Chi Omega Initiates Four

Beginning the period of induction of new members, the Chi Omega fraternity announces the initiation on last Wednesday evening of Doris Smith, '37, and Mary Crowley, '39; also, less recently, Genevieve Spear, '37, and Helen Wade, '38, were received as members.

Before the annual banquet which will take place on Friday evening, March 6th, the following expect to be initiated: Alysian Hooper, Estelle Rogers, Mary Elizabeth Hall, Priscilla Jones, Elizabeth Solie, and Freda Abel, who will have the honorary position of being the Model Initiate. The plans for the initiation banquet are to be under the direction of Ruth Fuller and Annabelle White, both of the class of '36.

Freshmen Win First Speaking Prizes

Violet Hamilton And John Chacamaty Get Awards

The thirteenth annual Coburn Prize Speaking Contest was held at the college chapel on Thursday evening, February 20. Dean Ninetta M. Runnals, Litt.D., presided. In her introduction Miss Runnals spoke briefly of Miss Helen Louise Coburn, through whose generosity and interest in Colby women, not only this contest but many other opportunities have been made possible.

The board of judges, including Dr. Mary Hatch Marshall, Instructor in English; Mrs. George Stobie, President Waterville Women's Club; Mrs. Joseph Coburn Smith, Alumnae Secretary; Miss Junia L. Morse, Instructor in Education; awarded the first prize of fifty dollars to Miss Violet Hamilton, the second prize of twenty dollars to Miss Margaret Higgins, the third prize of fifteen dollars to Miss Genevieve Spear, and the fourth prize of ten dollars to Miss Mary Crowley.

Miss Hamilton in her speech, as the title indicates, stressed the importance of the individual in a society which is constantly building more machines with almost demonic powers to rob individuality. She drew a striking contrast the independent woodsman of Northern Maine and the industrial worker who is subservient to an iron master, the machine.

Miss Higgins brought out the high spots in the philosophy of the late "unofficial president," Will Rogers. Opening with the scene of the Arctic disaster, she told the story of the man who as actor, journalist, sportsman and explorer was known to all America. Her speech was not without humor as she quoted some of the typical Rogers comments.

In the topic "Nonsense Verse" there was much entertainment as well as a history of its development. Miss Spear quoted verses which applied to every phase of college life. She also brought in the latest versions of the "Purple Cow," "Humpty-Dumpty" and other nursery favorites.

From the point of view of her own generation, Miss Crowley asked that the youth of today be less criticized and more understood. She pointed out the change in the last ten years from the fur-coated college student in his shiny roadster to the more serious-minded person who lives today on the campus. In the last analysis she pleaded that, though youth be misunderstood and their motives misinterpreted, that they at least be trusted.

Miss Thompson presented the much talked-about subject, Morcy Killings, with the pros and cons as gleaned from a survey of several cases. The life and poetry of Edna St. Vincent Millay were the theme of Miss Knickerbocker's speech. She quoted selections from several of Miss Millay's poems to illustrate her various points.

The importance of Peace and the disastrous effect of mob action in time of crisis were the basis of Miss Crawford's discourse. Miss Perry upheld the place and need of music and musical instruction in our lives and particularly on our own campus.

Miss Herd "presented for our approval" Eva Le Galliene and her struggle to success as an actress and director in spite of the greatest odds. Her speech was based on Le Galliene's latest book. The kind of mental hospital as a "Haven of Rest" rather than a prison-like institution was presented by Miss Bodurtha. She spoke of the need of more of these hospitals and urged public support of such worthwhile projects.

Harold W. Hickey Speaks In Chapel

Applies Washington's Life To Modern Affairs

Speaking on Washington in men's assembly last Friday, Harold Hickey, '36, struck a keynote in the statement, "In these days of graft, corruption, and political chicanery we would do well to turn back the pages for inspiration in the life of this great man."

Pointing to the fact that today, "Europe is preparing with baffling rapidity for another conflict," and to the attempts of our country to formulate a neutrality policy "to serve the dual purpose of keeping us out of war and, at the same time, not defeating the League of Nations," Hickey showed how we turn to Washington's often quoted advice to beware of foreign entanglements. He asked the question, "Would George Washington, if he were alive today, refuse to cast the link which would

Lenten Programs Start With Today's Chapel

As one of the opening events in an unusually impressive and interesting Lenten program, Dr. Sharon L. Finch will, on Friday from 6:45 to 7:30 in the Alumnae building, conduct the first of a series of four fireside discussions. Beginning on Friday with the topic "How to Recover Jesus," Dr. Finch in the following weeks will consider "Jesus' Social Message," "Jesus' Religion," and "The Jesus of History and the Christ of Faith." These talks, on a subject which Dr. Finch is adequately prepared to discuss, should prove both educational and stimulating to the entire student body.

Beginning with this Wednesday morning's chapel service by Rev. Harold C. Metzner, the season from now until Easter will include an impressive number of interesting events. Early among these will be a service in Colby chapel next Sunday at 4:00 p. m. At this time, Dr. Rayborn L. Zerby of Bates, who is known to many students over New England as a keen thinker and popular personality, will present the "Radical Decisions of Jesus." Later, at Student Forum beginning this week at 5:30, Dr. Zerby will discuss informally "What makes a Philosophy of Life Religious."

Other Sunday evenings will present a Powder and Wig production of Goodman's play "Dust of the Road," on March 15 at the Methodist church; and on April 5, after vacation, a Palm Sunday evensong at the Congregational church.

Continuing the series of Wednesday morning chapel services, Mr. Malcolm B. Dana will in the next three weeks present "The Need for God," "The Awareness of God," and "The Demands of God." In conclusion, Rev. John W. Brush will speak on "Man Against the Sky." Other special events include a Good Friday Meditation on the afternoon of April 12 by Rev. James L. Hayes and the annual Easter morning Sunrise Service at the Sanitarium followed by a fellowship breakfast in the alumnae building.

Is Widely Recognized As A Progressive Leader And Able Law-Maker

Announcement is made by Professor Herbert C. Libby, chairman of the committee on visiting lecturers, that Dr. Preston Bradley, of Chicago, has found it inexpedient to make the trip to Waterville for a lecture engagement on March 11, and that the committee has secured Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, as the speaker. The date of the lecture has been changed to that of Monday evening, March 2, 8 o'clock.

Senator La Follette is recognized widely as one of the great progressive leaders of the country. Son of the late Robert M. La Follette, who initiated more progressive legislation perhaps than any other United States Senator, young Bob La Follette has been following in his father's footsteps and is highly regarded as an able law-maker in Washington.

His challenging leadership in the Senate has constantly attracted national attention. He is very much in the headlines of our daily newspapers. The universal tribute paid to him as a deep thinker and a profound student of economics makes for eager and interested attention any time he speaks, whether on the floor of the Senate or in an occasional lecture engagement.

Excerpts from the Washington Merry-Go-Round:

"Today he is one of not more than a half dozen men in the United States Senate who are first rank public speakers."

"He is particularly effective because of his universal popularity and the high respect in which he is held by everyone in the Senate."

"This is due, not to any mincing of words when discussing issues, but to the fact that he never indulges in personalities. He confines himself always strictly to issues and principles."

While his audiences may not always be in agreement with his conclusions, they are unanimous in praising him as an earnest and eloquent speaker.

The address will be presided over by Professor Ernest C. Marriner, Dean of Men. An open forum discussion will follow the address.

Frosh End Season With Two One-Sided Victories

Take Kents Hill By 53-37 Overpower R. C. I. By 43-13

The Colby Frosh hoopsters smacked the Kents Hill boys by a score of 53-37 in a very scrappy game at the Colby gymnasium on Wednesday, Feb. 19.

Burrill lead the Colby team through a speedy first quarter which ended with a score of 15-6 in favor of the Frosh.

The second and third periods were hard fought and ended with scores of 21-14 and 37-27 respectively. Colby was on top in both instances.

In the early part of the fourth period Kents Hill menaced the Blue team, but Spina quickly tallied nine points for the Frosh and the game ended, a decisive victory for Coach Roundy's boys.

Burrill and Spina were outstanding for Colby while Holmberg starred for Kents Hills.

Keen Rivalry Prevails In Sorority Bowling

Keen competition and eager rivalry opened a new form of intersorority competition, when on Thursday afternoon weekly bowling matches started with the Sigmas vying with the Chi O's and the Tri Deltas with the Alpha Deltas. Even with the first string much skill was demonstrated as the balls aimed straight down the alleyways, but the final scores announced the first leaders of the league when the Chi O's defeated the Sigmas by 52 pins, and the Tri Deltas their opponents by 22 pins. Amy Thompson and Billie MacCarey topped the lists with high scores.

The standings of the sororities are as follows:

Coach Roundy's Frosh Basketball team concluded a good season by downing Ricker Classical Institute by the wide margin of 43-13.

As if to avenge their earlier defeat at the hands of the Ricker team, the Blue team played whirlwind basketball, tallying five points in the first period, sixteen in the second, and twelve in the third.

Spina, Burrill, Malins, Hopkins, and Andrews all played a fine game of basketball. Coach Roundy played his entire second team a good part of the game. Farnham, Ricker's big football player was the best on his team but even he wasn't good enough for the scrappy Frosh five.

Garnet Trackmen Defeat Mules In Dual Meet Here

Kishon Thrills Spectators By Setting Three Records

With the broad shoulders of Tony Kishon responsible for three new meet records as well as two new Colby indoor records in the weight events, a well balanced Bates track team took the Mule varsity cinder skimmers into camp Saturday afternoon by a 88% to 33% point score. Coach Ray Thompson's boys were strong in every event, and it was one of the best meets seen here in several years.

The action started early with Kishon throwing the discus farther than it has ever been thrown indoors in this state. Huge Tony's heave of 152 feet 3 inches is something that the spectators will never forget. Carl Hodges came through with the best toss of his career, a 125 foot 11 inch heave. If Carl keeps on improving he is going to be scaling the slippery plate 140 feet before receiving his sheepskin.

The next weight attraction produced a heave of 45 feet for Tony, a new Colby indoor record. Hodges clipped off 45 feet to place second. Like his discus measurement, this 45 foot record is the best he has yet produced. In the shot Tony shoved the pill out over the 45 foot mark for another record. Hodges produced again the best heave of his career to nab third point; it was a 40 foot 9% measurement. Once the big Winslow boy got it out over 42 feet, but fouled.

The thriller of the afternoon was the two mile. The audience knew before the race started that they could count on little Herbie DeVeber giving them all he had, and he didn't disappoint them in the least. Even though he had run a fast mile a short time before, Herby refused to wilt and came home with a most sensational last lap sprint that had the crowd roaring. His time was very good under the conditions.

The 300 trial between Bill Luokko and Sol Fuller also gave the crowd a treat. These boys raced shoulder to shoulder for two laps with Luokko having enough reserve to win by six inches. Sol also pulled a fine hurdling race out of his speedy legs to win in even time.

The 600 didn't develop into the race that was expected as Paul Merrick allowed Howard to pile up too much yardage on him and even one of Paul's last lap sprints wasn't enough to close the gap. If Merrick can get himself down to the task of keeping up with the pace, he is going to be just about the best middle distance man in this state.

The 40 saw one of those eyelash finishes with Keller gaining the verdict. It was so close that even the judges didn't know what was going on.

The summary:

40 yard dash—Won by Keller, (B); 2nd, Keck (B); 3rd, Daggett, (C). Time, 4 3-5. (New dual record equalling field house mark).

45 yard high hurdles—Won by Fuller, (C); 2nd, Luokko, (B); 3rd, Dolan, (C). Time 6 seconds. (Equals meet record).

300 yard dash—First tie, Keck and Keller, (B); 2nd, Luokko, (B). Time, 35 seconds.

600 yard run—Won by Howard, (B); 2nd, Merrick, (C); 3rd, Butler, (C). Time, 1:19 4-5. (New meet record).

1000 yard run—Won by Danielson, (B); 2nd, Saunders, (B); 3rd, Pritham, (C). Time, 2:28 3-5.

Mile—Won by Saunders, (B); 2nd, DeVeber, (C); 3rd, Stetson, (B).

Time, 4.41.

2 mile—Won by DeVeber, (C); 2nd, Tubbs, (B); 3rd, Stetson, (B). Time, 10:12 3-5 seconds.

Broad jump—Won by Keller, (B); 2nd, Washuk, (C); 3rd, Luokko, (B). Distance, 21 feet 7 3/4 inches. (New field house record).

High jump—Won by Connell, (B); 2nd, Brackett, (C); 3rd, tie Anderson, (C), and Case, (B). Height, 5 feet 7 inches.

Pole vault—Won by Cook and Meagher, (B); 2nd, Oladell, (C). Height, 10 feet 6 inches.

Shot—Won by Kishon, (B); 2nd, Cook, (B); 3rd, Hodges, (C). Distance, 45 feet 1 1/4 inches. (New meet record).

Discus—Won by Kishon, (B); 2nd, Hodges, (C); 3rd, Clark, (B). Distance, 152 feet 3 inches. (New meet and field house record).

35 pound weight—Won by Kishon, (B); 2nd, Hodges, (C); 3rd, Peabody, (B). Distance, 54 feet 2 1/2 inches. (New indoor and meet record).

Track Team Opposes Maine On Saturday

Dashes And Weight Events Expected To Be Features

Again the under-dog, Colby's rapidly improving track squad will go to Orono, Saturday afternoon for the dual meet with Coach Chet Jenkins' well balanced Stein Song group of track and field performers. Several of the events on the program will furnish plenty of excitement, but lack of Colby balance is going to be too much in Maine's favor.

The most interesting competition should be in the weight events and in the dashes. Carl Hodges and Kerm LaFleur are showing such improvement that they rate second only to Tony Kishon as the best weight tossers in the state. George Frame is a great competitor in the 35 pound weight for the Pale Blue cluster, and he also tosses the shot and discus. Hodges did 45 feet against Bates, and may get up around 50 feet so that he will bother Frame considerably. Hodges and LaFleur are capable of placing first and second in both the discus and the shot.

Cecil Daggett and Sol Fuller will be pitted against Don Huff and Johnny Murray in the dash events. Daggett snared a third against Bates and should be good for a place. Fuller is the dark-horse of this event and it wouldn't surprise anyone to see him hit the tape first. Murray and Huff should get plenty of competition from Fuller and Bob Turbyne in the 300.

Sid Hurwitz and Bob Dewick are expected to have too much for Paul Merrick in the 600 unless Paul decides that it is about time for him to keep closer to the leaders in the early stages. Hurwitz is a former Regimental champion and can do 1.16.

Bill Hunnewell and Herbie DeVeber are expected to produce some fast stepping in the two mile. Herbie is in great form and hopes to break ten minutes Saturday.

John Gowell, one of the best high hurdlers in the country, is going to have to step right along to keep ahead of Fuller in the timber topping event. A World Record Equalling figure isn't out of the winner's reach in this event.

Stan Washuk in the broad jump, Howie Brackett and Wendell Anderson in the high jump are other likely Mule point scorers. Stan has been hitting near 22 feet in practice and may pull his best jump in competition Saturday. If five-six places in the high jump, Colby will have two men in the select circle of point scorers in this event.

Lambda Chi Bowlers Are Far In The Lead

Several Pin Pickers Have Averages Over 90 Mark

Lambda Chi Alpha's crack bowling team continues to remain unbeaten and far in the lead in the annual Interfraternity Bowling League as a result of the competition of the past week. Undeclared in twenty four starts, the Purple and Gold lead their nearest competitors, the Theta Kappa Nu outfit, by a wide margin and present indications are that the North college aggregation cannot fail to capture the team crown.

While the Lambdas have been sweeping their six matches, competition among the other teams has been fairly even. Alpha Tau Omega is only seven percentage points out of second place and Kappa Delta Rho, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Zeta Psi and Delta Upsilon are following closely.

Delta Upsilon Paces League

As the fraternity hoop league comes into the home stretch the D. U.'s and the Lambda Chis are the only clubs boasting unscathed records. D. U. is on top at present with six wins and no defeats, and the Lambda Chi's have won five and dropped none.

The outstanding contest of the week was the clash between the D. U. and Zeta outfits. The Zetes got off to a fast start and lead their opponents by a small margin during the first three periods. Things began to happen in the latter half of the fourth canto. With the D. U.'s trailing by six points, Barry and Fournier began to fill the basket. When the Zetes were leading by two points and there was left less than thirty seconds to play, Fournier came to the rescue and sunk a long one from center. Barry scored three points in the overtime period and the game was won for D. U. twenty-six to twenty-four.

Last Monday the Zetes retaliated and pulled a heart breaker on the league leading Phi Delt, leaving them in the wake of a thirty-four to nine score. This defeat relegated the Phi Delt from first to third place rating.

The snappy Tau Delt quintet has been putting on a little speed this week defeating the A. T. O.'s thirty-four to twenty-five, and the K. D. R.'s thirty-three to twenty-five. These victories have raised them from seventh to fifth position.

The consistent L. C. A. team swamped the Dekes forty-nine to fourteen in a lopsided struggle. The D. U.'s had a little trouble in maintaining their van position in the league when they encountered a stubborn K. D. R. club which they finally nosed out forty-three to thirty-eight.

As the D. U.'s and Lambda Chi's have several more games to play, the title won't be won until the last ball is bounced.

Physics Society Sees Scientific Movies

On Tuesday evening the Chi Gamma Sigma physical society held its first meeting this semester at 7:30 p. m. The purpose of this meeting was to get a bird's eye view of the different branches of science. In order to get a clearer conception of such a vast field, sound pictures were used. There were reels on Geology, Physics, Psychology, Chemistry, and Biology. Since some of the members are going to write research articles on a few of these subjects, an informal discussion followed the presentation of the pictures.

Plans for future meetings were drawn up, and this society expects to hold about six more meetings this year. If these plans materialize, Dr. Bovie and Dr. Haas from the University of Vienna, who, incidentally, is a visiting professor at Bowdoin, will be guest speakers. The next meeting will be for the purpose of admitting new members. Candidates must have had at least one year of Physics before they can be considered for membership.

Spring Grid Practice Begins On Monday

Spring football practice will get under way on Monday afternoon, March the 2nd, and will terminate at the beginning of the spring recess on March 20th. Practice will be held every afternoon possible in the field house from four to five with the exception of Saturdays. The immediate goal of this practice is a more complete offensive layout. The plans for next year's offense are already fairly complete, and include a basic cycle of plays from two or three formations. Using this year's development as basic starting point, all plays will operate from a single and double shift which will require some time to develop.

An offensive system such as this cannot be acquired without the co-operation on the part of the players and a real desire for a more diversified attack. This cannot be acquired in the short time allowed us for pre-season training in the fall, nor can the acquired possibilities of the individuals as to the fundamentals of passing, pass receiving, punting, pulling out, spins, and laterals of the modern day attack be gained in such a short time.

All candidates including those from last fall's Freshman club can get their equipment any time this week at the gymnasium.

bind together Washington, D. C. and Geneva?"

Going on to our domestic affairs, he spoke of present day attempts at the usurpation of powers by the executive branch and the "hue and cry that the Supreme Court be curbed," and stated that, "Here again we are forced to turn to the Father of Our Country."

In order to throw some light on why Washington "still lives to so deeply influence the people of this nation," Hickey reviewed the hardships and sufferings of Washington at the hands of both his supporters and opponents in the field of battle and in the office of president of the newly formed republic. The sacrifices of this greatest of all Americans he brought home with great force when he said, "I wonder if Mr. Jim Farley would flash his winning smile if he were to spend a few nights sleeping beneath a mulberry tree."

Hickey's clear cut description of the obstacles Washington overcame and of how he first set the infant United States on its path of progress made the assembly realize that there is much in this man's life to think about.

Preceding the speaker Harold Allen made an announcement regarding the pop concert to be sponsored by the Colby Glee Club. President Franklin W. Johnson introduced the speaker.

While not wishing to imply that religion is only something to be cultivated during a certain period of the year, the Colby Counsel on Religion has tried in some measure to provide an atmosphere which will interpret to students the fullest meaning of the Easter season.

Greek Letter Values . . .

WE are in college at a time when there is considerable argument about and questioning of the values of Greek Letter Societies. At no time in the history of fraternities and sororities has there been so much criticism and speculation concerning the function and value of fraternity life in the college world. If these institutions are to continue their existence and flourish at Colby in coming years, each and every one of them should devote some time immediately to a thorough introspection with the definite aim and purpose of discovering exactly what its failings are, what the organization is and what it could be if improvement measures were applied.

In a chapel speech last year the Dean of Men presented a highly critical and constructive discussion of the fraternity problem on this campus, giving credit where credit was due and offering valuable suggestions where improvement was desirable. How many of these suggestions were acted upon and how much room for improvement remains? In his opening chapel address of the present collegiate year, the President declared himself an advocate of the fraternity system but, also mentioned several aspects of the present system which could well stand alteration and improvement. How many of these aspects have since been considered?

Colby is a small college with a rich tradition of fraternity life which has come down to us through a great number of years. The records of the various chapters are filled with accounts of worthwhile accomplishment. Each commencement time finds hundreds of alumni returning to visit their chapters with deep interest and concern for their welfare. These alumni reminisce about their old fraternity days, visit the rooms in which their fraternity life centered, ask questions about the present status of the chapters, and in many other ways indicate their sincere and live interest in fraternity life.

The members of fraternal organizations on the Colby campus today are as staunch advocates of the fraternity life as were those who went before them. Through their own fraternity life they can see the practical value of the fraternity, and sincerely believe in its justification of its existence. The danger lies in the fact that these same enthusiastic advocates do not always complete their analysis by considering the existing faults and deficiencies in the system.

We are firm believers that fraternity life is a valuable institution, and sincerely hope for the continuance of its existence. But we also realize that there are defects present which could well be eliminated. We do not need to go into detail about these short-comings, for every one of us can see them about us each day. This is the time when each fraternity and sorority should take upon itself the problem of improvement so that the critical element which is so evident today will lose any grounds for its serious dismay. Improvement of fraternities and sororities must come from within because of their secret nature. Outside criticism can do nothing but destroy. Now is the time to justify the existence of fraternities and sororities by they themselves seeing to it that they fulfill all of their potential benefits to themselves, their college, and to the individuals which comprise them.

In the Interest of Peace

Orchids to the editor of the Sentinel . . . We presume that he (like most of the world) . . . never sees this column . . . But he should cheer all budding columnists, making their follies mild by comparison . . . Last week we wrote an editorial—WOMEN AND PACIFISM . . . We can all make fallacies. But not on such a grand scale!

"Little boys fight . . . If they don't they are sissies . . . Hence nations should fight, or they'll just be sissies, too" . . . So sorry our editor never grew up . . . We learned that little boys lost their pugnacity at adolescence . . . took up football—and girls . . . and even mental combats . . .

There has been war to build empires and war to end war . . . but to make the world safe for black eyes . . . Oh, Penrod, spare us . . .

Secretary Hull has spoken of people who "unable as individuals to feel superior to circumstances . . . will seek as nations to establish by force superiority over each other." (Though without advice to editorial writers) . . . He suggested improving trade relations . . . a revival of world commerce as aid to peace . . . All this in an address to the annual Woman Congress in Chicago. . . .

But our editor need not grieve . . . if he finds this sissy-ish . . . Not when the House votes the War Dept. such a loving Valentine . . . "A record-breaking peace-time measure" of $545,226,318 with some 13 million thrown in for aircraft . . . This as opposing congressman Marcantonio, Republican of N. Y., shouted: "Keep up this militarism and the youth of the country will goose-step over the campus with their hands raised in salute . . . " Interesting statistics for 1936 show that more money was budgeted for Chemical warfare service than for the Office of Education—over a million more . . . While: Care-takers of army horses—$1,830,900; but children's bureau—only $403,380 . . .

In this war-minded world, an honored and renowned pacifist is a rarity . . . but such a person is George Lansbury, British ex-Labor leader . . . Head-line provoker in recent British affairs, he now plans an American tour . . . sailing April 15 . . . invited by an inter-denominational committee . . . He expects to lecture here, later in Canada . . . Here's to you, Mr. Lansbury!

ECHO Echoings

Twenty-five years ago Walter C. Emerson, '84, in a speech which he delivered before the Boston Colby Alumni Association said: "The large universities are luxuries, but the small colleges are necessities. The small college has produced great men who are doing things out of all proportion to the size of the institution from which they graduated. The personal contact between faculty and student enable the small college to train men best for civic duties. If your lot is to be a small college, then be the best small college there is—and Colby is on the way."

The morning after this Boston Colby Alumni banquet, the following editorial appeared in the Boston Transcript:

"The speaker who at the Colby reunion urged the advantages of small colleges might have quoted the historic remark of the late Chief Justice Peters of Maine—that at Harvard, Yale, and some other institutions a boy went through a good deal of college, but at Bowdoin, Dartmouth, Colby and their like a good deal of college went through the boy."

Spanish Next Year?

Is there a demand for Spanish at Colby? The administration has frequently been importuned by individual students to reintroduce the study of this language, dropped from the curriculum several years ago. Recently notices were posted requesting all students desiring to study Spanish to register that desire with their dean. The response has been negligible. The Department of Modern Languages will give courses in Spanish if there is sufficient demand. Decision must be reached on March 1st. Students who wish to study Spanish should consult their dean before that date. As this issue of the ECHO goes to press the registered demand is not sufficient to warrant the introduction of a course.

Prom Plans Developing

Plans for the most successful Junior Week-End in Colby history are progressing rapidly with Class President John J. Sheehan, having recently named the Junior Prom Week-End Committee as follows: Lambda Chi Alpha, Arnold Holt; Delta Upsilon, Tony Demarinis; Alpha Tau Omega, Gerald Ryan; Zeta Psi, Edson Goodrich; Phi Delta Theta, William Deens; Theta Kappa Nu, Howard Wilcox; Tau Delta Phi, Benjamin Brownstein; Kappa Delta Rho, Paul Palmer.

There will be no original student musical comedy this year, nor will there be any production put on by the Dramatic Art Class; therefore it has become necessary for President Sheehan and his committee to think of some new idea. It is possible that a "Colby College Night" might be worked out for the Thursday evening that the play usually falls on. This could be held at one of the local theaters with all the aspects of a first night presented. Open house chasers on Saturday look better than ever this year.

Nothing definite has been decided concerning the selection of the band as yet. With the money that they will have to work with, the Junior Class cannot hope to get one of the big "name" bands, but you can rely on the fact that the best music available will be presented.

Next week the committee will be able to tell more about the bands that are under consideration, and it will also be decided by that time just what there will be in the way of entertainment for Thursday evening.

Chi Omega Holds Dance

Chi Omega entertained for the third consecutive year at a dinner dance given in the Lancy House, Pittsfield, on Washington's Birthday. The melodies of Jerry Cram and his orchestra furnished music for the dancing. Carnations and small Chi Omega banners added a bit of festive atmosphere as souvenirs for the escorts.

The patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Alden, and Miss Corinne B. VanNorman.

The committee in charge of the affair included Kathryn D. Cobb, '37, chairman, Annabelle E. White, '36, Harriet B. Weibel, '37, and Priscilla Cram, '38.

Profit Motive Is Discussed At Forum

What is the profit motive, and can we do without it? This was the argument-provoking discussion topic at Forum Sunday evening in the First Baptist church. The debate became very lively, with arguments and questions being shot back and forth in volleys among the students gathered around the round table in the candle-lit room.

Marjorie Gould, leader of the discussion, introduced the subject in a brief masterly presentation of the issues involved, mentioning also some of the national leaders and policies which must be considered directly related to the subject. To put the discussion on a strong footing, four students, Ethel Bradstreet, Mary Ewen, Irving Gammon, and Bob Turbyne had done some preparation beforehand, and the discussion proceeded with enthusiasm. Though no definite unanimous conclusion was reached, the group agrees on this: that the whole standard of values of modern business must be changed, and that business leaders must hold this before them as an ideal that must some day be attained.

Sheets were passed around with a list of topics from which a few were to be checked for use in further discussion between now and summer vacation. They cover the range of Religion, Ethics, Science, Sociology, and International Relations.

Next week, after a vesper service presented by the Y. M. and Y. W., Dr. Rayborn Zerby, a very popular professor from Bates, will speak on the subject: "What Makes a Philosophy of Life Religious?" Those who have heard him before recommend strongly that all thinking students should not let the opportunity pass to hear Dr. Zerby.

New York (ACP). Two slang phrases of the hour—"Oh, yeah?" and "He can take it"—were lauded by Robert Gordon Anderson, author and newspaperman, in a recent address to Hunter College students. "Oh, yeah?" is not ridiculous," Anderson said. "It is tragic in its implications. It is as eloquent of world weariness as the bitterest cry of the disillusioned from Ecclesiastes down to Dreiser and Lewis.

"It bristles with challenge, as the young men cry: 'Why have you slain our illusions? Why have you killed our faith?'"

Nor was there anything new in "He can take it," Anderson declared, pointing to the analogy between it and the spirit the Victorians applauded in Henley's line, "Beneath the bludgeoning of chance, my head is bloody but unbowed."

Austin, Texas (ACP). Did the 20th century begin Jan. 1, 1900, or Jan. 1, 1901?

A University of Texas professor baffled a class in Greek history with this question the other day. Half the class voted Jan. 1, 1900, while the other half wouldn't comment.

The learned pedagogue finally told the boys and girls.

"There's no such thing as zero year," he said. "Did you ever stop to think of the year 1 A. D.? Now think about 100 A. D., and you'll see only 99 years passed between Jan. 1, 1 A. D., and Jan. 1, 100 A. D.

Therefore, Jan. 1, 101 is the date that marked the exact passing of the first century after Christ, and the 20th century began Jan. 1, 1901.

Yale students earned a total of $432,132 last year.

The cash value of a college education has been placed at $72,000.

Ye Gladiator Column

This column is reserved for students to express their opinions about college matters. The editorial staff assumes no responsibility for the content. A pen name may be printed, but all letters must be signed.

Dear Gladiator,

Any student has a right to self-expression in the Gladiator's column. He may utter a real idea, a witty crack, or just hot air. However classified, the partronzing remarks of one G. R., toward what he terms the "movements" at Colby, typify a certain level of thought, not only of Colby campus, but of the nation at large.

Many students in Professor Colgan's classes have heard him discuss the high type of thinking customary with Europeans. But at our own stage of barbarism, we and our countrymen are more impressed by a knowledge of batting averages and Ford motors. Abroad we are credited with mass-production of machines and also mentalities. Babbitt is symbolic of the American intellect.

Prevailing views on this campus would endorse such criticism. Any attempt to broaden intellectual horizons—whether it be by a better attendance at concerts or a fuller understanding of international affairs—can be sure of its reception in certain quarters. It will be dubbed a type of insanity. Students showing interest are suspected of border-line paranoia.

But, in the February Intercollegian, Rose Terlin writes upon this very point. (Mr. Hearst said plenty about the nation-wide peace mobilization). Students need not "occupy an ivory tower remote from the real issues and struggles out of which a new society must be created." And furthermore, "The ideas once held by a tiny fringe of students, considered 'queer' or maladjusted, now have a firm foothold in the current of student life and can no more be laughed down or frowned out than the tides of the ocean."

It would be an enlightening experiment to remove from the campus all the extra-curricula activities, together with the students participating in them. The remainder of the student body might then enjoy to the full the supreme sanity of its unmolested stagnation.

Dear Gladiator,

A week ago last Monday in the Bowdoin-Colby meet there occurred an incident that left a rather unpleasant taste in the mouths of those present who still believe in sportsmanship in athletics. Porter of Bowdoin and Herby DeVeber of Colby were putting up a grand exhibition of running in the two mile run. Porter was in the lead with Herb DeVeber about three yards in back. With five laps to go, Porter passed a team-mate—lapped him—and as Herb attempted to follow, the Bowdoin jockey ran wide, breaking DeVeber's stride—Herb then tried to pass on the inside and was again crowded by the zig-zagging of the Bowdoin man—this constant jockeying back and fourth allowed the tiring Porter to set up an insurmountable lead. When Herb finally passed the Bowdoin man he was quite far in the ruck and tired from the unfair competition offered by the Bowdoin jockey. When Porter let go his famed sprint he was more than matched by the plucky Colby runner, but the lead was too great to be surmounted and so ended the race—Porter, first; DeVeber, second. In third place, over a lap behind came the Bowdoin man, who ran so unfairly, sprinting in like a hundred-yard dash man, he had plenty of strength left but far be it from him to run so as to tire himself—he lacked the guts to run a race but had that warped sense of sportsmanship that led him to run as he did.

After the race the Bowdoin athlete (sarcasm) was seated on a bench adjusting his sweat suit when over came old "Metric System" Magee himself, high mogul of the A. A. U. here in Maine and coach of the Bowdoin team. Walking up to his protégé, he said, "Nice race, boy." Maybe that is an example of a "nice race" according to the "win at any cost" philosophy of little Jack Magee (and we don't refer to smallness of stature).

The kind of tactics taught by Magee defeats the whole purpose of the sport and although Magee's record of winners at Bowdoin is quite impressive, he's making the polar bear look like he slept in a sewer as far as clean track athletics is concerned.

It's not the fact that Colby can't take a trimming in track—Bates took us over nearly as badly Saturday but it's the fact that win or lose, most of the Maine colleges would rather avoid Magee and keep their hands clean.

Dinner Guests

The women's division was hostess to dinner guests at Foss Hall on Tuesday evening, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. and Student Government. Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Hayes, Mrs. Adelbert Allen, and Mr. Bradford Hutchins were guests.

Coffee was served after dinner, and a short program was presented. Elizabeth Solie, '39, played two selections on the piano, and a flute solo was rendered by Pauline Pratt, '39, Janet P. Goodridge, '37, gave an amusing reading, entitled "The Wedding."

Helen O. Jevons, '37, headed the committee in charge, and Amelia T. Johnson, '37, arranged the program.
