Anastasia Should Have Stood In Bed

Sherrill to Be Puffed than Causally or The Results of Reading

A golden medal is the symbol of honor, and its receipt brings with it an increase of pride and a feeling of joy. It is a sign of achievement of excellence, and it is a source of encouragement for others to strive for excellence as well. It is a symbol of the hard work and dedication that goes into achieving success. It is a reminder of the time and effort that were put into achieving success. It is a symbol of the future that awaits whoever wins the medal. It is a symbol of the possibilities that lie ahead. It is a symbol of success.

Anastasia Should Have Stood In Bed

One day one of the poets she had been writing fell into the hands of Professor Moverov. He was so impressed with her work that he decided to recommend her to the literary magazine. He made her come up in front of the class and recite it and then write on the blackboard a hundred times more. "You are not, in my opinion, an excellent poet."

"What's wrong, m'lady," she cried, throwing herself on Lord Skaweskeren, who had been her chief censor of the past year.

"All their rhyming and latticework is wasted.

Nothing more.

If you aren't a poet, just think what a poet would think."

(The touching tale of Vyrene and Oscar)

Did you ever stop to ponder why Oscar Grimes never became president of the college—often?

Oscar was a fellow with a kindly disposition. It is said that at the age of eleven years, upon finding a fly in the oyster, Oscar threw it into the ocean to show his love for nature and the outdoors. He was a devoted fly-fishing enthusiast, known for his love of nature and the outdoors.

ASSISTANT CIRCULATION MANAGER Mary Waltera ett McDonald, Leon Strauss, Margaret Fliess, Helen Leide.

The Touching Tale

Vyrene and Oscar

When we arrived back at College after this brief vacation, Vyrene and I were both excited.

Vyrene had been learning to fly fish and had become quite skilled at it. She had learned to identify different types of flies—green flies, blue flies, orange flies, and above all his little favorite—alas, alibi named Vyron who would skitteringly pitch and dance on the bridge of the canal on his little legs.

From 9:00 to 11:00, he traveled to Coly College, and in the past year, he was made head of the Biology department—therefore the former friend having tied an oar of an oxemnt gun enjoying his role as a professor of the biology department.

As time went on, Professor Grimes became a well-known figure. People from all over the world came to see his work in action. With his keen eye for detail and his unwavering dedication to his craft, he excelled in the field of biology.

But alas, also and above, they had taken a royal tupus at the portals of Coley College. Mary Walters and Elmer

Van Heuven, at that time freshman, slipping in a game of bottlenecks, mislaced Vyron for a Shuttle of Shuttle and faile to replace it.

Previously reported in this column as having been officially declared a prisoner of war of the German government. The Murray Gore, '47, was a recent visitor to his parents several days ago. Pvt. Murray Gore, '47, who also left Colby about a short time ago, writes from the A. S. T. P. Maine, where he will be stationed for the next few months. He is in the Harvard Red Cross with several others. He is expected perhaps it will be quite a story.

Navy circles as a great achievement for those taking the professional or advanced courses. George C. Brown, '45, an Aviation Cadet, told his training at Bates college, and Columbia University. He sends his regards to all the new students.

High School Principals Thank Milliket For Help

State Basketball Association Says Colby Cooperation Vital

Ellsworth W. Milliket, Director of Athletics and Acting Athletic Symposium, was the center of ceremonial and chief officer of the meeting that praised Waterville High School's basketball team at a testimonial dinner last week. The meeting was attended by the team returns from the Barton. The crowd, 200 strong had no trouble getting in, but it was Bill who introduced Governor Horace A. Hildreth, Mrs. Eliot and talking about other members. Director Milliket, who was the master of the little club that in 30 years organized the rally, was also the solicitor of the policy held by the college from the Maine Association of Secondary Schools Principals. Its last follows below:

My dear Bill,

"To behalf of the Basketball Committee of the State of Maine, we want to express our sincere appreciation for your cooperation in helping to stage the State of Maine Basketball Game in this city this week. The Colby Field House was an excellent place to have the games."---Rogers, Alice-Marie McLeery, winner; Georgia Brown, runner-up.

On the lower campus, Barbara Tyson's team came through unbeaten. "The Pass" was quite plotless. Winners: Jean Rhodenizer, Dorothy Worthley, Janet McNamara, and Barbara Tyson, winner.

"Thanks again. I am sure that all the fans of Colby will be excited to think of winning and the fact that you only have to work once a week to win. "Mr. Smith, you do it with me once weekly! "I am always looking for new factories to work for "The Pass.""---Jean Gassett, Elizabeth Hall, Nancy Young, winners.

Men's Basketball:

Forward: Dorothy Worthley, Dixie Roundy, Henrietta Krice, Jeanne Sollnr, runner-up.

"Webber's Ices" have just built a new plant in Waterville. The plant, which is being built, will be used to manufacture ice cream and frozen desserts.

Varsity Team Chosen for '45 Basketball

The event of the women's basketball season has arrived—the announcement of the honorary class teams and the honorary varsity for the basketball season has arrived—the announcements of the new officers of Chi Omega were made.

ADVENTURES OF ADAM

ed in and Adam smiled broadly, but no log. No sooner had he been on the ground again than he looked for his companions. The two native Americans came up and asked him how he enjoyed his adventure. Adam explained that he had been caught in a storm and had to take refuge in a tree. They inquired about his clothes and Adam showed them the simple garments he had made from leaves and grass. The Indians were impressed and offered to teach him how to build a shelter. Adam accepted the offer and the two of them worked together to build a small wooden house. They were pleased with the results and Adam thanked them for their help.

Oscar Grimes

His scream was silenced by the powerful punch of a blow to the head. He collapsed to the ground, unconscious. A thought flashed through his mind—the thought of his family and the adventures they would face without him. But he knew he must face his future bravely, no matter how challenging it might be. Oscar rose up and stepped forward, ready to face whatever lay ahead.
