Colby's spring social season starts with a bang next Friday night, May 17, when the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity brings Bob Percival to the Lakewood Country Club to play for the first fraternity dance of the semester.

On the following Friday, May 24, the Zeta Psi, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Tau Delta Phi and Phi Delta Theta Fraternities are to have their spring parties. And on the night before Memorial Day Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Delta Rho and Delta Upsilon conclude the formals with their annual dances.

William Tucker is in charge of arrangements for the Lambda Chi affair, assisted by Albert Haynes, Edwin Fisher and Richard Noyes.

The Fenton Brothers Orchestra, popular in Maine summer resorts for several years and acknowledged by many to be the best band in the state, will play Colby another visit on the 24th at the joint dance of the Zetas and Dekes, also at the Lakewood Country Club. Lawrence Fitton, John Morphy, and Richard Dyer are the Zeta Psi committee, while John Kitchen and Raymond Kozen are co-chairmen of the Delta Kappa Epsilon social committee.

Baseball Title At Stake With 2 Series Tilts

The state baseball championship is at stake here at Colby this week when the Mules tangle with Maine on Seaverns Field, Thursday, and with Bates on the Colby diamond Saturday.

Maine has an outside chance for the championship. If the Bears can emerge victors in both of their remaining games with the Mules, the crown will be theirs. Bowdoin is out of the running, with five defeats. Bates stands at the collar door with two victories and four losses.

The scoreboard reads:

	W.	L.
Colby	5	0
Maine	3	2
Bates	2	4
Bowdoin	1	5

GIL PETERS SETS RECORD AT M. I. A. A. ANNUAL MEET; BOWDOIN WINS, COLBY LAST

Bowdoin won the M. I. A. A. annual track meet at Orono last Saturday, May 11, with Colby placing fourth. The score was Bowdoin, 55 1/2; Maine, 38 1/4; Bates, 21; Colby, 20.

The outstanding performances of the meet were two record breaking achievements by Gil Peters of Colby, and Bob Bennett of Maine. Peters placed first in the high jump, setting a new State meet record of 6 feet, 1 5/8 inches. Both Peters and Webster of Bates cleared 6 feet, but when the bar was moved up to record height, Webster failed to make it, while Gil soared over on his second try.

Bennett set a new National Inter-collegiate mark in the hammer throw, tossing the sixteen pounder 182 feet 6 inches.

Besides Peters, other standouts for Colby were Johnny Daggett, Harley Bubar and Blynn Allen. Daggett tied for first place in the pole vault, with Rich of Maine, jumping 12 feet 2 1-8

Oracle To Be Ready Early Next Week

The 1940 issue of the Oracle, the year-book of Colby College, will be ready for distribution early next week, Harley Bubar, editor of the board, recently announced.

This will be the first time for a number of years that the Oracle has been ready on its deadline, and it is to the efficiency of this year's board, Bubar maintained, that the earliness of the issue is due.

The editorial staff of the 1940 Oracle consists of Harley Bubar, editor, Patricia Thomas, the women's editor, Edward Jenison, business manager, Carl MacGraw, managing editor, and candid snapshots are the labor of the photographic editor, Saul Millstein. Professor Warren, registrar, is the faculty adviser of the Oracle Board.

The Oracles will be distributed from the college bookstore at a time to be posted early next week.

Perkins To Send Thirteen Men To Eastern Meet

Colby will send thirteen men to participate in the Eastern Inter-collegiate track meet to be held at Worcester, Mass., Saturday. Coach Cy Perkins announces that he may send a fourteenth man, if only to ward off the bad luck of number 13.

Hoover Goffin and Johnny Fifield will be representing the Mules in the sprints. Pratt and Anderson will handle the hurdle situation. A. Warren will be entered in the 440. Wes MacRae will run in the 880. Johnny Daggett is expected to place in the broad jump, and in the pole vault, where he will have Keith Thompson as a team-mate. Co-captain Levin will be entered in the hammer and discus events, and Co-captain Francis Allen will be entered in the javelin. Vic Lebednik will help Levin on the discus situation and will participate with Helin in the shot put.

Colby should stand their best chance in the weight events. Levin should place in the hammer throw and Lebednik or Helin should place in the shot. Daggett may place in either of his events. Pratt should place in the hurdles. He will meet some of the stiffest competition of the country in Dugger of Tufts, who is the best hurdler in New England.

Colby's champion high jumper, Gil Peters, will not participate as he will be needed at home to help Colby clinch a state baseball championship this week.

President Speaks On Liberal Arts College Purpose

President Franklin W. Johnson was the speaker in all three assemblies, addressing the freshmen May 9, the upperclass women May 13, and the upperclass men May 14, on the subject, "The Meaning of a Liberal Education."

The purpose of the early liberal education, the President pointed out, was to enable the aristocracy to maintain itself. At first there was a distinction between the freshman and the slave, the freeman receiving the education, he said, and following this the so-called gentleman received the liberal education and the workman's training was of a different type. This distinction no longer exists in America, Johnson explained, but it does in several other countries.

President Johnson gave his first definition of a liberal education as "a concern with the meaning of facts and skills, as compared to the vocational education's concern with the uses to which these facts and skills are applied." He compared the limited curriculum of fifty years ago with that of the present day, pointing out the increase in the number of vocational courses offered. To some students, the President stated, these courses are actually vocational training courses, while to others they are merely liberal courses.

President Johnson presented a second definition of a liberal education, its purpose being "to furnish a broad

Deferred Pledging Voted Down By Inter-Frat Council

Deferred pledging of next year's entering class was again rejected for the second time within a year by the Interfraternity Council at a meeting last night at the home of Dean Ernest C. Marriner.

Specific rushing rules for next year, scholarship of the fraternities, and houses on Mayflower Hill also came in for a good deal of consideration in the lengthy three-hour session.

Alpha Tau Omega, Zeta Psi and Phi Delta Theta were the only houses approving the plan, Delta Upsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Tau Delta Phi and Kappa Delta Rho being opposed.

An order defining a regular boarder as one who pays for at least two meals a day for a week was passed by the group as an addition to the specific rushing rules passed at the last meeting. This order is believed

Eleven Women Try For Coburn Prizes

Eleven women participated in the seventeenth annual Coburn Prize Speaking Contest held in the Chapel last night, May 14. Prize winners will be announced on Recognition Day.

Dean Ninetta M. Runnals presided over the contest, the money for which is the gift of Miss Louise Helen Coburn, '77, of Skowhegan. The contest is open only to members of the women's division, and is intended to encourage public speaking among Colby women.

The board of judges consisted of Mrs. Joseph C. Smith, Miss Merce F. Morse, and Miss Pearle R. Fisher.

The program was as follows:

"A Date to Remember," by Muriel Lydia Farnham.

"The Foreigner," by Marilyn Shir-

Students Vote For Outing Club Tax

Last week in their respective assemblies the upperclass men and women and freshmen voted by a large majority for a new financial set-up for the Outing Club.

By a vote of more than three and a half to one they decided to have fifty cents put on each semester's bill for the Outing Club budget.

This new financial backing will enable the Club to expand its program to a large extent. Under this plan each student will be a member of the Club and will have the use of Dunham's Ski Slope with use of tow, skiing instruction, supervision, and Physical Education credit. A ski jump will be built and thus provide facilities for a ski team to represent Colby.

A part of the new fund will be set aside for the construction of a proposed string of cabins and for the financing of trips. Because each student is assessed the price of the Winter Carnival tickets will be reduced and the quality of the orchestras hired will be greater.

The Outing Club is holding a meeting this week to map out reorganization plans for the improved set-up of the Club.

Dreyer, Silverman Named For Oration And Address Respectively; Frank Lillie To Give Delano And Pullen Written Class Prophecy; Brenner And Marriner To Speak At Commencement

Professor George Lyman Kittredge, retired Shakespearean scholar of Harvard University, has been chosen as the Commencement speaker. He will address the graduation audience Monday, June 17.

Professor Kittredge is the author of many books, some of which are: "The Language of Chaucer," "English Witchcraft and James I," "Shakespeare," and "Witchcraft in Old and New England." He graduated from Harvard in 1882 and became a professor of English in 1894, holding this position until 1936 when he retired.

The Senior class will hold Class Day on Saturday, June 15. Conrad Swift has been chosen as Class Marshal and Harley Bubar will deliver the Class Prayer. Klaus I. Dreyer was elected to give the Oration, and the parting address will be given by Mindella Silverman. Ralph Delano and Olive Pullen were elected to write the Class Prophecy, and Frank Lillie will deliver it.

Professor Kittredge is quite a figure in college circles and many stories have been written about him. He has timed his lectures to precision and also leaves the classroom the minute the hour bell sounds. "Kitty" is the nickname given to him by two generations of Harvard students, and his English 22, which requires memorization of great chunks of Shakespeare, is one of Harvard's hardest courses. Professor Kittredge wears pearl-gray homespun suits and wing collars. He possesses the snowiest beard at Harvard and he is widely supposed to keep it so by dippings in bluing. "Kitty" has his special tables in Boston's best restaurants and he stays up during the night devouring the detective stories of J. S. Fletcher.

Among Harvard professors only one is the subject of more stories. Professor Kittredge is a scholar but it is confined chiefly to the classroom where he lectures by the hour on single lines of Shakespeare.

Pursuit of a bothersome detail once took him to Oxford where he was informed: "There is only one man who can tell you that. He is a Harvard professor and his name is Kittredge." When twitted for his lack of Ph. D., he always demands to know: "Who would examine me for it?"

Meticulously Victorian in the drawing room, Professor Kittredge insists upon his rights on the sidewalk. Persons so careless as to walk in front of him sometimes find themselves pushed into the gutter. Almost daily Professor Kittredge throws the traffic

More Explanation Of Changes Would Lessen Undue Criticism . . .

President Johnson's chapel talks served a purpose that should be more served in future college years. That purpose was to inform the students just what is going on in administrative and faculty circles which has a bearing on the student's life.

The President stressed the point that a truly democratic institution is glad to accept the criticism of the students, but he also stressed the point that those who criticize should know what they are talking about.

INFORMATION NOT FREELY AVAILABLE

On this point the President fails to realize that the information regarding certain phases of the college life is not freely available. In fact in one search for information, the editor was frankly told that it was none of his business, in other matters he was told what were presumably facts but which proved later to be but half truths; the information was colored to fit the general scheme for the pro's.

Such information is not conducive to a healthy opposition upon which the theory of democracy is based. Such information leads to a criticism of bad feeling and often to an expression of opinion that must by sometimes unfair generalities infer censure of certain administrative policies.

MAY HARM COLLEGE

In this light a single professor or employee who meets a student's quest for information with the attitude that the student should keep his nose out of that particular matter may do infinite harm to the college by causing that student or his conferees to express undue criticism at a time or in a place where the college may suffer.

Just what is and is not the students' business cannot be clearly expressed or specifically stated, but since nearly every move of the faculty and the administration has a bearing on the student's life, it is safe to say that very few things are not the student's business, and faculty members and other employees who do not wish to discuss certain matters with undergraduates should refer the interlocutor to the president.

Much undue criticism could be eliminated if the president or other officer would appear before the students assembled, as President Johnson did last week, and explain various changes and the reason for these changes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Last fall when we read, "All upperclass students who, in the immediately preceding semester, have secured an average rank of at least 80, computed by averaging the marks of all courses pursued in that semester (except Physical Education) shall have their names placed upon the Dean's List," it seemed a good idea. A good idea because it lowered the Dean's List five points.

Then we read further: "Such students shall be entitled to unlimited absences subject to certain qualification." This we decided was a good idea too, for it raised the average for cuts five points. And although we had had "unlimited," we had to admit that our scholastic ability didn't entitle us to consider attendance at classes an optional activity.

This Dean's List system has been in effect for some time now, and might well be reconsidered. We think it unsuccessful because:

1. It has taken away all honor from those students who have the scholastic ability and the self-discipline to have their names placed upon a Dean's List of an 85 average;

2. Our standards have been lowered in comparison with other colleges, who have retained the 85 average for Dean's List;

3. The 80 average for Dean's List lessens the incentive for many students to do their best work.

We suggest that those who have secured an average rank of at least 80, shall have their names placed upon an Honor Roll. And that these students shall be entitled to unlimited absences from classes. We also suggest that those who have an average rank of at least 85, shall have their names placed on Dean's List.

Sincerely,

We-Never-Made-Dean's-List.

COLBY'S LITERATURE

TO A SOLDIER DYING YOUNG

He rushed wildly in wept despair;
 Caressed the wind and drank the air;
 Silently swore and seethed with hate
 His wretched soul—his lonely fate.

The night stared cold in snowy clime—
 Wild clouds foamed in moon-looming cyme.
 Who cried:

"Oh yearning earth! Oh wind-grieved leaf!
 With tempest's scorn I shared thy grief,
 If we were one like roots that grow
 Beneath the swelling lacy snow
 Ennourishing a mossy bough—
 Would I leave thee?—How could I know?"

"A MAN REMEMBERS"

A man remembers little of the years gone by—
 The bayonet charge—the blood red sky.
 His lips will quiver when his heart embraces:
 The night! The pain. His mother's face!

So soon forgotten—gulped and sipped—
 Those nights of drunken comradeship—
 Only the dark room and the restlessness:
 The rain! The dawn! The loneliness!

Lost are the women he thought he loved,
 Even the sweetest from heaven above—
 Lost in the loveliest dreamed of quest:
 The kiss! The sigh! His wife's fair breast!

All the hardships of work and worry
 Vanish like moonbeams in a snow flurry
 When hopes come true through faithfulness:
 The fear! The cry! His child's caress!

Ideas may change the lives of men;
 Impassion, torment, and hasten them,
 But a man remembers in his reveries:
 His friends! The deaths! His memories!

This Collegiate World (ACP)

Hollywood is having its troubles—and collegeland's exports definitely are of no help in solving them.

When asked to tell movie producers what kind of noise a dinosaur made, they replied they didn't know. The noises are to be used in a screen battle between a tyrannosaurus and a dimenrodon, and when told this fact a University of Texas professor further complicated their problem by replying:

"Since the two animals lived about 100,000,000 years apart, I doubt if they could have heard each other anyway."

Extreme youth is extremely frank—and if you don't believe it listen to this story:

On a recent school vacation day, a group of youngsters listened outside a Syracuse University lecture room while a professor delivered his usual classroom discourse. After listening for some time, one of the boys was overheard to say:

"Holy smokes, how do they stand the junk he's feeding 'em?"

Yes, how do they?

Math Club

The Math Club will meet in the class room of the Alumnae Building on Tuesday, May 21, at 7:30 P. M. it was announced yesterday by Arthur Thompson, president of the club.

Mary Wheeler will address the gathering on the subject, "The Use of Mathematics in Biology."

The meeting will be open to all students; refreshments will be served by the club's entertainment committee.

Friday, May 31, will be a college holiday, it was voted at faculty meeting last Wednesday night in response to a petition presented by the students in general and signed by a large majority of them.

Other faculty action affecting the student body was in response to petitions of the Student Council concerning hour exams. Professor Lester F. Weeks heads a committee appointed by President Franklin W. Johnson to confer with representatives of the Student Council on the details of the proposed systems. Professors Carl J. Weber, Curtis H. Morrow, and Elmer C. Warren are the other committeemen.

President Edwin E. Lake and Vice President Ernest C. Marriner, Jr., will meet with the committee next Friday afternoon and the results of that conference will be made known in the next issue of the ECHO. Whatever action is taken, it will not be, come effective, of course, until next fall.

There will be a meeting of the Senior Class in the chapel at 4:00 P. M., Tuesday, May 21.

There will be a meeting of non-fraternity men of the three lower classes to elect a representative to the student council and to nominate men for class officers in the chapel at 1:00 P. M., Tuesday, May 21.

Nominations for the student council, the athletic council and class officers from the fraternities are due noon Tuesday, May 21, and will not be accepted later than that date. They should be turned in to President Edwin Lake.

There will be an important meeting of Kappa Phi Kappa for the annual election of officers at 7 P. M., Sunday, May 19, in the college chapel.

Camera Club Postpones Exhibits

Due to unavoidable circumstances the annual exhibit of the Camera Club has been postponed to later in the month. The probable date is May 23, but it is not definite yet, President John T. Foster announced last night.

The exhibition will include work by members of the club and interested faculty members. During this last semester the club has been conducting weekly classes and members have been assigned various projects to carry out each week.

Members of the Camera Club have mounted about twenty pictures already and it is expected that in the next week they will finish up many more, so that Colby may expect a really fine exhibition of the type of work this club has been doing.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS

foundation on which to build a full and effective life."

The purposes or aims of the liberal education he listed as three, the first being pre-professional training. The courses offered in a college of Colby's type form a foundation for such fields of work as are considered professional, President Johnson said, emphasizing the increase in a guidance program in so many of the colleges today.

The second purpose he stated as the preparation for the worthy use of leisure time. The last and most recent purpose is the provision for an enlightened social cooperation, he maintained.

President Johnson concluded his presentation of the meaning of a liberal education by pointing out the ways in which the small college was better adapted to fulfill these aims above mentioned. The small college is, he said, a self-contained unit whose purpose is to give a broad, general foundation training; a place where little research or intensive and involved study takes place, as compared to the Universities where much specialized graduate work is done.

The small college is more homogeneous, he asserted, as to age, experience, and interests in life. The small college, too, is usually situated in a small community and often in the country, and this, he said, is definitely an advantage, although a city location is an advantage to the University.

Because small colleges for the most part have been founded by religious groups, they have greatly benefitted over larger schools, the President stated, for religion is the background of the college.

Lastly, the small college recognizes the individual—his differences, abilities and capacities and thereupon tries to prepare and place each individual most satisfactorily, the speaker pointed out, and the individual is less likely to be submerged as might be the case in a huge University. He concluded that the small college greatly facilitates the promotion of a liberal education program.

Dyer-Chase Doubles Team Reaches N. E. Tennis 1-4 Finals

Cappy Dyer and John Chase, Colby's number two doubles team, went farther than any other Blue and Gray representatives when they reached the quarter finals in the New England Tennis Tournament held in Providence the first part of this week. Dyer and Chase defeated Condon and Robie of Springfield 6-3, 6-3 to gain the quarter-finals, but then lost to the crack Harvard team of Dave Burt and Langdon Gilkey in straight sets 6-2, 6-2.

Charlie Lord and Willie Pinansky were eliminated in the second round of the doubles by Steckler and Ehrman of Yale, a duo favored to reach the finals.

In singles Colby fared poorly, all four men being eliminated by the second round. In the first round Dyer bowed to Rodman of Amherst 7-5, 6-3. And in the second round Dave Price of Brown defeated Pinansky 4-6, 6-2, 6-2; Lamarr of Amherst defeated Lord 6-1, 6-4; and Heisler also of Amherst defeated Chase 6-2, 6-0.

Yesterday Gordon Jones and Halsey Frederick, with Bob Talbot as a utility player went to Boston to join the other members of the team for matches with Tufts and New Hampshire.

MULE KICKS

by JOE FRAME

This week is another of those busy ones for Colby athletes. The tennis and golf teams have scheduled out-of-state matches, the track team goes to Worcester, Mass., for the New England this Saturday, and the pennant-bound willow-wielders have a trio of games, against Bowdoin at Brunswick, Wednesday, Maine here Thursday, and Bates here Saturday. The last ball game of the current season is scheduled with Maine at Orono, May 22.

Orono Last Saturday

Did you know that, although the Colby tracksters finished in the cellar for the 12th year in a row, the Mules 20 points was the greatest aggregation of points garnered by a Blue and Gray cinder and field crew for over a decade. . . Bates won third honors by a scant margin of one point. . . Gil Peters, the greatest high-jumper ever to jump for any state of Maine college, shattered the record set last year by Webster of Bates. Webster and Peters had a great duel until the record height was reached, then it was all Peters as he soared over the bar with room to spare. . . Gil is back again next year and it is expected that his present mark of 6 feet 1 5-8 inches will be smashed as this was his first year of competition. . . For the first time in years Colby acquired a first and second in one event. Bubar hurled the javelin over 178 feet for the blue ribbon while co-captain Allen followed with a second place. . . Johnnie Daggett barely missed clearing 12 feet 7 inches which would have meant a new pole vault record. The cross-bar teetered for nearly three seconds before falling off the uprights. . . Colby also placed 15 men in the finals which is something unheard of around Colby track circles. . . Maynard Levin placed 4th in the hammer throw behind the three best performers in collegiate circles. Here Levin made the best heave of his life. . . By the way Bowdoin was a decisive victor for the second successive year in a row. Maine, Bates and Colby followed in this order. And did you know that ever since the state competition was started that Bowdoin has emerged victorious on 26 different occasions; Maine 17 times and Bates once. Colby has yet to win.

Ricker Falls To Colby J. V.'s

Under the skilled hurling of Dick Hayward, the Colby J. V.'s were able to trample the Ricker boys by the song of 4-1.

Dick allowed only one hit and one run. The fifth inning brought the lone run for Ricker when C. Hawkes reached first on a pass and later scored when Hayward threw wild to Loring, the catcher. Cotton was the only Rickerite to get a safe hit.

The J. V.'s opened up in the first, second and eighth to score for the Blue and Gray. The star batters for Colby were Loring and Wescott who were able to get doubles and triples from Gove of Ricker.

Colby's Ambassadors To Visit Bangor, Houlton And Caribou

Colby's much traveled ambassadors at large, Alumni Secretary Cecil Goddard and President Franklin W. Johnson, left this afternoon for Northern Maine for a series of alumni meetings at Bangor, Caribou and Houlton.

Tonight in the Penobscot Exchange Hotel in Bangor about fifty Colby men and women will gather to listen to the President, to Mr. Goddard and to several other speakers including the officers of their own alumni association.

Colby people of Northern Aroostook County from the towns of Presque Isle, Fort Fairfield, Washburn and Caribou will meet on Thursday in the latter community for their annual gathering to hear news direct from the college. About forty are expected at this meeting.

Houlton will be the scene of a similar occasion on Friday. President Johnson and Mr. Goddard plan to spend a day in Danforth visiting alumni and friends of the college before returning to Waterville sometime Sunday.

of Harvard Square into confusion by stepping smartly off the sidewalk, raising his cane and marching straight across the Square. The unfailing Kittredge aplomb was put to its greatest test, when, in pacing up and down his lecture platform, he stumbled off the edge. He picked himself up, observed: "This is the first time I have ever fallen to the level of my audience."

In his classes the professor brooks no coughing, shuffling or other disturbances. At the first noise he will call time out for students "with no nervous control" to cough, sneeze, snuffle, blow noses or leave the room. Afternoons he delights in tramping through the stacks of Widener Library knocking off all feet which he

The Commencement speakers will be Elizabeth Brenner and Ernest C. Marriner, Jr. The nominating committee for class parts consisted of President Edwin Lake, John Foster, Stanley Kimball, Ernest Marriner, Jr., President Helen Brown, Elizabeth Walden and Mindella Silverman.

At the Lakeshore Hotel Phi Delta Theta holds its spring formal with Cecil Hutchinson furnishing the music. Their committee is composed of Francis Thompson, William Barta and Spencer Cobb.

Robert Wit and Herbert Sterns, social committeemen for Tau Delta Phi, have announced that their spring dance will be held at the Waterville Country Club, also on the 24th of this month. Their orchestra will be George Goodie.

For the first time in several years dances will be permitted on the night before Memorial Day, and three houses have taken advantage of this opportunity and have scheduled their dances on that night.

Delta Upsilon is to travel to the Lakewood Inn and will listen to the smooth rhythms of Lloyd Rafnell, long a favorite in Maine, featuring Jane, a charming songstress. Edwin Toolis, Stetson Beal and Clifford Came are the committee in charge.

Kappa Delta Rho will depart from past precedent by going out of its beautiful house this year for the formal dance. The Lakeshore Hotel is the chosen spot and the music is by Watie Akins. William Hughes, Gordon Merrill and Dwight Beal are on the social committee.

Paul Moneghan, the orchestra that has been so popular at the University of Maine this year, is to play for the Alpha Tau Omega dance, the dance committee announced today. Held at the Lakewood Inn, this formal affair promises to be, together with the D. U. and K. D. R. dances, a fitting climax for a gay spring social season. Edgar Martin, David Marshall, and Edward Quarrington form the committee.

to clarify many disputes which have arisen in the past in connection with those houses operating dining clubs which cater to freshmen.

Various ways to improve the scholarship of the fraternities were discussed, the idea seeming to be prevalent that the houses must maintain and even improve their standards, which are consistently above those of the non-fraternity group, if they are to justify a continued existence on Mayflower Hill.

Very great concern was expressed over the wisdom of the reported action of the trustees to compel all houses to pay a sum equal to amortization on a $17,500 mortgage, whether or not the house needed to borrow the money from the college in order to construct its building. It was pointed out that such a decision was futile and did not provide at all for what it was supposed to do—even up the costs of living in the various houses. It was further opined that such an objective was useless and could not be accomplished.

The last hour and a half of the session was devoted to a discussion of the position of houses on the Hill, the details of their construction, the methods of financing such construction, and other pertinent matters.

Dean Marriner entertained the Council at a buffet supper before the meeting, the last of the year. Harley Bubar, undergraduate chairman and chaplain of the Council and of many other organizations as well, offered the closing prayer.
