

Inter-American
Contest Now OpenMany Subjects Suggested For Intercollegiate Competition

The Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs, through the National Public Discussions Committee, Inc., is sponsoring a nation-wide discussion of inter-American affairs, in which this school has agreed to participate. Delegates to the national conference for the contest will be rewarded, it is planned, with a specially conducted tour of the other American republics in the summer of 1942.

The discussion program calls for intensive study of inter-American problems and is open to all students, through departments of public speaking, Spanish, international relations, social studies and related fields. Among topics suggested for extemporaneous-discussion forums are "The Importance of Hemispheric Solidarity in Defense," "Inter-American Trade at the Crossroads," "Ships for Inter-American Trade," "Rediscovery of the Americas by Americans," "How Modern Transportation and Communications Helped Unify the Americas" and "The Danger Threatening the Americas."

Not later than March 1 each school will select five to eight students who have demonstrated the greatest mastery of the subject and superior ability in the public expression of their ideas. The winners will represent their schools at one of about fifty district conferences to be held throughout the country.

Each district conference will have representatives from eight to ten neighboring schools and will hold round table meetings and an extemporaneous-discussion forum. From each such conference the two outstanding

Breckenridge Speaks
At Frosh Assembly

The weekly Freshman assembly was held last Thursday in the chapel.

For their guest speaker the freshmen were fortunate in having Professor Breckenridge who spoke about the branches of social sciences. He discussed the following branches of social sciences and explained what each course had to offer: history, government, economics, business administration, psychology, philosophy, religion, and sociology. He also mentioned the ways in which propaganda operates and the questions they stimulate in the mind of the public. "Social sciences," Professor Breckenridge concluded, "aid in the making of a more tolerant and understanding public."

N.E. Representatives

The Intercollegiate Athletic Conference will be held at Colby, February 20, 21, and 22, with delegates attending from four New England colleges. The representatives from Nason, Bates, and the Universities of New Hampshire and Maine will arrive Friday night for the week-end which will feature skating and a discussion of the place of athletics in the world today.

After a visit to the Outing Club Saturday morning the delegates will

Three-Year College

Educators who for years have been advocating a shorter college course for undergraduate work are seeing their idea put into effect as a war measure to speed up the training of youth. Colleges and universities everywhere are adopting an all-out schedule that will allow students to graduate in three years or less. The University of Chicago is offering a degree in two years.

American collegians, at least 56 per cent majority of them, believe the speed-up will benefit students themselves. But at this time they are opposer to such a program as a post-war, long-term objective; more than two-thirds declare that after the war is over they would rather go to school a full four years for their degrees.

The questions asked and the answers received follow:

Prof. Weber To
Address AssociatesTo Speak On Edna St. Vincent
Millay; Exhibition Planned

The February meeting of the Colby Library Associates will be held on Saturday evening, February 21st at 7:30. The place of meeting will be the reading room of the college library.

"The Works of Edna St. Vincent Millay" will be the subject of the speaker, Professor Carl J. Weber.

The year 1942 marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the publication of the first book by Edna St. Vincent Millay. On the birthday of this Maine poet—February 22nd—the Colby College Library will open a memorial exhibition of Miss Millay's work, and on the preceding evening, on the occasion of their meeting, the Colby Library Associates will have a "preview" opportunity to see the books and manuscripts, the letters and pamphlets, that are to make up this exhibition. Professor Weber will illustrate his remarks with the material to be exhibited.

This Millay material is of unusual richness and variety, for the College's own rare items have been supplemented by borrowings from the Vassar College Library, the Rockland Public Library, the Abernethy Collection of Middlebury, Vermont, and the splendid private collection of Mr. H. Bacon Collamore of Hartford, Connecticut.

return to the Alumnae Building for the more serious business of the conference. Discussion groups led by Norma Brosius, Natalie Mooers Daggett, Glenna Hartley and Betty Toboy will present the different methods which these colleges are using to promote physical fitness today. These discussions will be correlated in a general group meeting led by Miss Janet Marchant.

Saturday evening President Johnson will address the delegates at a banquet, the final event of the week-end. Representatives from each of the colleges will speak on topics which carry out the theme of the conference. Mrs. Philip Bithor, former head

POWDER AND WIG

Tuesday, February 24, at 7:15 P. M., in the Y Room of the Alumnae Building there will be a meeting of the Powder and Wig. It is imperative that the following people be present: (1) all officers of Powder and Wig; (2) all members of Powder and Wig; (3) all other persons who would be interested in working on a Shakespearean play, either acting or on production.

Library Invites New Book Suggestions

Most freshmen do not have extensive outside work in their courses. Hence, they do not use the library very much. However, when they do have occasion, they think that the library should have any book that they want. However, this is not the case. The college library is a growing library. Every month new books are being added. For the most part these books are selected by professors and approved by a committee. This works well because the professor sees to it that the books he wants for outside reading are in the library.

However, the greater part of the student body is unaware of a little black box that is located on top of the catalog. This box is for suggestions. Any book that a student needs and cannot find, he may request the library to get the book. All suggestions are acted upon by the committee and if approved, the book in question is added to the library. It is up to the student to take advantage of this privilege.

Class of 1945

Annual Embassy
Held; Huge SuccessOutstanding Religious Leaders
Conduct House Meetings

Mustering their wits to answer many profound questions fired at them by college men, nine religious leaders from three states were key figures at the fifth annual Colby Embassy, which closed Wednesday.

Talk was serious talk. Thoughts of sex and of drinking were out of place. The World Wide War was foremost on the lips and in the minds of both students and leaders.

Facing the grim future, participants in the Embassy found that the 1942 war theme made discussions of other years seem almost trivial. The War, Preservation of Democracy, and the Relationship of the Church and World Affairs are sample topics which give an inkling of the kind of talk which marked conferences and bull-sessions.

The leaders were interesting in discovering the attitudes of Colby men. President Johnson welcoming Embassy leaders on the opening day, Monday, told them that he had never seen students conduct themselves with so much poise in the midst of chaos as do Colby students today. He said that in spite of their insecure future, Colby young men are able to view rationally and calmly their relationship to the war.

Four years ago was Colby's first Embassy venture. The idea was borrowed from Bowdoin. From the time of its start, the purpose of the Embassy has been to bring to the fraternities ministers or leaders who have been successful in dealing with the problems of youth. The Embassy advisers live at the fraternities and thus are afforded opportunities of dealing with the problems of youth in both formal and informal discussions.

As an added feature, this year an enthusiastic non-fraternity group met in Roberts hall on Monday and Tuesday evenings, the nights when formal discussions were held in each of the fraternities.

Paramount News Ace To Show Own Pacific Films

The sixth lecturer in the current series will be Arthur Menken, who will both speak and show movies next Monday at the Waterville High School Auditorium. Mr. A. Menken, whose name has become a synonym for daring, dangerous, significant, pictorial journalism around the world, sailed for the Orient February 28 to bring back to American audiences up-to-the-minute documentary films of the most significant military and defense developments in the Pacific. He has a roving assignment from Paramount News and the North American Newspaper Alliance and will, in addition, film a special feature sequence entitled The Battle for the Pacific.

Arthur Menken's specialty is anything dangerous. Whether it's covering wars in Europe and Asia, filming charging elephant herds in Africa, or taking a jaunt among hostile Indians in Central America, he welcomes danger. Flying off to the Far East just when the battle lines are tightening for the grim test in the Pacific is characteristic of his entire career.

Tall, blue eyed and stalwart, Arthur Menken's socialite family intended him for law. But, Hotchkiss and Harvard only made him more determined not to devote his life to torts and treatises. He wanted adventure with a capital A and he left law school to accompany Dr. Dickey's Orinco Expedition to Central America to film the Guaharibo Indians.

In 1928 he was off to Europe to serve as a commercial pilot for the Royal Dutch Airlines, flying the regu-

Sigma-Tri Delt Dance
Held Valentine's Day

In line with the spirit of the day, the Alumnae Building became a sweethearts' rendezvous on the evening of February 14. Large red hearts edged with crepe paper lace adorned the walls and bore the Greek letters of Delta Delta Delta and Sigma Kappa. From a false ceiling interwoven in red and white strips hung a myriad of tiny paper hearts.

Paul Prince and his orchestra provided the music for the dancing, which continued from 8:00 until 12:00 P. M.

Credit for the decorations and the planning of the event is due to two committees. That of Sigma Kappa was composed of Sarah Fussell, Joy Paddison, and Marlee Bragdon. The Delta Delta Delta committee included Marjorie Brown, Pauline Foley, and Elaine Anderson. Marlee Bragdon was general chairman of both committees.

The chaperones, who bade a genial good evening and a quick adieu to the dancers, were Dr. and Mrs. Aplington, Miss Elizabeth Kelley, and Dr. Norman Palmer.

Classical Club Holds
Valentine Party

A Valentine party in "true Latin style" was held by the Classical Club last Friday evening in the Social Room, of the Alumnae Building. Classical stories, fitting to the occasion, were read. Latin valentines were exchanged by the members. The party closed with refreshments and songs.

Things In General . . .

We notice with pride that the new Men's Physical Education set-up is getting under way with little danger of the new gym classes turning into the farces they were once inclined to be. All four classes now participate in a rigorous training program that keeps the athletic plant busy from early morning until nine-thirty at night. Characteristically, Colby men have taken to the stiffened program with little grumbling, and the general feeling is one of enthusiastic cooperation. Let this continue so, not only in the matter of compulsory P. T. for all, but in any other war time measures adopted by the college. They are instituted for us and for our benefit, and it is only natural that we support them wholeheartedly.

Which brings up the announcement of the first Summer Session in Colby's History, which was received with keen interest last week by the entire student body. To many it means a chance to graduate before being called into the services, and to others, the opportunity of finishing college a year or more ahead of time. Many are not yet certain that they will be able to attend, but nearly all want to take advantage of the additional session. If the hoped-for government aid comes through many individual problems will be solved, but in any case, a thumping good registration is expected. All in all, we can't think of a better place to go to school than right here in the state of Maine.

For a long time now we on the ECHO have wistfully admired the much improved style of the Colby Alumnus. Having just finished the February issue, which we believe that. The outstanding leaders we had as guests left behind them three days of provocative discussion, both individually and in groups. To them, and to the Embassy leaders, we are grateful.

Congratulations once again to "Pop" Newman and his assistants for arranging the fine Fraternity Embassy just over. The idea of getting together to discuss "Preserving Our Liberties," was particularly apropos during these days when a large part of the world is fighting for just that. The outstanding leaders we had as guests left behind them three days of provocative discussion, both individually and in groups. To them, and to the Embassy leaders, we are grateful.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(The ECHO does not necessarily agree with letters printed in this column. All letters must be addressed to the Editor and signed by the writer, whose identity will be withheld and pen name used if requested. The Editor reserves the right to withhold from print all or any part of communications received).

To the Editor:

Right now the world is a pretty chaotic place in which to live. There is strife and friction on every side. There is much to be done; and realizing this, we, here at Colby, feel that we may be wasting time. We want to find a place in the exciting turmoil of the present-day world. We want to have a part in making history. In contrast to this, our life at this point seems insignificant and unimportant.

Therein lies the danger. We can not let our sense of values be perverted. After the confusion is abated, the world must undergo a renovation. Sanity and stability will be the password, and we must be on hand to find the path of greatest clarity. A calm and unagitated continuance of our present studies—this then must be our task, this our obligation to our country, to the world, and to ourselves.

CANVASSING THE CAMPUS

By Harry L. Levin

It has been a long time since this column has come out in behalf of a cause, but at long last we have reverted to our former rut of crusading. The demand has been so great in the last few weeks for the change that we are advocating, that we were forced to concur with the current agitation. Since the advent of the new Eastern War Time time, night school attendance has dropped off very markedly. The drop has been so disastrous as to cause much consternation on the part of the night school proprietors. Students who desire to go to school in their spare time now attend day schools which are held at night. Night schools now meet in the daytime. This mix-up is causing more than ordinary curriculum changes in the schools just referred to. In fact it has resulted in the increase of students who are in the dark about certain subjects. This result is of course academically undesirable, and so now students all over the country are pleading for someone who can enlighten them.

Do your part in national defense. Aid these unfortunate students, and help them in their campaign to see the dawn. All suggestions should be addressed to box 54, Waterville, Maine. Any letter which has a postmark of later than February 31 is not eligible for the contest. Win fame; write early.

As inevitable as the chaperone at a Colby dance is our weekly classroom story. This happened in an English class recently, and was in reference to a discussion of self-reliance. One of the students asked the professor if he would give a street beggar a nickel or a dime. The answer was a loud, resounding, and emphatic "No." At this response a little voice in the back of the room piped up with, "But often times the story that the beggar tells is worth a dime." This drew a hearty laugh, and general concurrence from the class and the professor.

Thus an idea was born. It occurred to us that a good collection of bumbling stories had never been edited. Here is a subject that is peculiarly American, and one which has a definite role in our society, yet its literature lacks recognition. Of course the printing of such a volume would double the number of grifters on the corners, but it at least would enable us to adapt the principle of product uniformity to this as yet unmechanized art. Every beggar would start off with, "Stop me if you've heard this one," or "What say, Buddy, will you have the dime or fifteen cent story?"

Such a plan would revolutionize the industry, and American literature. Literature of Bumping would be an elementary freshman course which would have definite vocational aspects. A more advanced course could be offered to those who desire to major in the subject, and the graduate schools would be established on the street corners of every major U. S. city. Tch, Tch. All that from one little innocent remark.

Another rather humorous incident of recent occurrence was the answer given to the question, "What was Thoreau's contribution to society?" Oddly enough the answer hesitatingly proposed by one member of the listening, somnolent class was, "He didn't have a family." Editor in an aside, "Laughter."

The general consensus of opinion was that if not having a family was a contribution to society then most of us have no desire to be such generous philanthropists. The old motto of "Give till it hurts" has been changed. The advice that is now offered is to be stingy, and satisfy yourself. Have a family, or if you don't want a family have a few Carter's little liver pills. They do the work of the family without the danger of the family.

The Alden House snowball team wishes to announce its willingness to meet any other house on campus on the field of honor. This applies to fraternity houses as well as girls' dormitories. Captain Carsons and Manager Blaisdell say that no reasonable offer will be rejected. Despite the fact that the team was riddled by injuries in a recent contest, the team will still take on all comers. Student Manager Blanchard announced that fourteen players will take the trip to Foster House for Saturday's match. Queensbury rules will be used exclusively. That is no scratching allowed, and no fair in spoiling good permanents.

UNITED NATIONS PLAYS

By Emanuel K. Frucht

Continuing its stage productions for this year, the Colby Dramatic Society presented three one-act plays at the Alumnae Building last Thursday evening. The first play presented one of the stars, Harry Paul, of the recently-lamented "Margin for Error" in a leading role. Bedecked in a very becoming white wig, and remembering all his lines and cues this time, our budding star performed very acceptably. Mary Reny had a difficult role, which she handled with ease and assurance. Alvin Jolovitz flitted about the stage now and then to remind the actors that the guillotine was waiting for them. Was this a hint?

Maeterlinck's "The Intruder" seemed to us to have been the best work of the evening. The setting and the air of mystery and doubt was ably managed in this rather-involved, in the matter of characters anyway, one-act play. John Hawos gave what we thought was his finest performance at Colby. Gordon Richardson can always be counted on for a dependable bit of acting, and he didn't disappoint us this time. Bill Blake looked quite villainous with his somber black mustache, but we had quite a bit of trouble trying to understand exactly what he was trying to say. Quite a few girls, dressed in white, did noble service in closing windows and providing a homey scene while they were seated about the aged grandfather. It was really done well, but I would like to know what did become of the expected sister, who never did make her appearance.

"Suppressed Desires" during its first part amply lived up to the beginning of its title as the ventriloquist drowned out most of the dialogue of the principals. However, they were much more audible in the second half, and in this section we were much impressed with the fine work of Barbara Grant in the role of Mabel. Ernest Weidul and Martha Rogers supplied the necessary pop and action in their respective roles.

Viewed as a complete group, Powder and Wig can feel quite proud of itself, while the sparse audience enjoyed the proceedings.

President Johnson Appoints Colby Campus Protection Committee

Loebs Heads Student Defense; Plans Issued

The college has a standing committee on defense, with Mr. Warren as chairman. The function of this committee is to assist the student relationship with the various selective service problems and Army and Navy interviews.

With the organization of civilian defense in the various states and communities, the college was called upon to organize a civilian defense program for the college family. The President has appointed a sub-committee of the committee on defense known as the Committee on Campus Protection, with the following officers:

Gilbert Loebs, Chairman.
Francis Armstrong, Buildings and Grounds.

Elmer C. Warren, Registrar.
This group will have the services of the following faculty members who attended the air raid warden school of instruction in Augusta:

Professors Weber, Wilson, Weeks, Lougee, Roundy, and Miss Marchant.

The first step of the Committee on Campus Protection has been a careful examination of every college building, fraternity house, and dormitory, to select what is to be called a Refugee Center, where students will be located during air raid periods. Some of the buildings will not be designated as Refugee Centers, so that students in such buildings will have to evacuate to another place so designated as a Center for them.

Air raid instruction cards have been printed and will be placed in every room or parts of buildings where students are located. These air raid posters will instruct the students where to go in the event of an air raid alarm. The program for civilian defense within the college will not be a separate organization, but rather closely organized under the city of Waterville Defense Council. Mr. Paul Jullien has been appointed chief air raid warden for the city of Waterville, and the college program will be under his community organization. The college will have its own report center, under the jurisdiction of Mr. Armstrong, who has been appointed Senior Air Raid Warden for the Campus.

The Committee also plans to supply each building with the necessary materials for fire protection, and also they will prepare the various refugee centers for black out programs.

The Committee on Campus Protection hopes to organize on the campus a student auxiliary fire brigade, so that an organization can be prepared to assist in fire fighting during college sessions.

Any male student interested in taking part in this form of civilian defense while in college is requested to leave his name with Mr. Armstrong. Within a short time, the Committee on Campus Protection will hold a meeting of the various student heads of fraternities and dormitories, along with fraternity advisers and dormitory matrons, and they will receive instruction on black-outs, air raids, and other necessary details concerning the program of civilian defense which is applicable to civilian centers. Each fraternity or dormitory will receive its individual instructions from the heads of the houses, so that each unit of residence will be organized to meet the various regulations laid down by the O. C. D. program.

The Committee will keep the student body posted on the progress and plans of civilian defense through the columns of the ECHO.

"The Weekenders," Colby's versatile deputation group, conducted their second program over the weekend of February 14 and 15 on a circuit of four towns, Corinna, Hartland, Dexter, and Newport. Miss Caroline Cole and weekenders John M. Wood, '44, Russell E. Brown, '44, Gordon Crook, '45, Stanley Short, '44, Evelyn Gates, '44, Elizabeth Wood, '44, Lois Peterson, '44, and Natalie Moore's Daggett, '42, led a great youth rally, planned socials, fostered discussion groups, and conducted services of worship. Striking the note of the recent National Assembly of the Student Christian Movement at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, theme of the weekend was "Christian Faith and Social Reconstruction."

Al Lewis, New England Youth Secretary for the Fellowship of Reconciliation will speak at the Peace Commission meeting on Thursday evening, February 19.

Colby Holds Second Place In League With Eight Wins And One Loss

Wallace, Fields Lead Scorers

Colby's varsity hockey team continued on its quest for the New England title by defeating Northeastern last Friday, 9-5, and M. I. T. Saturday, 9-0. Joe Wallace was the outstanding performer for the Mules as he scored five goals and seven assists in the two contests to boost his total to 37 for the season. Dick Field rose to second in the league with five goals and three assists.

The Huskies offered serious opposition to Colby, but were bothered by the fast ice. M. I. T., however, showed her lack of practice recently and proved little trouble. In both games Colby took early leads and held them all the way. Gordon Collins scored three goals and one assist against M. I. T. for his best effort of the season, while the shutout was Ed Loring's second of the year.

Varsity Relay Team Takes Third Place

Thornton Defeats Frosh Track Squad; 48-42

The Varsity Relay team, with less than two weeks practice, came in third in the relays at the Boston Garden last Saturday. The triangular relay in which our boys ran was won by Massachusetts State College and Worcester Polytech was second.

This Saturday the first Varsity meet will be held in the Field House with Bates. The freshmen will also have a meet with the Bates Frosh at the same time.

Last Friday, the thirteenth, Thornton Academy took the track meet in spite of their loss of their best stars. The Colby boys would have won the meet had Weinstein not pulled a leg muscle in the 600. The score of 48-42 was evidence of the fact that the Freshmen stand a good chance of beating Bates, since the latter were defeated by Thornton. The results of the meet were as follows:

40 yard dash, won by Arno (T); 2nd, Dolan (C); 3rd, Perkins (T); Time, 4:9 sec.

45 yard high hurdles, won by Huntress (T); 2nd, Towne (T); 3rd, Whitten (T). Time, 7 sec.

300 yard run, won by Arno (T); tie for second between Reifel (C) and Perkins (T). Time, 37:6 sec.

600 yard run, won by Weinstein (C); 2nd, Breauseau (T); 3rd, Towne (T). Time, 1:18.3 (new freshman record).

1000 yard run, won by Cleveland (T); 2nd, Robinson (C); 3rd, Ellingwood (C). Time, 2:39.7.

One mile run, tie for first between Robinson (C) and Burke (C); 3rd, Winters (T). Time, 5:08.8.

High jump, won by Lewis (C); tie for second between Reifel (C) and Arno (T). Height, 5 feet 8 inches.

Broad jump, won by Mahoney (C); 2nd, Arno (T); 3rd, Roberts (C). Distance, 19 feet 3 1/4 inches.

Shot put, won by Cummings (T); 2nd, Lucy (C); 3rd, Reifel (C). Distance, 41 feet 1/2 inch.

Pole vault, won by Rumery (T); 2nd, Lyman (C); 3rd, Breauseau (T). Height, 9 feet 3 inches.

The war stepped in last night to stop a New England League game, when the blackout in Boston forced M. I. T. and N. H. to postpone their engagement.

— C —

B. C. is reported trying to arrange two more games, one each with M. I. T. and New Hampshire, in order to bring their standing up. We wonder why this late date is picked to suddenly discover that the schedule is incomplete. Are they trying to back into another title or are they a little bit wary of the recent Colby spurt?

— C —

Slumps are bad things for all concerned, but we have confidence that Eddie Roundy's basketball forces will return to the winning way Friday night against Northeastern. The college is behind their team 100%.

— C —

The war has forced your sports editor to cut the page in sports in order to bring you complete results. We are cooperating fully by slicing the idle chatter to a minimum.

— C —

Joe Wallace still leads the league in scoring by a country mile. He has 18 goals and 19 assists for 37 points. Dick Field's remarkable spurt has carried him into second spot with 18 goals and 5 assists for 23 points. Eddie Loring still has the best defensive record with only 22 markers having entered his net in nine games.

— C —

Ben Zecker continues as top scorer on the Colby quintet. He now has 84 points. Others on the first five in order are Lomac 76, Jaworski 64, Jennings 52, and Shiro 36. Frankie Strup has 21 points and Ray Flynn 20 among the reserves.

— C —

The basketball team dropped from first to eleventh in New England standing this week. Of course that was to be expected. P. S., After dropping from first to ninth the week before, Providence climbed back to sixth this week. If Providence can do it —

— C —

Don't forget that Bates track meet, freshman and varsity Saturday. The Mules may surprise with a real battle in both divisions. In fact we predict a frosh victory.

MULE FIVE LOSES TWO HARD GAMES

Maine Bears Tie For Championship

Leading the New England League with seven victories and one loss, Colby's high flying quintet played two games last week and it resulted in their being tossed from their pinnacle down to an obscure position at eleventh place behind Williams college. Playing Maine University last Friday night, and Tufts college on Saturday proved too much for the Colby team and two additional losses were credited to their account showing them down in the standings.

A determined Maine five battled the Mules on even terms for 40 minutes and needed an additional ten minutes before they could keep a fighting Colby team down and wound up with a 44-42 victory. The score was 37 all at the end of the regulation game and tied up at 39 each at the end of the first overtime period forcing it into an extra five minutes. Seconds before the end of this period, a Maine substitute sank the winning two pointer and the game ended as Colby's second defeat in nine games. By winning this game, Maine tied Colby for the State title with three wins as against one loss for each club.

The following night, Tufts gave an exhibition of clever ball handling and defensive tactics in the field house and added insult to injury by pinning a 32-24 defeat upon Colby. Tired from their long battle of the night before, the Blue and Gray hoopsters could not keep up with the polished visitors and bad luck in shooting kept the score down for both teams. It seemed an off night for every one on the team as Jaworski was held scoreless, Jennings sank one basket and Zecker, the team's highest scorer, got only three points. Lomac tallied 10 points to pace the team but could not win the game alone. Del Ninno, Tufts' high scoring forward was held to a mere four points for the evening.

With their high altitude balloon busted, Colby will try to regain some ground as they engage Northeastern this Friday, and Bates next Monday. As the pressure is off, the team should find itself and play heads up ball which they have not done all season, range as it seems. Coach Roundy was quoted recently as saying, "the team hasn't as yet reached their peak and when they do, they will give somebody a sound thrashing. No more of these one and two point decisions."

Rabbi Feldman Speaks At Brotherhood Assembly

"Only as we continue to approach the fundamentals of living . . . truth and brotherhood and spiritual awareness . . . subjectively, may we dare to hope for the redemption of human society," spoke Rabbi Abraham Feldman before the Brotherhood Assembly Tuesday morning in the chapel.

This year marked the participation of the non-fraternity group as a unit with its own leader, pointed out Dean Marriner; this inclusion makes for a real Brotherhood Assembly. Then James Kavanaugh introduced the leaders of the various fraternities and non-fraternity group.

Rabbi Feldman from Congregation Beth Israel, Hartford, cited President Roosevelt's story of the Chinese Christian who prayed, "Oh Lord, reform the world beginning with me." It is not enough to academically approve the standards of a good life but we must ourselves follow these in order to give them concreteness. All about us we find the common values threatened. "Are you willing to accept the challenge to the loyalties which you profess?" asked Rabbi Feldman.

It is not enough to be complacent one of the "denomination called the Seven Day Absentees which is most enthusiastic for the preservation of the churches—for others." The challenge must be taken up by each and every one of us in an all-out effort.

Joe Smith Speaks On Basic Photography

The first meeting of the newly formed Camera Club class was held Monday afternoon at 4:30 in the photography room in Foss Hall. Joseph C. Smith, faculty adviser of the club, discussed the fundamentals of photography and advised the members as to what they should buy in the way of equipment. Both the art of taking and of developing photographs will be studied. Assignments were given to be completed by the next meeting which will be held next Monday afternoon at 4:30.

SORORITY NEWS

Alpha Delta Phi. Beatrice Kennedy, an Alpha Delta alumna, visited Colby last week. Her home is now in Ohio.

Chi Omega. Helen Watson was repledged at Wednesday's meeting.

Phi Mu. Joan St. James was pledged last week. At an after dinner coffee Sunday night Dean Runnals gave a talk on "A College Woman's Part in Defense."

The Sigma-Kappa Tri Delta dance was held last Saturday evening.

March 7 is the date set for the Phi Mu-Chi Omega formal. Plans have been changed to make it an open dance. It will be held in the Alumnae Building. Lloyd Rafnell's band has been selected to play.

of Democracy, War and What the Church Can Do to Help, Why the U. S. Must Win the War, The Oxford Movement, The Christian or Religious Side of the War, Increasing Church Attendance, Working in the Parish, The Different Aspects of Religion.

The nine leaders, upon their arrival Monday, found an extensive program awaiting them. James Kavanaugh, student chairman, presided at the ten Monday afternoon which opened the Embassy.

At the Brotherhood Assembly Tuesday morning, Rabbi Abraham Feldman of Hartford, Conn., gave a pointed talk, aimed at awakening students to religious thoughts and action. As leader of the Tau Delta Phi group Monday night he discussed pertinent topics: The Orientation of the Jew to Jewish and Non-Jewish environment, and the Relationship of the Jew to the God Idea.

Rev. Leonard Helie of Chestnut Hill, Mass., son of Professor Helie, and Rev. Philip Henderson of the Andover Newton Theological Seminary, led chapel Wednesday morning. Following this assembly was a meeting for Embassy committeemen and their guests. The Embassy ended Wednesday noon.

Freshman Coeds

Anita Konikow. Anita, better known to her friends as "Nee," has a wide variety of activities to her credit. In the line of sports, she includes the Freshman Hockey Team, the Modern Dance Club, and the Non-Sorority Basketball Team. She excels as a student, is a chemistry major, and is also a member of the Interfaith Committee. Nee makes her home in Brookline, Mass.

Roslyn Kramer. Ros is Anita's roommate over in Boutelle House, and is another Massachusetts girl—this time from North Adams. Sports, chemistry, and dramatics, rank high on Ros' scale of interests, and she is on the Non-Sorority Basketball Team. Her ambition, after she leaves Colby, is in the field of chemistry, and she ought to make a success of it for she is also a fine student.

Lucille LaGasse. You can take "Lu's" word for it: there's no place like Maine, especially up around Milinocket and the Mt. Katahdin region. Like all Aroostook countyans she is a good-natured, but stout defender of the north country. Skating, sports, and correspondence with an Australian friend are some of her hobbies. Hotel hostess or similar work appeals to Lu, although she hasn't decided definitely as yet.

Mimi Leighton. You all know Mimi by now. She is that cute and vivacious Chi Omega pledge with a glint of auburn in her hair and a personality to match. She loves a good joke and is hardly ever serious, but she loves dancing and sports and does very well at both. Cape Elizabeth, Maine, claims Mimi.

Betty Lohnes. If you saw the Girl's Varsity-Deke hockey game last fall you will remember Betty. She was behind all the goalie paraphernalia stopping all but one of the Deke's barrage of shots. Basketball and horseback riding are two more of her favorite sports, but she is every bit as good a student as she is an athlete. Betty is a Phi Mu pledge, and comes to Colby from Weymouth, Mass.

Kagen McCarroll. The tall, slender, energetic cheer leader you saw last fall was Kagen McCarroll who hails from down Jersey way—Ridgewood, to be exact. One of the most popular of the '45 co-eds, she holds the office of secretary-treasurer of the Freshman class, is another Chi Omega pledge, and a member of the Glee Club. Kagen also is crazy about sports, especially skiing and skating.

Muriel Marker, known to everyone as "Moo," is that tall and vivacious blonde at Mary Low that you've seen doing her fancy figures on the ice at Foss Hall rink. Moo is a great music and sports enthusiast. In fact this Montclair, N. J., girl is enthusiastic about everything, including having lots of fun.

Kay Matteo is another May Lowite, this time from Providence, who manages to squeeze plenty of pep and personality into that tiny figure. Kay loves to dance, play tennis, and knit socks and has pledged Chi Omega.

Annabell Morrison, from Biddeford, Maine, is noted for her lovely complexion and cheerful disposition. Annabell sings in both the church choir and the glee club. She is a Phi Mu pledge.

Eleanor Mundie, is one of our Foster House girls from Calais, Maine. Eleanor loves skating and is really full of fun, but she is also a good student. Being president of the Phi Mu pledges is also one of her major interests.

Barbara Newcombe, another of the Alden House crew, is an enthusiastic member of the band. She loves to play the clarinet, but also spends some time on skating and modern dance. Keene, N. H., claims to be her home town, but we'd say that Virginia claims her heart.

Professors To Organize Discussion Groups

Students To Debate Current World Problems

It is not the Democratic caucus, the Colby Group for the Defense of Democracy, or the Young Communist League which is desirous of your membership at this critical time on the campus. Instead, it is a group of interested, enthusiastic students and leaders who are organizing discussion groups on problems important to every Colby student who is soon to take his place in a chaotic world.

The topics for discussion are to be "Economic Reconstruction," "Civil Liberties," and the "New World Order," led by Professors Breckenridge, Fuller, and Palmer, respectively. The first meeting will be held on February 19, at 7:30, in the Y Room. This is purely a time for organization. It is then that students will outline the material to be discussed and choose their student chairmen for each group.

This is a student program. The faculty members will act as guides and resource men. It is hoped that the groups will represent a cross-section of student opinion. It is not supposed that the topics suggested are ones about which any student is fully informed, but they are topics concerning which every student will have to make a decision in the near future. All students are invited to the first meeting on Thursday evening. Students are urged to offer material and ideas and to discuss these problems with your leaders. Come to plan! PLAN TO ACT!

"I have to work in the summers to be able to go to college," a sophomore at Western Illinois State Teachers College told interviewer Adelaide Henriksen. More than half of the male students, more than a third of the co-eds, earn at least a portion of their college cost, the Surveys has

This is the fourteenth annual athletic conference to be held and the problem of its continuance in the abbreviated schedules of the colleges will be discussed.

The delegates attending are Elizabeth Stafford, Priscilla Simpson, Martha Littlefield and Ida May Hollis from Bates; Eleanor Mauricette, Dorothy Page, Louise Griffin and Flora Kimball from the University of New Hampshire; Irma Wallace, Frances Palmer, Mary Deacon, and Shirley Marshall from Nason; and Eleanor Ward, Evelyn Tondreau, Shirley Ashman and Helen Clifford from the University of Maine.

students will be selected as representatives for seven regional meetings. One student from each regional meet will become a delegate to the National Intercollegiate Conference on Inter-American Affairs and according to present plans will be awarded a tour of the other American republics this summer.

The contest is being conducted under the management of the National Public Discussions Committee, Inc., of which Dr. Alan Nichols is director. Dr. Nichols, a native of Iowa, has for twenty years been director of intercollegiate forensics at the University of Southern California.

Members of the Advisory Committee of the contest are:

lar run from Amsterdam to Paris and London. Two years later he came back to the United States and a job as a newsreel reporter in Hollywood. In 1935 he went with the Hubbard-Ingalls Expedition to Northern Rhodesia to photograph wild animals. It was there that he narrowly escaped death from trampling by elephant herds. He flew in October of 1935 to Cairo to cover the nationalist uprising. That was his first taste of gunfire and rioting. His real baptism by fire came with the Spanish Civil War, which he covered until 1937.

With the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese War, Paramount News sent him to China, where he covered the bombing and capture of Nanking among other events. His portrait of Madame Chiang Kai-Shek is her favorite. The Russian invasion of Finland found him grinding out unforgettable pictures in the sub-zero weather of the long northern night. From Finland he went to Norway, Holland, Belgium and France, and from France, to England, where he was assigned by March of Time to cover Dover during the attempted invasions in September of 1940. The spring of 1941 saw him in Singapore.

Through it all Arthur Menken has remained unassuming, modest and a bachelor. Next to photography, aviation is his chief interest and he is a captain in the Marine Corps Aviation Reserve. He is a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, Adventurers', Explorers' and Harvard Clubs.

Arthur Menken is one of America's famous cameramen because he has photographed every war in the past fifteen years.

He has won two National Headliners' Awards—one for the best action picture of 1940, which depicted the British evacuation from Namsos, and the other for the best newsreel of 1936, which portrayed the relief of Alcazar.

He was the recipient of the Adventurers Club's first annual medal in 1938.

He was wounded in covering the advance on Madrid during the Spanish Civil War.

His exclusive pictures of the bombing of Nanking made newsreel history.

He was reported missing in the Japanese bombing of U. S. gunboat Panay in 1937, but turned up with a magnificent "scoop."

He was first to photograph the "stone age" Guaharibo Indians in South America.

He discovered and filmed waterfalls in unexplored British Guiana.
