Dr. Feller is also a member of the Bars of New York, District of Columbia and the Supreme Court of the United States; American Society of International Law; Advisory Committee of Research in International Law. He has had numerous articles on legal and economic subjects in professional and popular journals beside many books on law.

The Focus is not dead, but has been delayed by production difficulties. An attempt is being made to have the magazine on sale during Winter Carnival Week-End.

Professor Edgar Wind who was expected for a lecture in the Averill Series on Art on Feb. 7, has been ill and is unable to come.

Union And East Hall Ready For Use Next Week

Wednesday, February 5, is the definite date upon which the men in Palmer House, South College, and Boardman Hall will move to Mayflower Hill. Residents of old Chaplin Hall will move at a later date, not yet fixed. This announcement was made after a meeting of E. C. Marriner, Dean of Men; A. G. Eustis, Treasurer and Business Manager; and F. Y. Armstrong, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds.

Union Opens Week of February 9

The week of February 9, was given as the time when the cafeteria in Roberts Union should open. In an interview, Dean Marriner stated that he was confident that the cafeteria would be open in the early part of that week. "I would not," he said, "agree to having the men move if this was not so." For those few days between opening dates, therefore, the men in East and West Dorms will have to eat, as they have been doing in Foss Hall.

The College has secured the services of a professional trucking concern to handle the emigration to Mayflower Hill. On Wednesday afternoon February 5, a truck will be at Palmer House at 1:00; South College at 2:30; and Boardman Hall at 3:30.

The following suggestions and requests were made by Superintendent Armstrong regarding the moving:

1. Trunks should be marked with the student's name and the name of the dorm into which he will move.
2. Luggage (suit cases, cartons, etc.) should be marked with the student's name, dorm name, and room number.

WINTER CARNIVAL IS HERE!

Group pictures of Colby Sons and Daughters will be taken for the Colby ALUMNUS at 1:00 P. M., Thursday, January 30, at the Alumnae Building. A complete attendance is urgently requested.

This Is The Way To Sculpture Snow

Many participants will be trying Snow Sculpturing this week for the first time. The following suggestions have been offered from experience before the war.

The most common fault is planning entries which are too small or too elaborate.

Make It Large

Most beginners think in terms of their childhood "snow man" idea, with some variations. In other words, they try to sculpture an upright figure about life size. This usually results in trying to mold small features which disintegrate in a few hours of sun, furthermore, to do the human figure with any success calls for more sculpturing ability than most beginners have.

The best results, then, will come from themes which can be carried out with massive simplicity. Beware of ideas which require thin extended parts. Something which is solid and with large enough detail to withstand some melting, is best. This requires plenty of snow to work with,

Mr. James Humphry Succeeds Dr. Warner As Colby Librarian

The appointment of Mr. James Humphry III, of the New York Public Library to be Librarian of Colby College is announced by President Julius S. Bixler.

Mr. Humphry will succeed Dr. Gilmore Warner, who will continue on the Library staff as associate Librarian, but will also conduct courses in the department of history for the second semester, taking the place of Professor Emeritus William J. Wilkinson, who will return to his winter home in the south.

Mr. Humphry, who came from Harrison, New York, entered Harvard University in 1935, after being graduated from the Dwight Preparatory School. He was on the track team at Harvard, and received his first interest in Library work as a student assistant in the Harvard Library. He was graduated from Harvard in 1939, and began a full-time job at the New York Public Library, and at the same time started in the Columbia University School of Library Service. In 1941, Mr. Humphry received his B. S. degree in Library Service, and entered the Armed Services in January, 1942.

After fifty months' service in the Field Artillery, fifteen of them in France and Germany, serving as Executive officer of the 373rd F. A. Battalion of the 100th Division, Mr. Humphry went back to the New York Public Library as chief of the Map Division, from March, 1946 until January, 1947, when he received his appointment to Colby.

Vocational Guidance . . .

The chief aim of the majority of students who attend Colby College is to secure a job after they have received a degree which signifies completion of four years in the pursuance of a liberal arts education. Although most students are aware of this problem upon entering college it is not until the senior year that it becomes pressing and the task of finding an employer imminent.

With the realization that the following year will not see the return to life as a student the average senior is beset with many questions which he cannot answer for himself. Chief among these questions are: "what am I qualified to do?" "Do I have an aptitude for the work I would like to enter?" "Exactly what sort of jobs are available and how do I go about finding one?" As the final year in school rapidly passes and these questions still are unanswered it becomes a case of necessity for the prospective employee to snatch at the first opening in order to be assured of a future income.

At present Colby does maintain a placement service but its main function is to bring together employee and employer. Although this is a helpful service it is not broad enough since the senior receives no vocational guidance before being presented with the opportunity for a job. If given guidance and advice individually, by a trained person, it would be possible then to obtain placement in a vocation to which the person would be best suited and achieve the most satisfaction.

As a valuable aid to this senior class and future senior classes Colby College would do well to provide a system of vocational guidance which would make the task of finding a job a less difficult and confusing process.

Miscellaneous . . .

One of the chief ailments which seem to be prevalent among Colby students this year is a severe case of gripes. The course followed by this illness is the discharge of a prolific barrage of complaints directed against every club, organization and activity at Colby College. However, the sufferers do not seem to realize that the only way to free themselves of this plague is to get out and do something about it themselves.

Constant criticisms are heard because Colby has no band in attendance at football and basketball games. Yet week after week two Colby students interested in the formation of such an organization spent fruitless hours attempting to induce people to lend their talent, but as yet no such talent has been forthcoming.

At the beginning of this term the revival of "Colby At The Mike" was greeted with much enthusiasm by the student body, but as the weeks wore on complaints about the program became more and more numerous. Yet still very few, if any, students have grasped the idea that they might be of help to the sponsors of the broadcast if they indulged in constructive, rather than destructive criticism.

When it was suggested, it was unanimously agreed that a varsity show would be a fine way to infuse some spirit into the college, and provide an outlet for talent. When the time came to cast the show it suddenly came to light that much of the talent at Colby had gone into hiding, and much of it still remains unfound.

After seven days of pounding a typewriter and begging for overdue copy it becomes more than a little disheartening on Wednesday night to be hailed with "the ECHO smells." The ECHO staff by no means is adverse to criticism, but only once during this year has a student seen fit to put in writing a list of concrete suggestions which would aid in the publication of a better paper.

Perhaps the problem is that the students of Colby are suffering from this chronic malady because they have a vitamin deficiency which results in the lack of talent or ability to participate in or contribute by suggestion to the many activities in operation. But if the situation is otherwise and these students abound in talent and ability as their complaints would seem to indicate, then it's about time they get busy and direct it into channels where it is needed most.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

All letters should be sent to The Editor of the Colby Echo. They must be accompanied by the writer's name which will be withheld on request. These letters do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Editorial Board of the ECHO.

Dear Editor:

This letter is not written to be either querulous, or humorous. It is in fact, written to see if something can be done to improve the present bus system between the lower campus and Mayflower Hill.

As you know, next semester, the residents of Old Chaplin Hall, Palmer House, South College, and Boardman Hall will be living on the "Hill." The present bus system is already inadequate. Almost every morning the buses are either late, or there are not enough buses to transport the students to and from the "Hill." For example, by actual count, one-tenth of the student body has been transported from Mayflower Hill to the lower campus in one bus, in one trip. Do the college authorities realize the hazardousness of the present transportation system, when they allow 90 students to be herded into a single bus???

This late arrival causes a great deal of consternation to both the student and the instructor. After the instructor has taken attendance and starts the day's work, there is always a disruption at the back of the room, when the "Beetle's" occupants dash into the room, sometimes as much as twenty minutes late.

True, the weather must be taken into consideration, but what will be the result the next two months when the buses, which are already so overcrowded, have to transport all these extra students who are moving to the "Hill", in the worst two months of the college year?

Now that all the men residents of the lower campus are moving to the "Hill", except two dormitories, why can not the hours of the bus system be extended? If the men students, for any reason, go downtown at night, it is impossible for them to get transportation back to the "Hill" as the system now stands.

It is now time for the right authorities to correct this situation for the welfare and benefit of both the student, and the college.

B. D.

Dear Editor:

I've been forced to a bleak view of the imminent migration to Mayflower Hill. I had resigned myself to semi-isolation, to slogging through mud come spring, to time-consuming travel after books, toothpaste, postage stamps, laundry and an occasional beer. This bus situation, however, is a plight that is approaching the intolerable. Since I do not yet live on the hill, I had at first listened to complaints with the same tolerant amusement I imagine the college administration must feel. When I myself began to meet difficulty, I stopped smiling.

My first enlightening experience was after a showing by the Colby Film Society, when I had to walk home. It was snowing, there was no bus, and there is still too much at-burn in my blood for me to enjoy these brisk evening walks. Since then I have discovered that some flimsy planner has arranged that a bus should leave the hill at 9:15 P. M., and that all lectures and meetings should end at 9:20. (Perhaps the lack of transportation is at the root of the lethargy so many are bewailing in the student body.)

I'll give an example of the difficulty. Just the other Sunday, there was a piano recital in the Women's Union; one of the Averill Series, at eight o'clock. According to the schedule, there was a bus at seven, another at nine—neither of them very convenient. I heard a rumor that there was to be a special bus before and after the program, but I fast learned not to trust even the regular schedule. So there I was at the Union, an hour early. The program ended before 9:30, but late enough to insure that we should miss the 9:15 bus. (A few sensible souls walked out between numbers—to catch the bus, I assume, more than to avoid a mediocre program.) What turned out to be a crowded bus-load of us waited in the cold for awhile for the "special bus," and then scattered for shelter. We boarded the bus at 10:15, having spent over three hours to hear less than one and one half hours of music.

I'll make some constructive suggestions. First, I suggest that automobile ownership be made one of the requisites for entering freshmen. Second, that the coeds have their mothers write complaints to the President—evidently the only effectual way students can bring pressure to bear. Third, that an annex of the Tavern be established on the hill, to reduce drunkenness. Would any man risk walking back for one beer? Fourth, that the bus schedule posted in Foss Hall be removed. This, the only one to my knowledge on the lower campus, takes the sport out of this game of "bus-tag." All of us should start with equal ignorance, to keep the game fair. Fifth, that Colby-on-the-Hill replace the White Mule as a mascot with a Hibernating Bear.

My criticism, that of one not yet resident on the hill, is petty carping compared with stories I've heard from those who have to bus to classes. Some of these would strain anyone's credulity. Then, for weeks now, instructors have legitimately grouched that classes start from ten to fifteen minutes late each day. Compared with many others, I have no grounds for complaint. Rather than complain more, I have decided to continue with my preparations for the big move. I am getting together supplies enough for a winter's siege, but I'm finding it hard to convince all my instructors to give me unlimited cuts and to let me take exams by mail. If we could require them all to ride the busses for a week, we'd win them over to my point of view.

Bussophobe

Dear Editor:

The Deplorable Plight of the Last Minute-Men
That's a Long, or Cold One-Point-Eight

The person who calculated the prevailing bus schedule must have: (1) been using a slippery slide-rule, (2) been majoring in Tavern 7-8 and had just finished an hour exam, or (3) been out to prove that sex is here to stay, even though battling against almost insurmountable odds. It is these odds that I am concerned with, for they are stacked up against me and others like me who prefer nothing else to spending a few restless hours in the basement of Louise Coburn Hall and similar classrooms where the advanced laboratory sessions of Armour three-four and Sex five-six convene.

Being an amiable person, always maintaining a proclivity for giving the other beings, inhuman and otherwise, the benefit of the doubt, I must assume that there were quite a few beads missing from the abacus the bus driver and the college authorities used when they conjured up this routine.

Although I find Math 01-02 a terrific struggle, it took me less time to figure out the discrepancies of time between the last bus down and curfew, than I have spent standing in one Foss Hall chow-line, waiting for my steak, apple pie and Sal-Hepatica.

Succinctly, these differences are:
Thursday . . . 45 minutes
Saturday . . . 30 minutes
All Others . . . 40 minutes

Or, as any psych-soc major can plainly see, over three woman-man hours of concentrated effort in almost any direction have been irretrievably lost. What man alive, even though his basementing days are over, wouldn't want to spend this lapse of time in the lapse of women?

There is the problem. As for the solution, I can only ask: why can't the departure of the last bus from Mayflower Hill coincide with the girls' curfew?

A Regular Commuter

Dear Editor:

Are long week-end assignments necessary, and are they advantageous or unadvisable? Colby students ponder over these questions on Saturday noons when classes end for a brief week-end.

We are inclined to believe that if our minds were free from studies we would be more relaxed when the bell for the first class on Monday morning rang. It is generally known, and all of us agree that studying is more tedious than manual labor. Why, then, are we not allowed free week-ends when laborers leave their work behind and forgotten on Sundays?

In analyzing this criticism of week-end assignments let us first consider, whether or not they are necessary. If students are given their assignments at the beginning of the week they plan them so that the week-ends are free. However, if the instructor assigns work on Fridays or Saturdays the student must study during that week-end.

It hardly seems advantageous for students to spend the few remaining hours on Saturday and Sunday with their eyes focused on books. Why not relax? All of the service schools learned that students accomplished more during the week if they were free on week-ends so they maintained this policy throughout the war.

Primarily, we are here for an education. Does it matter if we spend Saturday evenings at a dance and Sunday afternoons at a movie as long as we continue our present standards of learning in order to reach our ultimate goal at Colby, namely, a degree which represents sufficient knowledge in preparation for our life's work? Is it advisable to continue piling on the work to be completed on Sundays?

Members of the faculty, what do you think?

Interested Student

Gentlemen:

It has long been in my mind to write a testimonial letter to you—one which I feel sure you will never publish of your own accord. You see, I happen to be one of the unfortunate individuals who must live (?) in the dormitories your seizures of genius are responsible for.

After four years of serving in the Great War, I returned a little shaken; personality a mite bruised; slightly more conscious of the finer things in life. While so serving I was very closely associated with guns—All kinds of guns—the paint kind—and the kind that shoots explosives (5-inch to be exact). None of them make quite the noise of the front door which you installed in Chaplin Hall—it sounds more like the Atom-gun they used at the Bikini tests.

The walls—although stable (?) and solid (?) transmit sound a bit better than WTVL (which we can't hear at all, due to something I feel sure we can saddle you with also). Although you usually can't see the individuals you hear snoring (or worse) at night—you certainly get rocked to sleep to the tune of enough rip-saws to cut quite a bit of wood. It has reached the point where I know all the problems, all the women, all the future plans, all the co-eds and all the quirks of the men who live five doors down from me in Pepper Hall. Although it may be nice to know everybody, I get awfully tired of this college version of Porcia Faces Life. You see—I really don't care whether she will go to the DKE dance with him or not!!!

I guess we are supposed to get all of our liquid refreshment at Onie's—but I think a bubbler makes things look awfully 'homey'—don't you???

As for the heating arrangement (!!!)

And please mister—make your rates cheap enough so that Colby will be able to get their bunks and mattresses from some other prison besides Dachau.

In parting—(we all must leave, thank God!) please Colby—let the fraternities decide as to their own architects—the kind that put rubber cushions on doors so that they don't loosen your front teeth when they close—the kind that slip insulation between walls when they put them up—the kind that place radiators that radiate (not absorb) heat—the kind that put in plumbing and stalls with an eye to practicability, rather than style—and let's hire labor that doesn't work portal to portal—one portal of a partition a day (I got awful tired of hearing one carpenter (?) banging away all day, only to find that he was drilling only one hole in the wall. . . . and made a mistake at that too, and had to try it again.

A very disgruntled Vet
P. S. I think I'll write a letter to my mother too! At least got results that way!

Colby Subdues Bowdoin But Loses Games In Boston

A state series victory here and two losses to colleges in Boston were the results of last week's activity for the Colby Mule hoop artists.

Mules Put Bear To Sleep

Playing host to the Polar Bears of Bowdoin to whom they had lost a 46-42 decision at Brunswick before Christmas, the Mules showed a large throng of partisan rooters the brand of ball of which they are capable as they spanked the Bowdoins 41-36. Erv Heuther's Polar Bear five had the height but couldn't find the basket with the consistency of their cousins from the Kennebec. Tom Pierce paced the Mule pack as he personally accounted for 18 points and got help from Clark and Washburn who played beautiful floor games. On the boards, Gene Hunter and Don Zabriskie took control. Bowdoin scored first on a free throw but after that Colby shut the door and led the rest of the way.

Terriers Administer Knockout Drops

Friday morning the Williamsmen packed up and shuffled off to Boston for a two-night stand against Boston University and Northeastern. In B. U., Colby found a formidable foe. The Terriers went on a scoring rampage as they raced to a 62-44 win, substituting freely and scoring almost as liberally. After Colby had jumped to a 10-5 lead in the first five minutes, the Hub City boys took command and were never again headed as they poured it on for an eighteen-point margin of victory. Outstanding Muler for the night was Mitch Jaworski, who came into the back court and dunked 11 points to lead the Colby quins and served notice that he will be a man to be heard from in the future.

Colby Slumbers Under 71-58 Blanket

On the following night, the Mules moved over to the Northeastern playing surface for their first game with the Huskies. Northeastern floored a club which had defeated some of New England's better clubs, including the Boston University Terriers. The game was a thriller to all who watched as each club snared the lead from time to time and at half-time, the score stood at 28-28. Following the intermission, the Mules continued to match their vaunted opposition basket for basket. Midway through the second half, with the whole Colby club scoring, it was 43-43. But then the roof fell in on the Blue and Gray and before you could say "Gesundheit," Northeastern held a 54-43 lead. After that, the Mules were unable to get back in the contest. For Colby, Clark had 10, Washburn and Zabriskie 9, Michelson and Hunter 8, and Jaworski 7. Mitchell, Pierce and Puiia also took part in the scoring. Center Walsh of Northeastern netted 20 points for high honors of the night.

IDENTIFICATION OF SKIS AND POLES

All ski owners are again warned that skis AND poles should be marked with owner's names with a permanent marking. This is particularly necessary NOW as the ski racks must be moved during the coming week when the basement of the Women's Union is to be concreted. Please strap your skis and poles together and mark each separate article.

As soon as the basement is finished, all student owned skis MUST be left in the racks. Skis will be removed from dormitory rooms and corridors.

Trackmen Lose To Bates In First Meet Of Season

Dana Robinson and Bill Igoe were outstanding for the Colby Trackmen as the Colby team lost its first meet of the year to the Bates Bobcats, 68½-48½. The Bates weightmen overshadowed their Colby opponents 26-1 providing a lead for their runners which was difficult to hold against the running competition from Colby. The Mule wingfooters picked up 38½ to the Bobcats' 24½ and in the field events the score was 18-9 in favor of the Batesmen.

Robinson Finishes Strong

The highlight of the afternoon was the two-mile event won by Dana Robinson of Colby in 11:01. Outclassing the rest of the field Robinson ran an easy third most of the way allowing French of Bates to maintain a half lap lead until the last few laps when, not showing any of the strain apparent in the other runners, he opened up and finished in front by 40 yards. Dana exhibited his terrific finishing kick earlier in the afternoon when he outraced the rest of the field in the one-mile run. His time, 5:01.3, was rather slow but there was no pressure from the other runners to induce any greater speed.

Igoe Takes Two Firsts

Bill Igoe displayed his terrific speed in the 40-yard and 300-yard dashes. He did the forty-yard stretch in 4.7 seconds followed closely by Sandy Sandler also of Colby. In the 300 which was run on time in five events, Igoe placed first in the time 35.8 seconds, Marden of Colby took second and Sandler split third with Santry of Bates.

The 600 was taken by O'Halloran of Colby who also placed third in the 1000-yard event, which was won by Thorne of Bates, Gates of Colby taking second.

Colby Duo Capture 20 Points

Shea and Latogola were the two real point getters for the Bobcats. Shea racked up a personal total of 13 points taking firsts in the hammer throw and discus throw and second in the shotput. Latogola took first in the broad jump and high jump for a total of 11 points. Robinson and Igoe scored ten each for Colby. Phil Lawson, Colby pole vaulter took a first in his event, clearing the bar at 9'9".

The track meet with star-studded University of Maine has been postponed from this Saturday until Monday, February 3. This action was taken in order not to interfere with Winter Carnival activities this week-end at Colby.

MULES OUT TO EVEN UP SCORE WITH TERRIERS ON SATURDAY

Louise Kelley, chairman of publicity for Colby W. S. S. F. drive, sells first tickets to basketball team.

Benefit Game With Boston College Definitely Arranged For February 6th

The feature attraction of Thursday, February 6 will be a Junior Varsity and Varsity basketball game with Boston College in the Field House. Entire receipts from this game will go to The World Student Service Fund, whose campaign is being managed at Colby by Carl Wright.

One of the main attractions at the game will be Boston College's seven-foot-one star, Elmore Morgenthaler. Tickets will be sold in the dormitories and through the fraternities for sixty cents to students, and one dollar for others. Tickets may also be purchased at the Field House. The basketball squad has already bought complementary tickets to get the drive under way. The referees are contributing their services, and their fees will be added to the receipts of the game. Total gains, all going to the WSSF drive, will be published later.

The World Student Service Fund is a humanitarian agent made up of a group of organizations, among them the World Student Christian Federation of American Students. The funds collected in the national drive are contributed to students all over the world.

It is hoped that all countries together will collect about two million dollars, and the goal from American students is one million.

Some examples of what the money is allotted for are as follows:

$2 will pay for notebooks and paper for a European student for one year.

$12 will supply room and board for a student in India for one month.

Since we as students can best realize what the difficulties of studying under adverse conditions must be like, it is up to us to wholeheartedly support and endorse the WSSF drive.

2, Sandler (C); 3, Santry (B). Time: :04.7.

600-Yard Dash—Won by O'Halloran (C); 2, Howard (B); 3, Cox (B). Time: 1:23.

Pole Vault—Won by Lawson (C); 2, Finch (B); 3, Wentworth (C). Height: 9' 9".

Two-Mile—Won by Robinson (C); 2, French (B); 3, Brown (B). Time: 11:01.

1000-Yard Run—Won by Thorne (B); 2, Gates (C); 3, O'Halloran (C). Time: 2:31.

300-Yard Dash—Won by Igoe (C); 2, Marden (C); 3, Sandler (C) and Santry (B). Time: :35.8.

Basketball Game In Field House Is Start Of Night's Activities

Sharing the week-end carnival highlights with skiing, skating, sculpturing, and sock dancing, the basketball attraction of the week will see Coach Lee Williams' Colby Mule courtsters playing host to the terrific Terriers of Boston University.

In their previous meeting in Boston last week, the Colby boys bowed to the tune of 62-44 as the B. U. forces threw a deluge of baskets in the last half of the game. Coach Russ Peterson's Terriers have apparently just hit their best form of the season.

Colby Squad Shows Improvement

The same may be said for the Williams flock, however, for the Colby cagers have been improving with every game and with three State Series encounters left on the agenda, they could provide some rough opposition for anyone (ask Eck Allen of the University of Maine). With freshman Tommy Pierce beginning to click like a new Bulova, Williams has found a new scoring threat to add to the up-front scoring duo of George "The Cat" Clark and Tubby Washburn. Gene Hunter and Don Zabriskie have been guarding the back court with a high degree of efficiency and also dropping in their share of baskets. Mitch Jaworski, injected into the B. U. fray in Boston led the Mule attack with 11 markers and apparently is ready to show his pre-war form in the closing contests of his Colby career.

Mules Point Toward Another Upset

The Beantown club showed plenty of scoring punch in knocking off the Mules in the Hub last Friday night. The Boston U. mentor sent in his whole varsity squad and they all racked up the scoring figures. Saturday night, the Mules hope to prove again that they are capable of turning the tables on a team to which they have dropped a rather one-sided game. The Blue and Gray will be out to start a scoring spree of its own and reverse the Boston decision. If the Colby outfit can hit the level of basketball it is capable of, it's anybody's game.

S. C. A. Conference

During Christmas vacation Alice Covell, '49 and Don Nicoll, '49 attended the National Student Assembly of the Student Christian Association Movement at the University of Illinois.

Delegates from most of the colleges in the United States and many foreign students met in Urbana to draw up a prospectus of policy for the next four years.

After hearings on various parts of the prospectus had been carried out, the proposals were brought before the general assembly for debate and vote. Many hours were spent in the legislative sessions until finally the most controversial issues were settled and the prospectus was approved.

The two delegates are to make a formal report to the Executive Committee and Cabinet of the SCA as soon as the final material arrives from the Assembly.

Bowdoin midyear exams with the final arrangements to be worked out by Coaches Danny MacFayden and Bill Millett. The contest with Boston University scheduled for last Saturday was called off because of warm weather with a slight possibility of playing it at a later date.

Junior Varsity Outplays Bowdoin But Sent To Defeat By M. C. I. Team

The Colby Jayvees showed up nicely against the Bowdoin Juniors and romped to an easy 56-45 victory. The Junior Mules had no worries at all, broke into an early lead, and held their lead through the entire game. Dick, Kaplan and Cary led the team all the way and faced no real opposition from the Bowdoin quintet.

Danny Lewis' boys worked smoothly throughout the game. The major threats to the Colby victory were Monaghan and Tobey of Bowdoin who scored 9 and 10 points respectively. But the high-scoring JayVee offense could not be stopped. Jim Dick led the Colby scorers with 17 points and Cary and Kaplan put in 11 and 9 respectively. Pillsbury and Cary played exceedingly well off the boards and Roberts and Kaplan played steady, heads up, aggressive ball.

Substitutions were fewer than ever before in the season, the easy victory giving the rest of the squad a chance to go out and show their stuff.

Three nights later they did not have the same chance. Although leading at the half the little Mules dropped a 51-45 contest to M. C. I. at Pittsfield.

Pillsbury, Cary and Dick led the Junior Varsity but were unable to pull the game out of the fire. The M. C. I. staged a pounding second half comeback which floored the Mules and gave the victory to the Pittsfield club on its home court. The scoring for the M. C. I. team was well balanced among the starters and showed a well organized offense to stall Colby in the tracks of what they hoped was going to be a Mule victory.

Harriman Does Well At Informal Ski Meet

Last week Colby's skiing season opened when the ski team traveled to Orono, where an informal meet was held with the University of Maine.

Johnny Harriman was the leading contender for Colby by placing in three events: the cross-country, slalom, and in the jumping, with a leap of seventy-two feet. Next in line for honors was Capt. Les Soule with the fastest Colby time in the slalom and a jump of sixty-eight feet.

Dick Fellows, Dave Dobson, and Bob Mitchell showed up well in the slalom race as did George Felton in his first attempt at cross-country.

Since the meet was informal no scores were kept but it was quite evident that Maine has a well-developed and 'hard to beat' team. Although informal, the meet was a fine indicator of the strong points of the Colby team.

The next meet will be a formal one and will be held at Bates during their Winter Carnival on February 8. The team will then be able to show the results of the coaching of Capt. Les Soule and Johnny Harriman.

Skiing at Colby is a relatively new sport and the call is being put out for more candidates for the ski team. Anybody who is interested, please contact Bill Millett or someone on the ski team.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

In the ECHO of Jan. 8 we were informed that the Lorimer Chapel should be ready for use about April 1. We immediately thought to ourselves, "Ah, Even if it is not finished right on time, it will be ready in plenty of time for graduation."

Upon giving voice to this delightful thought, we were cast down by a handful of evil rumors; it is not big enough; it is intended only for religious purposes, under which heading graduation does not qualify; it was made too small for the express purpose of avoiding the temptation of using it for all-college assemblies.

It is only natural that these rumors should give rise to much criticism, perhaps justifiable, perhaps not. We hope that the administration will be moved to make some statement clearly indicating the true facts involved and answering the question, will the new Chapel be used for the graduation of the class of 1947?

HOCKEY

The Colby hockey team received rough treatment at Boston Monday night by being iced under by a strong Boston College sextet to the tune of 13-2.

Fourteen Eagles had a hand in the scoring with Bob Mason, a sub forward, sinking three goals. Mike Collins made both scores for the Mules.

Collins scored an unassisted goal halfway through the second period and again in the third on a pass from Capt. Don Butcher. Phil Dine was tending the nets and made several spectacular saves despite the high score of the Eagles.

UNION AND EAST HALL

at present some specific furniture which is not uniform with the general type of furniture used, and which he would like to have in his room when on the Hill, he should mark this furniture with his name, dorm name, and room number so that when this furniture arrives on the Hill, it will be put in his room. If, however, in the process of moving, the Superintendent does not think a certain piece of furniture should be moved, he retains the right to prohibit the particular piece from being transferred. (As for the uniform furniture, it will be transported without special care being given to the exact room into which it is put.)

4. All desks and bureaus, therefore, should be empty and cleaned.

5. Personal Property (odds and ends) will be transported by the College provided that these articles are packed in suitable containers, and that these containers are labeled with the student's name, dorm name, and room number.

6. If a student has access to a private automobile, he is encouraged to use it in moving his personal property.

7. All articles that are to be moved should be left in the student's room.

By strict adherence to the above suggestions, it is felt that the task of moving so many men will be greatly facilitated.

Keys Issued Soon

Keys for rooms in East and West Dorms will be issued or exchanged in the Office of the Superintendent in Champlin Hall on Monday and Tuesday, February 3 and 4.

Trunks are not permitted in the rooms on Mayflower Hill. Therefore, all trunks will be placed in the storage room in the basement when they arrive, from which place the men can get their belongings. On the other hand, all luggage, if room number is indicated, will be put into the rooms.

Accelerate Bus Service

It was also announced that bus service will be accelerated during the afternoon on which the men are to move.

Head Proctor in East Dorm, which will be open for the first time when the men move in, will be Rudolph Haffner, who, with Mrs. Haffner, will live in Small Hall. Carl Chellquist will be proctor in Champlin Hall, while the proctor in Butler Hall will be Charles Dudley.

Joint Student Council News

BY SAUL A. COOPER

The first meeting of the all-college social committee made a great stride last week by allowing students to have open house-parties in their dormitories. It will go into effect on Saturday, Feb. 1 from 9:00 until 12:30.

It is a great step not only of the committee, but also of the faculty, who, by allowing these parties, shows, the cooperation and responsibility they are willing to give to the student body.

I wish to bring this forth to you more vividly by a letter which I received from President Bixler after a discussion we had concerning these house-parties.

Dear Saul:

I have conferred with a number of people in the administration and they agree with me that it is best for the time being to forget the rule about having no parties in the dormitories. We feel this way because we know the Student Council feels strongly about it and we want to support its members as much as we can, especially in these difficult days when the council is trying to get started.

I think you will agree that we ought to regard this as an experiment. We want to see if the students can really take responsibility in these matters, and I for one have high hopes of the outcome.

Sincerely yours,
J. S. Bixler

Well, students, this is the "Go" sign for progress at Colby College and let's take advantage of it.

The only rules and regulations governing house-parties are:

- (1) A planned program for the evening, which must be presented to the social committee before the house is allowed to hold a party.
- (2) No alcoholic beverages will be allowed in the house.
- (3) Doors of all rooms must be open at all times with the lights on.
- (4) All guests must leave at 12:30.
- (5) Two chaperons must be present at all times.
- (6) There will be no dancing in the houses after 12 midnight Saturday.

THIS IS THE WAY

thus involving a crew of a dozen or more with shovels or scoops.

Use Wooden Frame

A wooden packing case will help form a pedestal and sticks or boards incorporated in the structure will strengthen it. The ideal conditions are a heavy fall of moist sticky snow. If the snow is too dry, it may be sprinkled. The statue is modeled like clay, by slapping on a handful at a time and pressing it firmly until the general form is built, later shaping it by scraping off as necessary with a stick to form the details and to smooth up the surfaces.

One prize-winner in recent years was "Old Man Winter," a fanciful head about eight feet in diameter with mouth puckered up to blow out the North wind. The Colby Mule has been sculptured hauling a sleigh or on skis, although the latter collapsed about half an hour after the judging. A twenty-foot Deke Lion was one of the most outstanding jobs in this line. A seal on an ice cake, a polar bear dipping out a fish, a seal balancing a ball, a giant Colby "C", are others which come to mind.

Suggest Library Tower

No one has yet tried reproducing the tower of the Miller Library. Someone may sometime try the sloop "Hero," with sails made of ice frozen to shape in flat containers and then stood on end. The Lion of Lucerne in the Library is another possibility.

Winter, Colby, and snow sports, all provide plenty of scope for sculpture, but make it big and make it simple.

They will also visit Mills College, Stanford University and the University of California as the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Pepper. Dr. Pepper is the son of a former Colby president.

The trip east begins March fifth and President Bixler will speak at Mount Holyoke and Smith Colleges on March ninth. After a day at the Amherst Library, they will return to Waterville March 11.

exhibition at the Foss Hall Arena, followed by an exhibition by other college skaters. Anyone wishing to skate after the exhibition may do so, as the rink will be lighted and music provided.

Saturday's events will be climaxed by a Soc Dance in the Women's Union, with dancing until midnight. At 11 o'clock ski-ribbons, snow-sculpturing awards and the Fraternity ski trophy will be presented to the winning dormitories and organizations. Also at this time, the man scoring the highest number of points in the ski-meet will be named Ski-King.

Chapel Sunday Morning

It will be possible for parties of two or three couples to charter private sleighs. Those wishing to do so should contact Gertrude McKusick for details.

Open houses in the men's dormitories, beginning at 9 P. M., may be attended until official closing time at 1 A. M.

Sunday morning at 10:30 there will be a special chapel service, sponsored by the S. C. A., in the Old Chapel.

Concert Climaxes Weekend

In the afternoon there will be blazing fireplaces and hot coffee in the dormitories and open slope skiing for all.

At 8:00 Sunday evening the Colby Community Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Ermanno Comparetti, will present a concert, the finale of Colby Winter Carnival, 1947.
