Contests during her college career as well as having been a guest speaker at numerous and varied campus gatherings. "She is the sort of person who can't even get up for a sunrise without wanting others to share it," said Miss Runnals.

It is the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. to thus give honor to one of rich character, and the Runnals Cup is a fitting means to this end.

COLBY LEADS MAINE

Psi, Colby's second oldest fraternity, who, as a body, first recognized publicly the necessity for the meeting.

President Johnson frankly stated to the overflow audience, both inside and out of the Chapel, that the full physical and mental brunt of future warfare, either at home or abroad, would rest full on the shoulders of young men and women of college age, similar to the group which he addressed. He ably brought out his points by frequent allusions to his own service and experience in the last war as a major. Professor Breckenridge showed the economic waste and havoc resulting from strife and the appalling upheavals and future consequences of modern warfare. He adequately struck out against wars as uneconomic, irrational, and wasteful, saying that, even if for no other reasons, wars should be carefully avoided. Professor Wilkinson, the noblest Democrat of them all, armed with his complete and exhaustive knowledge of World affairs past and present protested against war, strictly advising the rising generations not to be seduced by the usual methods and catch-phrases of propaganda.

The student speakers were exceedingly forceful, sincere and with a few new slants on the subject. Kenneth Johnson made a striking plea with special emphasis on the recent revelations from the Nye investigations, concerning the machinations of the international munitions makers to foment war for their own pecuniary profit. Miss Jones told of the work carried on in pacifist circles to educate people against war, while Miss Whittaker struck rather a spiritual and idealistic note regarding the utter futility and bestiality of war. Mr. Hickey put his finger on the weak spot in the situation by suggesting the desperate need for enlightening the men and women on the street of the vast horrors, physical and economic, of war, and the insidious use of propaganda to create "war-sears." This able speaker showed how barren idealism was, if proper attention were not paid to the teaching and awakening of the masses in every country. Johnny Dolan concluded with the Youth's Prayer for Peace, after again emphasizing that the meeting was a protest against war and all its harrowing implications, rather than a strike, in its usual sense, against authority.

More than 800 students representing 92 foreign countries are enrolled at the University of Southern California (Los Angeles).

Speakers Chosen For Soph-Frosh Contests

The following students have been selected from the preliminary speaking contest to take part in the annual Sophomore Prize Declamation to be held the latter part of the month: Joel Allen, Waterville; Rufus A. Brackley, Strong; Willard Dunn Libby, Waterville; Luke Roland Pelletier, Unity; Alfred Howe Wheeler, Oakland; Janet Priscilla Goodridge, Westbrook; Dorothy Wall Goodwin, Waterville; Muriel Stella Scribner, Newport; Jennie Elizabeth Tarbell, Smyrna Mills; Amy Harriet Thompson, Waterville. The preliminary speaking was judged by Rev. Lawrence W. Abbott of Waterville.

The following students have been selected from the preliminary speaking contest to take part in the annual Hamlin (Freshman) Reading to be held the latter part of April: William Caswell Carter, Waterville; Joseph Ciechon, Lynn, Mass.; Philip Everett Colman, Brewer; Roland Frederick Nadeau, Waterville; Walter Bates Rideout, Hartland; George Dane Vose, Kingfield; Ethel Louise Bradstreet, Danvers, Mass.; Frances Myra Coombs, Winn; Myra Ellen Mallett, Lee; Phyllis Theresa Wolff, Roxbury, Mass.

Applications Mount For New Montgomery Contest

The Montgomery Interscholastic Prize Speaking contest, open to the schools of Maine, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts, will doubtless establish the record this year of assembling the largest number of young orators for any similar event to be held in the United States. Year by year this contest has been growing in the number of schools and number of students participating, but this year all previous records will be broken. Up to Monday, April 15, a total of 56 schools had made application, and the last date for filing is yet a week hence.

The list includes the following schools: Stephens High (Rumford), McGaw Normal (Reeds Ferry, N. H.), Holden, Mass., High, Milo High, Livermore Falls High, North High (Worcester, Mass.), Camden High, George Stevens Academy (Blue Hill), Mattanawcook Academy (Lincoln), Bar Harbor High, Coburn Classical Institute, Rangeley High, Lawrence High (Fairfield), Mexico High, Maine Central Institute, Williams High (Oakland), Hebron Academy, Deering High, Mechanic Falls High, Freedom Academy, Newport High, Classical High (Worcester, Mass.), Lincoln Academy (Newcastle), Waldoboro High, Wilton Academy, Sedgwick High, Limerick High, Malden, Mass., High, Pembroke Academy, (N. ## Coburn Scene of New "Y" Conference

The first annual Maine Pre-College Conference was held at Coburn Classical Institute on Saturday, April 13. This conference was sponsored by the Colby Y. M. C. A. and was an attempt to help students of high and preparatory schools solve some of the problems they face in entering college.

Mr. Lincoln Hale of Yale University, was secured by the committee to direct the conference. Mr. Kenneth Smith of the State Y. M. C. A. aided Mr. Hale.

Students from several high schools were present, as were students from Maine Central Institute. Students from Maine, Bates, and Colby were present as leaders and to present the undergraduate point of view in the discussion periods.

Professor Herbert Newman opened the conference with a welcoming address at 9 o'clock. Mr. Hale then outlined some of the problems faced by freshmen in college. The highlight of the morning session was the Panel Discussion led by Dean Ernest C. Marriner of Colby and Principal Edwin H. Purinton of Maine Central Institute. The subject of this discussion was "College Problems from All Points of View" and led to some lively and interesting arguments and discussions.

The afternoon was given over to discussions of individual problems under leaders Professor Newman of Colby, Dr. Zerby of Bates, Professor Jackman of Maine, Principal Perkins of Cony High, and Mr. Hugh Smith, principal of Coburn.

Mr. Hale gave the closing address at the banquet in the Methodist Church. Thus closed what was termed by one of the delegates as "the best thing that ever happened to me."

Program for Peace." After briefly tracing the rather deplorable outlook in the world and especially Europe as regards peace he then advocated a three point program for peace. His plan included government control of arms and munitions, revision of the Versailles peace treaty, and international cooperation through such methods as the League of Nations and the World Court.

The second speaker was Mr. Stetson whose subject was "Can We Have Peace." He made a plea for education for peace, control of the manufacture of munitions, conscription of wealth in time of war. He concluded by pointing out that if peace was ever to be obtained we would have to work actively for it, especially by informing our congressmen how we felt about it.

The concluding speaker was Mr. Sparrow whose subject was "Let's Climb Fences." The main theme of his talk was that there must be a program of universal education on peace lines. Especially important is it emphasized that we understand the peoples of other nations and obtain their viewpoints on matters of concern. He said that the right type of education must start in the schools. Also that wide reading, travel, and a free press throughout the world were vital to peace through education.

Soph Dance Held in City Atmosphere

With all the rattle and clatter of a traffic jam, the annual sophomore dance got under way Saturday night. cops, sky-scrapers, ritzy couples, and traffic signs, helped transform the Alumnae Building into a real street scene. Lloyd Rafnell and his Georgians replaced any hand-organ men who might have been expected in such an atmosphere. The patrons and patronesses of the affair included Dean Ninetta M. Runnals, Miss Jane Belcher, Professor Walter Breckenridge, and Mr. Gordon Smith.

CUT COMMITTEE TO STUDY FURTHER

The committee of faculty members and students at work on the problem of a new cut system for Colby report that progress in the matter is being made, although no definite conclusions have been reached. The question as to what type of system is best for Colby is an immense one, and Dean Marriner in an official statement to the ECHO said he believed that the committee would investigate the subject for at least a month longer before presenting any new plan to the faculty.

The committee in a recent meeting elected Professor Galbraith chairman and Dorothy Washburn secretary.

CONTRARY to the aims of collegiate schools of business administration, recent surveys and computations show that only one or two out of every five college students can become successful business men. The other three or four are doomed to be misfits, mediocrities or failures.

The old story of the boy who is "working his way through college" takes on a new angle at the University of Vermont (Burlington), where one lad, now a senior, has financed his education by building and construction work—building everything from dog houses to residences.

Another unique type of job came to light on the same campus. One girl makes a profession of preparing her sister students for proms and fraternity dances. She takes care of their finger nails and coiffures.

Now, says a columnist at the University of Oklahoma (Norman), is apparent the meaning of the phrase "dear, you'll be the death of me!" The columnist points to the discovery by Psychologists at Western State College (Gunnison, Calif.) that a kiss, by causing extra palpitation of the heart, shortens the average human life by three minutes.

Trouble saver: Co-eds at Northwestern University (Evanston, Ill.) have formed the Cloister Club, composed of girls whose boy friends are not on the campus. Insignia is a little yellow ribbon pinned to the dress. Minimizes embarrassment, they claim.

A women's rooming house at the University of Minnesota (Minneapolis) received a new roommate. Within an hour, so the story goes, some of the other girls frantically called the head of the school in which the new inmate was a student, to learn if homework was necessary in her courses. For she had enrolled in a course in embalming!

At least 12 university presidents are feeling good at the moment—in varying degrees. Twelve colleges were listed by Edwin Embree, of the Julius Rosenwald fund, as the best in the nation. They are, in Mr. Embree's order, Harvard, Columbia, Chicago, Yale, California, Minnesota, Cornell, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Princeton, and Johns Hopkins.

Now it turns out that a sports writer on the Indiana University (Bloomington) Daily Student did not pick Red Grange for his mythical eleven after Red's Sophomore year, explaining that all Grange could do was run. The daily Illini printed the explanation and remarked: "All Galli Curci can do is sing."

Phi Beta Kappa May Change Requirements

The annual banquet of Beta-of-Maine chapter, Phi Beta Kappa, was held in the First Baptist Church last Friday evening. Preceding the banquet, an initiation ceremony was performed in which Milton P. Kleinholz, Roger H. Rhoades, Dana W. Jaquith Norman R. Brown, and Dorothy E. Washburn, all of the class of 1935, were admitted to the society.

In the meeting following the banquet it was announced that the executive council has been charged with considering possible ways of avoiding using marks as the sole basis for election to membership. It is felt that some consideration should be given to the student who, although he possessed a scholarly mind and a good character, could not quite make the grade as far as ranks were concerned. Whatever proposal the council may finally decide to make will be presented to the chapter at its annual meeting in June.

The address of the evening was given by Robert P. Tristram Coffin, D. Litt. Dr. Coffin is the author of several widely-read books, among them "Lost Paradise," "Strange Holiness," and "Ballads of Square-Toed Americans." Speaking on the subject, "The Creation of Poetry," he stated that the duty of the poet is to say the best that he can about life, to improve upon experience. He stressed the value of memory, illustrating by some of his own poems which he wrote from his memory of events which happened years ago. He devoted the greater part of his time to a reading and explanation of some of his own poems, among them "The Barn in Winter," "The Country Church," "Squash Blossoms," and "The Spider and a Hawk."

Sunrise Service To Be Held Easter Morning

On Easter morning at 7.00 o'clock at the Sanitarium in Fairfield the students of Colby, sponsored by the Colby Council of Religions, combined with the young people's groups of the Waterville churches will have the privilege of attending an Easter sunrise service. Free transportation may be obtained by signing the posters which will appear on the bulletin boards at an early date. Cars will leave at 6.30 (A. M.!) from in front of Foss Hall.

A program has been planned which promises to surpass even the excellent services of previous years, with Easter poetry read by Reverend Harold Metzner of the Methodist church, and a description of "The Breakfast on the Shore" by Reverend John Brush, Colby '20, of the First Baptist church, while the musical numbers feature a trumpet quartet and a vocal solo by Myra Whittaker.

Following the service a breakfast will be served by the young people of the Baptist church for the small price of fifteen cents.

About The Dean's Talk . . .

THE chapel address delivered by Dean Marriner last Friday was undoubtedly the plainest talk that has been given in that assembly this year. There is no stauncher friend or defender of Colby fraternities than is the Dean. Especially for this reason it is to be assumed that the administration must regard the situation as one to merit real concern.

What is the situation to warrant the Dean's blast. There is the deferred rushing plan which the fraternities turned down a short while ago. This annual spree of the Student Council and the fraternities on a rushing plan is getting to be a huge joke. It is a foregone conclusion that it will never pass. Colby is getting to be as bad as Congress and the World Court. There is not one logical reason that can be advanced to turn down the plan which is now under consideration as far as loopholes and favoritism is concerned. If anything the plan is too lenient but it is at least a start. Now the majority of the student body and the fraternities want this plan or at least a deferred rushing system. Why must the majority suffer, and the progress of the entire college be held back by a few unprogressive, or prejudiced fraternities. The attitude of one fraternity is admirably noted on the whole matter when one of its leaders stated that it would never accept anything which the Student Council proposed because under the new system of class elections, despite the fact that it had the largest Freshman delegation, it failed to get a name on the ballot in the annual elections. It is little wonder that we get nowhere with such attitudes.

But the straw that broke the camel's back came when the Student Council considered the new cafeteria which has been proposed by the Board of Trustees. In this we have an improvement and a service which the college has been in vital need of for a long time. Yet most of the fraternities with dining halls actually went on record as opposed to this new cafeteria.

If these items are illustrative of the value of fraternities at Colby, it would seem as though the state of affairs which the Dean cited as provocative of the exit of fraternities has been reached already.

It would seem that the Dean's suggestion regarding an Interfraternity Council might well be questioned. It is not a new organization that is needed but really a strengthening of the old body. The Student Council has long been an impotent governing body, not because of the men who are in it but because of the way it functions. Why not reconstruct it in order that it may really accomplish constructive acts in college affairs. For instance the rule of unanimous consent is wholly out of rhyme or reason. When did humans ever agree unanimously on anything? Let the majority rule. That is the sensible procedure. Not another organization. There are too many now but rather a Student Council which will be effective.

Peace Strike Is Good Publicity . . .

PLENTY of credit is due those students, and Zeta Psi through whose efforts the fine peace strike and chapel gathering was held. Especially is the attitude of President Johnson to be commended. Again Colby led the entire group of Maine colleges in another progressive step. Nothing was done at either Bowdoin or Maine and President Gray of Bates was quoted in the Boston Globe as having commended the Bates students for refusing to participate in the demonstration. Little is it to be wondered that we have wars if the future generation of leaders are now instructed to steer clear of efforts in the direction of peace.

Incidentally Colby obtained some fine publicity from its admirable meeting. Quoting from the Boston Globe, "Simmons, Conn. College for women, Clark, New Hampshire, and Colby—responded with dignified, peaceful mass meetings." Further:

Colby Demonstration
"Student bodies at Colby College and Coburn Classical Institute failed to attend their 11 o'clock classes. Memorial Hall at Colby built as the first memorial in the country to those who lost their lives in the Civil War, became the scene of the greatest peace demonstration ever staged at Colby."

I'll wager that passages like these in the papers throughout the nation put the fear of God in the hearts of Dupont, Grace and the rest of the unholy pack. No longer can it be claimed that American students are apathetic to vital issues.

Mal Pierce Elected President of Y.M.C.A.

Last Friday morning at chapel there was held the annual election of officers for the Y. M. C. A. The entire men's division took part in the balloting, electing the following officers:

- President, Malcolm Pierce.
- Vice President, John Dolan.
- Secretary, Howard Sweet.
- Treasurer, Leon Palmer.

The newly elected president, Malcolm Pierce, will be a member of the junior class next year. Besides being very active in "Y" work, he has taken part in interfraternity athletics and is now a member of the baseball squad. He is also a student assistant in the library. Pierce's home is in West Lebanon, N. H., and he is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

The three other officers, Dolan, Sweet, and Palmer, will all be seniors next fall. Dolan has held class offices, is a letter man in track, and has been a member of the popular Interracial Deputation Team. His home is in Portland, and his fraternity is Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Sweet is an honor student, a member of the Interfraternity Sports Council, and has been Publicity Chairman of the "Y" cabinet for the past year. His home is in Strong, and he is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Palmer is an honor student, a member of Chi Epsilon Mu, honorary chemical society, and has been an active participant in "Y" work. He comes from Dover-Foxcroft, and is a member of Zeta Psi fraternity.

The retiring officers are as follows: President, Deane Hodges; Vice President, John Pullen; Secretary, Kenneth Johnson; Treasurer, Harold Brown.

"The White-Headed Boy" Proves Great Success

The dramatic art class' portrayal of Lennox Robinson's play "The White-Headed Boy" was successfully presented last Thursday evening at the Alumnae Building. Credit goes to Professor Cecil A. Rollins for his fine coaching and to an able and efficient cast which acted their respective roles in a professional manner.

The plot of the play is centered about a young man who has, as the title of the play suggests, had every lavishment loving parents can shower upon a child. This lavishment continued to the time when he failed for the third time in his attempt to obtain a doctor's degree; then his family decided to "pack him off" to Canada to gain his own livelihood. After many events the father of his, Denis', fiancée threatens to bring suit against him when he refuses to marry his daughter. Denis' mother, aunt, and brother fix up this matter to find out later that the girl and Denis have already been married. As a climax to the whole round of proceedings the aunt sees that the desires of the remaining members of the family are brought to fruition and she herself arranges with Duffy (the father) to get married.

Agnes Carlyle, who played the part of Aunt Ellen, deserves much praise for her polished and professional manner of handling herself in her role. John Pullen, the older brother, did an admirable job of acting. At times one would have thought that an Irishman through and through was playing the part, so well was it done. Virginia Swallow, with her fine Irish accent, carried off the part of the mother in a grand manner. Maurice Cohen in the role of John Duffy, local politician and "big shot," did an especially fine job.

The remainder of the cast of supporting actors included: Peter, Willard Dunn; Kate, Amy Thompson; Jane, Kathryn Caswell; Baby, Helen Kelly; Denis, Edward Gurney; Donough Brosman, Alvin Vose; Hannah, Reba Jose; Delia Duffy, Ruth Millett.

Pendleton, Duerr Get Loving Cups

The annual Health League Meet was held at the Alumnae Building, Saturday afternoon. The program, under the supervision of Miss Van Norman, opened with folk dances by members of the freshman gym class. Several tap dances were executed by the sophomores, followed by the usual program of stunts and animal parade.

The officers for next year were installed by Marie Duerr, retiring president, and awards of letters and numerals were made by Arline Hayes, incoming president. Miss Van Norman presented loving cups to Beth Pendleton, '34, and Marie Duerr, '34, as champion Health League members.

The meet was concluded with a volleyball game by the outstanding players in all the classes.

ECHO ECHOINGS 12 Years Ago

The Freshmen won the Colby inter-class basketball tournament and obtained possession of the Druid cup when they soundly trounced the Juniors 35 to 27 in the gymnasium Thursday night. They had previously defeated the Sophomores by 18 to 14 and the Seniors by a one point margin.

The Combined Musical Clubs of Colby college left on the noon train Tuesday en route for various towns throughout the state where they are to give entertainments during the remainder of the week.

Seumas McManus, one of the founders of the Sein Fein movement in Ireland, gave an interesting talk in the Baptist Church, Thursday evening on Irish customs and folk-lore.

Sees All, Hears All, Tells All

Everybody says it, and what everybody says must be true.—James Fenimore Cooper.

PRE-PROMING . . .

Never before in the history of selecting a Junior Prom queen had the choice been so kept a dark secret as it was this time . . . the announcement comes as a real surprise . . . not that the victor was a dark horse, but the secret was known to only five plus this cynic . . . Who miraculously told not a soul . . . And to ramble on . . . Did you know . . . that the Opera House seats only 923 at a capacity sitting . . . that the prom tickets are for a fact more limited this annce than ever before . . . that since this is the biggest event of the year, the cream of the social-loving crowd will be there . . . that the more than industrious trio of Geer, Clancy, and William are to see Governor Brann quam possime . . . for no other reason than to have him present to in turn present the loving cup emblematic of the distinction to bewchus Ruth . . . that an airplane will encircle our fair city to distribute fliers here and about . . . that there will be first nite effects at the play . . . with a mike to introduce celebrities . . . a spot, et cetera . . . that the white and red dance programs are the smartest in many moons . . . that the play is worth a looksee at even if one doesn't attend the Prom . . . saw a rehearsal t'other day and am conservative in predicting a sure hit . . . that if I kept rambling on about the Week-end I would have a whole column written.

SCHEMER STUFF . . .

Congrats are in order for those who were so instrumental in the holding of such an orderly peace movement demonstration in the chapel . . . and double congrats for the way they ignored the cold water artist who piped in the local poiper Tuesday morn . . . Meyer Davis is playing four engagements next week, the others being at Wellesley, M. I. T., and Teachers College . . . We were that surprised to learn that Lindbergh is repeatedly ignoring the flirtatious actions of an attractive town girl . . . the ole fight, Arne, true to Hazel back home . . . Some more info that we'd bet wasn't in our files, unless the wager is a cookie, is the one about Garcelon in the role of host to three Bates co-eds Sunday nite . . . and he did the rite thing by Jakeman and MacCarthy by fixing them up royally . . . here the old one can be quipped about variety etc., and something about life . . . and among the things heard in various dark alleys, this one is capital . . . a prominent co-ord says she's going to middle-isle it only if nothing else turns up . . . better that we should sic Cupid onto the gal . . . Marie Duerr hieing away to Boston over this week-end to be a guest at the Statler . . . Blanche Silverman counts that day lost when she doesn't receive a missle from B. U. . . . Petite and lovable Mary Herd escorting three duos to her home fires for a sojourn this week . . .

ABSOLUTE "INSIDE" . . .

Kurt Layton and Joe Ciechon were responsible for the handing out of many a chuckle as they walked those two townies up and down the public streets not so many P. M.'s ago . . . Somewhat the antithesis would be the habit that Eleanor Ross and Julie Haskell have of taking a saunter every A. M. at six . . . It pleased the heart to see the real coming of Spring . . . for 'twas proven by the game of jump-rope in front of Mower House . . . Arthur Wein kept consciously busy in the sending of letters to his correspondent in Montreal . . . Joe Stevens is what we would want to call "all inclusive" in his choice of the fairer sex . . . prefers a brunette townie and a blonde co-ord . . . Buntz Robertson put in a busy Mon afternoon in sweeping all spic and span Joe Orlovski's four wheeler . . . nothing like a woman's touch, to do the job right, oh, McEnelly? . . . Ray Goldstein is about to be chronicled as the "little shepherd" of the Tau Delt House . . . the foregoing is true, s'elp us, but we realize you won't believe it . . .

HAVE A HOWL . . .

An old faithfulrelays the one about Bob Estes in a surprising situation . . . sipping tea with some Bangor junior-leaguers . . . and any one of youse can sidle up and taunt him about pulling out his watch and harmonica which were prominent among his paraphernalia . . . Among the old duos that are duoging we have Cal Butler and Ruth Marston . . . and in and amongst the new we have Barney Holt and Kay Franklin . . . Betcha that new rendezvousey joint at the Elmwood will house the mosten of the besten in the future . . . Phil Groesbeck and George Bonner must have had sore fundaments from kicking themselves for getting into that mud hole with Phil's new chariot . . . Maybe we weren't newly informed and semi-surprised when we orbred Irv Gammon and Mary Ewen Main Streeting it t'other evg . . . Told it's been going on for hundreds of hours . . . is my face red! . . . Cliff Veysey in the roll of Romeo with a fiery-haired co-ord . . . Dot Trainor and Larry Lane . . . a new couplet and a coupla swell people . . . As opinions go concerning the class dances, the Senior hop seems to be the one that was most enjoyed by far . . . then in sequences come the Junior, Soph, and Frosh dances . . . which seems to be the way it should hatch out . . . Sunset-headed Beulah Fenderson along with Pete Mills Tuesday Afternoon . . . We are more than sure that Millie Thibodeau was happy on seeing Gordon Raymond down from Maine . . . in spite of the spiteful rain . . . And now since we have chirped in toto for the present, we'll swing out of the picture with congrats to the Queen . . .

Bob Colomy (yes again) and Ann Trimble handle the leads with more than a certain amount of fine talent. Harold Kimball as the hard-boiled room-mate is very hard-boiled. Virginia Swallow and Al Vose, fresh from their current success "The Whiteheaded Boy," are doing justice to minor roles.

A few surprises in the way of a first night set-up with Gov. Brann as guest, are being played up at this writing.

wrath has been caused by the refusal of the fraternities to adopt the perfectly good deferred rushing plan which has been drawn up by the Student Council.

The Dean stated that two of the most serious dangers confronting the fraternity today were the growing indifference and skepticism of the student towards fraternities, and the very serious difficulty of finances which has necessitated the carrying of pledges until their sophomore, junior, and even senior years.

The six-point plan of improvement which the Dean outlined at the conclusion of his address was as follows:

1. Our houses must cease to be unsanitary, ill-kept Little Scorpion clubs, and become fitting homes of decent human beings who are already men.

2. The business of the college man must be respected and encouraged. He is here primarily for four years of studious developments. He must be able to get it in his fraternity house. Not to be forced to seek a private room in order to secure reasonably quiet conditions of study.

3. We need an inter-fraternity council, with power to act on all matters pertaining to fraternity relationships.

4. Let us consider the advisability of one or more graduate residents in each fraternity, responsible to both the fraternity and college for wholesome living conditions.

5. Let us consider and debate calmly and intelligently without passion or prejudice whether the college can best be served by chapters of national fraternities or by local clubs.

6. Adopt some sane, sensible system of deferred pledging which will stop the nonsense of rushing men into hasty, ill-considered pledges that are too often later regretted on both sides.
