Dr. Palmer Leaves Colby For U. Penn. Faculty; Final Speech At IRC

Professor Norman D. Palmer's departure from Colby was announced at the International Relations Club meeting Monday night. Professor Palmer, head of the history department, is going to the University of Pennsylvania where he will be located in the division of international relations of the political science department.

Few students realized that they had come to hear Professor Palmer's final address to a Colby audience until his departure was announced Monday night. In commenting on his new position, Professor Palmer said, "I've been connected with Colby for twenty-one years, as student and as professor, but I felt that this was an opportunity I could not turn down."

In a sense, Professor Palmer in his new position is leaving history for the field of international relations. The department is associated with the Wharton School. The University of Pennsylvania has departments of local, national, and international government. It is in this last field that Professor Palmer will be working.

New Architecture Exhibited In Union

A group of panels illustrating the better points of contemporary housing constitute the modern architecture exhibit which opened today in Dunn Lounge in the Women's Union.

Circulated by the Museum of Modern Art, the exhibition is based on a recent publication of that museum entitled, "Do You Want To Build a House?" The panels consist of photographs of houses by Frank Lloyd Recognition Assembly will be held Friday, June 13, at 8:00 P. M. in the gym of the Women's Union. Dr. Claude M. Feuss, headmaster of Phillips-Andover, will speak on "College and the Nation." Prizes for the year and recognition slips for scholarship will be awarded. Cap and Gown will tap its members in its traditional ceremony.

Forensic Society Readopted By Colby

Pi Kappa Delta, the National Honor Forensic Society, has been reestablished here at Colby after several years of inactivity due to the war. Although Colby has not had the required number of eligible members for the past several years, the charter is still active at Colby. The only formality necessary in reviving the society is the applying for admissions for those eligible members who may wish to be admitted. At the present time there are twelve students who are eligible for Pi Kappa Delta: Carl Wright, Paul Smith, Paul Choate, Ruth Marriner, Bertram Stritch, Robert Rosenthal, Thomas Keefe, Winston Oliver, Gilbert Taverner, Harold Kearney, David Choate and Ronald Roy.

The Society, whose function is to encourage public speaking and to reward outstanding speakers, is one of three national Honor Speaking societies. It has a membership of 170 colleges in 36 States. Membership is based upon speaking in a certain number of speaking or debating contests, with some credit being awarded for radio work.

Wright and several other modern architects.

To show that this type of architecture is being done in Maine, there have been added to the exhibition from the Museum of Modern Art, examples of two houses designed by R. W. Tarbell of Bangor, a student of Walter Gropius at Harvard University.

The first of these Maine houses is the Guest House of the Eastern Corporation of Bangor and the second is a house which is now being built for R. W. Naugler of the same city.

'47-'48 ECHO STAFF APPOINTED; GAY NAMED MANAGING EDITOR

SEND YOUR BAGGAGE HOME SAFELY

A few tips have been received from the Railway Express in connection with the annual exodus, shortly forthcoming.

One of the last problems before leave taking is the packing and marking of personal belongings being sent home for the summer. Mr. Dyer, the local Express Agent, has stated that he and his employees will make every effort to handle baggage shipments expeditiously.

Within the next few days a substantial supply of tags and labels will be left at each Hall and during the leave-taking period, the Agency will have a representative on the Hill each afternoon. He will visit each Hall to prepare shipments for departure and to answer any questions relative to shipping by Express.

The student body is reminded that there are six essential features which insure safe and prompt delivery:

1. Detach or efface all old addresses or other marks from trunks, suitcases or other shipping containers.
2. Place identification slips INSIDE each trunk, suitcase, etc.
3. Attach securely, at least two tags or labels to each piece of baggage.
4. Bind all unlocked trunks or suitcases with ropes or straps.
5. Examine all fibre board containers for punctures, torn corners or flaps.
6. Indicate individual and aggregate value of pieces that make up shipment in the following manner—$50.00-$100.00 with the aggregate value in square root frame and the piece value over the frame.

A brief review of the points listed may prove a good investment in safe and speedy delivery.

Prof. Weber To Join Cal. Summer Faculty

Professor Carl J. Weber has been appointed to the English staff of the University of Southern California for its Summer Session, June-to-August, 1947. He will conduct a graduate seminar in Hardy and upper-class courses in Shakespeare and in Browning and Tennyson.

Shortly before his departure for California, Professor Weber delivered an address on Thomas Hardy at Lehigh University (Bethlehem, Pa.); and he delivered the Shakespeare Day address to the Psyche Club of Wharton College (Norton, Mass.)

Even though residing on the Pacific coast, 3500 miles from the Colby campus, Dr. Weber gave assurance, before leaving Maine, that the August issue of the COLBY LIBRARY QUARTERLY would be out on time, and would report a number of fresh additions to the bibliographical treasures of the college.

Jack Ives Now Business Mgr.; Staff Active With This Issue

Sanford I. Kroll, class of 1948, has been elected as Editor-in-Chief of the Colby ECHO for the year 1947-48. In his editorial position, Kroll will be assisted by Jack Ives as Business Manager and Janet H. Gay as Managing Editor, a new post which was created to provide for better cooperation between the Editorial Board and the staff members.

Serving as Make-up Editor for next year's ECHO is Ruth Marriner. The news staff of the paper is headed by Hanna Levine, News Assignment Editor, and Gloria Shine, News Copy Editor. The remaining posts have been assigned to Mary Burrison as Feature Editor and Burton Krumholz, Sports Editor.

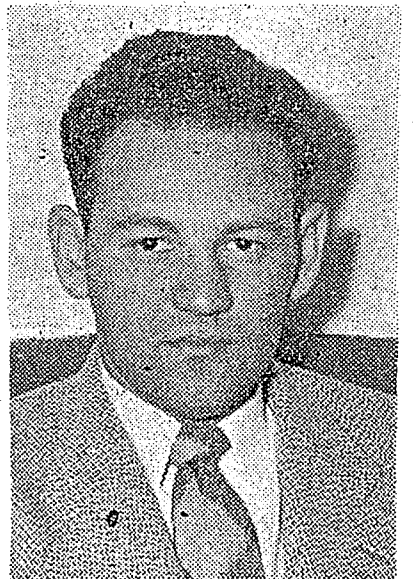

First Male Editor Since 1942

The new Editor-in-Chief, "Sandy" Kroll, is the first man to head the ECHO since 1942. He brings to the ECHO the benefit of much experience. Before entering the service, he attended Providence College and Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Here at Colby, "Sandy" has been an Associate Editor of the ECHO and is the author of "The Colby Outlook," a column commenting on the affairs of the day. As the new editor, he plans "to make the ECHO fulfill its primary purpose which is to report news, and also provide a medium for the expression of student opinion."

The position of Managing Editor was planned in the original charter of the ECHO. During the evolution of the ECHO, at one time, the board deemed it a vestigial part and therefore eliminated it. However, the managing editor has again been deemed necessary to act as a link between the various departments of the ECHO, thus creating more coordination in the publishing of the paper. Janet Gay has been chosen for the job. Work on the boards of the Oracle, the White Mule, and the ECHO for three years should prove of value to her in her new position.

Ives Served On Business Staff

Jack Ives, as Business Manager, has served as the ECHO Advertising

SANFORD I. KROLL

Manager this year. During three years at Colby, he has served in various other capacities on the Business staff.

Ruth Marriner has been apprenticing for the job of Make-Up Editor under Dana Robinson for the past year. This training and her work in art criticism will be of great aid in her new capacity.

Editors Seek Newsworthy Material Concerned with the task of filling the ECHO with news-worthy material are Hanna Levine, News Assignment Editor and Gloria Shine, News Copy Editor. The two news editors plan to coordinate jobs so as to present readable and timely news. "A scoop an issue is the aim."

Mary Burrison has been appointed to the position of Feature Editor. "Burr" seems to have a great sensitivity for news features: she discovered Jay Hinson. In a plea to the student body, "Burr" asks, "Do you know anybody who can write features?"

New Editors Assume Duties

Burt Krumholz, the Sports Editor, comes from New York. With two years of sports writing, Burt should prove valuable in publicizing Colby's expanding athletic department.

The new editors have assumed their duties with this issue of the ECHO, which will be the last this semester.

Europeans Receive College Packages

The S. C. A. committee to send packages to Europe held a packaging party May 7, in the Mary Low game room. With the assistance of Mrs. Carl A. Anthon, Mrs. Bernheimer, Peg Horsch and many others, 13 packages were packed and wrapped. Boxes were sent to France, Greece, Italy, Palestine and to the American, Russian, French and British zones in Germany. The average package consisted of dresses, shoes, soap, food for one complete meal, pins, needles, thread, cigarettes, shoe polish, woollens and cottons. The names of the families to whom the boxes were sent were submitted to the S. C. A. by students and faculty. The funds which constituted the backing for this enterprise came from individual contributors in Louise Coburn Hall and from the proceeds of the Carousel booth at the W. S. S. F. Bazaar.

Much appreciation and credit should be given to the following students who contributed so willingly their time and effort: Martha Morrill, who was chairman of the committee, Patricia Root, Alice Jennings, Anne Booth, Pat Jennings, Marcia Friedman, Shirley Parks, Marcia Magrane, Flora Pearse, Kay Brine, Priscilla Pomerleau, Harry Paul, David Bernheimer and Harry Lightbody. Many thanks must also be extended to Mr. Sullivan who runs a tailor shop on Gatchell Street, and who cleaned and pressed, free of charge, all the clothes for overseas.

$30,000 Goal Set For '47 Alumni Fund

by Alvin Schwartz

The goal set for the Colby Alumni Fund of 1947 is $30,000. The amount, representing a new high in expected Alumni aid, will be supplemented, this year, by a request for an additional $10,000, to complete the War Memorial.

The Alumni Fund was established in 1933, and, in that year, the policy to put the money contributed "in a pot" for general use, was formulated. Contributions for specific purposes are not made as readily, or by as large a group, as are contributions "for the general good of the college."

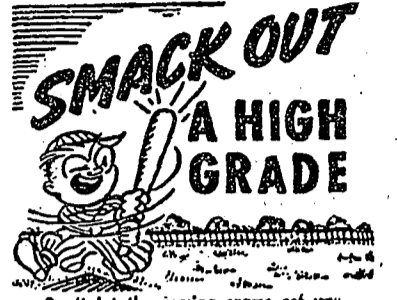

The Alumni Fund, its progress and growth, should be of definite interest to every member of the student body. If the goal set is reached, it would mean that the college could spend $30 more per student, next year. While this, in itself, is not a large or impressive figure, it is definitely an important contribution. There are many things the college would like to undertake, but cannot, because of a lack of funds. The place of $30,000, obtained through contribution, in a $900,000 budget, is very much larger than most would realize.

word and tutored Boston College nine 21-5. Carl Wright deserves a great deal of credit for holding the Hub team to five runs and 11 scattered safeties.

In a very close ball game which was decided in the last of the ninth when Bob Nardozi drove in the winning run, the Northeastern University club was the loser by a 6-5 score.

The red-hot Mules slapped Bates 17-3 and in a close game eked out a 6-5 victory over Maine to tie Bowdoin for the State Series crown. Still on the rampage, the Mules kicked Boston University 10-0 and slaughtered Northeastern 10-1 in as fine a show of power as has been seen by Colby students in many a moon.

Thus ended a very successful season in which Colby proved its ability to compete with the Boston schools and come out on top.

With the end of the 1947 baseball season comes the loss of Carl Wright and Dom Pilla two outstanding stars, who through their fine playing, will leave something to be remembered.

PARKS' DINER

Zetes Top League In Soft Ball Battle

Holidays, exams and, for the most part, the elements, have played havoc with the interfraternity softball schedule. After carefully going over the standings, confusing as they are, we come up with the following data: The top four teams in the standing play off for the title. The Zetes, with a record of 7-0; the Dukes, with a record of 4-1; and the A. T. O's, with a record of 5-0 are definitely in the playoffs, regardless of what happens in the next few days. The fourth place slot is still not mathematically clinched. The D. U.'s have a record of 4-2 and the Tau Delt's have a record of 3-4. The D. U.'s have two more games to play, one of them with the Tau Delt's, and if they lose both their games, the two frats will end up the season with the identical record of 4-4 and a playoff will have to be held for the fourth slot. The next few days will clear the matter up. The finals are to be held Thursday and Friday.

Lewis Takes Position As Germantown Coach

Daniel G. Lewis, who resigned his post as head football coach at Colby early this year, announced recently that he had accepted a two-year contract as athletic director and head football coach at Germantown, Pennsylvania.

Germantown is located five miles outside of Philadelphia, and the Academy has an enrollment of 400 boys. Competition is keen in that sector, with many of the country's leading schoolboy athletes originating from Germantown and other clubs in the circuit. George Munger, University of Pennsylvania football coach, played and coached in the Penna schoolboy circuit at one time.

White Takes Batting Crown

by L. A. Goulet

Lewis was a success as head coach at Milton (Mass.) Academy for five years after graduation from Williams College where he was a stand-out gridiron performer. Danny played center, fullback and halfback and received honorable mention for All-American.

Lewis was named Director of Admissions at Colby in March, 1946. He was appointed football coach in September of the same year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and two daughters left Waterville early this week. Coach Lewis will be in charge of a boy's camp in Pennsylvania this summer.

Before leaving Lewis remarked that several players were vastly improved at the end of last year and should pay dividends next Fall. He wished his successor, Walt Holmer, and the '47 Mules "the best of luck." Colby, in return, wishes him the best of success in his new position.

Extends best wishes to the Colby students for a pleasant summer vacation.

From Thursday, June 12 through Saturday, June 14 Colby will play host to scores of Coaches in a gala Football and Basketball Clinic sponsored by the Central Maine Athletic Association. Leading this three day affair will be two of the nations top-flight coaches in addition to all the Colby mentors. Head football coach, Howie Odell of Yale and Holy Cross' Doggie Julian, who coached his Crusaders to the NCAA basketball championship over Nat Holman's City College in the East and Oklahoma A. & M. for the national championships, will be the major instructors of the clinic.

The CMAA was formed for the coaches in this State for the betterment of the sports and to hold more clinics of this nature in this section of the State. It seems that fulfillment of their plans are leading to more successful athletic performances throughout the State. An association such as the C. M. A. A. with the ability to feature the top coaches of the nation and hold periodic clinics in Football, Basketball and Baseball should continue to be a widely endorsed organization and praised for its fine work in putting Maine athletics on the upgrade.

Three Colby men have just finished their last baseball season in the uniform of the Blue and Grey. Mike Puiia will return in the fall to captain the Mule gridders but won't be around when the Roundymen get back to the diamond next spring. Mike, the little man with the big bat, had a good season at bat and in the field and should look pretty good in summer baseball again this year. Big Mitch Jaworski made a rather inglorious exit from the baseball scene this year when he was sidelined by a shoulder injury in an attempt to catch a low liner in the wild and woolly 15-11 mixup at Bowdoin. It is difficult to measure the loss suffered when Mitch was benched, for on a winning team things of that sort are easily passed over but his booming bat would certainly have added to the Mule 20-hit barrages and his dependable pitching would have relieved the heavy load on Carl Wright's back considerably.

With the loss of his mound ace, however, Coach Eddy Roundy will have to search far for a prospect to fill Gumbo Wright's vacated spikes. With a 6-0 record for the season Gumbo led all the hurlers of the section and was put aside in selection of the All-Maine team in favor of Brayley of Maine who boasted a 2-1 State record. "Just couldn't see six Colby men holding down all-State berths."

The next baseball season, moved to the new Coombs Field diamond, promises to be a big one in the annals of Colby sports, since only three graduating men will be lost. Rumors have it that Jackie MacDonald, big gun of the Gardiner mound staff and one of the top four letter men turned out of there in years, plans on entering Colby this fall.

Watch out for the iron claw of Boston University, they, too, have caught wind of him!

That's the "lowdown" for now. See you in September.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

that person wins. I therefore offer the suggestion that here at Colby, starting in the fall, all class and Student Council elections, as well as those of the smaller organizations, follow this pattern by having its members who desire offices, and who are intent on carrying on the duties of those offices in a commendable manner, announce their said intentions. By carrying on such a policy, two aims would be accomplished, each as important as the other. First of all, only those who actually are vitally interested in their particular organization and are thus willing to work for it, would hold a position of honor and trust in that organization. Secondly, we would all gain valuable experience through nominating procedures, political rallies, etc., for our future role as American voters.

I should also like to bring into the foreground a criticism of our campus publications. Some sort of collaboration should be brought about between the "Echo" and the "White Mule". Much of the material in the former during the past year has been notably out of place in a publication of that sort, but would have been the ideal type of material to live up what for some time now has been a defunct "White Mule". Furthermore, in respect to the "Echo" alone, I should like to state my disapproval with the failure of that publication to replace all veterans who were former workers on the paper in their previous positions. Last fall, at a time when the "Echo" was clamoring for additional volunteers to work on the staff, one former veteran put himself out to request a place on the staff, and in gratitude he was placed at the bottom of the ladder as a reporter, after having risen to the point of being an assistant editor before the war.

My main points having been expounded, I should like to present several minor criticisms before closing.

First of all, I would like to voice my contempt for those car owners and drivers who fail to pick up students waiting for buses. Although the bus schedules have finally been arranged to the best of anyone's ability, often times, due to circumstances beyond anyone's control, students are faced with the necessity of walking or thumbing a ride into town. Even if someone is only going as far as the vicinity of the Waterville High School, I feel sure that we thumbers would appreciate a ride that far, and would certainly not expect anyone to drive on and leave us farther down the line.

Another pet peeve of mine is the non-use of Robert's Union. Very few colleges of Colby's size in this country are so fortunate as to have such a large and splendid building. I believe that a letter in the "Echo" of May 21 covered this subject exceedingly well.

The thoughtlessness of those of us passing between the upper floors of the Miller Library and the Spa or the outside, through loud talk and noise, has proved to be very distracting to those studying in the library, and the failure of some professors to dismiss their classes on time, are two further antagonizing features that could be done away with through mutual cooperation of faculty, students and administration.

I have merely touched upon some criticisms and remedies of Colby activities. There are others that could be remedied also. On the other hand, I could write many lines about the good things of Colby—the assistance and interest on the part of the faculty members in individuals having difficulties; the fine student spirit found at Arbor Day exercises, Colby Week-ends and athletic contests; the cooperation of all during the past few years while living and working on two campuses; the excellent President's letter in the latest issue of the Colby "ALUMNUS". However, there is no need to talk about the good aspects—we have them, we are proud of them, and we will strive to maintain them.

How about thinking about some of these ideas during the summer vacation, so that in the fall when we are all back again here at Colby, some constructive action may be inaugurated that will enable the Colby family to be one in spirit as well as in name?
