

Three-Day S.C.A. Fraternity Embassy Begins Monday, Outstanding Leaders

Varied Program Planned; Non-Frats Have Group

Under the sponsorship of the S. C. A., Colby's annual fraternity embassy will take place early next week. February 16-18. Monday morning the various leaders will arrive on campus for the Embassy, the theme of which will be Preserving Our Liberties, and the next two and a half days will be occupied with discussions and various activities. James Kavanaugh is the student chairman, and the following men will represent Colby's fraternities:

Harold Paul, D. K. E.; Addison Steeves, D. U.; James Kavanaugh, P. D. T.; Milton Hamilt, T. D. P.; Ronald Reed, L. C. A.; William Blake, Z. P.; Linwood Palmer, K. D. R.; Philip Wyssor, A. T. O.; and Gilbert Potts for the Non-fraternity group.

The leaders for this year's conference will be:

D. K. E., Dr. Mervin Deems, Bangor Theological Seminary, Bangor, Me.

Colby Keeps In Touch With Students In Service

Student Cooperation Sought In Sending ECHO, News Letters

Just before Christmas vacation a committee was appointed to contact the Colby men in service. This committee has drawn up several plans which need the support of every one of you.

First of all, we have planned to send a copy of the ECHO every week to each of Colby's men in service. You can imagine what an added expense it would be to print the extra 200 copies necessary for this plan. Please save all your ECHOS when you are through with them and leave them with Barbara E. Grant or any of the committee which will be collecting them.

Several of the girls are also writing personal letters to be inserted with a news letter which we are sending out every two weeks. A word about these personal letters—the subjects are yours to choose from. Make them friendly, certainly, but tell about Colby. The contact that we have with these men is Colby, they are just as much a part of this college as you are. They want to know what Colby is doing, they don't care whether your roommate is in the infirmary or not! They don't have to be long, drawn out letters. A few, short, well-worded paragraphs are enough. Get your addresses and let's see what you can do towards sending Colby's greetings to these fellows.

Let's show the boys that their Alma Mater is right behind them.

Student Government Election Results Out

Marguerite Broderson was elected as Freshman representative to the Women's Student League in an election held on Thursday, Feb. 5.

The following were elected as house chairmen of the various dormitories: Foss Hall, Estelle Gallupe; Dunn House, Evelyn Gates; Mary Low Hall, Muriel McLellan; Alden House, Jane McCarthy; Mower House, Josephine Pitts; Dutton House, Sarah Martin; Foster House, Rossa Flawelling; Bontello House, Gertrude Szadziwicz.

Colby Loses Fourteen Students To Services

Zeta Psi, LCA Hardest Hit While Deferments To June Aid Many

Despite the rumors and conjectures permeating the campus the casualty list of war bound students among the fraternities is not so high as at first it appeared to be, the deciding factor for "our boys" being the deferments until June.

The Zetas and the Lambda Chi's suffered the greatest loss, with the latter losing six and the former, five. Among the Lambda Chi's, Dick Hall is to leave by Wednesday for the Army Medical Corps, Bob LaFleur and Howard Rowell have gone to the Army Air Corps, Si Perkins to the Marines, Alex Anton to the Merchant Marine, and Hal Seaman to the Army Signal Corps.

On considering the remainder of the fraternities, the number of trainees will be seen to be very low,

COLBY AT THE MIKE

Colby at the Microphone is in great need of a men's news caster, a women's news caster and a technician. All students interested in applying for the positions should see Oliver Millett, director of the program, Thursday afternoon at 3:30 P. M., in the Social Room of the Alumnae Building.

DRAFT REGISTRATION

Men students who must register for the next draft may do so in the Alumnae Building classroom, Monday, February 16, between the hours of 7 A. M. and 9 P. M.

Elmer C. Warren,
Registrar.

Mrs. Jennie Keyes Bequeaths Money

Sum Is Deemed Enough For Chemistry Building

A bequest to Colby College providing for the erection of a science building on Mayflower Hill was made public today with the filing of the will of the late Mrs. Jennie C. Keyes of Fairfield.

Mrs. Keyes was the widow of the inventor and industrialist, Martin Keyes, who founded the Keyes Fiber Company of Fairfield, makers of molded pulp products.

According to President Johnson, the exact amount of money coming to Colby from this legacy will not be known for some time, but it is believed to be sufficient to fulfill the wish of Mrs. Keyes to give the chemistry building, thus memorializing the scientific interests of her husband.

The building to be erected is the middle of the row of three science buildings on the right hand side of the terraces in front of the Miller Library. Until the other two can be built, this one will house the laboratories of the other science departments as well as chemistry.

This will be the eighth and last of the group of buildings which constitute the minimum number with which the college can operate on Mayflower Hill. Unfortunately, however, now that the funds are in sight, there is little likelihood that the buildings can all be finished and equipped until after the war. However, the Building Committee will soon meet and decide whether or not to erect the shell of the new science building next summer.

Senior Privileges Released By Women's Student League

On Thursday, February 5, Women's Student League framed the following senior privileges, which were voted into effect by the senior women on Friday, Feb. 6, for the duration of the second semester:

1. Senior women may, without special permission, be out until:
11:00, any night.
11:30, Thursday night.
12:00, Saturday night.
2. Senior women may, by signing on the special sheet—as well as in the signing-out book—go to the second show of the movie any night in addition to the above privileges.
3. If further late admissions are necessary, seniors may feel quite free to speak to Miss Runnals or Miss Sherburne about these.
4. Senior women are relieved from telephone duty.

Summer School To Equal One Semester With Fifteen Credits In Three Courses

Powder And Wig Presents Plays Tomorrow Night

Program Includes American, British, And Belgian Plays

On Thursday evening, February 12, in the Alumnae Building, the Colby Powder and Wig society will present its second production of the year, in the form of three United Nations Plays—English, Belgian and American.

The first, "A Minuet," by Parker, tells the story of a man and his wife, in prison, who find that the love they thought was dead, still exists for each other. The part of the prisoner is taken by Harry Paul. His wife is played by Mary Reny, and the prison guard is aptly portrayed by Alvin Jolovitz.

The Belgian play, by M. Maeterlinck, is "The Intruder," and concerns the foresightedness of an old grandfather in a house of sickness. John Hawes, veteran of the Colby stage, plays the part of the grandfather. The supporting characters are William Blake, Gordon Richardson, Priscilla White and Anne Foster.

The third play is "The Suppressed Desire," by Cook and Glaspell. It deals with a woman who is obsessed with the tool of psycho analysis, and mixes up her own life as well as that of her husband and sister. Martha Rogers takes the part of the wife, with Ernest Weidul and Barbara S. Grant completing the list of characters.

All in all, the plays promise to be very entertaining, and well worth the student admission price of 33 cents

Annual English Contests Announced

Manuscript Rules Released; Deadline, March 20

Once again the English department announces the two annual prizes for excellence in English work. The Carver Poetry Prize of fifty dollars is offered to the best poem submitted by any member of the women's division, and the Gallert Essay Prize of twenty-five dollars is offered for the best essay submitted by any student in either division.

The contests will close this year at noon on March twentieth. Manuscripts should be left at or mailed to the English office, or handed to any member of the English staff. Each poem or essay should be typed, on one side of the paper only, and signed with a pen name. With each manuscript there should be a sealed envelope with the pen name written on the outside, and the author's identity disclosed inside.

Poems should be at least twenty-five lines in length, and while no form or subject is prescribed, the judges will take both under consideration. Similarly, no subject is prescribed for the essay, and "essay" will be understood to include article, review, criticism, thesis, and argument. No work on which class instruction and instructors aid have been received may be submitted.

ANNOUNCEMENT

It has been requested by the authorities at Thayer Hospital that all students going to seek call now use the side door entrance into the sun parlor, instead of entering the front way. We now have our own office located there. Thank you.

Special Catalogue Being Prepared By Registrar

Plans Include Sports, Social Programs, Officers Training

For the first time in its history Colby college is to operate during the summer. President F. W. Johnson announced last Saturday that, after a careful study of the student-demand as evidenced by the recent questionnaire, the decision had been reached to offer a Summer Term. This is not to be a mere peace-time six-weeks' Summer School, but a full-fledged term carrying credits towards graduation exactly equal to those earned by one normal semester. Professor Carl J. Weber has been appointed Director of the Summer Term, and under his guidance a complete and varied curriculum will be worked out and shortly announced in a special Summer Term catalogue.

It was recently announced that Colby would have a summer session this year. This announcement was the result of a poll taken of the student body. There will be no changes in the standards of the school and the requirements for admission and graduation will remain the same as in past years. The new program merely cuts out all vacations which are normally used by the faculty for reading, research or travel.

Students will earn the same number of credits during the summer session as they would ordinarily earn (Continued on page 4)

Physical Education Program Announced

Special Groups Formed For Two Upper Classes

Plans have been put into effect for the new revisions of the Physical Training courses offered at Colby. At this time, it is believed that the first two classes at Colby will not be affected by this new plan. They will continue their usual periods of participation in the sports of the particular season during which they attend these classes.

However, a radical change has been made in the curriculum of the two upper classes. They are now to be required to attend special classes, three times a week, during the remainder of their college years. This plan has met with much disapproval on the part of some of the upper-classmen who have not even walked more than a block since their sophomore year. Most of the dissatisfaction seems to be centered around the fact that these classes will not be the same as those attended by freshmen and sophomores but will consist of a special hardening course of calisthenics.

In place of one of the hour classes during each week, all students are allowed to spend one hour either skating or skiing.

Phi Delta Theta First House To Buy Bonds

Two one-hundred dollar United States Defense Bonds were purchased by the Phi Delta Theta fraternity on January 17, 1942. This marks the first fraternity in Colby College to participate in our war effort in this manner and it is hoped that their action will become a precedent for other fraternities to follow in the near future.

An Unsuccessful Experiment . . .

The first examination period under the administration's "honor" system has passed. Was it a successful experiment? Or are those whose criticism becomes violent when exams in the Alumnae Building are mentioned in the majority? But most important is the question as to the aim of the administration in giving all examinations in the Alumnae Building and whether or not that aim was achieved.

If we are to accept the opinions which seem to be most prominent on campus the plan definitely does not encourage student cooperation or contribute added incentive for students to produce their best work on the examinations. Most frequently mentioned valid objections are increased noise and confusion with so large a group in one room taking exams which require varying lengths of time to complete, ineffect management of the heating and ventilating systems, crowded seating when unusually large classes have their exams on the same day, and the basic principle of the plan, which seems to assume that college students have to be mothered through their college careers as do many high school and preparatory school students with someone standing over them to see that each of their responsibilities is discharged satisfactorily and ethically.

Assuming that the aim of the new plan is to minimize "cribbing," can it be positively stated by comparative analysis of results that this aim is being achieved? If, in the opinion of the faculty, this purpose is being fulfilled, is it justifiable at the expense of lowered performances by those students who have been handicapped by some of the disadvantages already outlined? The problem of cribbing, like the problem of erime, is perpetual and its remedies must be such that they do not hamper the forward surging of those who rise above practices designed to just get a student through the semester, the year or the four years with a D or a C. It is these mature students who resent the coddling suggested by the new system and among them are those who are so constituted as to be negatively affected in their performances under the conditions accompanying the plan.

Must we continue molding our educational system for the benefit of the halt, the lame, and the blind while the progressives are left to work out their own way without aid other than a signpost here and there and are held back by the dragging feet of the incapable and the lazy?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(The ECHO does not necessarily agree with letters printed in this column. All letters must be addressed to the Editor and signed by the writer, whose identity will be withheld and pen name used if requested. The Editor reserves the right to withhold from print all or any part of communications received).

To the Editor:

I think the readers of the ECHO will be interested in the following statement by the editor of Ginn and Company's publication, "What the Colleges Are Doing." It is a penetrating commentary on the responsibility of the colleges in the present crisis and an effective answer to those students who may feel that they will have no use for an education if they have to go to war.

If they have to go to war.

"The note of cynicism which characterized editorials in many college newspapers last year has changed, convincing evidence that there is nothing intrinsically wrong with American youth. Now that students have had time to think through the implications of events and to study the causes leading to action, they have assumed fully their duties as citizens and are eager to do their part in creating a better order, even if the cost of such an order must be paid for in life as well as in treasure. If the colleges are to justify their importance, or make their proper contribution to the national defense, they must accept the challenge offered by today's students. They cannot ignore the demands of the present, or ignore the lessons that history is teaching us daily.

"But if the nation needs the technical expert today, it needs still more the man of vision tomorrow. If the democratic tradition is to be upheld and strengthened, if a new order of freedom is to be established after the present struggle is over, new leaders must be developed. The colleges cannot evade this task, even though it will make vast demands upon their resources. Students now are clamoring for training adequate to the times in which they live, for a deeper understanding of the forces at work in history, and a clearer vision of their duties as citizens in a democracy. When the work of the soldier and the technician has been accomplished, the world will require the genius of the builder and the creator.

"The need of a liberal education, such as the colleges can give, was never more urgent than at present."

We who are privileged to be connected with a liberal arts college have a great tradition to uphold; let us never forget that we are fighting this war in large measure for the freedom of mind and spirit which a truly liberal education should make more meaningful and more precious.

Norman D. Palmer.

To the Editor:

It has been noticed by many students at Colby that several of the Professors have what might be called stock phrases which they use innumerable times during the course of their lectures. I have written the following poem which shows the five most prominent of these phrases.

The Paths of Glory

Wilson reads his lecture notes,
He does it quite in vain.
He must be thinking of some state
When he utters, "In the main."

Each day when Chappie is in charge
Of English Lit or other,
You hear him say, quote, "By and large."
Doesn't he have another?

"In the last analysis,"
Is Sceppe's oft-used expression.
We wonder what he thinks it is,
Depression or recession?

"Purely arbitrary," we hear
When we sit in Breckie's class.
Write that or "highly probable"
In exams and you'll surely pass.

Eustis likes to say with glee,
"Today I will refer Directly and specifically,"
Like a cat he seems to purr.

We hear these words each day in class
And wonder what's the story.
In ignorant bliss we soon surmise
That expressions lead to glory.
Colby Post-Laureate.

To the Editor:

An incident occurred last week, in one of the classes held in Chemical Hall, which appears to me to be very unfair.

It seems that an eight o'clock, which was conducted in Champlin Hall, was dismissed late, due to the fact that, since no bell could be heard by this class, no one had any idea of the exact time.

When the members appeared for their nine o'clock, which was in Chemical Hall, they found the professor conducting the class in his private office. The rest of the class, which was late, through no fault of their own, was forced to take its cut. The professor refused to acknowledge the fact that no bells could be heard in Champlin and informed the late students that they should have left the class in Champlin when it was time.

In the first place no one has the exact time, and, in the second place it is considered very discourteous to the professor, I think to simply rise and leave a class when you feel that the bell should have rung.

It is unfair to force these students to leave because they were late to a class as a result of not hearing a bell rung in Champlin.

What do you think, reader?

A Sympathetic Listener.

CANVASSING THE CAMPUS

By Harry L. Levin

The irony of it all! For three years the students at Colby have been praying for snow for the Winter Carnival, and this year their prayers were answered. Due to the national emergency, however, the week-end was pushed ahead a week, thereby losing an ideal week-end of snow and all the other essentials of a complete winter carnival. It looks as if Fate is working against us. Next year the Carnival Committee ought to keep the proposed date of the affair a secret until the day before. In that way they will eliminate the machinations of Fate and thwart his attempts to make the Carnival a flop as far as snow is concerned. Careful planning and dark secrecy is the only solution to the problem. Even the students shouldn't be told about any planned activities, thereby assuring mass attendance. Don't forget, even the walls have ears. A slip of the lip can cause a loss of snow. The proposed news suppression will be handled by the propaganda men of the Colby Committee on Honesty who will take great pains to announce the date of the Carnival for the week-end of February thirtieth through the thirty-second. Fate will thus be tricked, and the Winter Carnival will go on amidst snow aplenty.

One classroom classic a week seems to be about the best that Colby can do, but usually it is one that takes the place of three of lesser merit. Professor Colgan's Psychology 2 class was the scene of the following rather humorous incident. It seems that part of the assignment given to the class was the task of producing two questions of psychological import to be handed in. Professor Colgan evidently was going to hold a session similar to Dr. Anthony's in which the subjects say, "My problem is—." Came Friday morning, and the assignments were handed in. The first question that the good professor read was, "Do you think that sex is here to stay?" The rafters shook as professor and students laughed heartily. Upon regaining his composure Professor Colgan then said in answer, "Well, I think that it is, definitely; but it just won't stay put." Perhaps that is the Colby story that President-elect Bixler was looking for. At any rate we thought it well worth repeating.

Ordinarily such a story as this

IAN HAY LECTURE

By Emanuel K. Frucht

In his Colby Lecture last Thursday night, Ian Hay didn't say anything that was new and startling to the majority of his hearers. Yet, it seemed to us that he did emphasize some important points that haven't as yet received their proper attention in this country. Thus far, in spite of superior resources in manpower and potential industrial production, we have not been able to reinforce adequately our far-flung outposts in the Pacific ocean. The most important point underlying this fact has been the tremendous distances involved which still are a great barrier to quick and immediate large-scale aid. We are accustomed to think in terms of the Atlantic ocean with its relatively short span of water between the European Continent and the Western Hemisphere, but when we consider the 8000 miles that separate us from the Philippines, then, and only then, can we realize the great problems of supply, would not be included in this column, purely on the grounds of decency. In this case, however, it might be considered not improper since no one is unduly embarrassed. If you will remember back to the hockey game with B. U. you will remember that we defeated them by a score of 6-2. In the last minute of the fray Coach Bill Millett, who no doubt desired to add insult to injury, sent in his famous comedy skating team of Pursely and Levin. These two accomplished gentlemen proceeded to go through their repertoire of floundering, and at long last performed their famous "Dying Swan" act. This act is a special one and is only performed by this talented pair. No other comic team in the country is able to duplicate this phenomenal feat. It consists of a few preliminary whirls around the rink, and then an apparently accidental collision of the two which results in a tumbled heap of bodies. Harland Durrell of the Waterville Sentinel reports that this act electrified the crowd. Unfortunately, the game ended at this point and put an end to what promised to be a highly amusing time. Sonia Henie has wired this act an offer to appear with her Ice Follies, and producers all over the country are bidding for their services. Frick and Frack have indicated their intentions to retire since the report of these newcomers reached them. Be sure and see them in their last Waterville appearance, which will only occur if Colby is leading by a score of at least 10 to one. Don't miss this finale of the only two comedians of this type in captivity. It promises to be funnier than the Varsity Show if this pair ever get on the ice together again.

We wish to close this column with another eavesdropping relation. Again the unfortunate victim was a Freshman. The person in question was talking to a fellow classmate, and they were discussing the difficulties of finding one's way to an eight o'clock class in the middle of pitch blackness due to the new Eastern War Time. This apparently astute gentleman remarked that it might be a good idea for the government, in order to save on electricity, to turn the clock ahead an hour every night so that after five days the night shift would have daylight to work in. We hope that he wasn't sincere in saying this. And so to press.

COLBY QUINTET DEFEATS STRONG B. U. TEAM, 47-37

Mules Take First Place In New England League

Jennings And Lomac Star

Boasting of the finest record in New England, the Colby quintet rests in first place among the leading colleges of New England. By downing Boston University last Friday for its seventh win in eight starts, Colby bettered even the records of Rhode Island and Holy Cross who are in second and third positions respectively. In two years Colby has lost only three games out of 22. The Mules also maintained their lead in the State over Maine, Bates, and Bowdoin.

In defeating Boston University last Friday, diminutive Lockley Jennings started in place of LaFleur and that move paid dividends as the little speedster rang up 14 points for Colby, ten in the first half. Constantly a thorn in the Terriers side, Jennings broke up plays repeatedly and managed to be in the right places at the right times.

Caminiti broke into the line-up for the first time this season and contributed a basket late in the game and may be groomed to take the place of army-bound Ray Flynn.

Colby took the lead early in the game and was never headed thereafter. Lomac, playing at guard, snared 11 points to rank behind Jennings for the evening. Jim Cassidy who is rated fourth in the New England Conference sank 18 points for the Terriers to obtain high honors for the game.

Two games are on the schedule this week and it may be a crucial one for the Mules. Stacking up against Maine in a return engagement away from home on Friday and then being host to Tufts college on Saturday, Colby runs into tough opposition. Colby won a close one from Maine last month 38-35 and the Maine players expect to even up the score by pinning a defeat upon the Mules. Tufts after a slow start has been rolling recently and will exhibit a team that is expected to give some stiff opposition.

Games This Week:

Friday, Northeastern at Colby. Boston University at New Hampshire. M. I. T. at Bowdoin.
Saturday, M. I. T. at Colby. Northeastern at Bowdoin.

Boston College defeated Boston University, 5-2, in the only other N. E. L. game last night to leave only Colby with a chance for the crown. The Eagles' second line of Edgeworth, Murphy, and Malone figured in all the scoring. Thus, if Colby wins all her remaining games, the B. C.-Colby game on February 28, will decide the winner of the Sands Trophy.

In a rough and exciting basketball game in Boston, B. U. upset Tufts, 62-53, after losing to Colby last week.

Coach Cy Perkins will take a varsity relay team and high jumper Jerry Lewis to the B. A. A. Meet in the Boston Garden on Saturday night. The freshmen tracksters face Thornton Academy tomorrow in the fieldhouse, while the basketball team plays Thornton tomorrow and Hebron before the Tufts game on Saturday night. The hockey team will wind up its home season next Tuesday afternoon when it plays Bowdoin in the third game of the state series.

Coach Eddie Roundy's basketball team is receiving all kinds of nice words this week because of their top standing in New England, but as Coach Roundy said, the troubles are only beginning. Maine is undoubtedly laying for the defending champs, while Tufts has just run through Harvard, Northeastern, and Massachusetts State since midyears and has Nick DelNinno among the ten leading scorers in New England. Both these teams will be hard to beat, but Coach Roundy has expressed the opinion also that the team has not reached its peak as yet.

Dick Field has finally performed in the style which brings him fame in the eyes of the public, but it has been no secret to the team and to Coach Millett for the past two winters that it has been Dick who has held the reserve lines together. Last winter, it was his job to dog the puck while the first line rested and he started on the same mission this season. Hard as it was on Bud Johnson and the entire team, the break that forced Field onto the first line has been a godsend to the quiet Hebron boy, who has been really hot in the last two games. His value does not end with scoring, but continues in his ability to cover and back check.

Considerable arguing and complaining has been forthcoming from all the members of the New England League about the refereeing in various cities. Such disgraces to college hockey as the recent B. C.-Northeastern and N. H.-Northeastern riots will tend to hurt the sport in the eyes of college authorities. It seems to this corner that the fault lies both with the whistle holders and the players. The former, especially those in Boston, become accustomed to the rougher games of the Eastern Amateur League in which they also work, and tend to let the N. E. L. games get out of hand. The latter see the same performances from spectators' viewpoints, and attempt to imitate the suicide tactics of their older brethren.

A Boston writer recently suggested that the colleges may move to appoint their own officials and in turn give them orders to keep the games in check. It is an accepted fact that no team gets far with its men off the ice, and also it seems a natural reaction for boys to seek revenge for unjust penalties. Therefore technicalities should be treated more liberally, and a more thorough knowledge and observance of offside rulings be gained and followed so that excessive tooting will cease. Another solution to the problem might be a more stringent examination of prospective referees before the season under conditions of actual games as well as on factual rule knowledge.

Field Sinks Six Against Wildcats

Dick Field set a new record for the season in New England League competition yesterday afternoon when he scored six goals, as Colby defeated New Hampshire, 9-1, at the Front Street Rink. The victory was the Mules' sixth in seven league starts and brought them nearer to Boston College. Joe Wallace maintained his post in the scoring race with two goals and three assists to boost his total to 25.

The Mules were in complete command throughout the afternoon after Wallace scored his first goal in the eighth minute of play and Gordon Collins, the other member of Bill Millett's new high powered first line, pushed in a rebound. Carl Adams, sophomore center, scored the Wildcats' lone tally in this period, but Field opened his barrage near the end of the stanza to give Colby a 3-1 lead. Then in the second period, Dick scored two more, and reached his peak in the final canto with three. Wallace closed the afternoon with his second goal. Thereafter, Coach Bill Millett used his third line and the remainder was scoreless.

SCHOOL OF DENTISTRY The University of Buffalo

A four year curriculum completed in three calendar years, by means of the quarter plan. (Four quarters of eleven weeks each, to the school year).

The dental and medical schools are closely affiliated, instruction in the basic medical sciences being under the supervision of the medical faculty. Clinical practice of dentistry, in all its varied aspects, is supervised by the dental division, and there is an intimate association with the clinics of several hospitals. Periods of internship in two general and one children's hospital during the senior year, offering unusual experience in clinical observation, diagnosis, and treatment of dental conditions.

Next regular session will start the first week in July, 1942.

College, Town Cooperate Through SCA Committee

Community Relations Group Work Outlined By Ann Jones

Continuing its series of articles on the scope of the Student Christian Association, the ECHO give you the story of the Community Relations Committee headed by Ann Jones, '42, and Richard Wescott, '43. Miss Jones describes the work:

"The Colby Community Relations Committee was organized to maintain a cooperative spirit between the college and the town. In order to fulfill this purpose the group carries on an active program.

"At Thanksgiving, the members get names of needy families in Waterville. Baskets are filled and delivered to their homes. Before the Christmas vacation, the S. C. A. sponsors a party for the underprivileged children. The students are able to make contacts with the homes through the children invited to the party. The last evening before Christmas recess, a group sings Christmas carols around the community.

"Entertainments are frequently given at the Sunset Home and the Fairfield Sanatorium. An Americanization school is held during the winter. Small Syrian girls are taught sewing, and some members go into Syrian homes to teach the mothers how to read and write English.

"The committee helps in the annual Red Cross drive and at present is co-operating in a community drive to give the soldiers stationed at the Armory all comforts possible.

"The Community Relations Committee consists of eight members. Professor Herbert L. Newman and Miss Caroline Cole are the group advisers."

Seventy Students Attend First Of S.C.A. Fun Nights

Second In Informal Series To Be Held Saturday, February 14

About seventy Colby students and faculty members untangled themselves from strings of molasses taffy at eleven o'clock Saturday night, and noisily proclaimed the success of the first S. C. A. fun night.

The candy pulling came at the end of an evening of active games in the women's gym and singing and more games around the fireplace in the Y room.

Ed Wood, Dorris Heaney, and Darold Hocking cooked the taffy; Evelyn Gates, Cliff Came, and Miss Cole directed the games; and Miss Cole and Dick Wescott led the singing.

The taffy pull was the first of a series of informal fun nights sponsored by the Student Christian Association and planned by the Campus Relations Committee. The next one will be on Saturday, Feb. 14, with a Valentine theme, and will provide recreation for students not attending the sorority dance.

"Life Of Bee" Subject, Bowen Society Meeting

The Bowen Society met on Friday, February 6, in the Y room of the Alumnae Building. Four reels of motion pictures were shown by President Frank Bailey on "The Life of the Bee." One reel was exclusively devoted to the explanation of how honey is manufactured by the bees.

This was followed by a business meeting in which a yet incomplete list of new members was brought up. Appropriate refreshments in the form of honey and biscuits were served to the members and guests at the conclusion of the meeting.

SORORITY NEWS

Chi Omega, Alice Katkauskas and Ann Westing were repledged on Saturday, Feb. 7.

Sigma Kappa, a program meeting for the Alumnae was held after the regular meeting last Wednesday night.

The annual Faculty Tea was held in the Alumnae Building, Sunday afternoon, Feb. 8. The pourers were Dean Runnals, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Chester, and Mrs. Marriner.

Phi Mu. After the regular meeting last Wednesday night, the active members and pledges entertained Mrs. Donald Weston, nee Theodora Wright, at a shower at the home of Professor and Mrs. McCoy.

Delta Delta Delta. Bids for the Sigma Kappa-Tri Delta dance may be obtained from either sorority.

indeed into the one's and two's. The K. D. R.'s have lost Lawrence Stacy and Harry Hildebrandt to the Army, and the Tau Delt's, Dave Brodie, also to the Army. Evidently these men were not able to get into some higher branch of the service and escape being drafted, as have many of the Dokos and the D. U.'s who by doing so have secured a deferment until June.

Among the A. T. O.'s Bud McKay and Abe Ferris have been granted temporary deferments.

Most fortunate among the fraternities are the Phi Deltas. They have not lost, nor have they evidently been in danger of losing a single man.

during a peace-time semester; that is fifteen. The only difference will be that the student will take only three courses each carrying five credits, instead of five courses carrying three credits. Fees will remain the same. There will be a registration fee of $5.00 and each course will be $40.00. Students with only one or two courses will pay $45.00 or $85.00. Information about room rents, board and additional fees will be given in the Summer Term Catalogue which is now being prepared.

Social life at Colby will not be neglected. An adequate athletic program will be a part of the summer term. In this program will probably be included baseball, track and field events, golf and tennis. The Colby Outing Club's "camp" on Great Pond will provide ample opportunity for boating and swimming. By special request of students looking forward to military service, an Officers Training Corps will be organized by the Department of Physical Education. Although this training will be independent of governmental control, it will serve to acquaint interested students with military drill and the fundamentals of field operations.

President Johnson has been informed by authorities in Washington that it is expected that a bill will be introduced in Congress in regard to financial aid probably sometime in March but nothing definite is yet known on this subject.

The summer term will extend from June 1 to August 22. The courses will be open to both men and women and to a limited number of "highly qualified" freshmen, even though their high school courses may not be quite completed. Students taking advantage of these summer courses will have the opportunity to graduate at an earlier date than usual. Present Juniors can graduate next December, present Sophomores in August, 1943, and present freshmen in December, 1944, thus covering the four year college course in two and one-half years. The courses to be offered are being worked out by a faculty committee and will be reported in due time.
