OLD WINTER CARNIVAL TRADITIONS TO BE REVIVED ON GALA WEEK-END

Three Pledges Initiated To Chi O

On Friday, December 15, the following pledges were initiated into the Chi Omega sorority: Charlotte Hanks, Joan Hunt, and Mary Tetlow.

A Christmas party was held at the home of Roberta Marden on Monday night, December 18, at which small gifts were exchanged. Refreshments were served, and the evening was brought to a pleasant close by the singing of Christmas Carols.

On Friday, December 15, Kathleen McQuillan entertained the members of Delta Delta Delta at her home. Christmas gifts were exchanged and the group enjoyed refreshments.

The last meeting of the year for the Sigma Kappas assumed the form of a Christmas party for the Sigmas and their friends. Santa Claus, in the person of Mary Ellison, appeared to distribute the presents. Carols were sung, and cocoa and doughnuts were served.

The Alpha Delta Pi sorority also attended a Christmas party. A short program was presented and refreshments were enjoyed by all.

Professor Breckenridge To Discuss Governments

Professor Breckenridge will lead the Current Events discussion Friday night, January 12, in Smith Lounge at eight o'clock. A year ago, Professor Breckenridge met with the Current Events group and explained the meaning and significance of inflation. At this meeting Friday night the first part of the period will be devoted to an explanation of some commonly misunderstood types of economic and political systems: capitalism, socialism, communism and democracy. The latter part of the hour will be used for discussion, as usual, of the vital issues of the day.

Everyone is urged to come to this meeting. The terms capitalism, socialism, communism, and democracy are surrounded with emotional significance. They are terms in common use in our books, newspapers, speeches, and over the radio. Do you understand the full implications of each? No person can consider himself truly educated if he is confused about their meanings. No person has an all-around education who is not acquainted with the important events of the history which is being made now.

Why not come and bring a friend?

W. A. A. Volleyball Tournaments Begin

W. A. A. volleyball tournaments on the Hill got underway today, and will continue until January 20. The captains are: Alice Billington, Ruth Jaffo, Roberta Young, Joanne Smith, Shirley Flynn, and Mary Alice Campbell. Lucille La Gassoy is manager.

Friday afternoon, on January 20, a varsity team will be chosen by the captains, and also the class teams. In the evening, an after-dinner coffee will be held in Smith Lounge, at which time the members of the varsity team will be announced.

A basketball tournament to be held at the beginning of the second semester, is next on the program of women's athletics.

Crowning Of Queen Is Friday At Rink

One of the great highlights of the season will be the all-college Winter Carnival sponsored by the W. A. A., to be held from Friday, January 12, to Sunday, January 14. It is an old Colby tradition brought back again this week-end after a few years absence. There will be a Carnival Queen elected and crowned, a snow sculpturing contest, skating events, refreshments, skiing, a dance, entertainment, and an informal chapel. The whole week-end will be lots of fun and full of school spirit. Everyone is urged to join in the sports and all the activities. Open invitations have been sent to Bates, Bowdoin, University of Maine, and Colburn Classical Institute. They too, are invited to participate in all the events of the Carnival.

In the Women's Union and Foss Hall on Thursday morning there will be voting for the Carnival Queen. The candidates will soon be posted.

From Friday at 1:00 P. M., until Saturday noon there will be a snow sculpturing contest. Each house will make an entry. Friday night from 7:00 to 10:00 there will be an all-college skating party on the rink on the lower campus. This is a very special event. During the course of the evening there will be exhibition numbers. In a ceremony the Queen of Carnival will be crowned. There will be refreshments, too, Saturday from 1:30 to 5:00 everyone can go skiing on the Hill. There will be skiing events. At 5:00 there will be a general assembly around a warm campfire in the pine grove. There, awards will be made to the winners of the snow sculpturing contest and to the winners of skiing and skating events. From 6:30 to 8:00 Saturday evening there will be a sleigh ride for couples interested. There will only be a slight charge for this. At 8:00 a sock dance will be held in the Swiss Chalet, alias the Dunn Lounge. Everyone will dance in socks. A place to check your boots and shoes will be provided. The music by "The Tyroleans" will be played from 8:00 to 12:00. Admission will be 30 cents stag and 45 cents drag. The Swiss Chalet will be a replica of a Swiss Skiing Lodge. S. C. A. News

Evelyn Thackery has been elected co-chairman of the Chapel Committee. Evelyn is a senior transfer from Long Island University, and is also a member of Campus Relations Committee.

Sunday, January 14th, at 2 P. M., there will be an S. C. A. Cabinet meeting. Committees are requested to hold meetings in advance and plan their respective programs for this coming year.

At a meeting during the holiday, Professor Newman was re-elected secretary of the National Association of Biblical Instructors. At this conference he presented a study of the courses offered in the fields of philosophy and religion at 150 colleges.

Before vacation, Christmas Vespers were held in the Congregational Church. During the evening a large group led by President Bixler sang Christmas carols in Waterville. After the singing, the S. C. A. Cabinet presented Professor Newman with an Academic Doctor's Hood for his Ph. D. degree received at Boston University.

Geology Instructor Joins State Dept.

It has recently been announced that Carlton N. Savage, Instructor in Geology here at Colby, has been appointed assistant to the Secretary of State in Washington, and is in charge of geographical research.

Few details are known concerning Mr. Savage's new position, but, according to an organization chart in the New York Times, he reports directly to Secretary of State, Stettinius.

Mr. Savage graduated from Colby in 1938. He majored in Geology and became a member of Kappa Delta Rho fraternity. Following his graduation he went to Northwestern University where he did graduate work and received his M. S. degree. While there, he also served as Department Laboratory and Field Instructor. He then returned to Colby as an Instructor in Geology.

Colby Varsity Team Licks M. C. I. 66-46

The Colby Varsity basketball team scored its first victory of the current campaign when it crushed Maine Central Institute's hoopers, 66-46. The game was played Tuesday night in the Mules field house, and the preliminary game saw the Waterville Junior High School defeat the Colby Jayvees, 32-17.

The game started off slowly with neither team able to gain a decisive edge in the first period. Chet Wood and Ben Zecker paced the Blue and Grey scoring attack that gave Colby a lead of 14-9, at the end of the quarter.

Action stepped up the second period as the Mules hit their scoring stride.

They rang up 19 points while holding M. C. I. to 9; and the scoreboard at the half read: Colby 33, M. C. I. 18.

The Garnet put on their best show during the third period, and played Colby on almost even terms, Zecker (Continued on page 3)

Stanley Chapple Returns For 3rd Lecture Recital

Topic Of Renowned Conductor Haydn As Symphony Composer

On Sunday, January 14, Stanley Chapple will give a Lecture-Recital on "Haydn as Symphony Composer." Mr. Chapple has been Principal of the London Academy of Music, Guest Conductor of the London Symphony Orchestra and London Philharmonic, and Assistant Conductor of the British Broadcasting Company. He has done distinguished conducting on the Continent. He has been Dr. Koussevitzky's assistant at the Berkshire Music Centre for two years, and he was also Associate Director of the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore.

Upperclassmen will remember his brilliant performance on Wagner's "Die Walkure," in November, 1943. For the benefit of the newcomers it can be said in brief, he is one of Colby's "big events."

Mrs. Bither Becomes Ski Instructor Again

Skiing enthusiasts, either new or old, among Colby students are fortunate in having Mrs. Philip Bither, wife of Professor Bither of the language department, for their instructor.

Mrs. Bither was graduated from the Bouve-Boston School of Physical Education where she learned the essentials of skiing, and from Simmons College. Since then she has done a great deal of skiing on Eastern slopes, particularly in the White Mountains. She has skied on Mount Washington, Cannon Mountain and at Franconia Notch. While she has not studied under any famous skiers, Mrs. Bither has had some very good instructors and much practical experience.

During the years 1936 to 1941, Mrs. Bither taught physical education at Colby. At that time she also instructed Colby skiers.

Skiing classes at Colby in 1945 began last Monday. However it is not too late to sign up for skiing provided you have boots. It is Mrs. Bither's plan to begin at the beginning and teach the very essentials of skiing.

As soon as the student has learned the full control of his skis, he begins to have fun. Mrs. Bither urges that beginners come out for skiing and promises that the lessons will be confined to a great extent to the abilities of the most hesitant novices.

Basketball Clinic

A meeting of all coaches and officials of basketball from Central Maine was held last Sunday at Colby.

On behalf of Colby College, Coach Bill Millett welcomed the 25 coaches and officials who met for a general discussion of basketball rules and plays and attempting to get a definite interpretation of rules. Another point of discussion was the question of zone defense against "man to man" defense.

Colonel Mansfield, Winslow High School coach, spoke on zone defense and in turn introduced Wallace Donovan, coach of the Waterville New England Champs, who also spoke to the gathering.

NOTICE

There was an error in the announcement of the Hallowell Prize Speaking Contest. This will be held Thursday, January 18, at 8:15 in the Chapel instead of January 11.

Religious Emphasis Week Is Feb. 13-15

President Bixler To Open Program Tuesday Afternoon

This week at a joint meeting of faculty and students, plans were made for the Religious Emphasis Week program, which is scheduled for February 13-15. Marguerite Broderson, President of S. C. A. stated that the purpose of this activity is "to stimulate the religious life of the college and that the project had the backing of the entire college administration."

In connection with the Religious Emphasis Program, there will be a group of speakers who will come to Colby to survey the religious facilities of the new campus and also participate in the events planned for that week. These people are: Bill Kitchen and Elizabeth Johns, Secretaries of the New England Student Christian Movement; Sidney Lovitt of Yale; Howard Jefferson of Colgate; Newton Fetter and Don Falkener.

Opening the program, there will be an assembly on Tuesday afternoon under the direction of Pres. Julius Bixler at which time the speakers will be introduced. That evening the faculty and guests will meet for discussion and on Wednesday, on Mayflower Hill, there is planned a mass meeting of students, led by Mr. Jefferson. Other meetings on Wednesday will be small group discussions. On Thursday afternoon the program will end with a chapel service.

Girls Of Dunn House Granted Smoking Rights

At the last meeting of Student Government it was decided to allow the girls in Dunn Lounge to smoke at any time in their house, provided they do not abuse the privilege. They have had a trial period of one month. It was decided that the House Committees of all houses will be asked to check on all the smoking rooms, making sure they are properly equipped with metal waste-baskets and ash-trays.

Two girls will be appointed to work with President Julius Bixler on a committee for assemblies.

Helen Straces has been appointed House Chairman of Mary Low Hall, to replace Doris Taylor.

Colby Adds Gold Stars To Service Honor Roll

Two new gold stars must be added to Colby's Honor Roll. According to word received recently, Pvt. Phillips B. Pierce and Pvt. Robert H. Wescott, both of the class of 1945, have been killed in action near Metz in France, the former on November 10, and the latter on November 10, 1944. The two Colby men were members of Colby's group of Army Enlisted Reserve boys and were inducted together into service at Fort Devens in June, 1943. Their paths separated for several months but joined again when the two boys went into combat in France as members of different companies but of the same infantry regiment of the Yankee Division.

Pierce entered Colby in September, 1942, after attending Portland Junior College for a year. While at Colby he sang in the Glee Club and played in the Band and Orchestra. After induction into the army in 1943, he received his basic training at Fort Me-

Clellan, Alabama, and was sent to the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for ASTP training in engineering. He was transferred to Fort Jackson and, after a furlough, was sent overseas.

Wescott came to Colby in September, 1941, and joined the Delta Upsilon fraternity. Following his induction into service he spent a short time at the University of New Hampshire and took his basic training at Camp Hood, Texas. He was assigned to ASTP at Northeastern but was transferred to Fort Jackson, S. C. Soon afterwards he was sent overseas and into combat in Normandy.

A memorial service was held for Pvt. Wescott in the Blue Hill Baptist Church on December 24, with President Julius S. Bixler and Professor Herbert L. Newman speaking.

National Service Act . . .

In his annual state of the nation message to Congress President Roosevelt again called for a national service act. Such an act would provide for the registration of every man or woman in the United States so that their productive capacities could be utilized whenever it is necessary.

A national service act would prevent critical shortages, such as we are experiencing today, of arms and ammunition by providing labor "in the right places at the right times." During battle lulls goods could be piled up for future campaigns.

The proposed legislation will not mean that every individual would suddenly be forced to leave his job to enter war work. Congress will certainly back up the President on this point:

A national service act "would be used only to the extent absolutely required by military necessities. In fact experience in Great Britain and in other nations at war indicates that use of the compulsory powers of national service is necessary only in rare instances.

This proposed legislation would provide against loss of retirement and seniority rights and benefits. It would not mean reduction in wages.

It is not necessary to discard the voluntary and cooperative processes which have prevailed up to this time. . . We must build on the foundations that have already been laid and supplement the measures now in operation to guarantee the production that may be necessary in the critical period that lies ahead."

A national service act, in speeding up production, will bring victory nearer—peace sooner. And these are the most important things in the world today.

Keep Up With The Times . . .

Last year a Colby student, interested herself in the play of events in the world and wanting to give something of this interest to the other students, started a discussion group on current events. From a very small beginning of six or eight students this grew to meetings of forty or fifty students. Great interest in these meetings was displayed by the student body, and excellent results were obtained. After her graduation one of her friends took over the planning of these meetings for the benefit of the Colby students this year.

The program planned for this week seems especially significant to every Colby student. Professor Brockenridge will lead a discussion on the subject of socialism and democracy. Too few of us know what socialism is or what democracy is. We have only vague informed ideas which help us little in discussion because they are so vague. We cannot hope to help in making post-war plans if we do not understand the two ideas of government which will dominate it.

Every Colby student who can possibly do so should attend this meeting and all meetings of the Current Events group.

—J. ST. J.

To The Freshman Girls . . .

To avoid any misunderstanding concerning Panhellenic Registration, I would like to take this opportunity to explain the rule once more.

Panhellenic is asking any freshman girl who is interested in sororities and who has not already registered, to sign a paper stating her interest in being rushed. This registration does not mean that the girl must name the sorority in which she is interested, nor does it indicate when she will pledge or join. It simply shows that the girl has an interest in sororities.

A member of Panhellenic Council will be in the store of the Women's Union, Thursday evening, January 11, from 7:00 to 10:00 P. M. and in Smith Lounge on Friday morning from 9:00 to 11:00 A. M. Foss Hall freshmen and town girls will have further opportunity to sign, if they have not already done so, on Thursday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 P. M., or Friday evening from 6:30 to 7:35 P. M. at Foss Hall.

If there are any further questions, why not ask a member of Panhellenic—Janet Jacobs, Anita Herdegen, Joan Gay, Norma Taraldsen, Roselle Johnson, Virginia Blair, Jeanne Sellar and Roberta Holt? We will be more than glad to answer your questions to the fullest of our ability.

Second semester rushing is for your benefit. It is to give you time to look over the sororities, and to get to know the upperclassmen. This exchange of friendships and ideas will, I trust, help you to choose your sorority profitably and wisely.

Roberta Holt, Panhellenic President.

Dance Committee Report . . .

It is not impossible for Colby to have one big formal dance this year. The Student Christian Association Campus Relations Committee has tried to look into the various factors involved in putting on a dance on a big scale. Most of the organizations on campus have shown enough interest in the proposition to send delegates to meet with the S. C. A. group, thus forming an all-college dance committee. This committee will meet to make the decision for or against a dance, as soon as an estimate can be made of the prospects of good attendance.

It is possible to house out-of-town guests for the Saturday night of February 24th. There are lots of possibilities as to bands available. The dance can be held in the Alumni Building so that some who don't dance can hear the band from the balcony. There will be plenty of time for the basketball game with Bates before plenty of time for the basketball game with Bates beforehand, which Bill Millett has very generously moved up to 7:00 so it'll be over in time for the dance.

The above gives all that we know so far about a dance. Following is a blank which will tell the other half of the story. Do the students want a big dance?

	Yes	No
Do you want a big formal dance February 24th?	-----	-----
Is a good band worth $3.00—$5.00 per couple?	-----	-----
Do you prefer a lesser band so the bids will be cheaper?	-----	-----
Will you probably be able to arrange your own date?	-----	-----
If so will he (or she) need accommodations?	-----	-----
Check which band you would prefer of the following possibilities:
1. George Parston and 25 piece orchestra-----
2. Carlos Molina, 12 piece Latin orchestra-----
3. Reggie Childs Band-----
4. Mal Hallett-----
5. Jack Kaisers New Yorkers-----

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The ECHO does not necessarily agree with letters printed in this column. All letters must be addressed to the Editor and signed by the writer, whose identity will be withheld and pen name used if requested. The Editor reserves the right to withhold from print all or any part of communications received.

Letter to the Editor:

We've heard that quite a few of the girls who have signed up for the Medical Technology course are now wondering what they have let themselves in for. Maybe the following inaccurate picture will let them know a little of what to expect.

We have been getting the ECHO regularly and read it from front to back, enjoying every bit of it. Keep it coming and please don't forget us while we are in Boston during the next couple of months.

With quivering hearts and with quivering knees, Polly and I mounted the five flights to the lab at the Central Maine General Hospital on the first of October. We didn't know what was coming if we had—well! So started our year's training as lab technicians.

The first few weeks went by in mad confusion while we tried to fit ourselves into a quiet corner without tripping over a corpse or a stray appendix. We finally found in the morgue a quiet retreat where we could sit and meditate on the beauty of people's pickled internals without hearing someone yell, "Hey, kids, there's some slides to wipe."

We invaded the chem lab for a while next. Conquering a pipette was no easy task, but they let us practice on cokes first. It was hard when we had to discard the cokes, but we soon learned. Sulfuric acid is more caustic to the insides than soda pop.

Finally the big day arrived. We started on bacteriology. The first day was almost fatal, however. We practically choked each other doing throat swabs. We had another lesson to learn here. Those bugs were not as kind as Appy's. Those bit. If our Colby friends hear no more from us, they'll know that some savage strep escaped from his Petrie dish and gave us the works. At least we console ourselves by thinking we are dying for the cause of science.

Request: Friends will kindly come and sing, "Hail, Colby, Hail!" at our funeral.

Give my regards to everyone. I hope to get up to Waterville some week-end soon.

—Hope Emerson.

Final Examination Schedule Released

Rooms for all examinations will be assigned at a later date.

Students with examination conflicts must notify the Registrar's office so that adjustments may be arranged.

No changes in this schedule are to be made except by the director of schedule, and then only in the case of real necessity; notices of any changes will be posted on the bulletin board at No. 26 Chemical Hall and in the Women's Union.

John F. McCoy,
Director of Schedule.As You Were . . .
Before Christmas

You know, it's awfully hard to sit down and write a news feature just like that. For instance, I'm supposed to be writing an assignment about the week of school before vacation. I was here . . . but I just don't seem to be able to express myself. Perhaps if I enumerate:

1. Glee Club Concert:

It seemed to us that this was one of the pleasantest evenings that we've spent here. Considering that this group has time for only one rehearsal a week, the concert (although not a jewel of perfection) was really excellent. An extra large undertaking was the performance of Handel's Hallelujah Chorus from the "Messiah." Enlarged by the assistance of a good number of singers from Waterville, Skowhegan, and Oakland, the 120 voice chorus did itself proud in the rendition. Orchids to Mrs. Colgan, Lowell Haynes, Sally Roberts, Eileen Lanouette, Marguerite DeGiacomo, Betty Day, and Roberta Marden for really swell jobs, as well as a vote of thanks for others assisting in the concert.

2. Vespers and Caroling:

Planned by the chapel committee, the Christmas Vesper Service took place on Sunday, December 17th, in the Congregational Church. Prof. Herbert Newman, Rev. Clifford Osborne, and the Chapel Choir were the participants in the service. Led by President Bixler, a group of Yuletide spirited students filled the streets of Waterville with the sounds of the familiar carols in the evening.

3. Banquet:

Remember the juicy big chunks of chicken? And (wonder of wonders) the big pieces of yellow butter—real butter—that we had to go with the fresh peas? And that cake and ice cream for dessert! The cakes really looked sharp with the individual candles, and were they ever good! (For the recipe just send in two Wheaties box tops to Mrs. Bills, or Mrs. Judkins).

4. "S. C. A." tribute to Prof. Newman:

The S. C. A. really must have had fun picking out the present to give to Pop Newman; it's always fun to do something for someone you like. We didn't see the present, but it seems that a little bird dropped a hint that the Professor could use a hood for his academic robe, and consequently . . . Pop really liked it, too.

Thy Sons From Far And Near

William Gutteridge, '47, recently graduated from the aviation electrician's mate school at Jacksonville, Florida, becoming a Seaman 1st class. A native of Lawrence, Massachusetts. Bill was employed with Station WLAW before entering the service. He received his training at Sampson, N. Y., before going to Jacksonville. After his graduation at the Naval Air Station at Jacksonville, Bill went to Bronson Field, Pensacola, where he is now located in a Catalina squadron doing electrical repair work. Bronson Field is one of the seven auxiliary fields of mainline Pensacola Naval Air Station. As part of his duties, Bill takes a weekly test hop on each repaired plane which is ready to go back into service and also takes regular night flights.

Pfc. Joseph (Duke) Dutil, '46, writes from Italy where he is serving with the famed 337th Infantry Regiment. This regiment has been in Italy only seven months but has distinguished itself time and again as one of Uncle Sam's "fightingest" outfits. Says "Duke," "the country is rough and these older boys have seen plenty of action. They've come over every mountain and through mud up to their knees in places. It is all quite miserable, but it's a case of necessity." Pfc. Dutil sends his New Year's greetings to his friends at Colby.

The first member of the class of 1948 to write from the service is J. P. Berquist HA2/c, better known as "Phil" or "Doe" Berquist. Phil left college in November to serve in the Navy and was sent to Sampson, N. Y., for his boot training. He reports that he has passed his "A" swimmers test and is assigned to swimming instruction, "which is a pretty soft job." Phil expects to be back and see all of his Colby friends on his first furlough.

WITH THE BOYS AT THE START OF THE NEW YEAR

Lt. John Turner, '44, is serving as athletic and supply officer of his battalion at Camp Lejeune, N. C. After having three months' duty with an LST, Ens. Dana Robinson, '45, is stationed in the Hawaii Islands. Edmund H. Miselis, '45, was recently promoted to the rank of corporal and "can't wait to get back to Colby."—Pvt. Seabury Stebbins, '45, has returned to this country after a year of action in Italy. He has been reclassified due to wounds and is now at Camp Butner, N. C., with the camp's band.—Pfc. Earl S. Bosworth, Jr., '47, recently received his wings upon completion of a six week course at the Gunnery School at Fort Meyers, Fla.—Ens. Timothy Osborne, '45, is flying a PB2Y Coronado with the Naval Air Corps in the Pacific.—Aaron (Sandy) Sandler, HA2/c, of the class of '47, is attending a sixteen week course for Navy corpsman at Bainbridge, Md. He reports of meeting George Ullman, '46, and Jordan Kaplan, '46, while at Sampson.—Sgt. Everett J. Felker, Jr., '45, is stationed at Kelly Field, where he serves as an instructor in radio and radar.—Pfc. Elmer Jacek, '46, is attached to the K-9 Corps in Las Vegas, Nevada.—Pvt. Eldridge Wallace, '47, has just completed amphibious training at Camp Callan, California and gets most of his news of Colby through his cousin, Helen Knox, a freshman at Colby.

In another section of "Sunny California," another Colbyite from the same class has just finished his amphibious training. He is Pvt. William Skemmer, '47, who has been at San Luis Obispo and expects a furlough sometime this month with a possible chance of a visit to the Colby campus.—Ens. Theodore R. Buyninski, '45, recently obtained his stripe upon graduation from Northwestern Midshipman's School on November 22nd. Ted has been assigned to destroyer duty and is awaiting assignment at Norfolk, Virginia.—Owen Bailey, Mus. 3/c, '45, was wed to Ramona Tower, also of the class of '45, on December 10th in Washington, D. C. He is now off to sea for a period of two years and is still playing the drums for the Navy.—Ens. Alden D. Ridley, '44, was commissioned October 5th and has been going through a rigorous training since. He is serving with a night attack squad, which is pioneering in night attacks. Ens. Ridley expects to see South Pacific duty in the near future.—Ens. Richard Michelson, '46, is an Assistant Navigator aboard an Assault Transport—recently bumped into D. Robert (Bob) Kelly, FC3/c '46, and Lt. Henry V. (Rock) Rokicki, '44, who are also stationed on the coast.

Christmas vacation was spent in the usual manner. People got diamonds, dislocated ribs, went in the army, and got married.

After going over the obstacle course provided by the Maine Central and connecting railroads, one was free to enjoy such delicacies as sleep, two helpings of meat, and the front door key.

The low spot in Claire Finkeldey's vacation was the dislocation of a rib.

rang up 12 points in this period for Colby, while Harvey Varney and Dick Sirois paced M. C. I.'s scoring with 4 points each in the quarter.

The Blue and Grey dominated play in the last period, and displayed complete mastery over the opposition. Coach Roundy substituted freely in this quarter and this helped keep the final score down. The final gun saw Colby walk off with a well earned 66-46 win.

Pacing the Mule's scoring was Wood and Zecker, with 21 and 20 points, respectively. Stan Wyman with 12 points, and Sirois with 10, led the M. C. I. scorers.

The Colby basketballers next game will be with Bowdoin's Polar Bears in Brunswick on Friday night. This game marks Colby's second collegiate encounter, and the Mules will be gunning for the first inter-collegiate win. Prior to the Christmas recess, Bates, in a hard fought tussle, turned back the Blue and Grey, 71-56.

She said it happened while trimming the Christmas tree. Her first day back here was spent at the doctor's as the rib had gone out of place, the result of a hearty welcome from the pretor of Hedman Hall.

Barbara King, Lizbeth Hall, Jeanne Parker, and Audrey Cox came back with diamond rings. Doris Taylor used vacation to go out to Missouri, where she was married last Sunday. She is going to stay with her husband as long as he is stationed in this country.

Two of the Hedman Hall boys went into Army. Howell Clement went in the Air Corps and Paul Smith went in the Regular Army.

Jodie Scheiber was much surprised to hear herself paged, while on the observation platform of the Empire State Building as Sadie Scheeber, Everything was cleared up when a Chinese gentleman stepped out of the shadows and whispered that Sadie might be Jodie and that the management had found her wallet.

On arriving at three o'clock last Wednesday morning, the day she thought that classes began, Alice Christmas had quite a time getting in the dorm. Unaware that she was the first to arrive, she was at a loss to explain why everyone slept with their windows closed. After getting in through some obscure door in Louise Coburn, she found her room locked and finally curled up on the living room couch.

Togus Shows Given On Campus Jan. 4

On Saturday evening, Jan. 6, Colby students and faculty were given an opportunity to see the first Colby entertainment presented at Togus.

The show opened with a welcoming song sung by the girls of the cast. The first number was Anita Herdgen singing two selections. Jean Marshall and Bill Robson gave a snappy demonstration of jitterbugging, after which Ken Wentworth played a piano solo. The next number was a skit entitled "The Lighthouse Keeper's Daughter." Bradley Maximo as the murdered lighthouse keeper; Leo Davian, as the villain; Laura Tapia, the widow; Eileen Lanouette, the keeper's daughter; and Bill Robson, the doctor who won the fair daughter's heart, helped hit the heights for laughs in the evening.

Following this riotous skit, Marguerite Di Giacomo sang two selections, a lovely aria from Carmen and "Begin the Beguine." A little bit of Broadway was recalled by four co-eds in a song and dance act. Next on the program, Sally Roberts favored the audience with a monologue, "The Waltz." Betty Senlso and Leo Davian displayed their talents on the piano by their interpretation of Rachmaninoff's concerto.

The show ended with a song by the entire cast. Dancing afterwards took place in the Gym.

Five Seniors Biographies

Lydia Tufts. The gal with the infectious giggle, Pigeon has been active in Colby's musical organizations and is now president of the Glee Club. A Tri-Delt, an Economic major, she is undecided about her immediate future; but next time you see her, ask her about General Bradley's carrier pigeon.

Doris Taylor. The first in her class to take the big leap, Doris is now Mrs. Paul Huber. A daughter of Colby, a Sigma Kappa, and recently Mary Low's House chairman, she is planning to work in Boston with Doris Blanchard Hutchinson until Paul and Hutch come home.

Betty Lohnes. Betty's big ambition in life is to go to Russia, but she will content herself with New York where she is going after graduation, for the time being. She has been active in W. A. A., S. C. A., is a member of Cap and Gown, Phi Beta Kappa, the president of Pi Gamma Mu, and is feature editor of the Oracle.

Marjorie Merrill. She's a history major, a Tri-Delt, and is going to work in the Waterville Public Library after she is graduated. If that gorgeous jewelry has knocked your eye out too, it's that Seabee in the South Pacific who's diamond she wears.

Lucile LaGassey. Lue is one girl who has fulfilled her biggest ambition in life—to go to college. Now she has only to acquire that home with the playroom and the bar which constitutes her secondary ambition. Her activities include W. A. A., Glee Club, Inter-Sorority Athletic Board, and Alpha Delta Pi. A sociology major, she wants to get out of Maine to work.

"Home Sweet Home"

"Synchronize your watches, men," was the command. It was the afternoon of December 20, 1944, and the tense, uneasy group of students were nervously counting the minutes.

"Three minutes to zero hour" a voice rang out. The seconds ticked slowly and painfully by. The air was charged with anxiety. Tick, tock, tick, tock, tick; . . . suddenly, . . . "Whooppeeee!" screamed the students. ZERO HOUR! The last class had come to an end—the last class that is till after the Christmas vacation. A mad dash for books, coats, snowshoes, and bottles ensued and in a flash the class had made an orderly disappearance, tearing down only one door and three desks. The professor was left standing in front of the room, mouth agape and still playing with his yo-yo. "Ah, how nice it is to see youngsters happy once more. Oh to be sixty again," he said. With that he sauntered into his office and unchained a student who had forgotten to do the day's homework. He then explained to this student, "You see, my boy, it's for your own good. You know I don't ask you to write down all the Smiths' and Jones' in the New York telephone directory just to be mean, do I?" "No," sobbed the student. "Well then, you run along and study hard over the vacation. Now won't you do that for your old professor?" "Oh, off my ear," screamed the student as he rushed out the door.

I had been in that class and after sewing up the wounds incurred in the mad rush for the door I cheerfully packed my baggage. "Let's see now," I said to myself. "One shirt, one pair of earmuffs, one ski (slightly damaged), two bow ties, and my history, geology, physics and shorthand books. They'll come in handy if we run out of coal at home."

In the distance I heard the mournful wail of the approaching train's whistle. I dashed out of the dorm, kissed the steps of Hedman Hall, shed a tear or two, and then ran to meet the train.

Because of the number of Colby students travelling on the train, the railroad authorities had thoughtfully added a cattle car. We were then herded in. Amidst the mooing of cows and the bleating of sheep we boldly sang our beloved Colby songs. These are the college days one never forgets. It brings tears to my tired old eyes. Yet somehow the fact that the mooing and bleating of the animals was slightly more harmonious than our singing has never left me.

13 hours later I sleepily looked out of the window and watched the fascinating scenery flash by. Suddenly I saw it, we were nearing my little home town, New York City. Familiar scenes sped by. Yes, there were the slums and tenements, the exhilarating breath of Carbon Monoxide, and I could see rats playing gleefully in the East River. All those old memories that I had cherished rushed back in my mind. There were children happily playing ball in the overcrowded city streets. There was an M. P. carrying two intoxicated soldiers away I could control myself no longer. I cried copiously until we reached Grand Central Station. I ran all the way home. (Only four miles). and upon flinging the door open threw myself into my mother's arms. She caught me neatly after I had done a one and a half twist.

"Well, well," she said, "so my little man in home again." And how was kinder—I mean college?" "Oh, fine," I said. Where is my sister, Elektra?" (My name was Edipus). "Oh, she's out in back with pa," mother said.

The days flew by, and before I knew it, it was time to depart again for College. "Now mother," I said consolingly, "Don't cry. After all there are worse cars to travel in than oil tankers." I then kissed her careworn cheek and shook my father's hand. It was a warm send off. (My father still had his cigarette in his hand when I shook it).

I waved goodbye, and climbed into the oil car. I met three other Colby students in there and we immediately sang some of our songs.

13 hours later, we were again approaching Waterville. I knew this since I could see the large billowy clouds of sulphur dioxide, the three story snowdrifts and the "Vote for Hildredth" signs.

At last we entered Waterville. As soon as I got into my room, I unpacked my clothes and scraped the dust from the books I had taken home. I reloaded my shotgun (an instrument used when there is no excuse for undone homework), strapped on my snowshoes and was ready for another few months of work. "Here I come, Professors. Do your worst."

EXCHANGE VOLUMES OF LENIN LIBRARY

This year the Lenin State Library received 15,000 books from abroad under exchange arrangements. Many volumes of biographies of British statesmen have been received from the British Museum. Books on English music, the history of dancing and the history of stage costumes have also recently been received. Visitors to the Lenin Library, who number about 2,000 daily, are greatly interested in the exchange volumes.

A new industrial institute, the G70th in the USSR, is being established in Nizhny Tagil, with two departments, mining and metallurgy. Courses will be arranged for workers in their free time.

A University of Musical Culture, for senior pupils of secondary schools, workers, students and intellectuals, has been opened in Moscow. During the winter some 100 lectures will be there will be entertainment by some of Colby's outstanding talent. The week-end will end with an informal Chapel in the Swiss Chalet at 10:30 Sunday morning.

The Winter Carnival will be an outstanding event. Everyone is urged to come and to participate in all the events. It should really be a must on the list of every Colby student.

Lt. Quincy, the son of Mrs. Lucille Wintle, of Clinton, was graduated from Good Will high school in 1939, where he was salutatorian of his class. He entered Colby college the following fall and was graduated in 1943. Lt. Quincy was an outstanding track man while at Colby and was captain of the track team his senior year. Before graduation, he was awarded the Condon Medal by his classmates as the best all around college citizen during his four years at Colby.

On April 2, 1943, Lt. Quincy was called into the Army Air Corps. He graduated from Selman Field, Monroe, La., receiving his Navigator's Wings and commission as a 2nd Lt. He went overseas in May, 1944, and was on his 26th mission at the time of his death. He had received the Air Medal and three Oak Leaf Clusters.

On October 16, 1944, he married Rita Ferrally of Cambridge, England. His mother received a telegram from the War Department on November 16, stating that he was missing in action. On December 11, came word that he had been killed on November 2, in action over Myersberg, Germany.

Lt. Quincy is survived by his widow, his mother, two sisters, and a brother.
