"New Colby Will Yield High Dividends"—Barrows

Former President Praises Project; Gov. Barrows, Bainbridge Colby Speak

Former President Herbert Hoover, speaking over long-distance telephone from the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York to the banquet in the Eastland Hotel in Portland, inaugurating the Colby Maine Million campaign, said that the small liberal arts college "builds mightily for the public weal."

His address was amplified by loud speakers in the banquet hall, and was broadcast to radio listeners over the stations of the Maine Broadcasting Company.

"It is no criticism of our great universities for us to urge the importance of the liberal arts colleges," Hoover told the 500 alumni and friends of the college who attended the banquet. "The great institutions are one of the pillars of American civilization. But no less do the small colleges serve in a vital field. . . Such colleges have fed a stream of leadership into our nation all out of proportion to their enrollment."

Emphasizing the ever-growing need for men of high character if the United States is to survive, Hoover pointed out that it was the peculiar task of the small liberal arts college, like Colby, to train such men.

Former Secretary of State, Bainbridge Colby, Governor Lewis O. Barrows, President Kenneth M. Sills of

Stanley H. Rudman Of Bangor Wins 30th Montgomery Prize

Robert Donlan, Heniz Rettig, Victor McKusick Are Other Winners

Stanley H. Rudman, a senior in Bangor high school won the first prize of $50 in the finals of the 30th annual Montgomery Prize Speaking contest held in the chapel last Friday evening.

Other prizes were awarded to Robert J. Dolan of Portland, who was second, and Heniz Rettig of Worcester, Mass., Victor A. McKusick of Guilford, and Seldon J. Martin of Hartland Academy, who tied for third.

A large and appreciative audience heard the unusually fine speaking, and they were agreed only that almost any of the speakers might fairly have been awarded a prize. After long deliberation the judges reached their decision. They were Hon. F. Harold DuBois, '14, Hon. H. Chesterfield Marston, '20, and Dr. Norman D. Palmer, '30.

Bates Students To Conduct Colby Forum

On Sunday, May 14, at 6.30 P. M., a delegation of Bates students will conduct the Colby Student Forum in the vestry of the First Baptist Church. Robert Douglas Seward, professor of French and Spanish, and Leighton Dingley, a sociology major, will speak on Cooperatives. Mr. Dingley has just finished a thesis on "Auburn-Lewiston Recreation." Special vocal music will be furnished by Mr. Oldmixon, accompanied at the piano by Eleanor Wilson. Marguerite Mendell will render selections on the flute.

The next and last Forum of this college year will be on May 21, when the Reverend Harold Metzner will read the play "Our Town," by Thornton Wilder.

French Exchange For 1939-40 Will Be Louis Sacks

Honor History Student To Study French Gov't; Will Teach English

The Institute of International Education, in connection with the Ministry of Education in France, have selected Mr. Louis Sacks, '39, to represent Colby as its French exchange student for the coming year. Mr. Sacks will teach conversational English while studying at whichever university he will attend.

Although Mr. Sacks has majored in the department of history and government while at Colby, he is well qualified in the French language, having pursued courses in French literature, composition, and conversation. His name has appeared consistently on the Dean's list, and he is now one of four members of the honors course in history, an experimental course started at Colby this year. The student assistantship in the department of history and government has been filled this year by Mr. Sacks. He is also a member of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society.

Mr. Sacks is at the present time, president of the Tau Alpha chapter of Tau Delta Phi fraternity. The national Tau Delta Phi fraternity, last year, granted him a national scholarship award. He has also been president of the International Relations club this year.

Mr. Sacks served on the "Y" cabinet for the past two years. And this year was a member of Colby's Inter-Faith team which had speaking engagements in various parts of Maine.

175 Men To Sing At Glee Club Festival

Plans have been completed for the Men's Glee Club Festival which is to be held at the Waterville Opera House Thursday, May 11, according to John White Thomas, director of the Colby Men's Glee Club and host conductor for the affair. 175 men representing the Portland Men's Singing Club, the Bangor Men's Singing Club, and the Men's Glee Clubs from Maine, Bates, and Colby will participate in the festival. Several choral numbers as well as individual selections by all the clubs will be heard on the program.

It is hoped that the festival will act as a stimulus for further musical work in Maine's colleges and cities. The festival will also give the college clubs a chance to see what the older men's clubs are accomplishing, and the older men an opportunity to see the talent in the college organizations.

Many well known choral numbers will be sung jointly by the clubs including "Great and Glorious," by Haydn, "Laudamus," by Protheroe, "Morning," by Speaks, and "The Lost Chord," by Sullivan. The selections that will be sung by the individual clubs include "Your Voices Raise," by Handel, "Ezekiel Saw De Wheel," by Burleigh, "Recessional," by Foote, "The Dartmouth Winter Song," by Bullard, and "The March of the Musketeers," by Friml. Arthur Wilson of Portland, Albion Beverage of Maine, and Seldon Crafts of Bates will act as guest conductors and direct many of the group numbers.

Before the concert the clubs will hold a banquet at the First Baptist Church and the leaders of the various clubs will be introduced.

Free tickets for the Festival may be secured by Colby students at the Music Room in the Alumpac Building.

Addresses Of Dr. Popenoe Well Received At Colby

Family Relations Director Discusses Emotion, Love, Marriage, And Divorce

Three phases of mature emotional adjustment to life were discussed by Dr. Paul Popenoe in a series of vital speeches and discussions with Colby students on May 7 and 8. Dr. Popenoe is the secretary and general director of the Institute of Family Relations of Los Angeles, California, and is also a co-author of a text on applied eugenics. While he was at Colby he spoke on the subjects "Growing Up Emotionally," "How Do You Know When You're in Love?" and "Looking Ahead to Marriage"—all phases of a problem that is universally interesting to college students. These lectures were sponsored by the Student Christian Association. Discussions Emotions at Forum

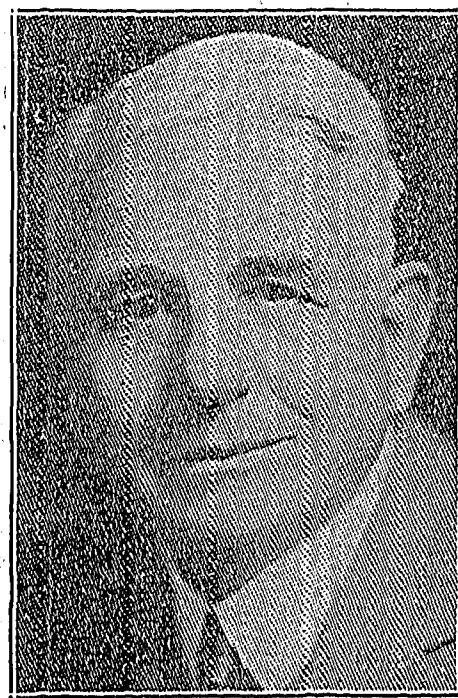

"Growing Up Emotionally" was the subject of Dr. Popenoe's discussion at Colby Forum Sunday night. He maintained, and with many interesting examples, proved that though a person may be 45 chronologically, he may be only 8 or 9, even younger, emotionally. A child of 5 or 6 lives in a world of make-believe, principally to make up for his feelings of inferiority. He is also irresponsible. He can't carry a job through to completion.

Many have said, if you wish to estimate a person's mental or emotional age, discover what he thinks is funny. Dr. Popenoe suggested that one discover what he hates; he then, went on to explain the development of hatred in a child. Primarily, a child hates things. Something goes wrong, and the child blames the object. At a later stage, the child comes to hate people. No matter what happens it is someone else's fault.

The most mature hatred is that of conditions,—war, sin, crime, poverty, and the like. If one seeks to change a condition and succeeds, he and others have really benefited by the hatred born against the condition. There are people, Dr. Popenoe stated, who have stopped growing along the way and, although grown up physical.

Carl R. Gray, Colby Trustee, Dies; Was Railway Pioneer

CARL RAYMOND GRAY

Carl R. Gray, former president of the Union Pacific and trustee of Colby, died yesterday in Washington, D. C., as the result of a heart attack.

Since 1938 Mr. Gray has been a Colby trustee and attended the trustee's meeting in Portland just last month. He was a summer resident of Maine having a home at Stone's Point on the Saint Georges river, several miles from Thomaston. His father, O. C. Gray, graduated from Colby in

Snyder, Robbins, Morse To Speak At Commencement

Conrad Swift Chosen Co-Chairman Of S. C. M. For Maine

Dr. Deems Addresses Group; Problem Discussions Held

At the State of Maine Student Christian Movement Conference held at the Bailey Homestead in Winthrop on Saturday and Sunday, May 6 and 7, Conrad Swift of Colby was elected as one of the Co-Chairmen of the S. C. M. in Maine for the year 1939-1940. Phyllis Hawkins, of Farmington Normal School was elected to the position of the other co-chairman, while Robert Goodwin of the University of Maine was selected as treasurer.

The Colby delegation was lead by Professor Newman, of the Religion Department and Adviser of the S. C. M. at Colby, and Miss Beth Page Pendleton, student counselor. The Colby student delegates were Miss Geraldine Stefkoff, Miss Joanna McMurtry, Miss Doris Russell, Miss Marion McArdle, Alton Burns, Gordon Jones, Harley Bubar, Edward Jenison, John Hawes, and Elmer Baxter.

The conference opened on Saturday afternoon with an address entitled "The Purpose of the Christian Group on a Campus," by the Reverend Mervin Deems of Bangor Theological Seminary. After a supper of baked beans and brown bread, Miss Evangeline Wilcox, secretary of the Boston Student Y. W. C. A., led a discussion of various problems facing the local S. C. M. groups on their own campuses. A worship service followed. Later in the evening some of the group toasted marshmallows over the open fireplace.

Students Study Geology Of Mt. Desert

Last week-end, fifteen geology students with Miss Hope Bunker and Dr. Richard J. Loygee of the geology department had a very successful trip to Bar Harbor, Maine. Four automobiles were needed to carry the following students: Carrie Burdwood, Priscilla Jones, Jane Russell, Jane Leighton, Hester Hatch, Henry Davidson, John Eaton, Bradford Francis, Robert Johnson, John Lowell, Henry Abbott, William Pinansky, Halsey Frederick, Charles Lord, and Robert Talbot. William Pinansky and Miss Priscilla Jones, as Perkins prize winners, were guests of the expedition.

The Colby travelers left Waterville, Friday afternoon, and, after reaching Bar Harbor, they walked around the town in the evening. One of their outstanding experiences was when they drove up Mount Cadillac and watched the moon "rise out of the sea."

On the following day, the hikers had perfect weather. They noted the important geological features of the shore and had a picnic lunch on a sandy beach. After climbing Mount Cadillac, they studied the glacial features on the top of the mountain.

Saturday night, they went to Dr. Clarence Cook Little's laboratory. Dr. George Snell escorted the visitors from Colby through the laboratory, showing them the different kinds of mice for which the laboratory is noted. There were countless pure strains that are used in experiments.

On Sunday, the Colby group went on a tour around the island, following the shore and then going up through Somes Sound, where they visited quarries. They had dinner on Beach Cliff, 400 feet above the pond below. They left about 3 P. M. and arrived in Waterville in time for supper.

Rev. Arbuckle Will Give Baccalaureate; Program Announced

Dr. Franklyn Bliss Snyder, president-elect of Northwestern University, will deliver the Commencement address outdoors on the lower campus on Monday morning, June 19.

Other commencement speakers as announced today by Professor Alfred K. Chapman are Joseph C. Robbins, who will deliver the Boardman sermon; Marston Morse, who is to be the class day speaker; and Rev. Charles N. Arbuckle, who will preach the Baccalaureate Sermon.

Dr. Joseph Chandler Robbins is the foreign secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Missions Society, and is at present engaged in writing a book on George Dana Boardman. One of the foremost authorities on this famous Colby graduate, Dr. Robbins is well suited to deliver the Boardman Sermon.

Dr. Marston Morse, '16, Ph. D., Sc. D., is a professor of mathematics at the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton university. One of the country's few outstanding mathematicians, Dr. Morse will be the class day speaker.

The Baccalaureate preacher, Rev. Charles Nathaniel Arbuckle is the pastor of the First Church in Newton, Mass. He is one of the most popular ministers around Greater Boston and

Education, Society, And Dreams Discussed In Library Additions

Among the latest books to come into the Library is one which deals with an experience with which we are all familiar but of which we have a curiosity which has not been explained. Emile A. Gutheil has studied the subject and has tried to advance an explanation of The Language of the Dream in the light of his recent studies. Associated with a pupil of Freud, he has made a careful scientific survey of this most intriguing problem of speculation.

Professor P. W. Bridgman has discussed a subject vital to all students of social problems. The Intelligent Individual and Society is a book which includes a frank survey of the most pressing of our social problems. Professor Bridgman takes old ideas and presents them in the light of modern social reform.

Herbert Samuel, British scholar-statesman, has combined his scholarship and philosophy in a notable volume entitled Belief and Action. His "everyday philosophy" appeals to the common man to consider present-day problems with careful thought, to think out the questions of war and peace, science, politics, and religion.

Creative Group Education deals with the problems of education in the neighborhood, school centers, Y's and camps.

Paul B. Sears analyzes our own national characteristics in Who Are These Americans? He writes for us that we may more adequately understand ourselves.

Francis Prescott Receives Fletcher School Award

Medford.—Seventeen honor fellowships awarded for advanced study of international affairs were announced recently by the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Francis C. Prescott, Colby, '38, of Guilford, receives one of these awards. The successful candidates come from colleges and universities in all parts of the country and will take up their studies at the Fletcher School this fall.

Colby May Leave State Track Cellar

Capt. Hodges, John Daggett Bases Of Colby's Hope, May Determine Winner

Next Saturday at 9:00 A. M., a starter's pistol will officially start the preliminary races of the fortieth annual state intercollegiate track and field meet to be held at Bates college in Lewiston this year. The finals will start at precisely one-thirty on Garcelon Field.

Almost regularly since 1924, Colby has occupied the cellar in the intercollegiate meets, and now for the first time, Coach Norman C. Perkins sees a possibility of Colby's beating one or more of the Maine colleges, and giving up its regular position in the cellar to a more deserving college. Bowdoin is favored to win the meet and take the 1939 track championship from Maine because of their power in the running and hurdling events. Johnny Daggett, Colby's outstanding trackster is being carefully watched by both Bowdoin and Maine. Maine, not at all powerful in the running events would like to see Daggett steal some of Bowdoin's chances in the running events. Bowdoin sees Daggett as the man to beat in the dashes if they are going to dislodge the boys from Orono from their championship of last year. Maine's strength lies largely in the weight events, but Captain Carleton Hodges is not going to be idle in these events, and is no small source of worry to Maine. Both Bowdoin and Maine seem to think they have men who are capable of beating Daggett in the pole vault and the broad jump, but they will have to do it before they get any points for it.

Not a great deal can be said about Bates' chances in the meet. Don Bridges seems to be the only Bates man who is liable to place first in his event, the two mile run. Although Bates managed to beat Colby in an indoor meet, local experts believe that the Bobcats will take the cellar position away from the White Mules.

Lincoln Acad. Bows To Frosh Track Team

Last Monday the Colby freshman track team turned in its initial win of the outdoor season, swamping Lincoln Academy by the lop-sided score of 74 to 42. The young Mules showed weakness in only the mile run and the javelin throw, and took ten first places out of thirteen events. High scorer for the meet was Shelley Pratt, who scored thirteen points in three events. Pratt also broke the freshman record for the high hurdles. Raymond Flynn, promising sprinter, made a very brilliant debut in the dashes by winning both the 100 and 220 yard races.

"The team showed up surprisingly well," Coach Perkins announced, "and I think we would have a real powerful team if we had some milers and javelin throwers."

MULE-KICKS

By RALPH DELANO

Weight-Lifters
One dark night last fall several unknown persons visited Colby and walked away with most of the lead weights off the hurdles belonging to the athletic department. Not content with simply stealing the lead, they broke and otherwise damaged a good many of the wooden hurdles. The mystery of the missing lead is still just that, a mystery. But the result of the whole affair is the shipment of brand new metal-and-wood hurdles now decorating Seaverns Field. They arrived Monday. The new hurdles are of the Gill official type, and incidentally the adjustable weights on their bases are not made of lead, they are of iron; which is not so much temptation for robbers.

Blessed Event
Don't be fooled, this paragraph is only about this new event at the State track meet at Lewiston, Saturday. In this medley relay, Colby will enter a squad from the following: 220, Flynn and Fifield; 440, A. Warren, Schoenberger, Weeks; 880, MacRae. These seem to be the most likely of the Frosh crop, according to Coach Cy Perkins.

Timber Toppers
A couple of hurdle records were cracked the other day when Bob Anderson lowered the Colby Frosh low hurdle record in 26.7 time; and Shelley Leroy Pratt nicked the high hurdle record in 16.5 time. Both men are built well on standard hurdler lines and should help out the varsity no little next year.

Another coming Frosh trackman is Big Vic Lebednik, who should fit well into Coach Perkins' plans after Carl Hodges has left the scene next year. Lebednik has been doing stout work in the weight line.

From the Grandstand
At the Maine-Colby game: a Colby batter ticked a foul just over the catcher's head. "Tough luck," quoth Joe Fan, "You missed him." "But he did it without looking!" returned his seat-mate. . . And in the fifth inning when Maine batters were missing regularly somebody made a crack about Bill Kenyon's Swing Band . . . and last year Colby was missing regularly. . . Gooch's comment on the double play. . . "It was all right as double plays go—but they only got two men out." . . it's a great life.

The Colby-Maine state series baseball game, scheduled for Orono yesterday afternoon, was rained out. The game will be played next week.

The University of Texas has a collection of hair from the heads of famous writers, statesmen, etc.

"Doc" Rancourt Homers With Bases Loaded

Pitcher Slattery Yields But 5 Hits, No Free Bases

The Colby pastimers, behind the five hit pitching of Joe Slattery and the hitting of "Doc" Rancourt, scalped the Maine Bear in a state series tilt on the local diamond here last Saturday 6-1.

Slattery silenced the Maine guns so effectively that the visitors were able to push only one run across as a result of successive singles by Craig and Anderson and two Colby errors.

With the score deadlocked at nothing all, the Mules really "went to town." Two men were out, then Irish reached first when Black mis-cued, Gruber and Leonard were issued free tickets to the starting post, and Slattery slapped a fielder's choice down the third base line to score Irish. The bases were still saturated when "Doc" Rancourt, for the second time this season, effected another Frank Merriwell role by clouting a terrific drive into the right pasture for a home run to clean the sacks and place the Mules on the long end of a 5-0 score.

The final Colby run came in the seventh when Burrill doubled to left, and Allen pushed him around with a long single into the center garden.

"Little Joe" Slattery performed beautifully on the mound in limiting the Bear to five well scattered blows, and not a man reached first by way of the free-ticket route. He also aided the Colby cause by slashing out two singles. Other big stickers for the locals were Rancourt and co-captain Allen who connected for two apiece. The score:

J. V. Baseballers Lose To Coburn: Win From M.C.I.

Paced by Ernie Nelson, hard swinging catcher, Coburn Classical's ball team pinned a 10-9 defeat on the Colby Jayvees last Thursday, with a powerful seven inning surge that netted five runs. Nelson clubbed out two triples, with two men on bases each time, to drive in four runs and spark the Tiger's attack.

The Jayvees got 12 hits off Dazell who did the hurling for Coburn, while the prep school batters were only able to bang out 10 safeties. Cole and Rancourt led the Colby batters with three safe clouts each, two of Cole's being triples.

Walter Woodward started on the mound for Colby, and was followed by McDonnell and Laliberte.

Coburn	0	0	3	0	0	5	2	0	—10	10	3
Colby JV	0	1	0	2	2	1	3	0	—9	12	3

Shut-out relief hurling by Tee Laliberte for five innings, and a batting spree in the sixth inning gave the Colby Jayvees a 10-7 triumph over M. C. I. on Friday. Laliberte, who started the game in the third base position, moved into the pitching job when the M. C. I. players began to fathom the offerings of Cliff Came, who started hurling for Colby. Frank Downie, Colby's left fielder, showed a lot of power at the bat, slamming out four safe blows in five trips to the plate. Downie was good on the basepaths, too, stealing twice.

U. of V. Star Defeats Daggett In 100 And 220 As Colby Loses By 7 Points

In the closest meet of either the indoor or outdoor season, Colby's track squad was defeated by a surprisingly powerful University of Vermont team by the close score of 64 to 71. One of the surprising results of the meet was Daggett's defeat in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Gordon Smith, Vermont's prize dash man edged the Colby star by but a few inches in both races. In spite of his defeats, Johnny was high scorer and individual star of the meet as he gathered a total of sixteen points in four events. Captain Carleton Hodges took second high scoring honors by totaling thirteen points in three weight events.

The loss of Jay Cochrane was felt in the dashes, and as Coach Perkins predicted before the season, the Mule showed weakness in the middle distance races as Vermont swept the 440 yard dash and took first place in the 880 yard run.

Black to Craig, Black to Drew to Craig. Passed balls, Anderson. Wild pitches, Brown. Hit by pitched ball, by Slattery (Anderson). Time 2:05. Umpires, McDonough and Bragg.

Bates Bobcats Score 4-2 Win Over Mules

Malone Twirls 5 Hit Ball For Winners As Colby Aids With Errors

Bates defeated Colby 4-2 at Lewiston last Thursday for their first state series win. "Jocko" Malone twirled five hit ball in turning back the Mules.

The Bobcats went ahead in the second canto when Hasty Thompson singled and Bergeron doubled. After reaching third Bergeron stole home to place his teammates ahead 2-0. Colby came back in the second to cut the lead in half when Rancourt doubled, sending Maguire to third, and Bates bobbled to permit a Mule score.

Bates scored two more in the third as a result of a single and two Colby errors.

In the eighth the Mules started what looked like a rally when Malone weakened to issue a pair of free passes, and Maguire singled to drive Peters home. Malone then tightened to retire the side.

Harrigan (T) defeated Talbot (C); 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

Doubles results:

Rotenberg-Chabaman (T) defeated Lord-Pinansky (C); 5-7, 6-3, 6-2.
Garahedeon-Talkow (T) defeated Chase-Talbot (C); 6-4, 6-4.
Pizzano-Fredericks (C) defeated Bonney-Novak (T); 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

TENNIS TEAM BEATS B. U., 7-2

Colby's touring tennis team won the first match of its four day tour from Boston University, 7-2.

Although the match was scheduled to get under way early in the afternoon, play did not start until 5 o'clock.

The golf team was rained out of their skirmish with B. U. This concluded the Mules' four day tour into the Bay State.

Final Examination Schedule Announced

Unless otherwise indicated examinations will be conducted in the rooms regularly occupied for class meetings during the semester.

Students with examination conflicts must notify the registrar so that adjustments may be arranged.

No examinations will be conducted in the following courses: Education,

6; Mathematics, 02; Sociology, 8; Religion, 6, 10; Philosophy, 4; Psychology, 10.

In each of the following courses the examinations will be scheduled by the instructor to meet the convenience of students and proctor; in no case may the time of an examination be set outside the limits of June 5-14: Biology, 14; Chemistry, 16, 18; English, 30; German, 16, 20; Greek, 2, 12; History, 22; Latin, 10; Psychology, 6; Public Speaking, 10.

Changes in these examination regulations may be made by the registrar, only; notices of any changes will be posted on the bulletin board at No. 26 Chemical hall.

Addresses Of Dr. Popenoe

ly are still in the childish stages, emotionally.

Various Stages of Our Love

Dr. Popenoe next gave the three following characteristics of maturity: self-knowledge, self-control, and unselfishness, characteristics just opposite from those of the child.

Following this he considered the love life of an individual. Primarily, there is the love of self, typical of the baby. He wants what he wants when he wants it. The child's love life then expands to include his parents, particularly his mother, and so on to the third stage, the love of the "gang." Now whatever the gang says goes, regardless of mother's and dad's opinion.

Then there is the final, heterosexual stage, an interest in people of the opposite sex, beginning normally about high school age. At first this stage is generalized, the boys having an interest in all the girls just because they are girls. As the years pass, a fellow comes to narrow his interest to just a few girls, and finally to one whom he chooses to be his life-long companion. Then and only then, said Dr. Popenoe, has the man truly reached the adult level of an emotional life. Don't "Go Steady" in High School

Many people are also held up along the path of the love life, principally because of fear. They are somehow afraid to develop into the next stage, for the present one is too comfortable. Everyone, Dr. Popenoe asserted, has the capacity to grow up emotionally, just as one does physically. He needs a normal social environment, and chiefly, someone to advise and guide him, to help him to get at the bottom of any fears he may have and wipe them out of existence.

Many high school people make the grave mistake, said Dr. Popenoe, of "going steady." When this is the case, there is no basis for comparison. A fellow knows only the girl with whom he is going steady. High school people, Dr. Popenoe advised, need to gain a wide acquaintance.

Dr. Popenoe closed by stating that people need to accept more responsibility as one means of establishing an adult emotional life. This country needs more responsible people who are not afraid to do things.

Joint Assembly Talk

At a joint assembly for men and women, Monday, May 8, Dr. Popenoe spoke on the subject, "How Do You Know You're in Love?"

Dr. Popenoe contrasted popular, romantic love with real permanent love by comparing the various planks of the opposing platforms. He pointed out that romantic love is popularly misconceived as being mysterious, instantaneous, and terribly absorbing for the time being. The glamour girl is the perfect example of the transitory kind of love, because such an attraction is without basis and will disappear as quickly as it came. The flaw of this kind of love, Dr. Popenoe said, is that it is a manifestation of an adolescent self-love and cannot last. Factors For Permanent Love

On the other hand, the permanent, adult relationship, resulting in a happy marriage, is based on the following five factors: the biological mating impulse, the economic impulses of two people which build up monogamy, sexually colored comradeship non-sexual companionship for intellectual enjoyment with the other sex, and mutual interest in the home and children.

Dr. Popenoe said there was no way of knowing whether a couple were in love or not, but that if they thought that they were and had those five elements as a basis, there was every chance that their marriage would be happy and successful.

Monday afternoon at 8:30 Dr. Marriage and Divorce Discussed

Popenoe spoke in the college chapel on Looking Ahead to Marriage. In his introductory remarks he mentioned the fact that in Los Angeles County, California, half of the marriages terminate in the divorce courts, and that in Dallas there are in some years more divorces than marriages. "Maine," said Dr. Popenoe, "is way behind in her number of divorces, but statistics show that you Maine people are gaining all the time in this respect."

Dr. Popenoe blamed the steadily increasing divorce rate on lack of balance in three essential factors: attitude toward marriage, choice of a mate, and technical information. Of our attitudes he said "We don't get attitudes; they get us." It has been demonstrated that coming from a happy home is the greatest aid in developing the correct attitude toward marriage. It has been too often the case, however, that attitude has been more influenced by movies, magazines, and radios than by homes, churches, and educational units.

No Hope For Co-eds to Marry

As for the choice of a mate, Dr. Popenoe said, "It is more important to be a good mate than to choose one." For if you are determined to have a happy marriage nobody can stop you.

Dr. Popenoe discussed the problems that confront college women. A woman's marriageable years are, statistically, very few, and by the time she has graduated from college the tide has already turned against her. He spoke of the desirability of having a wide and varied acquaintance with members of the opposite sex of all ages.

Technical information regarding sexual, economic, and recreational adjustment is very important. Sexual

Young Mules Second In Triangular Meet

Pratt, Colby Star

Last Thursday, the young Mule track squad turned in its best performance so far, but was edged by a powerful M. C. I. squad in a triangular meet here at the athletic field. Coburn Classical Institute was the third team in the meet. The scores of the three teams were: M. C. I., 48½; Colby Freshmen, 44½; Coburn, 24. St. Pierre was high scorer for the meet, the M. C. I. star took first places in each event he entered. Second high scorer for the meet was Shelly Pratt of Colby with a total of eleven points in three events. Strong winds and cold weather during the meet slowed down the runners of each team.

The summary:

Pole vault: won by Gould of M. C. I.; Nightingale of Colby and Hall of M. C. I. tied for second place. Height 9 feet.

Shot put: won by Helin of Colby; Lebednik of Colby, second, and Cianelette of M. C. I., third. Distance, 43 feet, 10 inches.

High hurdles: won by Pratt of Colby; Anderson of Colby, second; Tweedie of M. C. I., third. Time, 17.8 seconds.

100 yard dash: won by St. Pierre of M. C. I.; Daggett of Coburn, second; Fifield of Colby, third. Time, 11 seconds.

440 yard run: won by Talbot of M. C. I.; Schoenberger of Colby, second; Weeks of Colby, third. Time, 56.2 seconds.

880 yard run: won by Carter of Coburn; Simpson of M. C. I., second; Perley of Coburn, third. Time, 2 minutes, 9 seconds.

High jump: won by Flaherty of Coburn; Pratt of Colby, second; Fedorovich of Colby and Hammond of M. C. I., tied for third. Height, 5 feet, 1 inch.

220 yard dash: won by St. Pierre of M. C. I.; Fifield of Colby, second; Talbot of M. C. I., third. Time, 24.6 seconds.

Low hurdles: won by Anderson of Colby; Pratt of Colby, second, Tweedie of M. C. I., third. Time, 28.2 seconds.

Javelin throw: won by Anctil of M. C. I.; Fedorovich of Colby, second; Greaves of Coburn, third. Distance, 131 feet, 4 inches.

880 yard run: won by Carter of Coburn; Simpson of M. C. I., second; Perley of Coburn, third. Time, 2 minutes, 9 seconds.

High jump: won by Flaherty of Coburn; Pratt of Colby, second; Fedorovich of Colby and Hammond of M. C. I., tied for third. Height, 5 feet, 1 inch.

220 yard dash: won by St. Pierre of M. C. I.; Fifield of Colby, second; Talbot of M. C. I., third. Time, 24.6 seconds.

maladjustment can be either cured or prevented in almost 100% of marriages by information that is easily available. In economic relationships cooperation, as opposed to competition, is to be stressed. And friction in the marriage often disappears when husband and wife have an enjoyable recreational life.

At the end of Dr. Popenoe's speech he discussed questions presented to him by members of the audience; questions concerning the teaching of marriage courses, self-education, self-analysis, and personality tests. Dr. Popenoe concluded his address with a statement to the effect that those who achieve a happy marriage know the highest happiness human nature can experience.

"Venture Of Faith" . . .

"New Colby will yield high dividends," was the statement which struck the keynote of last night's speeches at the banquet in Portland which opened the Maine Million campaign. And certainly the Colby student of today is in a position to vouch for that faith, for he knows just how much present quarters cramp the college program and visualizes what adequate facilities will mean to those who follow him.

Former President Hoover visualized part of those dividends when he mentioned the disproportionate number of our leaders who have come from the small college. He saw the new fitness of Colby to serve the state and nation in that sphere of the small college. He pointed out the need in our modern world for men of character.

Governor Barrows visualized another part of the dividends when he spoke of the coming generation of Maine youth who may receive a better education. And Colby students know intimately of this for Colby is such a college as the great number of Maine students can afford to attend who do not have the financial resources to put them through other institutions.

Colby has long served youth who could little afford an expensive college. Colby intends to continue that policy, which is a distinct service to Maine citizens. This year means their opportunity to further the institution which supports such a policy, so important to Maine youth.

Spring Round Up . . .

Spring round up is upon us as usual . . . hour exams and make-up exams . . . baseball, track, tennis, golf and softball in the heaviest athletic schedule of the year . . . public speaking contests which might have been held last winter . . . secondary school visitors for scholarship competition, et cetera . . . semester papers which should have been started in February and March . . . banquets for this and that . . . elections . . . spring dances . . . speakers enlightening us about love (the month of May and Colby students act as if they did not have the answer!) . . . class meetings . . . and commencement preparation. To top it all off the President and Deans tour the country with renewed spring fervor. All this comes in the face of the month of May when Maine has its first warm days which offer every inducement to entice the student from classroom, libe, and books.

Granted that May climaxes the year and loose ends must be caught up, but is this mad whirlpool of events which snatches at the student and drags some few to a fatal ending in June exams entirely necessary? Must the waters be quite so turbulent.

Student or faculty member, none of us have pushed the completion of our work as rapidly as we might have. That paper was not started. It seemed necessary to postpone that hour exam. Organization banquets just had to be put off. All these excuses seemed quite true then, but if we had only realized the great rush which lay ahead in May!

Spring round up should be a lesson for each student which lasts throughout the next year. Part of the rush could be avoided. Not only that, but couldn't the professor cooperate? He suffers as much as anyone. Both student and faculty member might benefit from the lesson.

TODAY'S HISTORY

By SPENCER WINSOR

British King Visits America

The "Empress of Australia" carries the King and Queen of the British Commonwealth of Nations to Canada. The King, of course, is only the nominal head of the English government, but he is the strongest link between every land which flies the English flag and the Mother Country. His purpose in visiting our Northern Neighbor is to strengthen that link at a time when the Mother Country is in gravest danger. His itinerary includes a visit to Washington, a visit which was thought necessary when the voyage was planned months ago, but the United States is now more pro-British than a King's visit could ever make it.

Russia Demands a Military Alliance

While the English monarchs travel, the English government tries to bring Russia into the "Stop Hitler" bloc. This task became more difficult with Russia's dismissal of Maxim Litvinov, Soviet advocate of "Collective Security." Joseph Stalin evidently does not like the "careful" diplomacy of M. Bonnet and Neville Chamberlain. Russia wants a reciprocal military alliance which will guarantee Russian interests in the Far East as well as in the West. If this alliance cannot be given, it is believed that the Soviet will revert to an isolationist policy.

English For Trade, Not Peace

England will not enter a military pact. She suggests instead that Russia guarantee the boundaries of Roumania, Poland, Lithuania, Latvia and Finland—if Russia is attacked while carrying out this pledge, then, England will use its military and naval forces to aid Russia. The advantage here is all British. Britain will not guarantee the Soviet's Far Eastern boundaries because of British trade in Japan and Japanese China, and because of anti-Soviet feeling in Portugal. This shows narrow class politics in trying to preserve the status quo of British trade in the Far East although plans for a German-Japanese military alliance are now underway.

Arab Kingdom

However, in the Near East English politics has a better face. News reports say that Britain will announce plans for an Arab Kingdom. This is the logical answer to the developing Arab national spirit. An Arab king will rule approximately 100,000,000 square miles formed by the union of Syria, Palestine and Trans-Jordan. Britain, France, and Turkey will guarantee the independence of the new kingdom.

World Figures Plead For Peace

Last week three world important figures asked the people of the world to take stock of the present situation and try to settle their differences amicably. Pope Pius XII appealed to the religious institutions. The Duke of Windsor asked the citizens of all countries to ask their leaders for peace. Tuesday, Secretary of State, Cordell Hull, urged that the governments of all countries gather around a conference table prepared to "sacrifice" their privileges for the peace of the world.

HERE and THERE

Something new under the sun, Spencer Winsor wearing a tuxedo while he made up this week's paper. 'Twas a rare sight indeed, folks. Spence proposed to find out if printer's ink and dress clothes would mix, and if his shirt front appears a little black at the concert tomorrow evening, you know the reason why.

Colby is a good host. At least I believe she is, and certainly this is the time of year when she sets out to prove the fact. Just at the moment we seem to be entertaining secondary school students right and left. If men in all the fraternity houses try to be friendly with them, there can be nothing wrong with their first impression.

Thoughts at random . . . Real May weather has prevailed the last few days. The trees are budding and today the lawns were mowed. Who says Colby students need to be told if they are in love at a time such as this? Now if we only had a few cars at the frat house . . .

Senior class meeting tomorrow morning, friends. Let's all hope that not quite so many will be necessary as seemed to be last year to get commencement plans rolling.

THIS COLLEGIATE WORLD

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

College women "expect too much" and are "too expensive to marry."

These statements by a member of the Iowa legislature cost Iowa State College a new women's dormitory, for it contributed to the economy drive which defeated a bill which would have financed the structure.

But this particular solon is lucky he isn't a Pennsylvanian, for Duquesne University women have organized a "Co-ed Protective League," and they'd certainly gone after his scalp if he'd been within their jurisdiction.

They've organized particularly to fight chronic stand-uppers and to provide broken-date insurance. League members pay 10 cents a week for the insurance, and whenever a date fails to show up or is tardy, they collect fifty cents as heart balm.

If history is correct, we predict a similar organization for men would go broke in short order—especially on the late-date business.

Fish Finale: A DePauw University alumnus has gulped 5,000 goldfish to end all such contests in the future. He did it at a goldfish hatchery, where tiny goldfish come at least 5,000 to the cup of water.

And that (we hope) is that!

NOTICES

OF THE WEEK

NOTICE

The Student League is giving a Mother's Day tea on Sunday, May 14, in the Social room of the Alumnae Building from 3 to 5. All Colby girls and their mothers are invited to come.

SENIOR CLASS

There will be a senior class meeting of men and women in the chapel, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

ECHO STAFF MEETING

The staff of the Colby ECHO will meet Thursday, May 11, 1939, at 4:00 P. M. in Chemical Hall, for the purpose of deciding how the business manager and women's editor for next year shall be elected, and to decide whether or not the position of sports editor shall be filled for next year. In the event it should be decided that the full staff shall elect the business manager, this meeting shall constitute an election meeting and a quorum of two-thirds of the staff will be necessary.

Jones Heads Pi Gamma Mu

At a meeting this afternoon in the sociology office Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science society, elected Gordon Jones its president for the year 1939-40. Other officers elected were Ernest C. Marriner, Jr., vice president, Mindella Silverman, secretary and social chairman, and William Pinansky, treasurer.

Louis Sacks Discusses Judaism And Democracy Before Boardman Society

At the meeting of the Boardman Society last Tuesday evening, Louis Sacks, who is president of the International Relations Club, spoke on the subject, "The Place of Judaism in Democracy."

Mr. Sacks pointed out that the Jewish people do not control this country and that only a very few Jews are Communists. He quoted from an article "Some Facts About the Jew" which appeared in a recent Harper's Magazine regarding capitalism and proved by statistics that the Jewish people do not dominate the large industries and banking houses in this country. This is also true of European nations.

In regard to the assumption that Jews and Communists, Mr. Sacks stated that although the Russian Jew favored the revolution against the Czar in March, 1917, they did not support the Bolshevik revolt the following November.

To further prove that only a few Jews are Communists, Mr. Sacks stated that in the last free election in Germany, 5,980,240 votes were cast for the Communist candidates, while there were only 300,000 German Jews who were able to vote. He presented facts proving that for every revolutionary Jew there are thousands engaged as tradesmen, merchants and professional men, who would lose everything that they own by a revolution.

Carl R. Gray

1888 and was a colonel in the Confederate Army during the Civil War.

About three weeks ago Mr. Gray was host to a group of prominent men at the Banker's Club in New York city who heard President Johnson tell the story of the new Colby on Mayflower Hill. Mr. Gray also planned to attend commencement here in June.

Mr. Gray was a pioneer in the railway business; he began as a telegraph boy and worked his way up to the presidency of the Union Pacific. He was not known as Carl Raymond Gray, but rather "Gray of the Union Pacific." Before he received his post with the U. P., he was affiliated with many railways in every part of the country.

The plight of the railways was his chief concern and he gave freely of his time to aid the governmental investigation of the railways plight. In fact much of his time the last six months has been spent in Washington

JOE SMOKE SAYS

Maybe Dr. Paul Popenoe's lecture was a success after all. Evidently Prexy Johnson doesn't want any young men or women to graduate from Colby college thinking they are in love when they aren't, or vice-versa. Elliot Drisko and Lin Workman left the lecture hall quite disappointed because they had been convinced that they aren't in love. Maybe Ippie Solie and Billie McGrath won't be so glad to hear that, but cheer up girls, maybe they'll change their minds when the weather gets a little better. Bob Bruce came out of the lecture a happier person. "When I went in, I was pretty sure, but when I came out, I was positive." The title of the lecture was, "How do you know you are in love?" Johnny Lowell was inspired by the lecture. "Huh!" said Johnny, "I'm not going to be one of these twenty per cent lovers. I already have all of those five things it takes to be in love."

Considerable excitement was caused in Foss Hall a few days ago when Freddy Sargent was discovered wandering around the third floor like a lost street urchin. You should have seen the freshman class president blush and run for the door when one of the co-eds cooed with a coy smile. "Won't you come into my parlor said the spider to the fly."

They tell me that Big Vic Lebednik has been seeing quite a lot of Betty Perkins lately. I don't blame you Vic, I like your taste too.

It's too bad that Doris Peterson and Ken Stanley have to go to classes, because if they didn't have to, they could spend more time together, that is, if such a thing is possible.

I was talking to Barbara Mitchell the other day, and she told me that the Joe Smoke Column was terrible, and when I asked her why she thought so, she said, "Why they haven't even had my name in it yet." Huh, maybe she'll like the column less now.

It seems that on Geology field trips, Professor Lougee always manages to get the girls in his car and the boys in Miss Bunker's car. Maybe the fair sex is one of the professor's weaknesses.

I guess Jane Russell has one of the best ways of cutting classes and getting away with it. The other day, her twin sister came to visit her, and the two girls had a great time fooling people on the campus. The twin went to some of Jane's classes, and the professors were none the wiser. The bogus Jane Russell even talked a long time after class with Professor Griffiths about the work she was doing in the course, and I guess the professor still doesn't know he had a stranger in his class. The twin event went so far as to fool Doc Abbott. She talked with him for about fifteen minutes, and then left. When Doc saw Jane coming from the opposite direction, he began to wonder what he had been doing the night before.

Thirst For First Hand Knowledge Leads N.H. Student To Join Circus

Durham, N. H.—(ACP)—Peck's bad boy joined a road show for adventure, but Charlie Craig spent a week with a circus so that he could better plan the decorations for a University of New Hampshire dance.

It was all because the committee for the sophomore hop decided to give their dance a circus atmosphere with "peanuts, popcorn, and pink lemonade," gay sideshow canvases, and "the greatest collection of wild animals on the continent."

Feeling that first hand knowledge would give him much more aid than he could find in library books, chairman Craig spent his spring vacation with a small circus playing in his home town.

It was a week well spent, for the cooperative showmen contributed posters and trimmings as well as a wealth of ideas for setting a circus scene.

working on President Roosevelt's committee of six which has been considering the railroad problem. Mr. Gray was also one of the board of directors of the Maine Central road.

Streit Book Gives Plan For World State; "North of the Danube" Praises Czechs

by Emanuel K. Frucht

A New Plan for World Peace:

Clarence Streit's new book "Union Now" advocates the union of the leading democracies of the world in an effort to prevent the onward spread of Fascism and insure lasting world peace. This idea represents a most ambitious undertaking, and Mr. Streit should be commended for his courage in launching his new plan at a time when all nations of the world are busily re-arming and preparing for the so-called second World War. The many years that Mr. Streit spent in Geneva have served him in good stead because he was able to draw upon his observations and knowledge of "collective security" in action for material in his book.

According to Mr. Streit, a union of the leading democracies is the only thing that can possibly save the world at the present time. Representation in the World Council of Nations would be similar to the plan now existing in the United States Congress. Each member nation would send representatives to a lower house which would be based upon each country's population, and the upper house would consist of two delegates from every member nation. Thus, the small nations would have a just and equitable share in the governing of the united democracies. Citizens of the member states would then become citizens of the World State. This may be easily illustrated by the dual citizenship which exists in the United States between citizens of the state who are citizens of the National Government.

In his plan for union, Mr. Streit excludes Russia from the democratic front and states that Russia would either remain neutral or go with Germany if this plan were ever put into effect. Trade barriers, national hatreds and similar conditions which threaten peace may, it is hoped, be done away with if this plan would go into effect. This may not be the ideal solution of the peace problem now facing the world, but it deserves the attention of all because it does show a way, impractical as it may be to many, of possibly maintaining some semblance of democracy and civilization in the society of the future.

A Land That Is No More:

Erskine Caldwell and Margaret Bourke-White have again collaborated in the writing of another book. Their first book "We Have Seen Their Faces" will long be remembered as one of the finest of our modern sociological studies of the life and environment of the people in our South. "North of the Danube" is the story of a land that is no more—Czechoslovakia. It is told in the words of Erskine Caldwell and is graphically illustrated by many fine pictures of Margaret Bourke-White which literally speak for themselves. The tragedy of a free people losing their homeland is well shown in the expressive and simple faces of the peasants of what was once Czechoslovakia. These people declared that they would fight to maintain the government that gave them their own land 20 years previously. But somehow, this firm resolution to fight never manifested itself and the nation was swallowed up by three hungry neighbors.

"North of the Danube" is not a book that will last through the ages, but it does serve its purpose in adding to the written and spoken eulogies which have been dedicated to the memory of the last of the free Central European democracies, and it does this in a most eloquent and expressive manner.

At The Microphone

With fair and warmer weather ahead comes news that the Saga of the Scythe is due to hit the air lanes some Monday. This mighty epic of the chivalry of the coming generation has been in embryo for some time and its appearance will be something of an innovation.

The appointment of Dr. Norman Palmer as faculty adviser of the radio staff was announced yesterday by President Johnson. The staff welcomes Dr. Palmer who is well qualified to fill that position by his experience in public speaking both while an undergraduate and during his graduate years, and his interest in Colby broadcasting.

Word has been recently received from the copyright owners of Air Raid and the cast is to be announced very soon with rehearsals scheduled soon afterwards. This is an ambitious attempt and will require a large cast of actors and technicians.

There is an interesting side to radio production which is classed under sound effects. Thursday afternoon at four at the WLZ Studios an opportunity to learn something of the nature and production of sound effects will be given. All interested in the production side of radio especially and to those interested in radio generally this is offered.

Several have spoken of their desire for an announcer's audition, and on Friday afternoon at the Studios one will be held. If you intend to be present see Ellis Mott sometime beforehand and make arrangements.

Bowdoin Senior Speaks At Math. Club

The regular meeting of the Math club was held Monday in the Alumnae Building class room with Jean Burr presiding. The executive officers decided that they would nominate the officers for next year. Mr. J. C. Hall, a senior at Bowdoin, spoke to the group on "Finite Distances." The members enjoyed refreshments served by the faculty members.

Pennsylvania State College graduates of 1932 have given their alma mater $4,500 for murals for the college administration building.

Deke Dance Friday At Lakewood Fenton Band Featured

The spring social season opens next Friday night when the Xi Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon holds its annual spring dance at Lakewood.

The affair promises to be a gala one, with all the enjoyable, typically Deke accessories. The Fenton Brothers, featuring inimitable Buddy Roy as vocalist, will offer the best in swing for the occasion. Their popular band has long been Maine's leading outfit, having been featured for several years at Island Park, Jack-o-Lantern and other favorite dance spots throughout the state.

Barnard Jordan, '40, is the chairman of the hard-working committee which is responsible for the success of the dance. His helpers are Albert Hunter, '39, and John Daggett, '40.

The patrons and patronesses are Professor and Mrs. Ellsworth W. Millett, Professor Alfred K. Chapman, Dr. Mary Marshall, Professor C. Lenhart Carlson, Mrs. Helen L. Webber, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Knauft, Professor and Mrs. Alfred M. McCoy.

German Club Holds Last Meeting; Plans Picnic, Party, Dance

Verein Eulenspiegel, on Monday, May 8, held its last formal meeting of the year. This meeting closed upon the most active and by far, the most successful year in the history of Colby's German club. Credit is due to Mr. Roman, for his very able faculty direction of this organization.

Klaus Dreyer, president, opened the meeting with a brief dissertation of Spring. Following this, the members appropriately sang "Der Mai is gekommen," "Alle Vogel," and other songs. Ice cream followed and finally the last fest of Folk-dances for the year were held.

This coming week-end, many members of the club are leaving for Harvard university, where a meeting of the New England German clubs will take place. Verein Eulenspiegel will enact the play they presented at a previous meeting, "Das Heis Isen." The week-end will include a picnic, dance and party.

On May 20, there will be a picnic out to the Belgrades. The members will either go by bicycle or by car. This will conclude Verein Eulenspiegel's active work for the year.

Louisiana State University has received a gift of 5,000 French books from the French government.

Chi Omega Honors Rachel Crothers

Chi Omega's national achievement award for 1939 went to Miss Rachel Crothers, a playwright, when the presidential family and several cabinet families gathered in the State dining room of the White House to honor Miss Crothers recently. Chi Omega, of which Colby has a chapter, has given a gold medal award each year since 1930 for recognition of outstanding work in the arts, science, politics and public service. Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins has been among the recipients.

Miss Crothers' well polished and witty dramas of life and manners have been applauded by playgoers for a generation.

12 Speakers Vie For $100 In Levine Contest

On next Friday evening, the night that the spring social season starts with the first fraternity dance, students not swing minded will have the privilege of listening to some fine public speaking in the chapel, as the finalists in the Julius Levine Extemporaneous Speaking Contest vie for the $100 prize money.

Lewis Lester Levine, local attorney, donates the prizes every year in memory of his father. The money is divided four ways, $50, $25, $15, and $10 going to the four place winners respectively.

The finalists as named by Dr. Herbert C. Libby of the public speaking department were chosen from 65 students who tried out in the preliminaries and the semi-finals. They are Nathanael M. Guptill, '39, Earle W. Higgins, '39, Wilson C. Piper, '39, Dwight E. Sargent, '39, E. Robert Bruce, '40, Ernest C. Marriner, Jr., '40, Mortimer Lenk, '41, W. Ward

Webber, '41, Linwood E. Palmer, '42, Klaus Dreyer, '40, Florence Carleton, '42, and Marilyn Ireland, '42.

New Colby Will Yield

Bowdoin, and George Otis Smith, long the head of the United States Geological Survey, who introduced Mr. Hoover, were other speakers. President Franklin W. Johnson spoke briefly, paying tribute to the late Carl Gray, trustee who died yesterday.

Sills characterized the small college as "the most distinctly American institution of higher learning that exists."

Colby remarked on the large number of high caliber graduates of the small New England colleges, saying, "There may be better colleges than the small colleges of New England, but if so, they haven't appeared yet."

Governor Barrows tied the Mayflower Hill and Maine Million campaign to the interests of the State,

Professor Lougee Gives Geologists A Banquet

Dr. Richard J. Lougee gave a dinner party for the geology majors last Monday night at his home. The guest speaker, whose name was withheld as a surprise, turned out to be Charles K. Leith of the University of Wisconsin who addressed the group via radio from Washington, D. C. Professor Leith, who has gained world wide distinction for research in economic geology, spoke on the relation of mineral resources of the world to world peace.

Concluding, he said that there is little hope for peace until the "Have" nations realize that the "Have not" nations need an ample supply of mineral resources, if they are to exist. The motion picture, "Geology and Geologists," was shown following a dinner, cooked by Mrs. Lougee which won highest praise from the twelve student guests.

pointing out that the project "will yield high dividends for the coming generation of Maine young people."

The object of this Maine Million campaign is to raise a million dollars from Maine citizens and summer visitors. If the goal is attained within the limit set, said President Johnson last night, Colby will move to Mayflower Hill in 1941.

French Exchange

While abroad, Mr. Sacks, plans to devote his study to the changing European governments, making a special note of French politics and parties. After returning from France, he will further his education in the study of history and governments at an American university.

Colby has been exchanging fellowship students with foreign countries since 1931 with the Institute of International Education. Mr. Philip N. Bither, instructor in German, who is now on leave of absence, was Colby's first exchange student. The following is a list of other past exchange students: Catherine Laugh-ton, '37, (now in France), Iola Chase, '37, Lucille Jones, and Oliver Mellen, '36, Kathryn Herrick, '35, Margaret Salmond, '34, Evelyn Stapleton, '33, Barbara Sherman and Eleanor Rogers, '32. Mr. Sacks being the third man in the list.

Conrad Swift

After another discussion led by Miss Wilcox, the delegates attended the regular morning service at the Friends meeting house. Mr. Murray Branch, co-chairman of the National Intercollegiate Christian Council for 1938, addressed the congregation. After the church service the election of officers was held. The conference adjourned after dinner.

In the course of his address Saturday afternoon, Mr. Deems stated that "Ideology is all right, but we live in a practical world." In defining the essence of Christianity, he quoted the answer of a student to a question on this subject: "It is the absurdity which has never been tried." In the face of such a statement Mr. Deems suggested that the reply might be that "the fact that an ideal gets itself expressed is its victory." Selfishness must begin with the individual. "For ideals to perish and men to live would revert all history."

Stanley H. Rudman

The preliminary speaking, judged by students in the public speaking department, took place in the afternoon, immediately after a lunch at the First Baptist church. At the lunch Klaus Dreyer, '41, and Nathanael Guptill, '39, addressed the high school students on behalf of Colby undergraduates, and then Rev. Harold Metzner gave the principal speech.

After the preliminaries, the students went out to Mayflower Hill to see the new Colby. Upon their return they went again to the First Baptist church.
