Hocking Of Harvard Speaks At Assembly, Sunday Chapel

Philosopher To Lecture Bixler's Ethics Classes

"The Emancipation of the Modern World from Religion" is the topic that William Ernest Hocking, Professor Emeritus of Philosophy at Harvard University, has chosen to speak on at the all-College required assembly on January 11th in the Women's Union.

Dr. Hocking, who arrived yesterday in time to lecture in Dr. Bixler's philosophy class, will speak in front of the same group to-morrow; to-night he is to give the Harvard Report at a Faculty Meeting at the President's House; on Friday he will speak at the required assembly; and Sunday night, January 13th, he will speak at the Vesper Service in the Lower Campus Chapel; where his topic will be, "What Role Has Conscience in International Affairs?"

One of the world's foremost philosophers, Dr. Hocking was graduated from Harvard, where he also received his Ph. D. Other degrees are those of L. H. D. from Williams College, D. D. from Chicago, Th. D. from Glasgow, and LL. D. from Oberlin College. He is an accomplished musician and artist. From 1902 to 1903 he was a Harvard Fellow in the Universities of Göttingen, Berlin, and Heidelberg, while students at Harvard, the University of California, Princeton, Glasgow University, Oxford and Cambridge Universities, and Lingnan University in Canton, China, have been fortunate to have had Dr. Hocking as a member of their faculties.

Among his writings are included, "Morals and Its Enemies," "Man and the State," "Types of Philosophy," "Split of World Politics," "Thoughts on Life and Death," and at the present time he is a prominent member of the Commission on a Just and Durable Peace.

Accompanying him is his wife, who has done extensive work in the educational field. She is the daughter of James Boyle O'Reilly, the renowned Irish Poet.

New England Journalists Underwrite Lovejoy Hall

The choice of Colby College as site of the American newspapers' $300,000 memorial to Elijah Parish Lovejoy, the pre-Civil War free press martyr, has been announced by William J. Pope, Publisher of the Waterbury (Conn.) Republican, and Chairman of the Lovejoy Memorial Committee composed of leading editors and publishers throughout the country.

The Committee proposes to erect a Lovejoy Memorial Hall as a part of Colby's new Mayflower Hill campus and to endow a Lovejoy Chair of Journalism. Of the needed $300,000, Mr. Pope stated, over $60,000 has been underwritten by the New England Daily Newspaper Association.

Associated with Mr. Pope in the undertaking is Hon. Herbert Hoover, honorary chairman, and a number of newspaper men throughout the country.

Owing to the illness of Professor Rollins, tryouts and the production of "Hay Fever" have been indefinitely postponed.

Carnival To Feature Formal, Sculpture Snow Sports Events

Orchestra, W.A.A., Pan Hel Aid Outing Club In Plans

Colby's first peacetime Winter Carnival will be held the week-end of January 18-20th. Plans already formulated indicate that it is to be one of Colby's best.

On Friday evening, from 7 to 9, there will be skating on the flooded tennis courts behind Foss Hall. From 7 to 11, there will be a sock dance in the Alumnae Building.

Snow Is Hoped For Urgently

Judging of the snow carving will take place Saturday afternoon. Immediately following this, there will be ski events on the chapel lawn, at which time the Carnival King and Queen, who will be elected at assembly will be crowned. Saturday night, complete with band and dance in the Women's Union.

Sunday morning breakfast will be served in the Union from 9:30 to 10:00; followed by an informal Chapel service at 10:30.

Many Students Work On Plans

Sponsors for the week-end are W.A.A., The Outing Club, Pan Hellenic and the Orchestra. General Chairmen, the officers of the Outing Club, are Geraldine Costello, Hazel Huelkins, Lawrence Wattle, and Cloyd Aarseth.

Publicity is handled by Kay Southworth and Dick Remy. Decorations for the formal dance, Joan Hunt and Edward Schlick, and refreshments, Doris Meyer. Chairman of the Sock Dance Committee is Marty Lohmans; Entertainment, Jean Hall; and refreshments, Kay Clark.

Ski Events are under the management of Faith Jones and Bob Mitchell; Week-end accommodations, Alice Rex; Skating Party, Harriet Hutchinson; and the Orchestra, Cloyd Aarseth. Sunday Breakfast is under the auspices of Pan-Hel; Chapel, SCA; and Sculpture Judging, W.A.A.

Voting procedures for the election of the King and Queen are under the direction of the Men's Student Council. Toby Harvey is in charge of transportation.

If there is no snow, the committees have provided for games and events that will in any event provide for an enjoyable week-end.

Ericson, Bedo To Discuss Occupation Of Germany

The final meeting of the International Relations Club for this semester will be held on Wednesday evening, January 16, at 8:00 o'clock in the Dunn Lounge. "Occupational Policies in Germany" has been selected as the discussion topic for this meeting, and the speakers will be Margaret Ericson, and Andrew Bedo.

Membership to the I. R. C. is still open and membership cards may be obtained from the secretary, Ruth Rogore.

R. Rodney Appointed English Professor

Announcement has been made by President Bixler that Dr. Robert M. Rodney has been appointed to fill the vacancy in the Department of English which has been temporarily held by Mrs. Gordon W. Smith. Professor Rodney will begin his teaching at Colby at the opening of the second semester.

Dr. Rodney is a graduate of Trinity College (Hartford, Conn.) Class of 1935; he took his M. A. at the University of Michigan a year later; and received his Ph. D. at the University of Wisconsin in 1945. He has taught at Pennsylvania State College; at the University of Wisconsin; and at Indiana University (Bloomington, Indiana).

Dr. Rodney's dissertation was on Mark Twain. Upon his arrival here at Colby, he will assume the instruction of the composition classes taught during the first semester by Mrs. Smith, and will conduct the work of two sections of the Sophomore survey of English Literature. Next fall, upon the opening of the academic year 1946-47, Professor Rodney will be in charge of the Sophomore survey of American literature, where his own special studies and research will be best put to work. He will also conduct a course in Advanced Composition.

Men Arrange Rules For Electing Queen Of Carnival Dance

At a meeting of the Men's Student Council held in the upstairs lounge of the Alumnae Building on Monday evening, January 7, the details of the election of the Carnival Queen were determined. The Queen and her attendants are to be elected in a series of two elections; a primary election to be held during the morning of Tuesday, January 15, and a final election on Friday, January 18. The primary election will be held between the hours of 7:45 and twelve noon in the Memorial Chapel. It will be carried on by a popular vote that will determine the five top contestants for the honor. Both men and women will place their votes for their choice. Any girl in the college is eligible. The names of the five top contestants will be placed on a ballot to be voted on during the evening of the eighteenth. The winner will be duly crowned Queen of the Carnival by Carl Wright President of the Council, at the formal dance on Saturday evening. The other four finalists will be crowned as attendants. All returns will be confidential and the final results will not be announced until the crowning of the Queen. Both elections will be conducted by secret ballot with check lists.

Waterville Vs. M. C. I. Colby Vs. Bowdoin Play In Double Header Game

Under the sponsorship of the Student Christian Association the annual World Student Service Fund campaign will get under way with a double header basketball game on Saturday, January 12. The games to be played are Waterville High School versus Maine Central Institute and Colby versus Bowdoin, the latter being an annual classic in Maine Collegiate basketball circles. All proceeds from the two games will be turned over to the W. S. S. F.

E. W. Millett of the Colby Athletic Department and Carl Wright President of the S. C. A. are responsible for the event, since it was they who sponsored the idea and arranged with the officials of Waterville High, M. C. I. and Bowdoin to have the games played on a benefit basis.

In order to express their approval of the arrangements many members of the basketball team have purchased admittance tickets already. Tickets will be sold to all spectators, including Colby Students at the door for the price of $60. However to avoid confusion tickets may be bought now at Allen's Drug Store. There will be no admittance on Athletic Tickets.

In addition to the varsity game in the evening, there will be also a Jay-vee game between Colby and Bowdoin at 4 o'clock that same afternoon.

It Is First Benefit Athletic Program For W. S. S. F.

It is the first time in the history of the W. S. S. F. that a benefit athletic program has been effected to obtain funds for the group and it is assumed that all students will give their full support to this cause. Colby people in charge of the affair estimate that the proceeds should reach and perhaps exceed the $1,000 mark, which would be three times the amount that has ever been raised at Colby before.

The money that is received will be used by the W. S. S. F. to provide relief and rehabilitation for students in war torn countries. Funds are proportioned to buy clothes, food, books and supplies and also to obtain medical aid for students throughout the world. All relief is distributed by the W. S. S. F. on an international, interracial, non political, non sectarian basis. To purchase tickets for the basketball games is the Colby student's and faculty's part in the enterprise of student to student help.

Students in charge of the drive are Carl Wright, general chairman, Alice Rex and Shirley Lloyd, tickets; Jean Whiston and Jane Wallace, publicity.

Administration Runs Into Several Difficulties In Effort To Provide Housing For New Students, Married Veterans

Dean Marriner has announced that housing facilities for one hundred more men will be ready for the opening of the new semester. Francis Y. Armstrong, superintendent of grounds and buildings, has promised that work on Boardman Hall (the former A. T. O. house), South College (Zeta Psi), and old Mary Low, which will be called by its original name, Palmer House, will be completed in time to receive incoming men in February.

Problems have arisen in the re-opening of these houses so long out of use. Plumbing facilities are inadequate and may not be entirely completed when the houses are occupied. Furniture is harder to get now than at any time during the war. But Dean Marriner repeats that there will be furniture and the houses will be occupied next semester.

Married Vets Will Have Trouble Finding Homes

Concerning the married veterans, the administration can do very little, since the Waterville housing situation is strained and unpredictable. The advice given to married veterans is to wait their chances and follow up every clue leading to vacant rooms and apartments. Dean Marriner stated that all the married veterans who came last fall without a definite place to live are now settled at least temporarily.

One of the married veteran problems which the administration particularly wishes to avoid is that of trailer housing. Trailers have been found unsatisfactory as living quarters and are not at all suited to the Maine climate, as has been shown at the University of Maine. There is a possibility that a married veteran's co-operative house can be set up in part of the Bangs House where Professor Green lives, but this would have to be worked out with the aid of the men themselves, and could not be accomplished until the semester well under way.

Support The W. S. S. F. . . .

Each year at Colby the Student Christian Association sponsors a campaign to raise money for the World Student Service Fund, an organization which provides relief and rehabilitation for students of the war torn countries of the world. In the past many methods have been used to solicit funds, but this year for the first time at Colby, in fact for the first time at any college in the country, a benefit athletic event has been arranged in order to obtain money for this group. If this affair is successful it is possible that the amount usually contributed by Colby can be tripled. However, this is possible only if all Colby students and faculty members give this drive their full support by attending the basketball games.

All proceeds resulting from the game are to be turned over to the W. S. S. F. and then proportioned to countries throughout the world, where they will be used exclusively for students. With the end of the war, there has arisen a desperate need to rebuild colleges, university buildings, and libraries which have been razed to the ground. Unless these structures are restored and food, medical aid, and books are provided, through American student aid, education in these countries will be at a standstill, and there is no peace without education.

American students have never known what it is to have empty stomachs, to live on starvation diets and yet value education so highly that they are willing to sacrifice all else for it. Neither have they known the experience of fleeing before oncoming armies, carrying all movable equipment with their own hands when even decimated with incurable diseases suffered through the ravages of war.

It is only through American students that these young men and women can be given their undeniable right to pursue an education under the standards, which we here have taken so far granted. How can anyone resist this appeal made by students to students? J. W.

Time For An Overhauling! . . .

Now that Christmas vacation is over, and we have returned to Colby refreshed (or otherwise) after a long-needed breathing space from the demands of daily study, classes, and other activities, perhaps this would be a good time to take inventory, look over our old stock, judge it, and decide what new features we would like to emphasize in this new year.

Few of us will deny that Colby needs many changes before it can move to the Hill with a clean slate, a progressive outlook, and a unified spirit. To become increasingly aware of our own college's failings, we need only observe the strides that other colleges in the country are making to realize that we are living under an old and fading regime of college and community living!

Plans are now being considered for a change in the existing cut system which is obviously inadequate. Other steps to think about are—an honor system for Colby and a study of the fraternity-sorority system, with the realization that it must be either liberalized or abolished in order to fit in with the alleged democratic standards of the college.

But before improvements can be considered or discussed, it seems that the most important endeavor of the New Year should be to rid both students and faculty of the apathy which has been predominant this year. The student body scarcely takes an interest in the betterment of the college—college functions meet with little response or cooperation. Members of the faculty do not seem interested in setting an example and express impatience with student groups that do urge progressive moves on the campus.

It is time that students and faculty become aware of the fact that they are part of a new and struggling community—one that will make an outstanding name in the field of education if given the impetus.

It is time for an overhauling!

Letters To The Editor

Open Letter to Colby Women:

The Executive Board of the Women's Student Government has drawn up a special set of rules for Carnival Week-end. Believing that this action is desirable for the occasion, the group has attempted to determine late permissions which are as reasonable as possible.

Permissions are granted until 12:00 Friday night and 1:30 after the formal dance Saturday night. In addition, the Executive Board has obtained permission from the Administration to lengthen the time during which the women's dormitories, the Union, and the Alumnae Building will be open to 12:00 Friday night and 1:30 after the formal dance Saturday night. These buildings are to be kept open in order that there will be places to entertain after the dances.

This system is to be put into effect on an experimental basis. Whether it will be adopted permanently will be determined by the manner in which the Colby women, as mature college citizens, undertake to fulfill the obligations thus incurred. The Executive Board has assumed responsibility for the entire women's student body in adopting these rules. However, a representative group of fifteen girls cannot fairly be considered responsible for carrying them out. It is a matter of individual conscience.

Therefore, we feel called upon to explain to you the importance first, of observing these rules; and second, of carefully considering their merits and disadvantages. Upon these points hinges the future legislative policy of the Executive Board.

THE EXECUTIVE BOARD Women's Student League

To the Editor of the ECHO:

We wish to thank President Bixler for his wholehearted support of the plan to send Bill Millett to St. Louis as Colby's delegate to the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Due to the sudden illness of Coach Roundy, the basketball team will be coached by either Bill or Mike Loobs, who has recently returned to the Physical Education department from the service. The fact that the Athletic department is now short-handed prevents a representative from being sent to the convention at this time. But Prexy has given the green light for future representation and Colby's athletic future will have a permanent and prominent place in the Mayflower hill firmament. It is indeed gratifying to have the president of the college conscious of the fact that sports as well as education have taken and will continue to take tremendous strides forward. It is the two together constantly improving that will make our world a better place in which to live, and one is as necessary as the other. One cannot isolate himself and learn how to improve. He must get ideas and suggestions from others. We feel sure now, that in the future we will have access to these ideas, thanks to the understanding of President Bixler.

PHOTOGRAPH CONTEST

The Colby Camera Club is sponsoring a Carnival Week-end Photo Contest. An arbitrary board of judges will be set up to pick the first and second best photos taken during any of the activities of the week-end. Pictures must be submitted to Dwight Erlick or Emily Gardoll before February 1. Blue ribbons will be awarded and the best photos will be included in this year's Oracle.

Weathervane

WEATHERVANE is very proud to announce that its Veteran column written by Gene Struck-off, '46, Senior representative on the Student Council has been reprinted on the front page, feature position, in the Ginn Co. magazine "WHAT THE COLLEGES ARE DOING." Over 50,000 American Educators receive the magazine. The Struck-off column also has been read on Alumni trips by President Bixler, being greeted most enthusiastically in Houlton and Portland.

Ed's note: The need for an adequate placement program at Colby is becoming ever more pressing. If this June's graduates are to be assisted, immediate administrative steps are needed. Major Warren, USAAF, Colby's Registrar, has been interested in this problem for a number of years, and is our guest-editor this week.

Although carefully controlled studies prove conclusively that relatively few jobs actually have been filled by college placement services, there being no positive substitute for personal application interviews, many colleges have provided their students and alumni with assistance in securing employment. These services differ in character according as the respective institutions are dissimilar, the trend at present being away from the "employment office" type toward more counselling and instruction in job-getting technique. It is not at all uncommon, particularly among vocational institutions, to commercialize placement even to the extent of practically guaranteeing a job to each student at the conclusion of his attendance. This represents the opposite extreme from the complete indifference to and neglect of students' transition from classroom to office still found at a number of institutions.

While a college is not obligated to try to locate gainful employment for its graduates it has become quite general to consider agreeable placement as one reasonable culmination of the educational process. In this respect the responsibility is primarily to society rather than to registrants for service. Although a college in admitting students assumes certain responsibilities it does not follow that it ought necessarily to recommend them all for jobs; there will always be students graduated who are difficult to fit into society and mere attendance ought not to be construed as qualifying them for recommendation for employment.

The liberal arts graduate normally finds it less easy to secure immediately attractive employment than the alumnus of a vocational school because placement is easier in proportion to the identity of activities in occupational and educational experiences. The placement of the liberal arts graduate must primarily be on the basis of qualities of character and apparent potentiality for learning some type of work rather than upon any acquired vocational competence.

More often than not placement has been an orphan, not too kindly accepted by some because of its concern with mere mundane matters; and in many instances inadequately financed by a too severely restricted budget. Colby's placement service was established in 1933 in the office of the registrar in accordance with Dr. Johnson's conception of placement as an integral element of the educational processes. Such an arrangement assures a desirable coordination of placement procedures and provides for incorporating into students' oridentials those data relating to admissions, academic progress, and extra-curricular participation which may be of interest to prospective employers. The services are available to students and alumni who wish to make use of the facilities for assisting them in choosing and securing agreeable employment. All any such service can do is to help through the use of tests, appraisal of college records, conferences and employer-contacts, to arrange for prospective employers to meet prospective employees. Securing a job is an individual test of and challenge to personal salesmanship and one of a placement officer's principal values is in trying to help an individual to answer the question: "How can I convince this prospective employer, for whom I think I wish to work, that he desires my services sufficiently to offer me employment?"

It is reasonable to anticipate considerable difficulty in securing employment during the ensuing several months because of the frictional unemployment which is one of the characteristics of the present primary postwar depression. When national income begins once more to increase employment will be much more easy to secure and employers may be expected once again eagerly to seek well endowed college men and women as employees.

Canvassing The Campus

Para Una Sienta, Desmayate. Have you ever tried to get a seat in a crowded Boston subway? Well, here's a new angle successfully used by an ingenious Colbyite while returning from his Christmas vacation in Florida. Loaded with cumbersome luggage, this clever character and three cohorts entered a stifling car and made a futile search for seats. A sly plan quickly formed in the mind of our hero.

Hanging onto his strap he turned the various colors of the spectrum, (that was how it was told to me and I didn't ask any questions although it is a bit of a miracle) and sank slowly to the floor. His companions, lowering themselves to the occasion, stumbled to his rescue and lifted him on to a seat reluctantly offered by a vivacious young lady in a red coat, (the red coat adds greatly to the story of course). His friends, worried over his condition, watched him carefully and offered useful suggestions, (why don't you get off at Scollay Square?). Reaching their destination, the three less fortunate comrades struggled through the door and our clever fiend, rising dramatically, strode triumphantly after them.

Paging Mr. Petrillo: To his many accomplishments Professor Paul Fullam has added that of song plucker. In a recent government class he exposed Hit Parade and from "rollable sources" quoted "ten swell little numbers," whose merits just haven't been recognized. Among them were Glob-aloney Swing, "a nifty novelty tune," Bilbo's Bill or Everyman a King "rite for the cats," and Sweetheart of Mine or Mother, "a sentimental ballad which will pull at the heart strings."

The quotes are excerpts from Professor Fullam's comments.

PARKS' DINER

Colby Defeats U. N. H. 47-33

As most of the Colby students were on their way home on December 14, 1945, the Colby Varsity Basketball squad finished the last lap of its abbreviated road trip by thrashing the University of New Hampshire 47-33 at Durham, New Hampshire. It was a well played game all the way and a very exciting one.

Coach Roundy, as was expected, shook up the starting lineup and sent Rod Myshrrall, Connie Shephard, Bill Mitchell, Barney McDonough, and Arvy Holt onto the large New Hampshire floor as Co-captain Bob Mosely and Chet Woods sat out the opening minutes in this game.

Mules Trail at Start

New Hampshire jumped into an early lead as Petrocholas sank a field goal and White, a field goal and a foul, to put New Hampshire five points ahead. From this point on, the lead changed hands five times with Colby finally surging ahead 14-13, never to be headed again. From this moment on it was all Colby as shot after shot dropped through the hoop, and at the half-time, Colby was on the long end of a 29-17 score.

The second half saw the scoring honors more evenly divided, as Colby went into the final gun with a 47-33 margin.

Mitchell Scores for U. N. H.

The interesting note of the second half was big Bill Mitchell's amazing two-handed jump shot which went clean through the nets of the New Hampshire basket—which raised quite a roar from the hundreds of New Hampshire rooters and brought a rather large laugh from the Colby bench. The points were credited to the captain of the opposition, as a present from our generous center.

The high scorer of the evening was Shephard of Colby, with 14 points followed by Captain White and Petrocholas of N. H. with 13 points each and Woods of Colby with 12. Tonight Colby travels to Bangor where they once again take on the Dow Field Bombers.

Sport Light On Loeb's

The "old man" is back. Gilbert F. ("Mike") Loeb's has returned to Colby after seventeen month's service in the Army. There are a very few students in Colby who remember Mike but those that do, remember him as a grand gent who, to use a well-worn phrase, was "universally beloved."

Before leaving for service, Mike was Director of the Department of Health and Physical Education. In his ten years in this capacity he spent several seasons coaching various athletic teams. In the period between 1934 and 1944 Loeb's, with the aid of the other members of the Athletic Department, turned out a continuous parade of successful athletic teams.

Noted For Workouts

As a physical education instructor, he was noted for his extremely light workouts including one hour of calisthenics, two and one-half miles of track, and to put the finishing touches on this mass murder the subjects were asked to hang from the chinning bar by their teeth. (Chin-teeth. That was a joke, son!) Best known, however, among Mike's enterprises was his direction of the Outing Club at Great Pond. It was there that he frequently conducted organized drowning sessions called Water Polo.

Mike attended Central High School in Evansville, Indiana as a youth and then Springfield College where he received his B. P. E. degree in 1925. He captured his B. S. in physical education at the University of Pittsburgh in 1927, and his M. A. at Columbia University in 1930. Mike coached at Thiel College, Lincoln High School in New York City, Pennsylvania State College, and finally Bates College Summer School before he was called to Colby in the fall of 1934.

Helped Recondition Casualties
Mike held the rank of Captain in the Army, and was a reconditioning officer in the Medical Administration Corps. He was stationed at Lexington, Virginia and had complete charge of the reconditioning of casualties sent to his locale. Only one other man in New England met the high requirements laid down by the Army for this post.

Now that you're back, we all say greetings Mike. (And this time not from Uncle Sam!)

QUEST and CONQUEST

By Anne Houston

Most of the activity in Women's Sports this week is winding up those tournaments that were going on before vacation, and planning tournaments and activities to come.

The bowling tournament was completed; and Dottie Cleaves, Sylvia Thyng, and Jan Mills won. Their final score was 90; this average determined by averaging two of the trio's highest scores.

The badminton tournaments still haven't been completed, but only the final singles at Foss Hall are left to be played on the lower campus. Progress on the upper campus isn't quite so active as far as I can see.

Volley Ball Starts Soon

Miss Joyce Maxon is making plans for beginning the volley ball games, and a list of players has been made. Anyone who is taking volley ball as a sport can still sign up if they see her; however, unless three practice periods have been played no one can sign up.

The skiing classes are all set to start, but there seems to be only one thing lacking. Snow. Let's all pray for a good storm soon so that the carnival will be a big success!

By Cloyd Aarseth

Sports fans in and around Waterville (and that includes all you Colby students too) are in for the biggest basketball evening of the year this Saturday night when Colby takes on Bowdoin, and Maine Central Institute tangles with Waterville High School in a benefit doubleheader. All receipts from the games will be turned over to the World Student Service Fund and the sixty cent admission charge holds for everyone: players, referees, coaches, and every person looking on Saturday night will have made his contribution to this worthy cause.

We can't stress too emphatically the hope that the entire Colby student body will turn out en masse. Not only will you be giving a small token gift, but you'll also be treating yourself to a really grand night of basketball entertainment. And what, may I ask, could be more entertaining than seeing our Blue and Gray hoop squad polish off Bowdoin's cage warriors for the first time in three long years. We can't guarantee that the Mules will come through with a win, but all signs seem to point in that direction. On the basis of comparative scores against the University of New Hampshire, Colby holds a ten point edge, Bowdoin having won by a 47-43 count and our Mules by a 47-33 margin. Personally, we're almost willing to bet our last nickel that the Blue and Gray will come out on top, and be away and winging in its quest of this year's state basketball crown.

The curtain-raiser on the evening's program promises to hold as many thrills as the featured games, since it brings together two of the best high school quintets in the state. Tickets are on sale now, and we'd advise you to get yours pronto. There are only a limited number of seats, and since there are no reserved sections it's a case of first come, first served. Don't let a swell chance like this slip by, get your tickets now and get there early Saturday night for a good seat. The first game starts at seven and the doors open at six o'clock sharp.

And now to round out this week's sport picture. The Mules tune up for Saturday night's tilt tonight when they take on an improved Dow Field five at Bangor. Although the Bombers have been strengthened by recent additions the Blue and Gray should pick up their third win in four starts without too much trouble. However, the Colby five will be operating without the services of Coach Roundy for the rest of the semester; and this blow may have a very definite effect on the club's performance. And if that loss wasn't enough, it looks as high-scoring Rod Myshrrall will be side-lined for both tonight's game and the Bowdoin game by a sprained ankle. Rod picked up the sprain in last Saturday's scrimmage. But rounding out this week's column on a cheerful note, we'd like to welcome back Mike Loeb's after his service in the army. It's mighty good to see him back, and he's a welcome addition to Colby's fine Athletic Department. It looks like 1946 will be a great year in Colby sports history.

SECOND SEMESTER ELECTIONS

Students presently in attendance and who register for the second semester will be enrolled in those second semester classes indicated on the approved election cards filed in the Registrar's Office unless they amend their elections in accordance with established procedures. Voluntary revisions of programs may be accomplished without penalty prior to 15 January 1946; the forms are available at the Registrar's Office.

Enrollment in certain second semester courses is cancelled if students fail to pass the corresponding courses during the first semester; the adjustments in programs caused thereby may be effected on Tuesday, 12 February 1946, registration day for the second semester.

Students are now reminded that tuition is due on Tuesday, 12 February 1946, and that no excuses or extensions are granted for late payment. Embarrassment and inconvenience may be avoided by paying tuition prior to the 12th of February.

Editor Lauds Staff Members

Writers of the ECHO staff were commended for outstanding stories during the semester Monday evening at a meeting of the entire staff in the Alumnae Building.

Hannah Karp, editor of the ECHO conducted the meeting, and on behalf of the editorial board commended the following writers for stories written this semester: Josephine Scheiber, Nancy Jacobsen, Janet Gay, Sanford Kroll, Don Nicoll, Richard Reny, Robert Matusoff, and Burton Krumholz. William Mason of the business staff was also mentioned for his work in advertising.

Appreciation was expressed for the constant cooperation of President Bixler, Joseph Smith, and Professor Weber in making special efforts to bring important stories to the paper and to other members of the faculty who have given their services when called upon.

Unknown Man Bequests $20,000 For Campus

Interesting evidence that Colby's situation has concerned many outside the college constituency was contained in a letter received recently by Dr. Franklin W. Johnson, chairman of the Colby Fund Council.

Asserting that he knows no Colby alumni or trustees, and has no particular interest in the State of Maine, the writer, nevertheless, goes on to say: "Twenty-five or more years ago I frequently passed through Waterville, either by motor or train, and always noted the severely restricted campus of Colby. I thought then that some day the Trustees of the College must do something about it."

"In 1919 I was connected with the Alumni Committee of Yale University to consider 'A Plan for University Development.' It was formed primarily to consider the physical side of the University problem, but as we were so firmly fixed in the center of New Haven, very little could be done about it and so most of our work developed on the educational side.

"You can easily deduce from the above, therefore, that your plans for developing Colby College on your Mayflower Hill is of great interest to me. I feel that in view of this that I should make at least a token gift to help in this development . . ."

The "token gift" was in the form of securities worth more than $20,000. This support from a relatively disinterested donor confirms the position of Colby's leaders that the Mayflower Hill project is one which transcends the usual circle of a college's alumni and close friends.

Danger, Men At Work

By Bill Mason

Special to the Colby ECHO. (N. Y., N. Y.) Posing as a bosom friend of a Colby student, now in the Army, a man calling himself W. W. Moore approached the student's parents with a plausible line of relevant information. He apparently possesses many facts, since he was able to convince the current victims with valid statements even to the extent of knowing at what Army camp the student had been stationed recently.

In this particular case, he claimed that his car had broken down and the parents, obviously overwhelmed by his seeming familiarity with their son and other students, "loaned" him $35. Needless to say, the car, Moore, nor the money will be seen again. This is not the first such case of its kind, and the same ruse has been used in Philadelphia and Boston. It seems to be the practice to work a particular area at one time and therefore this is directed especially to those students from the New York City region, who are urged to warn their parents before they also fall victims to a vicious racket.

Radio Club Plans Programs

The Colby Radio Club was formally reorganized Sunday, January 6. Mr. Rollins was elected faculty adviser by the ten charter members present. Plans were made for the production of the first program on January 27 over WRDO in Augusta. This same program will be given later over WABI in Bangor.
