PRICE TEN CENTS

New Faculty Members Under Consideration For Next College Year

Three Nominated By President Johnson

Because of the vacancies created in several departments by reasons of resignation and leaves of absence, there will be many new faces behind the desks when classes begin next September. The following nominations have been made by President Johnson, subject to confirmation by the Board of Trustees at their meeting on June 13.

Miss Caroline Cole has been nominated for the position of Instructor of Religion to replace Miss Marjorie Faw, who has submitted her resignation. Miss Cole is a graduate of Simmons College, class of 1936. While at Simmons, she was active in all branches of extra-curricular work. She was a member of the Simmons Christian Association, the Musical Club, and was a member of the Academy, the honorary society. She also carried on much church work; teaching Sunday School, advising young people's groups, and other general church activities. Following graduation from Simmons, she did social

No Retrenchment In Colby Policy

Department Budgets And Salaries Will Not Be Cut

President Johnson has announced that the present world and national crisis will not in any way affect the policy of Colby College in the next year. "We are not going to retrench a bit," he declared. There is not going to be any reduction in the number of faculty members, nor in any of their salaries; nor will there be a cut in the maintenance of the college.

Many other colleges and universities are going to cut down on the number of the faculty and on salaries. Columbia, notably, will reduce all department budgets ten per cent.

The annual budget at Colby is $410,000. This will not be substantially changed next year. None of this money has ever been touched for the new college on Mayflower Hill, but is used exclusively for the running expenses of the present institution.

Due to the number of students who will be drafted this summer, there will be a necessary shift in the student body next year. It is expected that twenty-five more women will be admitted, and a new dormitory will be added to the college.

New Edition Of Oracle Sensational Success

Distribution of the 1941 edition of the Colby Oracle began on the afternoon of Monday, May 12th.

The comments which greeted the appearance of this annual catalog of college life were full of approval. Several innovations are responsible for this.

In the new Oracle, title pages of green and cream preface each section. Fraternities and sororities are given double page spreads which include cuts of emblems, organization colors, and motto. Many of the faculty had "outmoded" photographs re-

Leo Yedlin, Noted Gem Expert, To Be Guest Of Geology Dept.

To Give Illustrated Talks During Week Of May 22

Announcement has been made by Professor Lougee that the Geology department is sponsoring next week the appearance before college audiences of Mr. Leo Neil Yedlin, well known expert on minerals and gems. Mr. Yedlin will be the guest of the department on Thursday, May 22nd, and will talk to the Geology 2 class at 10:25 in the Chemistry department lecture room on the subject "Collecting in the Pegmatites from Maine to the Carolinas." He will illustrate his talk with specimens from his private collection which is one of the finest in this state and he will demonstrate the fluorescent properties of minerals with several types of ultra-

Bowdoin Dramatic Club To Produce Plays Here

This year Powder and Wig is sponsoring something entirely new in the field of dramatic presentations. Members of Bowdoin's Masque and Gown are coming to Colby to put on three one-act plays, two of them student written and winners in the One Act Play Contest given at Brunswick this spring, and the third, the Swan Song by Chekhov. The presentation of these plays this year is to be an experiment which, if successful, will be made an annual event and a regular part of the Powder and Wig schedule. Note the bulletin board in the library for the time they are to be given.

Cap And Gown Elects New Members For 1941

Seven Junior Women Chosen For High Honor

Cap and Gown held its annual assembly on May 9, and presented the new members for next year. Membership in Cap and Gown is considered the highest non-scholastic honor which can come to an undergraduate of the women's division. The members are selected on the basis of awareness to life as shown by active support of all college projects, including religious, cultural, social, and athletic advantages; friendliness and the ability to lead people; creditable scholarship; and intensity of personal living.

The new members of the Colby Cap and Gown are: Marjorie Cate, the present head of the Women's Students' League; Helen Henry, who is a transfer from the University of Hawaii this year, and has been very active with the Colby group on Democracy; Carolyn Hopkins, who has been active in the S. C. A.; Ann Jones, who has been secretary of the Students' League for two years; Mary Jones, who has also been active in S. C. A. work; Sue Rose, the present head of the Women's Athletic Association; and Jane Soule, who is vice-president of the S. C. A.

Saturday Club Elects Fourteen New Members

The Saturday club held its sixth meeting for this year at the Elmwood Hotel on the evening of Saturday, May 3. The address following the dinner was given by Dr. C. Lennart Carlson, who spoke on "The Poetry of Archibald MacLeish." At the business meeting which followed, thirteen new members, including nine undergraduates, two members of the faculty, and two honorary members, were elected. The following is the list of new members:

Undergraduates:
Daniel Blattman, Providence, R. I.
Harold J. Bubar, Houlton, Maine.
Robert C. Dennison, South Paris, Maine.

William Hutcheson, Needham, Mass.

Harry L. Levine, Brookline, Mass.

Stanley H. Levine, Stamford, Conn.

C. Frederick Main, Island Falls, Maine.

James R. McCarroll, Ridgewood, N. Y.

Sidney J. Rauch, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Eugene C. Struckhoff, New York, N. Y.

Honorary:
Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin D. Wolman.

Faculty:
Dr. Henry W. Applington.

Dr. Walter C. Wilson

The Saturday Club is perhaps the most recent campus organization. It was established last fall at the request of students in the men's division that there be some means by which they might meet informally with members of the faculty and discuss matters of mutual interest. Ordinarily, the Club meets for dinner at the Elmwood Hotel once a month.

Co-eds Edit ECHO

Once each year the members of the Women's Staff of the ECHO take complete charge of editing this publication. And this is the issue.

At this time the Men's Division sit back and takes life easy as Willetta McGrath acts as Editor-in-Chief; Jane Soule as News Editor; and Betty Anne Royal as Make-Up Editor.

Commencement Plans Begin To Take Form As Graduation Nears

Seniors To Vote For Condon Medal

Dibble And Vinecour Named As Contestants

Norris Dibble and Ada Vinecour received the highest number of votes as contestants for the Condon Medal at a recent senior class meeting. This award, the gift of the late Randall J. Condon, '86, is presented to the member of the senior class who by the vote of his classmates and with the approval of the faculty is considered to be the best college citizen. Last year, for the first time, two medals were awarded: to Harley Bubar and Conrad Swift. The final vote will take place at the senior class meeting to be held next Friday. The winner of this coveted award will not be announced until Recognition Day.

A committee was selected to draw up a slate of class day speakers. The members of the committee are Barbara Partridge, Hannah Putnam, Lloyd Gooch, Herbert Sterns, and James East.

Nat Guptill, Colby, '39 Addresses Forum

Nathanael Guptill, '39, was the speaker at an impressive service on the steps of the Lorimer Chapel last Sunday evening. This marked the last of a series of Forum meetings sponsored by the S. C. A.

In speaking on "A Living Sacrifice," Mr. Guptill inferred that Americans should be willing to sacrifice a great deal for their form of government. Stating that people of the dictator nations were willing to give up even their lives for their cause, he said he believed we should be willing to make as great a sacrifice on behalf of democracy.

Final Contestants Announced In Spring Speaking Tryouts

Echo Staff Banquet Scheduled For May 20

The ECHO staff will hold its banquet at the Elmwood Hotel, Tuesday, May 20, at 6:30 P. M.

The announcement of the new officers of the staff promises to be a sensational climax to the evening. Other highlights of the program include a well known journalist who will act as guest speaker.

The members of the committee who were chosen to select the editor-in-chief, women's editor, managing editor and sports editor will be introduced to the staff at this time.

The new staff will be responsible for publishing the last issue of the year, May 28.

All members of the staff are urged to attend the banquet. The price is $1.00 payable to Elmer Baxter, Darold Hocking or Willetta McGrath before Saturday.

ECHO MEETING

The junior and senior editorial officers, men and women, will meet Friday, May 10, 2:30 P. M. second floor, Chemical Hall, to select the associates and assistants for next year.

Streit, Seasholes, Grace, Fieldbrave To Speak

Once more as June approaches Colby students and faculty begin to hear and see signs of the annual Colby Commencement. And Commencement means the close of another school year—a brilliant and picturesque climax to an educational experience. It will be, this year, as fine as preceding years with many innovations along with the many cherished traditions.

On Friday morning, June 13, the program will take form with a breakfast at the Elmwood Hotel at which the Faculty will entertain the Seniors. This breakfast will provide an opportunity for the Seniors to meet in-

CAMERA CLUB PLANS TRIP TO BAR HARBOR

Plans for the annual Camera Club trip to Bar Harbor have been completed. The program is as follows: On Saturday, May 17, at 1:30 P. M. cars will leave the Alumnae Building for Bar Harbor. On arrival at Bar Harbor supper will be served at the Dow Cottage at 5:30 P. M. A trip to Mt. Cadillac for the sunset is scheduled for 6 P. M. After breakfast at 8 A. M. there will be a climb to Newport Mountain by the Precipice Trail, down to the highway. At 12 noon a picnic lunch will be given at Sandy Beach. From two o'clock until six all those on the trip are free to do as they please. The rocky coast will provide many picture possibilities.

Everyone interested in this trip to Bar Harbor is asked to register with either Saul Millstein or Catherine Fussell. The number is limited to thirty five people. Two dollars and fifty-five cents is the charge payable at the time of departure.

Three Events To Take Place Before The End Of May

In the course of the next two weeks three important public speaking contests will be held.

The Coburn contest open only to the women's division will take place May 20th. The contestants are Barbara M. Skehan, Bernice Knight, Amy Lewis, Diane Farris, Lorraine DesIsles, Barbara Grant, Shirley Ellice, Olivia Elam. This contest is made possible through the gift of Helen Louise Coburn of the class of 1877.

The Hamlin contest is unusual in that prizes of equal amount are awarded in both the men's and women's division. This contest is exclusively for freshmen. The finalists are as follows: Arthur Eaton, Robert Eaton, Elfhim Economu, Edward Cony, John Wood, Harold Vigue, John Roukema, Barbara Baylis, Corinne Jones, Dorothy Holtman, Shirley Ellice, Jane McCarthy, Josephine Pitts, and Leona Plinistod.

The sophomore declamation contest will take place next week and the contestants are: Frederick McAlary, Leonard Osler, Richard Wescott, Alton Stevens, Thomas Farnsworth, Sidney Rauch, Beverly Booth, Harry Hildebrandt and Diane Farris.

MAINE WINS 42nd M. I. A. A. MEET HELD HERE, AS COLBY CLIMBS FROM CINDER CELLAR

Peters, Daggett Win As Mules Score 24 1-3 Pts.

Scoring in every event and sweeping the discs, the University of Maine easily won the 44th annual state track meet last Saturday at Seaverns Field. Held under threatening skies that held the crowd to a disappointing number, the meet provided two new records for the books in the broad jump and high jump. Gil Peters, Colby's baseball captain, set the high jump mark at 6 feet 3 3/4 inches without failing in any of his tries and then was robbed of further glory at 6 feet 4 1/2 inches when the wind blew the fluttering bar from the uprights after Gil was almost to his feet. The new mark was set after the tall star had ridden all night from Burlington, Vermont, following the Vermont-Colby baseball game.

Ray Huling of Bowdoin set a new broad jump record with a leap of 23 feet 2 7/8 inches to break Johnny Daggett's mark by 1/2 inch. He gave promise of such a leap in the trials when he did 22 feet 11 3/4 inches.

The state university was vastly superior to her three rivals in the weight events and carried balance in other events to lead all the way. In the weights five men, Serota, Johnson, Weisman, Dodge, and McLeary scored 26 points in four events to equal Bowdoin's total score. Big Jake Serota scored nine points in three events, and Johnson, Serota, and Weisman swept the discs to lead the Black Bears. Dick Runals gained victories in both hurdles for the afternoon's scoring leadership. Finest races of the day came in the mile and two mile when Martinez and Moody of Maine defeated McLaughlin and Drury of Bates by last moment sprints. The little Bobcat miler led Martinez most of the way, but Dick found a last sprint to win by a yard. Right on their heels came another duel for third place with Captain Jim Doubleday of Bowdoin winning over Estabrook of Maine. In the two mile Dwight Moody passed Drury on the last turn to race home in front.

Colby was a vastly improved team over her past representatives in this meet. Jim Bateman, Shelley Pratt, Johnny Daggett, Captain Keith Thompson, Vic Lebednik, Rex McNamee, and Hal Bubar scored for the Mules to raise them out of the cellar for the first time since 1925, and give them their largest score since that season. Gil Peters was of course the outstanding man of the day, but Johnny Daggett returned to his pole vaulting to win first place and also took second in the broad jump after the same ride with Peters. He tried for the state record in the pole vault after winning the event, but hit the bar on the way down. Bateman scored six points with second in the 440 and third in the 220, while Pratt bent out such runners as Edwards and Tufts for third in the hurdles. With two events to go, Colby, Bates and Bowdoin were all tie for second at 18 points. Then the high jump put Colby 2 1-3 points ahead, only to have Dickinson win the 220 for Bowdoin and take the runner up spot.

Surprise performance of the day was the second in the high jump by Buckley of Bowdoin, who had not competed since Thanksgiving because of injuries. Bates was the disappointment of the afternoon. Big Don Webster was far below par and the two close losses in the distances, coupled with Maine's wins in the hurdles and weights put the cuffs on the Bobcat chances.

The whole program was well run and a big hand should go to the officials and the Colby Department of Athletics for a fine job. The only man that failed was the weatherman, who sent a stiff wind that slowed dashes and cut javelin distances, and cheerless clouds that broke only twice all day.

Versatile Gil Peters breaking his own record by jumping 6 feet 3 3/4 inches here last Saturday

Colby Netmen Take Bates 5-3

Colby defeated Bates in a State Series match here last Friday, 5-3. Colby swept the singles matches, winning all but one encounter, while Bates took both the first and second doubles. Lord, Dyer, Dibble, Burnett and Alexander were victorious for the White Mules. Pisano losing his hard fought match in three sets.

Vermont Trips White Mules 7-3

Rained out of their game at Middlebury on Thursday, Ed Roundy's nine moved on to Burlington and dropped a 7 to 3 decision to Vermont last Friday.

Sophomore Lefty Alberghini held the Mules to five hits while his team collected eleven safeties from three Colby hurlers.

Four hits, a walk, and an error gave the home team four runs in the third. One more in the fifth and two in the eighth accounted for all the Vermont scores. Colby scored twice in the seventh and once in the eighth.

Colby 0 0 0 0 0 2 1 0—3 5 3
Vt. 0 0 4 0 1 0 0 2x—7 11 1
Cross, Blanchard, Downie and Loring; Alberghini and Smith.

Tennis Golf Teams On Four Game Trip

Colby's tennis and golf teams left Sunday for a four day swing through Southern New England.

On Monday, the tennis team played the University of Vermont while the golf team engaged the Green and Gold in an informal golf match. Yesterday, the Mule forces moved to Middlebury where both teams played regular matches with the Vermonters. Today, at Northfield, the Mules oppose Norwich University in another double header.

The courtmen, under Captain Dyer, will carry a much improved team into the Green Mountain state. With Lord as a sure shot in the No. 1 slot, the improvement of Pisano, Dibble and Burnett should balance the squad nicely.

The golf outfit, boasting four strong men should continue their winning streak. Captain Myshrell and Wallace have both shot under 80, and Johnson and Wescott have hung up scores in the low 80's.

NOTICE READING KNOWLEDGE EXAMINATIONS IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

The Reading Knowledge Examinations in French, German, Greek, and Latin will be held on Monday, May 26, at 3 P. M. Students who wish to take these examinations this summer should present themselves promptly at this time as follows:

For FRENCH: MEN in Coburn 32. WOMEN in Champlin 32.
For GERMAN, GREEK, and LATIN: MEN and WOMEN in Chemical 24.

Note: Students who present themselves for these examinations in French and German are expected as a rule, to have taken Course 4 at Colby College or its equivalent.

John L. McCoy,

MULE KICKS

By Dick Reid

Those A. T. O.'s seem to have a mumps complex. Lou Volpe was unable to attend spring practice because of the ailment and now Tee Laliberte will miss the rest of the baseball season with the annoying ailment.

Three games in four days is bad for the baseball team, but the boys are still in the state series. A win this afternoon and some success in the next ten days would bring the pennant to Colby for the second straight season.

The track team should get a hand for their nice performances in the state meet. Coach Perkins certainly has lifted the team out of the doldrums this season with a win over Vermont and a nice third in the state meet. Perhaps if Harry Hildebrandt's bad leg had held up, they might have had second. Next Saturday the team will go to Worcester, Mass., for the Easterns. Gil Peters and Johnny Daggett will be unable to go because of the Maine game, and Harry Hildebrandt is done for the season. Chief hopes are Captain Keith Thompson, who tied for first in the pole vault last year, Shelly Pratt, who had third in the high hurdles, Vic Lebednik, who had fourth in the shot, Hoover Goffin, Jim Bateman, Dick Nickerson, Frank Quincy, Hal Bubar, and Rex McNamee.

Two weeks hence the New England Track Meet will be held at M. I. T. Last season the Mules were unable to get to Springfield, Mass., but the Boston meet is much nearer.

A few sidelights on the state baseball series show that Brad Hunter of Bowdoin has a 3-0 win-loss record to lead the league, while Don Webster, Bates southpaw, leads in strikeouts with 15. Our own Gil Peters, who is leading the league in batting is also ahead in the hit department with nine, although tied with Del Johnson of Bates.

This Johnson boy stepped in nicely to fill the right field post at Bates. That was the chief worry for Coach Mansfield at the start of the season, but Del handles it very well. He, Bud Witty, and Kip Josselyn are the only men hitting for the Garnets. After Josselyn's .352, the next man is Julie Thompson at .211.

The freshman baseball team finally bit the dust at Hebron, 6-1. As the boys said, the prep school team just played better ball. After today's Kents Hill game they will play return games with Winslow, Coburn and Kents Hill next week.

Today's double feature freshman program is only the first, for Friday, Monday, and next Saturday will see three others. The frosh tracksters have a fine bunch of performers, with John Turner breaking a record last week and three others scoring 15 or more points.

After their Vermont journeys the tennis and golf teams will return for the state tournaments next Monday and Tuesday. The golfers will play at Augusta Country Club and the racketmen at Lewiston.

Not much has been said about the interfraternity league this season, but anyone dropping around behind Hedman Hall after supper will see some hard fought and well matched contests. The Dekes seems to be the most likely to win the softball at this stage. The Zetes have had the best support from their house so far. The members gather on the third base line like a cheering section and really go to town.

Frosh Take Ricker For Fourth Straight Win Then Are Defeated By Hebron On Monday, 6-1

Behind the five hit pitching of Don Butcher, the Colby Freshmen defeated Ricker last Friday 10 to 2 on Seaverns Field. This kept the Mulettes string of four consecutive wins intact.

Combining the slants of two Ricker pitchers, Libby and Gray, for 14 hits, Colby started scoring in the fourth with three runs, added three more in the fifth and two in the sixth and seventh.

Strup, Waterhouse, and Puia led the attack with a total of seven hits. Waterhouse knocked out a homer and a single to score three runs, Strup knocked in four with a double and two singles, while Puia got two doubles, one clearing the left field fence. For Ricker, Hall and Gray were outstanding.

Hebron brought the Colby Frosh team down from the heights of four consecutive victories to the depths of defeat when they blasted out a 6 to 1 victory on their own field last Monday.

Stopping Colby's winning streak behind the seven hit pitching of Doherty. Hebron banged out nine lusty hits to the outfield in all disregard for Zecker, who was on the mound for the Mulettes.

While Doherty gave up only seven hits, fanned seven and didn't issue a pass, Spinner Biclitz, and Doherty, himself, banged out two hits apiece to help score one run in the third, another in the fourth and four in the big eighth inning. Colby scored their lone run in the eighth.

Freshman Retreat Held At Outing Club Cabin

The annual retreat of the Freshman cabinet and committees of the Colby S. C. A. was held at the Outing Club camp on Saturday, May 10. Cars left the Alumnae Building at four-thirty, and the group arrived at the camp in time for games before supper. After supper the business session got underway with reports from the various committees. The delegates reviewed the accomplishments of the year 1940-1941 and looked forward to the coming year. It was voted to recommend to the college that a Freshman Camp, under the sponsorship of the S. C. A., be conducted for the incoming class in the fall, so successful has the camp been in the last two years.

Other business involved the decision to elect Freshman executives at Freshman Camp. These will be temporary officers, the final choice to be made by the whole Freshman class after Christmas. It was also voted to continue the Freshman Fireside Group as a Sophomore project. The Freshman cabinet and committee takes this opportunity to express sincere appreciation to Miss Faw for the work she has done for the S. C. A. during the past year.

The retreat closed with a worship service led by the Rev. Clifford Osborne of the Methodist church in Waterville.

Starting at the foundation built last summer and rising to a beautiful two wing brick building, the women's dormitory on Mayflower Hill will take shape this summer. It will house approximately 150 girls and provide dining facilities and social rooms. Its rambling shape, two storied white pillared portico, and the charming colonial entrances give a surprisingly domestic and livable atmosphere to the structure.

The building will really comprise two separate residence halls. Each wing will have its own entrance, dining hall, living and recreational rooms and administration. One kitchen, however, is situated so as to serve both dining halls.

Each floor will have its own lounge and each its utility room while in either wing there will be a spacious lounge.

The individual rooms have been planned for comfort, attractiveness, and economy of space. The infirmary is a small separate wing with its own outside entrance for the public. It will accommodate twelve beds and be adequately equipped for handling all minor illness or injuries.

With provision made for the housing of Colby women, an end is in sight, and Mayflower Hill marches on.

W. A. A. NEWS

It's a deep dark secret right now but the W. A. A. Banquet is going to hold a store of surprises for all attending. Thursday night, May 15, is a night that not one girl should miss. The dinner will be super special and the program will be a novelty as has never been presented in the Foss Hall dining room before. The committee has worked hard to put over a show that promises to be the best yet. Town girls are invited to attend at the regular admission price for guests at Foss Hall.

Inter-sorority softball tournaments will begin this week and all should be out to cheer their team in victory. The annual Field Day is scheduled to be held on May 27, 1941.

SORORITY NEWS

Betty Anne Royal will attend the Fireside Convention of Chi Omega this June. The convention is being held in Bedford, Pennsylvania and is a training course for officers.

The pledges of Delta Delta Delta gave a "Pansy Breakfast" for the senior members on Mother's Day, May 11th, at 9:00 in the Alumnae Building. A skit was presented by the pledges.

Alpha Delta Pi held a picnic at the Outing Club camp last week. The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Thomas Griffiths. The committee in charge consisted of Pauline Lander, Ethel Paradis, and Winnifred Odlin.

Catherine Clark was initiated into Alpha Delta Pi sorority, Wednesday evening, May 7, 1941.

Constance Averill, '39, and Margaret Ann Whelan, '39, were guests of Phi Mu sorority over the weekend.

Geology Trip To Bar Harbor Is Success

Completing a week-end trip of 350 miles of driving, the sixteen geology excursionists to Bar Harbor returned to the campus early Sunday evening with glowing accounts of their experiences. Despite intermittent showers on Friday evening and Saturday, visits were made to all the places of interest on the itinerary. Such scenic features as Cadillac Mountain, Soms Sound, and Beech Cliffs had to await the arrival of clear sunny weather on Sunday.

Friday evening, after the four auto loads of students led by Professor Lougee and Miss Bunker had been settled at the Y. W. C. A., they were guests of Dr. George Snell of the Jackson Cancer Research Laboratory. Here they were treated to movies and demonstrations of the work being done by the laboratory with 55,000 m cc. Saturday was spent investigating shore features including The Ovens and Anemone Cave, and a picnic lunch was enjoyed at Otter Cliffs. Movies were the chief attraction that evening. Sunday morning found the party ascending Cadillac Mountain. Later, while visiting Sandy Beach all members of the group cooperated in using their bare hands to dig a canal across the beach to let out the pond water behind it. The excursion concluded with a picnic at the top of the 400-foot cliff overlooking Echo lake.

Those students taking part in the excursion were: Priscilla Moldenke, Sarah Martin, Martha Rogers, Margaret Starr Frances Brower, Erlolyn Bacon, Barbara Baylis, Alton Stevens, Nicholas Gregorio, Jack Wiloff, Hubert Beckwith, Fred Wood, Harold Costly, and Bill Hutcheson.

Churchill's "Blood, Sweat, and Tears"

By EMANUEL K. FRUCHT

This new collection of the speeches and remarks of Prime Minister Churchill is a magnificent tribute to a man and a nation. It is a tribute to the far-sightedness and courage of Mr. Churchill, and it also serves as a great tribute to a nation which is so fortunate in having as its leader a man who so eloquently symbolizes the determination of that small island to resist to the end. This determination is expressed in some of the greatest speeches that have been delivered in this century, speeches which are strong, forthright, direct—and above all, honest—to those millions in his native land who have put their faith in him, and to the millions of us in the United States who look upon him as the one person who can insure us that, given the tools, the job will be finished—and finished successfully.

After the Munich-Agreement, Churchill told the House of Commons that England could never be friends with a "power which spurns Christian ethics, which cheers its onward course by barbarous paganism, which vaunts the spirit of aggression and conquest, which derives strength and perverted pleasure from persecution, and uses, as we have seen, with pitiless brutality the threat of murderous force." Not only could England not be friendly with that power, but it could not, and will not, as long as Churchill remains in office, think of making a negotiated peace with Germany.

It was a heart-broken Winston Churchill who spoke to the French people during October, 1940. Here he was, the prime minister of Britain, addressing himself to a nation which had been allied to his country and was now overrun with Nazi spies and secret agents in the supposedly unoccupied region. Speaking in the native language of his former ally in battle, which was still allied in spirit, he told these millions that "we shall never stop, never weary, and never give in, and that our whole people and Empire have vowed themselves to the task of cleansing Europe from the Nazi pestilence and saving the world from the new Dark Ages. Good night, then: sleep to gather strength for the morning. For the morning will come. Brightly will it shine on the brave and true, kindly upon all who suffer for the cause, glorious upon the tombs of heroes. Thus will shine the dawn. Vive la France." What a magnificent tribute to the people, not the leaders, of a nation bowed in defeat. May it prove more than a tribute of words, and replace words with deeds, action and ultimate victory.

When England was in mortal peril of invasion last June, Prime Minister Churchill dramatically told the people of that island that it was necessary to "brace ourselves to our duties, and so bear ourselves that, if the British Empire and its Commonwealth last for a thousand years, men will say, 'This was their finest hour.'" America has the power and the means of seeing to it that, sometime in the future, which we hope will not be too far distant, that there will be another "finest hour" which will long be remembered—the hour of victory. We stand ready, willing and united; we cannot lose, determined as we are to persevere, at any cost, to insure a "victory won not only for our own time, but for the long and better days that are to come."

Hal Polis Plays At Women's Assembly

Women's assembly on Monday, May 12, was entertained by Harold Polis at the piano.

Mr. Polis, who is the accompanist for the Glee Club, played several of the selections that he played at the Glee Club concert, and several others as well.

The program consisted of: Chopin's Nocturno in E Minor, Chopin's Fantasia Impromptu in C Minor, Hojz-sor's Dancer in the Patio and von Weber's Invitation to the Dance.

A Tribute To Bill Cunningham...

In the May 11 issue of the Boston Herald appeared an article by Bill Cunningham, the noted columnist, which doubtlessly was read by all Colby students, the Alumni, and their friends. It was a tribute in itself to the untiring efforts of Colby's own President Johnson. Cunningham has given praise where praise is due. He has given added vitality to a subject of which many closer to Colby than he have often lost sight.

The article was entitled "New Colby Tribute to Courage and Faith." Cunningham seems to have caught the essence of the complete thought behind the Mayflower adventure. And in this article can be seen the complete progression of the project. It is a perceptive and a significant article, which includes in it all of the trials which the administration has had to encounter in tackling this new project.

The article is lively and filled with many ideas, some of which were brought to the members of the student body for the first time. Those who thought themselves thoroughly versed in the subject, read from an outsider words which they were never aware existed. The most important of which were the words that in 1929 was "forced to move or die." Many became aware of this fact for the first time.

Everyone realizes that the Boston Herald has an enormous circulation. Colby is now conscious that thousands of persons who had formerly thought of Colby as "that school down east beside the tracks" have had it brought to their attention that it will not long remain in that category. The article was a tribute to the spirit of Colby as a whole. It showed that outsiders do not regard this college as the "imperfect institution."

And as a tribute to Bill Cunningham may it be said—you have done a great service to Colby College by reading into their supreme enterprise that which those interested in it feel: "the unflinching Yankee Spirit translated into the terms of an educational crisis."

Stay For Commencement...

Year after year at Commencement time many seniors are heard to remark, "I wish I had stayed through to see some previous Colby Commencements." Commencement at Colby is a week-end which should be enjoyed by the underclass men and women, as well as by the seniors and alumni.

In the first place, the college takes great care in selecting excellent outside speakers, both for the Commencement program and for the Baccalaureate Service on Sunday. This year it will be worth the while of every underclassman to stay the extra few days to hear Clarence Streit. The senior speakers, too, are well chosen, and their subjects are of vital interest. The ceremony of Commencement itself, with the impressive academic procession, the awarding of diplomas and honorary degrees, is an experience thrilling to witness. Class Day with its program divided between the serious and the humorous, should not be overlooked by underclassmen. The Commencement play, which promises to be a great success this year, should be enjoyed by as many as can possibly stay.

Commencement is a time when alumni return to Colby from all parts of the country. Of course they are interested in becoming acquainted with as many of the present Colby students as is possible. Moreover, Fraternity and Sorority alumni are always interested to see the personnel of their respective chapters. It is a great disappointment to them to find that the greater portion of the student body has already left the campus. Moreover, it is a pleasant and broadening experience for each underclassman to meet those who have graduated from Colby in years past. Friendships thus founded help to bind more closely the whole Colby "family."

Dormitories are still open, and meals are still being served during this last important week-end. So it is urged that the Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors stay to share in these events which will, in this way be made the more vivid to them when the time comes for active participation in their own Commencement.

To the Editor:

The following is a list of reasons for exemption of seniors from final examinations in courses in which they have an average of 85% or over. This list has been drawn up and presented to individual faculty members by the student committee working on this matter..

Members of the faculty:

We of the Senior Class believe that exemption from courses graded 85% or better will result in:

1. Raising standard of Senior Class in stimulating those below 85% to do better.
2. Preventing Seniors from "Coasting" through provision of this incentive.
3. Proving the impossibility of review and organization Seniors get if they have to prepare for five examinations in as many days or less.
4. Allowing Seniors to spend extra time on those courses demanding more intensive study.
5. Providing a set standard for the exemption instead of causing some Seniors to have two examinations and others five.
6. Raising the standard of daily work thus decreasing the amount of cramming.

Suggestions for examinations:

1. Comprehensive examinations in major courses and exemptions from other courses in which Seniors stand 85% or better.
2. Summation and organization of semester's work the last week of classes.
3. Elimination of minor identifications, minor spot passages, and minor details from final examinations.
4. Elimination of newly assigned material to be done during the reading period.
5. A definite reading period of three days before mid-years and finals.
6. Careful organization of courses by professors so that the work will not fall too heavily during the closing week of the semester.
7. Better distribution of Senior examinations.

To the Editor:

Quietly and with little fanfare the 1941 Oracle arrived at the Campus Bookstore. What a pleasant surprise! In place of the anemic, underfed issue of past years—we were presented with a valuable document of our year's efforts and achievements. It's a "memorabilia" which we will be proud to place on our bookshelves for public appraisal. Its exterior, in itself, is a high point of the volume. It is a radically new style for Colby with its padded leather cover and its well constructed emblem symbolic of Colby's new lease on life. The pages are of a new texture and are carefully printed and engraved by a company long acclaimed for its skill. The photographs are clear and it is actually possible to identify the subjects (an undertaking which in past years, strained the eyes and the credulity).

Let us then give due credit and acclaim to the two students whose painstaking work leaves little to be desired in the Oracle of 1941. Congratulations, Billie and Eddie. You have set an inspiring goal for our future periodicals to attain.

Parade Of Opinion

PARADE OF OPINION

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

1961, A. D. It is quite quiet now, this early in the morning. A few brazen little birds are piping thinly. Those old bricks? Yes, they were probably a building once. University buildings? Most probably. There's no one now who quite remembers. . .

The quiet grey moss inches its way through the mortar and plans gradually to engulf the area. Nearby stands the shattered stump of an old fir tree. The atmosphere is eating away its fibers.

Were there lots of buildings then? Were there lawns and walks and roses in the sunshine? See, here is a bit of an old cement pathway. It crumbles if you step on it.

There is a certain softness about the day yet. The mists are lifting, the air is cooling to the cheek. But everywhere it is so quiet.

Were there many people here then? Didn't they laugh and talk to one another? Didn't they care about the lovely old buildings?

The water in the mill stream chortles as you slap it with a little stone. It is muddy green and flows passively on its way. It is used to being left alone. There are no boats floating on its back.

Why aren't there any boats? What happened to all the people and buildings? Why did they simply leave? Didn't they have any air raid shelters at all?

The sun is coming out now. Listen, the little birds are singing louder.—P. E. in the Oregon Daily Emerald

MEET THE FACULTY

Colby's top man of science, Dr. William T. Bovie, has furnished his mind as he has his house: both are collections.

Once each week a short-dozen of uppergraduates from Colby come to his house for a Social Technology lecture. If they are deeply interested in the physical sciences they come with anticipation, stay with fascination, and leave with regret. And the more often they study with Dr. Bovie the more certain they are that they have but scratched the surface of his knowledge.

The Doctor is a ponderous florid bespectacled man of average height. He sits in the center of one side of his mammoth "study table" and speaks as the Voice of Science, which he really is, to his class. His voice and motions are unhurried, deliberate. His every action is purposeful to save movement. He speaks in these lectures exactly as if he were reading a bed-time story to a child, handling the most complicated subject matter with ease and finesse. Science is at once his child and his plaything.

After his formal lecture there are usually refreshments with an informal discussion. Frequently in the course of this, the Doctor will say, "I have a book upstairs and . . ." You wonder for a moment that he can reinforce his observations on almost any everyday topic with a published opinion. But wonder ceases when you think of his shelves of filing cards covering hundreds of references, in fact, almost everything he has read.

The periods of silence which punctuate these discussions indicate the deference which Dr. Bovie's amazing knowledge has earned him. He accepts it as his due.

He is almost painfully abundant with detail. Bring up any subject, Indians, Chinese restaurants, or soy beans, and he embarks on a minute, personalized account. He is almost childishly amused by many things, and when he approaches a humorous point in his story, his ample jowls wrinkle in amusement.

He is entirely wrapt up in his subject of the moment: he may pause in his dining-table account and be interrupted by his wife or indispensable assistant. Their concerns over, he methodically recommences his original line of thought.

His assistant, who is simply "Mentionette," is any busy man's Ideal. She seems to have the Doctor's ever necessary references, tools, and implements at her finger tips; and she is constantly typing, filing, searching for a reference, and making or projecting slides.

Dr. Bovie's loaded bookcases have even overflowed into the kitchen of his house. He has collected, among other things, three ancient music boxes; and he has at least one clock in every room. Chrome ash trays stand by near-antique furniture. And everywhere there are books. You can find THE TROUBLED MIND, A BOOK OF MANNERS, LOVE, FUN WITH A FLUTE, COLLOID SYMPOSIUM MONOGRAPH, and FERDINAND THE BULL among them.

Since the beginning of the present century, Dr. Bovie has been engaged in advanced learning. Between earning his degrees (B.A. Michigan '05; M. A. Missouri '10; Ph. D. Harvard '14) he spent time teaching in the midwest. Just before the end of the World War I he joined an expedition from Harvard which was in South America studying tropical diseases.

His study and research have continued ever since. And it has been a productive research. All mankind has benefited from the electrical surgeon's knife, which he developed with the late Harvey Cushing; all mankind may benefit from microfilm technique, which he uses, of taking pictures of the printed page, thus reducing the size of a large library to a few feet.

These things, and many more, make understandable his possession of the John Scott Medal, which in 1930 went to Thomas A. Edison.

CANVASSING THE CAMPUS

By PERLEY LEIGHTON

Colby Bookstore taken by storm! The much awaited Oracles have arrived at last. A tribute to the excellent photography on the Colby architecture. I'm sure Gherin could make a model T Ford look like a Lincoln Zephyr. And those senior glamour gals must be hiding their lights under a bushel, or rather—under a kerchief. But somebody should have thought to put the draft numbers under the pictures of each senior man and the Rogue's Gallery would have been perfect.

By the way, the commotion in Recitation Hall Saturday morning was not a Blitzkrieg, but Dr. Wilson on the outside and the marketing class on the inside and a locked door between.

A few weeks ago a questionnaire was presented to all students regarding class room attitude toward "cribbing" on daily work and exams. Results have never been published and we have heard no more about it. Certainly the committee who did so much work on such an interesting and worthwhile project cannot have given it up as a lost cause.

You know, athletes really aren't as dumb as they're cracked up to be. One sophomore letter man gave us a clever exhibition last week when he dashed into class ahead of the professor, removed his chair from the front row, carefully rearranged the surrounding chairs so that no space was apparent and blithely went out into the spring sunshine. We're still wondering what's going to happen the morning "Wilkie" walks in and finds all the chairs gone.

I suppose by now you've all read the exam schedule. Don't let it get you down. Nobody really should worry about them, you know. Those who have studied all semester are all set; and as for those of us who haven't—well, it's too late now. But now I'm philosophizing and that's Perley Leighton's field so I'll leave you with a suggestion from Dorothy Parker—

"So I'm thinking of throwing the battle,
Would you kindly direct me to 'Hell?'"

Official Schedule Of Final Examinations

June 2 - June 11, 1941

Examinations which are starred will be conducted in the rooms regularly occupied for class meeting during the semester.

Students with examination conflicts must notify the registrar so that adjustments may be arranged.

No examinations will be conducted in the following courses: Chem. 16;

Econ. 12; Educ. 2, 6; Eng. 24; German 20; Math. 02, 6; Phil. 6; Physics 12; Psych. 4, 10; Pub. Spk. 10; Soc. Tech.; Social 8.

The following examinations will be scheduled by the instructor to meet the convenience of students and professor: Biol. 14; Bus. Ad. 4; Chem. 18; Eng. 6, 10, 28; French 20; German 26; Greek 2, 4; Latin 2, 8, 10; Math. 10, 14, 22; Music 4; Physics 10, 14; Psych. 6; Religion 6.

Changes in these examination regulations may be made by the registrar, only; notices of any changes will be posted on the bulletin board at No. 26 Chemical Hall.

Outing Club Plans To Climb Katahdin

Plans for the Mt. Katahdin trip were also made. Students will leave Waterville at noon, Saturday, May 24th. Saturday night they will stay at the Dudley Cabins. Sunday, the party will hike to the summit and go down on the other side and come home by way of Moosehead Lake. The group is limited to twenty people and the cost is $1.50. For further information see Don LaGassey or Dorothy Holtman.

Sunday, May 11, a group of students drove or bicycled out to the Outing Club on Great Pond. After a general clean-up of the lodge kitchen and the grounds, members cooked their lunch outdoors. The party returned that evening.

work in Boston, Roxbury and Providence. At Roxbury, she was assistant to the pastor of a Lutheran church. She has spent four summers at a social welfare camp in Eliot, Maine, in addition to her social work in the cities. At present, Miss Cole is attending the Yale Divinity School, and continuing her church and social work.

Nominated to replace Professor Isaac J. Schoenberg in the Mathematics department is Mr. Alan Stuart Galbraith. Mr. Galbraith is not unknown at Colby as he was instructor of mathematics here for three years, beginning in September, 1933. He pursued his undergraduate studies at the University of Alberta, graduating in 1928. In 1930 he received his Master's Degree from Harvard, remaining there as an instructor until his appointment to the Colby faculty in 1933. In 1936 Mr. Galbraith returned to Harvard, and in the fall of 1938, was appointed an instructor at the University of Rochester, from which institution he comes to Colby.

The vacancy in the history department created by the granting of a year's leave of absence to Mr. Francis Prescott may be filled by Mr. Paul Fallon. Mr. Fallon has done graduate work at Harvard and has had considerable teaching experience in private boys' schools. If appointed, he will instruct in some of Professor Griffith's courses the first semester, and after Professor Griffith's return in January, will offer the course in International Relations which will be taught by Dr. Palmer during the first semester.

Colby Alumnae Group To Sponsor French Film

Colby students will be pleased to learn that the much discussed French film "The Baker's Wife" will be presented at the State Theater on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 20 and 21.

This film comes to the State at the price of thirty-nine cents for both matinee and evening performance. Tickets will be on sale in the women's dormitories or they may be obtained from Mrs. Harold Clark, 30 Pleasant street. The names of the women students in charge of tickets will be posted on the Foss Hall Bulletin Board in a very short time. Hannah Putnam is the Foss Hall representative.

This film won the award as the best foreign film of the year. It is termed a brilliant, satirical comedy, and is a film labelled by Dorothy Thompson as a "love story with humane reality." The film does contain English titles in order that the movie can be understood more easily.

The film is being presented under the auspices of the Waterville Alumnae Association.

Townpeople in charge of tickets are Mary Crowley LaFleur and Evelyn Short Merrill.

violet lights and electric arcs. In the evening Mr. Yedlin will address a college audience in the Chemistry lecture room, speaking on "The Lore and Legends of Gems and Minerals." This lecture will be open to the public, and will offer the opportunity to see an exceptional assortment of precious and semi-precious minerals. The fluorescent lamps will also be demonstrated at this lecture. Further details about Mr. Yedlin's visit will appear in the next issue of the ECHO.

COMMENCEMENT PLANS

formally with their professors and advisers, and provide a time for them to be together.

Also on Friday is held the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of the college. At this time important decisions are made by the board concerning the college, and new faculty members are voted upon.

On Friday afternoon the first performance of the Commencement play, "Kind Lady," written by Edward Chodorov will be presented in the opera house. Tickets to this event are free and should be obtained early. A second performance of this play will occur on Saturday afternoon.

On Friday evening the President's Reception is held in the Alumnae Building. At this time all Seniors have an opportunity to introduce their families and friends to the faculty and alumni. Everyone is invited to attend. At nine o'clock the floor will be cleared and the Commencement Ball will continue until twelve o'clock.

Saturday's events are started rolling by the annual Phi Beta Kappa breakfast which will be held at the Elmwood Hotel at eight o'clock.

Saturday's main distinction, is however, that of being class day. The colorful Senior exercises will take place on the back campus on Saturday morning. At this time all of the graduating class, robed in caps and gowns, will hear their futures prophesied, their wills read, and their class orators speak. The guest speaker on this occasion will be Mr. Thomas T. Grace, class of '21, who is at present the Director of the Federal Housing Administration of New York State.

Saturday noon will find the Alumnae in the Alumnae Building and the Alumni in the men's gymnasium for their respective luncheons. Each of these groups will have its own program and speakers. The presiding officer for the women will be Mrs. Florence Carl Jones of Bangor who is president of the Alumnae Council.

Dr. Cecil W. Clark, '05 and chairman of the Alumni Council, will preside at the men's luncheon. Other speakers will include President Johnson, Dr. Edward B. Mathews, class of 1891, and Judge Cyril M. Joly, class of 1916.

On Saturday afternoon the play, "Kind Lady," will be produced for the second time in the City Opera House.

The various class reunions will be held on Saturday evening at different spots in Waterville. Classes from 1881 to 1936 will be represented in this gala home-coming event.

The Baccalaureate Sermon will be delivered on Sunday morning, June 15, at the First Baptist Church. This sermon will be delivered by the Reverend Mr. Charles L. Seasholes of Dayton, Ohio.

The Baccalaureate does not conclude the Sunday activities. On Sunday noon the fraternities and sororities will hold their separate reunions. Luncheons will be provided by these groups for their returning alumni as well as their active members.

On Sunday afternoon President and Mrs. Johnson will be at home to receive the Seniors and their friends. Alumni are also invited to this tea at the President's residence.

At five-thirty on Sunday one of the most impressive events will occur: the laying of the cornerstone of the new women's dormitory on Mayflower Hill which will take form this summer. Appropriate ceremonies will be held at this time to celebrate this momentous occasion. Following the laying of the cornerstone the annual picnic will be held on Mayflower Hill. This is one of the more informal events of the weekend and provides much revelry and enjoyment.

On Sunday evening an old tradition of Colby will be carried out in the Boardman Missionary Sermon which will be given in the college chapel. Every year some Colby missionary is asked to return and speak at this occasion. This year Colby is fortunate to have as its Boardman speaker Mr. Theodore Fieldbrave, class of 1916, who is a Hindu Baptist preacher and missionary to the Orient of the Pacific coast. Although Mr. Fieldbrave was born in Northern India he came to the United States to receive his education. He promises to be very interesting as well as entertaining. He is, himself a picturesque East Indian.

On Monday morning the climax to a glorious weekend approaches. An academic procession led by the 25 year class honorary marshal, Frank C. Foster, Ph.D., '16. Here, by the Kennebec River, the Commencement exercises are held. Although the undergraduate speakers have not been named as yet, the Commencement speaker is known to be Mr. Clarence Streit, author of that much discussed book, "Union Now."

The awaited hour has arrived when on Monday morning each member of the graduating class receives his diploma. This small gesture of receiving a small parchment is the triumph of four years of living and learning together. It is, to the students themselves, the crowning point of the entire four year period.

After the awards have been presented, the honorary degrees, ten or twelve in number, will be awarded to those persons who have achieved marked distinction in some field of activity. Thus will close the one hundred and twentieth Commencement of Colby College, one which, according to present plans should surpass all other events of the academic year.

placed especially for this year's Oracle. The editor stated however, that one of the book's future goals would be up-to-date pictures for all members of the faculty.

The distinctive cover of the Oracle makes use of a raised copy of the Colby seal on a light blue background replacing the usual title of the book.

After dinner an address is usually delivered by a guest speaker.

The charter members of the group include William Finkeldey, James J. Foster, Emanuel K. Frucht, Raymond F. Kozen, Charles A. Lord, Harold C. Paul, and Maurice Rimpo from among the students, and Professors Walter N. Breckenridge, C. Lennart Carlson, Alfred K. Chapman, Mary H. Marshall, Norman D. Palmer, Iso J. Schoenberg, and Gordon W. Smith from the faculty.

Among the guest speakers who have addressed the group this year are Mr. H. B. Collamore, Captain John Wheatley of the British Secret Service, and Dr. Frederick T. Hill.

The final meeting of the year is planned for May 30, at which time the newly elected members will be received into the Club.
