Players Descend On Boston For Holidays; New Songs To Brighten Varsity's Tour

The curtain of Boston's John Hancock Hall will rise on a slightly revised version of "Bottoms Up" on Tuesday evening, April 4, at 8:30. To date, 800 of the 1100 tickets available have been sold. The box office will open at 5:30 on April 4, and the tickets will sell at the regular prices: Student tickets, $1.20; others, $2., $2.40, $3.

A rotogravure feature of the performance is expected to be in the Boston "Herald" and the Boston "Globe" on the following Sunday.

As a warm-up performance prior to their Boston engagement, the group appeared before 800 people at Farmington, Maine in a non-profit production.

Provided that 200 albums of records at $4.50 each can be sold RCA Victor has agreed to record the songs on non-breakable vinylite. Contact Bev Forgey, Foss' Hall, or Audrey King, Mary Low Hall, if you are interested. Another performance may be given in Waterville under the sponsorship of the Waterville Rotary Club on April 10.

Student Magazine Now On Newsstand

A new "Student Report" on the topic Communism has been published this month, editor, Dick Beal, announced. It may be purchased in the Bookstore or borrowed from the Loan Desk on the main floor of the Library. The "Student Report" is the only magazine written by Colby students at the present time. It is published by-monthly and has a different topic discussed in each issue.

Students Decide Spring Fling Fate

A student body vote on Wednesday afternoon has determined to make Spring Fling a relic of Colby's cherished past.

In the past three years the Fling has been a flop as far as finances go. Last year, the Student Council, which sponsors the weekend, went into the red three hundred dollars, and was forced to assess the class treasuries to make up for the deficit. Frat Parties Deleterious

This was due in some degree to the fact that fraternity weekend parties which followed soon after the dance, dampened interest in the event. As frat members were under compulsion to attend their own parties, their resources could not cover the cost of two big weekends in such a short period of time.

The Student Council has suggested that in the place of the traditional Fling, an informal dance could be held for the entire student body. This would include those that would be deprived of such a social event because of no allegiance to a fraternity.

Two Sides on Question To the student who felt that the elimination of the weekend was not justified, despite the apparent lack of interest in previous years, the alternative was a defiant "no" on his

Phi Beta Kappa Announces New Colby Members

Special To The ECHO

On the basis of their grades, recommendations from professors, and intellectual interests, Colby members of Phi Beta Kappa chose eight men and six women from the top fifteen percent of the class of '50 for membership at a meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The list of those chosen, with their majors, follows.

Richard Armknecht, Bus. Adm.; Robert Barlow, Hist., Gov., Econ.; Robert Barteaux, Psych.; George Bowers, Chem.; Chester Brigham, Eng.; Sybil Green, German; Kevin Hill, Biology; Lillian Meyer, Eng.; Allen Pease, Hist.; Grace Rutherford, Chem.; Karekin Sahagian, Bus. Adm.; Charlotte Shoul, Biology; Charlotte Stern, Hist.; Priscilla Tracey, Eng.

Each year the recorder's office sends a list of the top 15 percent of the senior class to the Phi Beta Kappa Society. This is the maximum they may choose, but they have never chosen that many.

Then a special committee investigates and makes a recommendation on each candidate. They check with all instructors in the candidates major field who have taught him before making a decision.

The minimum grade requirement has been abolished and the faculty recommendation along with the candidates interest and improvement are prime consideration with of course, grades.

ballot. To those others, apathetic or otherwise, their vote indicated that Colby was becoming practical, or at least specialized in regard to their social life.

Last year, a similar voting on the Fling issue failed to materialize. But, it is hoped that voting this year, Colby has voiced its opinion and settled the matter.

Anxious Sadie Worries Local Abners; Poor Males Subjected To Lady Rule

By Mark Abramson

The day which all Colby males annually await with fearful anticipation arrived last Saturday, but if Sadie Hawkins left any ill effects they were not noticeable to this reporter.

Sponsored by the Delta Delta Delta sorority, the Sadie Hawkins dance took place at the Women's Union Saturday evening from 8.30 to 12, when approximately 200 couples swirled to the music of Al Riefo and his band.

Object of Day

Briefly, for the uninitiated who may be ignorant of the significance of Sadie Hawkins, the idea is this: once a year, Sadie is given the opportunity to catch any male who has lacked the foresight to get married. It behooves all males to be extremely careful of Sadie and take the necessary precautions, as Sadie can be an unscrupulous operator.

Al Riefo read the proclamation, saying that love had come to the citizens of Mayflower Dogpatch, and that it was the duty of the forsaken males to love, honor and obey. Dana Anderson and Cynthia Cook were married by Justice of the Peace Win

Clark, who ordered the reluctant males present to take the sacred vow. All did as commanded.

Aid to China Relief

The Co-eds who assumed the responsibility for escorting their dates, paid the 60c admission fee, and purchased the marriage licenses and refreshments. Proceeds will go to the China Relief organization.

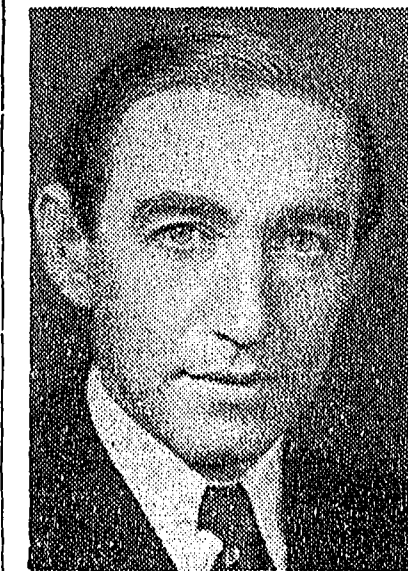

Decorations and slogans were plentiful. Slogans such as "Spoonin Ain't No Sin" and "Saturday Night Is Bath Night," are typical of the theme which prevailed. Couples were dressed in strictly informal attire, adding to the atmosphere of the occasion.

Sadie on Loose

Speaking in a commanding tone of voice, Al warned the females of the danger if they allowed their beaux to escape. "Sadie is on the loose, he intoned, and if yer not careful yegals of Dogpatch Hill will find your menfolk gone. Sadie is looking for them not found to be legally wed."

A "Dogpatch Parade," known in more formal terms as a Grand March, featured the evening's events. Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner, in their officially chosen capacity, led the parade.

Harvard Prof. Tells Inside Story On Soviet Tension and Controls

Merle Fainsod

Interviews with 100 Russian escapees provided the chief background for Harvard Professor Merle Fainsod's Gabe Lecture on "Controls and Tensions in the Soviet System" at Roberts Union last Friday.

Prof. Fainsod found that the answers he received stood up under his checks. "But" he said, "although it is quite varied, the group is neither large nor representative enough to justify final judgements."

Poor Living and Repression Cause Tension

Tensions on the Russian people which caused some to leave or not to return to Russia and which are the sources of dissatisfaction at home, Prof. Fainsod concluded, are basically two types: desire for better living conditions and fear and hatred of repression.

The collective farmers say that more is taken away by the party than is given to them. This, along with the fact that they are controlled by outsiders who are often petty grafters and the slowness of reconstruction is the chief complaint of the peasants, but they can't gripe because of informers.

Workers "Chained to Their Jobs"

The factory workers are "chained to their jobs" for which their pay is low. They cannot express their grievances over such things as speed-ups and excessive managerial staffs partly because the unions are tools of the party.

Upper-level workers are held back by a double-authority system, under which "political advisors" act as party representatives.

Many people now try to work at jobs which are removed from politics to avoid being eliminated.

Fear & Suspicion Everywhere

A listing of the specific effects of Soviet controls cannot give a picture of the fear which is all pervasive in Russian controlled lands. Every Russian knows men who have disappeared mysteriously. Suspicion is everywhere and even politburo mem- (Continued on Page 8)

Frosh Lack Interest In Majors

Even though Freshmen are traditionally supposed to be irresponsible, unmannerly, and confused generally, there is little excuse for the poor attendance at an important assembly recently planned for their benefit.

We refer to the Freshman Meeting arranged last week to advise Frosh on ways and means of choosing their major courses.

Whenever such steps are taken by the school to help students make important decisions concerning their school life, it is indeed discouraging to see students disregard and waive their opportunities.

The hypocrisy of such passive attitudes is that the same people who disregarded this opportunity will be the ones who are overburdening their advisors this spring choosing their courses for next year.

If we students are continually complaining about things we lack, perhaps we should remember how slow we are to appreciate what Colby does give us.

Auto Court

Amherst began an interesting experiment about two weeks ago. Student automobiles had created a terrific traffic and parking problem there and as a result student clamorings for a change has culminated in the establishment of a Student Auto Court.

Student automobile owners and operators who violate laws will be tried by a court composed of members of a Student Association, which in turn is composed of the 13 fraternities and the Lord Jeff (Independents) Club.

Local police will contact the Association to inform them of student lawbreakers and the student will be tried in the court with the police report and the student's word as evidence.

According to the AMHERST STUDENT, "The Auto Association has been given the power by the administration to inflict any sentence on which they decide including suspension of automobile privileges and; in extreme cases, even expulsion from school."

The Association will also make and enforce all kinds of registration and parking rules.

Perhaps this would work well at Colby. Besides giving students the responsibility of carrying out authoritative action and control of their own vehicles, it would take an obvious load from the overburdened administration.

Journalists On ECHO

ECHO'S first edition after vacation will be manned by Professor Herbert Michaels' Journalism Class. Richard Beal will be Editor of the issue, Barbara Starr, News Editor, and William Heubish, Make-up Editor.

ECHO's staff, tired and harassed, welcomes this opportunity to sit by and watch while others perform their tasks.

From what we hear, it'll be a top-notch issue!

SHOWCASE

By Philip Bailey

Following hard upon the knowledge of P. & W.'s production of "Androcles and the Lion" came the announcement last week that a student-produced, acted, and directed production of "The Glass Menagerie" is now in rehearsal and slated for performance on Thursday, April 20. Directed by Bill Ryan with a cast which includes Pat Erskine, Elaine Rhodes, Gene Jellison, and Barnet Fain, this play offers enough meaty material to satisfy a dozen groups this size. Not being satisfied with simply presenting Colby audiences with a straight drama (a novelty on this campus), the group further revealed that the play would be given in the experimental medium known as "Theatre-in-the-round", an innovation which utilizes the "center-staging" or "arena-style" manner of presentation.

Because of the high quality of the play, the radical style of staging, and the resulting significance of such an ambitious project to Colby dramatics, this production demands some attention from us as an interesting experiment and as an independent student enterprise.

The problems presented to any group determined to stage such an overwhelmingly difficult play as this are many and formidable. First, let us look at the play, itself. Written by Tennessee Williams, the author of the celebrated "Streetcar Named Desire", this earlier play "The Glass Menagerie" is a delicate, poetic drama. The dramatic action, revealed in the haunted memory of the hero, Tom, is seen in retrospect and becomes a subtle integration of sharply-realized scenes suffused with the mood of dream-like unreality.

The extremely sensitive characterizations of Tom, his silly, nagging mother, Amanda, and his shy, neurotic sister, Laura; and the inherent beauty of their lives are all integrated into a fine and eloquent play.

The ugliness, the painful humor,

The dramatic situations which the author has created are slight and of singular simplicity. The interest must be captured by the depth of character, the lyric quality of the dialogue, and the constant revelations of the inner frustrations, desires, dreams. All of this places overwhelming emotional demands upon any cast attempting these roles. Because the plot is so tenuous, the mood so poetic and poignant, the characters so deeply emotional, the difficulties for the actors will lie in retaining the dramatic strength without reducing it to sentimentality, cheap theatrics, and stagy grandiloquence. The sensitivity of mood and the deep simplicity of the drama must not be underestimated.

Even more demanding on the cast will be the experimental medium of staging the production; the "theatre-in-the-round." With the audience seated on all sides of the actors, with a minimum of technical tricks and lighting effects to aid them, the cast must create their illusion of reality through their own dramatic abilities. This radical style of staging breaks down the barriers established by the footlights; it allows more freedom of response between cast and audience; it builds up a greater intimacy and, hence, a greater reality.

But requiring as it does, an entirely different approach, this unconventional medium places a weighty burden upon a cast already struggling with the complexities of a difficult script. Nevertheless the rewards of a production of this stature, if well done, will be well worth the exhaustive effort which is required. Experimental methods such

Rum Runners Reply --- Frank's Point System

Dear Editor:

We enjoyed last week's issue of the ECHO very much. We were especially pleased to note that due recognition was finally given to us Rum Runners. In writing this letter we are seeking an outlet for our trouble. How can we elevate our present low status on campus to that of our fellow student, Mr. Clark?

We thought we were contributing, in a small way, to the much talked about Colby spirit; but it seems as though we are mistaken. We are now seeking salvation—please help.

Signed,
The Lowly Rum Runners

How do we get in the next race, fellows?—Ed.

Points And Pinky

Dear Editor:

May I, replying to Miss Starr's letter, reassure the ECHO that I have no desire to "discriminate against Colby women" when I suggest the abolishment of the Women's Student League.

I admit that I have no qualifications to comment on student government at Colby, other than attempting, over a three and one half year period, to resolve a broad solution to social and extra-curriculum student problems.

One part of this solution, as I see it, is a point system—or similar workable plan—to limit acceptance of many EXECUTIVE responsibilities by one student. This plan was carefully analyzed in the columns of last semester's ECHO.

Another part of this solution is ONE ACTIVE student government. As I suggested, please note, in my letter which prompted Miss Starr's comment, those few functions and duties now performed by the League which must, of their nature, be handled by women, could easily be assumed by a Women's Committee of the Student Council.

I am puzzled how Miss Starr and the ECHO can suggest that I am being undemocratic?

Is, I wonder, a plea for unified allegiance and government; undemocratic?

If Miss Starr would reconsider the matter in the modern light—not in the shadow of vestigial allegiances—she will see that I propose not only to bring Colby women to their due right as the equals of Colby men, but also to help unify the student body of Colby College by destroying one more (and mighty) vestige of a two divisional college.

Gerald B. Frank

Ardent correspondent Frank may return to case; ECHO did not call his plan undemocratic.

Members of the Constitutional Comm. for the Council should remember this question too, of divided student representation.

What we think would work is a Student Senate set up representing the entire student body, and then have delegated committees handling different phases of student problems and student courts to handle "cases of law."

We would also like to see such a Senate be allowed to appoint representatives to present student voice at the different faculty-administration meetings concerning student policy.—Ed.

LETTER to PHIL BAILEY

Dear Phil,

I have heard of no society on campus calling itself the Anti-Bailey League, but if there IS one, I am going to become one of its strongest members. Maybe I had better explain myself before I get carried away into the realm of hysterical gibberish. Just to set things straight, you might as well know that I'm mad as hell, and will remain so until you offer some kind of explanation of your column of last Thursday, March 16.

Editor Speaks

In case you're wondering what this is all about, I'm the editor of a "new student publication that is and has been on sale on this campus for the past three months." It's name is "Student Report." It seems apparent to me that one of two things has happened: one, you have not heard of the publication, in which case you are to be criticized for your lack of interest in student publications; or two, you HAVE heard of this new sheet and are deliberately ignoring it because you believe it to be below the standards you are continually yapping about in SHOWCASE. I will not decide which of these two categories you fall into until I have heard directly from you. I'll also give you the benefit of the doubt until I do receive some answer. And damn it all, I WANT an answer! If you are so confounded interested in having a student publication arise out of the muddy depths of this unenlightened institution, then I would greatly appreciate your assistance. I am doing my utmost now, but now blood (maybe yours) is all-

Yogi Speaks

We overheard one embittered car owner remark last week, that if nothing else could be found to fill up the holes, that broken auto springs might be used. At least the people who sell auto parts are profiting from this terrible condition even if car owners aren't. As long as somebody is happy, nothing else matters.

The above is a matter of more than passing interest to a great number of the members of the Colby Family from the top down to the owners of Model A's. Tank treads would be more serviceable on these roads but these are only for use in wartime when vehicles don't always have roads to ride on.

Those who don't have cars won't have to be inconvenienced for much longer. In a few weeks it will be warm enough to walk down the hill, and under certain conditions it's more fun than riding and better for the health as well.

Just imagine all the wonderful things that will happen when spring really gets here. We'll be able to have a flag on the flagpole. We won't have to worry about falling down any more. (I know why that insurance salesman was here last week.) We'll be able to cut classes in order to go outside and drink in the fragrant air and soak up that healthy sunshine.

Since this column is written a week in advance, we can only conjecture as to how the Sadie Hawkins Dance was. Everybody that was there had fun especially the girls. And especially those girls who had a long-awaited chance to make themselves not only look like beautiful Daisy Mae, but also to put into public and undisguised practice, her man-hunting tactics (often unsuccessful.)

We have a course in journalism at this institution. Some of us, unfortunately, don't take it. We have been informed that those who do take the course are, in the near future, going to take over this newspaper, lock, stock and barrel. Don't gloat too hard, dear reader, because it is only for one issue. Yes, some incipient genius is even going to take over this nonsensical column (damn it), and his identity may forever be kept a secret.

All critics will be able to take a holiday for one week at least, and even for longer, if they need it. But we sincerely wish the Journalism Class loads of luck and hope that we can learn something from them even if they can't learn anything from us as their instructor always tells them, we think. (Some of us, we feel you should know, don't take a course in journalism.)

By this time the frats have decided who their pledges are going to be. On the part of each pledge (Continued on Page 3)

Retort to ECHO

Steady Gives Her Side

The following is one student's answer to the recent ECHO article on "Colby's Favorite Sport". So going steady is a game, it is? The analogy is clever, but it sounds more like sour grapes from someone on the bench-out on fouls.

Going steady does have its good and bad points, but if you want to get off the high-school level, and on to the college one, there are more important considerations than that.

There may be some women who see a car, and, twisting a phrase, say, "There's my future in a Ford!" Likewise for the men. However, I think you'll find that most of the steady couples at Colby don't look at the 'past time' in such a mercenary light.

Rather, the going steady period is more or less a trial, to see just how well two people do get along. On the college level, this trial usually leads to being pinned, (which should mean more than just going steady), or to a break-up which sets both people out to look for greener pastures.

There are enough activities here without classing going-steady as another one. On the whole, college romances seem to lead to happily married lives—so why go to all the bother of setting down their rules and regulations? Granted it makes ways a help. I started "Student Report" with the sole purpose of attempting to create a little intellectual curiosity here at Colby, and to a certain degree I have been successful. It seems I didn't quite reach good reading, and it provides a laugh now and then, but does it really tell you why not to go steady?

I'm not advocating the 'pastime', neither am I trying to convert any bachelors, but I do think that those people, who are going steady must see something more in it than just the keys to the car, and a standing date.

Spring is coming, and maybe you'll change your mind. If not, then why don't you just sit in the corner, read your rules, and spit out your grape seeds in some other direction?

your level. I'll try a little more next issue.

One Opinion

I think your idea of starting a "variety" magazine on this campus stinks. I started "Student Report" because I was sick and tired of such monstrosities as Prologue and whatever-the-name-of-that-farce was that was published last year. I am trying to get the students here at Colby to criticize and evaluate some of the issues that are of importance in the world today, and to get them to stop writing dribble about the green grass in spring, hints to Colby knitters, and such.

I hope I have not made an ass of myself in my accusations. I may have been carried away by my "emotions". I don't think so!

Respectfully submitted,
Richard B. Beal

as an individual, the choice he makes is for life. It's even worse than getting married because you can get divorced and remarried. But when you go into a fraternity, you not only can't sever relations, but you can never join another fraternity. We have no information on sororities because their activities are such that we have no way of obtaining the desired information.

REPORT was alive or dead I wrote SHOWCASE last week with the same opinion that I have now that I have seen the latest REPORT. It is not broad enough, does not allow for the type of creative writing I would like to see in a college variety mag.—

Lettermen's Banquet, Colby College basketball history was smashed when Warren Finegan was re-elected captain of the White Mules. Finegan, who hails from New York, is the first captain to succeed himself.

This past season Warren amassed a total of 243 points in twenty-three games, averaging 10.1 points per game. His board work was superb, considering the giants with which he had to deal. Classy and yet a smart player, this season, Warren didn't seem to be able to play his own game. Finegan was in there mostly to rebound which hampered his style of play.

With the Mulettes addition to the Varsity we look for a great season next year. Height, speed, accuracy and more were all a great part of the Frosh outfit. Next year Warren won't have as much to worry about off the boards, as boys like Nagel and Lallier make Warren seem like a midget.

MULE KICKS

by Bob Ryley

Our wail of anguish was heeded and here are the excellent results:

Dear Bob:

In response to your plea for material for your column I would like to point out a few overlooked Colby athletes.

First of all I have seen three hockey games in my life; one Colby vs Dartmouth; another Colby vs Bowdoin; and another Colby vs Notre Dame, all defeats. However, what I have learned about hockey in three months and three games tells me that one Ralph "Bill" Bailey of Needham, Mass., was one of the seldom mentioned heroes of a mediocre season. Bill did not lead the scorers, but he did play aggressive, clean, sportsmanlike hockey. As hockey players go, I believe that he is tops at Colby; but there are others who may not think so. How about giving him a boost even if he is a Lambda Chi?

Another one of the hockey boys is Len Lamprey of Wakefield, Mass. All Eastern Mass. in 1946, Lamprey scored 25 points in nine games for the Freshman hockey squad. He racked up 19 goals and 6 assists while pacing the frosh to a 4 and 5 record par for any team who had one, I say one, organized practice.

Also, how about throwing a few shamrocks to Captain Henry McGrath, basketballer Sherman Welson, football players Bob Cannell, Bill Clark, and trackmen Skip Norden and Whitey Johnson? Coach of frosh hockey Holmer, knows that hockey is plenty rough after a 5-stitch gash in the mouth.

These have been some of the unsung heroes of sports already past. What of baseball, tennis, golf and the cinders? Time will tell, but let's not forget the little guys who ran second, who passed the puck and who held high scorer Joe Jones to 2 points. Thanks for the opportunity to drop you a line. And how about a banquet for freshmen athletic teams? After all they beat the varsity in football, basketball, track (relays) and might have in hockey had the blue and white varsity heeded the challenge.

Yours for more on the underrated athlete,

Joe Unsung

P. S.—Think of this for comparative scores.

Colby 1, Dartmouth 3; Dartmouth 5, B. U. 3; B. U. 8, Boston College 2; Boston College 8, McGill 1.

Should Colby be in the NCAA hockey tournament or not? Six goals better than B.C., 13 goals better than McGill, even with B. U. What do you say? I think hockey is here to stay.

Ordinarily we wouldn't have printed a letter signed with a pseudonym, but we couldn't overlook Mr. Unsung's inexorable logic. We wish that Mr. U. would make known his true identity. We could use him on our sports staff. Our sincere thanks for your aid, Joe, and thanks also to all those who sent me the Drop Dead post cards.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Those quaint comments made last week concerning the track team caused rumblings of thunder and flashes of lightning from the direction of the field house. This "writer's" inability to express himself resulted in a great deal of misunderstanding, all of which he hopes to clear up right now.

Contrary to what was universally inferred, the remarks made were not intended as a condemnation of the team or the coach. We realize that:

1. We have at present the nucleus of one of the finest track teams in New England.

2. This is the first time in Colby's track history that we have had more than one or two exceptional stars.

3. Track is the only sport in which Colby can gain national recognition. Unfortunately, we took a somewhat negative viewpoint and failed to give due credit. But, although we are aware that the track team has made tremendous strides in two short years, we are not retracting any statements made last week, nor are we apologizing all over the place. We still maintain that we need some good weight men and that they can be acquired. That was the gist of the whole article. We offer bunion pads for the toes we stepped on.

Shiro Is Most Valuable Player

Monday night at the annual Colby Sports Banquet, Teddy Shiro, high scoring right guard of the Colby Mules, received the Robert LaFleur most valuable player award. The award, a gold watch, was presented to Shiro by Coach Lee Williams and Bill Millett for his outstanding all around play as well as his shooting ability. Shiro finished the season with 375 points and was led only by Charlie Goddard of Maine in that department.

Teddy, who made the Maine All State team last year, was named to both Bates and St. Anselm all opponent teams this year. He broke two scoring records this year and tied another of fifteen points per game. Teddy made 117 free throws out of 176 attempts for an average of .665. Both the number of free throws attempted and the number made were new records for individuals on a Mule five.

Coed Outlook

The results of the inter-class girls' basketball tournament that was played about two weeks ago saw the junior class as the winners.

The W. A. A. basketball tournaments are now in full swing, but the results cannot be given until after vacation.

After vacation, from April 6-16, the W. A. A. small tournaments will be going on. No gym classes will be held. Every freshman and sophomore must sign up for at least one tournament. However, this is a good chance to get in some points. Each tournament that you play in is worth one point and if you are winners or runners-up, you get more points. The tournaments that are being played are: badminton, singles and doubles; ping pong, singles and doubles; deck tennis, singles and doubles; paddles tennis, singles and doubles; bowling, singles; and shuffleboard, doubles.

The coffee for the W. A. A. basketball tournament and these small tournaments will be held on Tuesday, April 18. At this time the winners and runners-up will be announced.

Bixler Praises O. C.

At the annual banquet of the Waterville Alumni Association held in Roberts Union Monday, George Sterns was named President, Cal Hubbard, Vice-President, and Mrs. Fraser, Secretary-Treasurer.

Speaking to the group, President J. Seeley Bixler asserted that Colby is building for a glorious future despite the unrest existing in the world today.

He stressed the work of the Outing Club members in constructing the Mountain Farm ski tow as an example of the faith on which Colby is expanding.

DAILY BULLETIN Asks Support, Solicits Mimeograph Print Jobs

In order to defray the costs of publishing the Colby Daily Bulletin is asking the organizations on campus to contribute $.50 each per year. This charge will cover as many insertions as they wish to make.

It is hoped that Colby organizations will cooperate with this plan so that the Bulletin may continue. The charge for this semester is $.25 and should be given to Miss Perkins in the Recorder's Office.

To Date Insertions

The Bulletin also urges that all future insertions be labeled with the date of desired publication.

In the past the ECHO has allowed the campus organizations to use the mimeograph machine, but through improper use the machine has on several occasions been put out of commission. Therefore, use of the machine will now be limited to one authorized person.

For all mimeographing there will be a charge of 75c per 100 sheets, 8 1/2 x 11 1/2. This rate will be flexible, depending upon the amount of typing necessary. The rate will be cheaper if the organization supplies its own paper.

For further information contact the Bulletin Editor, Edith Tozier at Mary Low Hall.

Sorrentino Performs At Foss Hall Dinner

Pulling a rabbit out of a double boiler, detecting objects while blindfolded, and holding girls' hands was the main occupation of Stanley Sorrentino, who entertained with his magic at the Foss Hall Spring Banquet held last Monday evening.

Barbara Vaughn served as Mistress of Ceremonies, and Ilse Hoch, Joanne Walker and Elizabeth Smart made after-dinner speeches. Miss Sherbourne and Prof. and Mrs. McCoy were dinner guests.

Dr. Matthaei Star Recitalist At Bach Festival This Summer

A Bach Festival will be held at Colby to commemorate the 200 anniversary of Bach's death. An organ recital to be held in the afternoon of July 28, the very day that Bach died, will serve as the formal dedication of the Mellon Organ.

Matthaei to Play

Giving the recital will be Karl Matthaei of Basel, Switzerland, head of the International Bach Society. Dr. Matthaei is being brought to this country especially for this recital by Dr. Matthew T. Mellon, who gave Colby the organ. For the dedication of a similar organ that was presented to the University of Freiburg, Germany, Dr. Matthaei was also the recitalist. During his stay in the United States, Dr. Matthaei will be the guest of Dr. Mellon at his home in Northeast Harbor, Maine.

On the afternoon of the following day, July 29, a violin and string ensemble will play. The soloist will be Mr. Bagarotti, a well known violinist. Included in the program will be a Bach concerto and three concerti by Haydn, one of which has never been played in the United States. This concerto was recently discovered by Mr. Bagarotti himself.

A large attendance from all over the Eastern Seaboard is expected. Further announcements will be made at a later date.

Freshman Assembly Poorly Attended

Sixteen of the various faculty heads of departments gave Freshmen an opportunity to become familiar with the requirements for the various majors and the fields of work open to these majors upon graduation, at a poorly attended Freshman meeting last Thursday.

Indies Will Donate New Field Scoreboard

Independents, college non-fraternity men, have decided to direct their campaign pledges towards the purchase and installation of an electrically controlled scoreboard for the football field.

Labeled "Independent Project", the money pledged by the group towards the Mayflower Hill Fund is to be used towards this scoreboard, first, and all remaining pledges shall be turned over for use at the discretion of the administration.

Frosh men will have an opportunity to learn about the Independent organization after vacation when the group will have a get-acquainted meeting and also decide the election dates and procedure for choosing frosh representatives to the Independent Council.

This is in accordance with a recent amendment to the Indie Constitution that "Frosh representatives shall be elected not more than one month following the official posting of freshmen frat pledge lists".

Ed Whitney has been elected the Indie rep to the Spring Fling Committee.

Levine Speaking Contest Winners

Discussing "Can Racial Prejudice be Eliminated by Legislation?", Don Silverman won a 1st prize of $50 at the Julius and Rachel Levine Extemporaneous Speaking Contest at Roberts Union last Tuesday night.

The second prize of $25 went to Foster Choate; Joseph Unobsky and Edward Bittar took third and fourth prizes respectively, $15 and $10.

George M. Davis and Clayton Eames, Maine judges and Lewis Lester Levine, Attorney, composed the board of judges.

The general topic of the contest this year was "Race Discrimination in the U. S." Several hours before the contest each speaker was given a specific topic, chosen by lot.

After each contestant spoke for from five to eight minutes the judges awarded the prizes on the basis of material, organization and delivery.

The prizes, totaling $100 annually are donated by Mr. Lewis L. Levine, '16, in memory of his parents.

One of the fastest starters on the varsity cross country team is Robert Startup.

Bixler Gives Treasure Room Rare Collector's Item

Colby is indebted to the generosity of President Bixler for one of the latest acquisitions of the Treasure Room. Last week he presented them a copy of the celebrated Bibliophile Society's facsimile reproduction of the "Geddes Burns"—one of the 473 copies printed for members of the society in 1908.

For the benefit of those to whom these terms mean nothing, it can be explained that the book reproduced by the Bibliophile Society was a copy of the Edinburgh (1787) edition of "Poems Chiefly in the Scottish Dialect" by Robert Burns—this particular copy being one that was once owned by the Rev. Dr. Alexander Geddes, a Catholic clergyman in Edinburgh from whom Burns once borrowed the book, and in it wrote twelve complete poems, all in the author's handwriting, on the blank leaves of the book. He also inserted autograph explanations of many of the blanks left in the printed text of his poems in the 1787 volume. All this made the Geddes copy of the "Poems" by Burns of exceptional interest and value.

Book Passed Down

Upon Dr. Geddes's death, the much-prized book became the property of his sister, from whom her daughter inherited it; and from this daughter it came into the hands of Dr. Henry Goadby, a Detroit biologist and physician. From him the book passed to Mrs. Goadby, who in turn sold it in 1863 to Mr. James Black of Detroit. After his death, the book was sold by his widow to Mr. Bixby, a well-known book-collector in St. Louis, who allowed it to be exhibited in the Burns Cottage at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in 1904. The printing of the facsimile reproduction, for members of the Bibliophile Society of Boston, followed only four years later.

A copy of this facsimile came into the possession of Dr. Nathan H. Gerriek (Colby, 1910), for many years a well-known physician in Boston. He presented his copy recently to President Bixler.

Jellison, Eastman Cop P. & W. Elections

At their last meeting on Tuesday, March 14, Colby's Powder and Wig elected a new slate of officers for the year 1950-51. Gene Jellison '51, former vice-president of the organization was elected president.

Jellison has been active in dramatics, both in radio and stage, since his freshman year at Colby. He succeeds Kenneth Jacobson '50, who has been president of Powder and Wig since March 1949.

Others Elected; Effective Immediately

Others elected to office were: Harland Eastman, '51, vice-president; Pat Erskine '52, secretary-treasurer; Herbert Simon '52, stage manager; Fred Boyle '51, business manager. Upon election the slate assumed office, effective till next March.

Powder and Wig, at the meeting, also endorsed the student production of The Glass Menagerie. The organization voted to give the group producing the play the right to use P. & W.'s name, and its support in the endeavor.

College Nursing Course Dropped; 'Doesn't Fit In Curriculum'

For the reasons discussed in the following statement of Dr. Bixler's, the School of Nursing and the Medical Technology courses will be discontinued.

"The college has decided to accept no more students for Medical Technology or Nursing because the work in hospital laboratories does not fit into the academic program as well as had been hoped.

"Accordingly it has been decided that it is best to advise students interested in this work to take four years at Colby and then to go on for a year in a hospital laboratory for the medical technologist's certificate. It is believed that arrangements can be made to use hospital facilities in the vicinity.

"With regard to the School of Nursing, the college feels that in this case also it will be better for students to take four years at Colby and then go on for graduate work. It is planned now to work out with even greater care a pre-nursing major. Colby retains its concern for the nursing profession and hopes to interest a large number of students to make it their life work."

Miss Ninetta Runnals, former Dean of Women, had served since 1920, a period of nearly thirty years of fine "Deaning."

Colby Stork Rushed With Three Arrivals

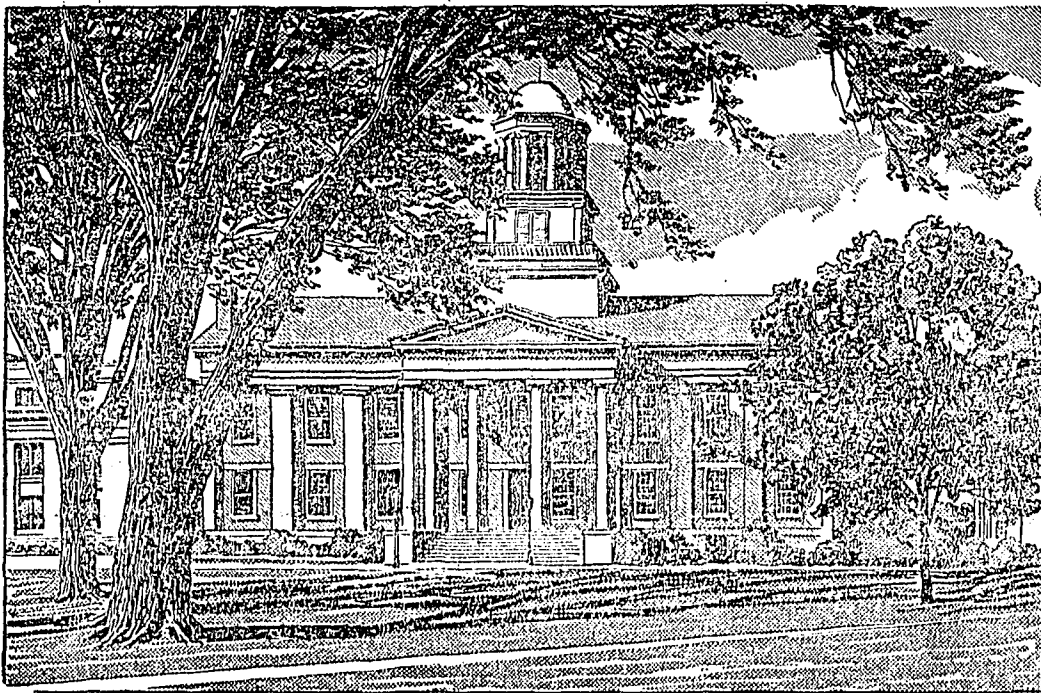

Deborah Jean Pullen barely beat out Andrew Crosby Howard in a close race last Sunday.

Debby is the second daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Robert Pullen and was born at five o'clock Sunday morning, weighing in at six pounds twelve ounces.

Andy came three hours later and tipped the scales at six pounds three ounces. He is the second child of Mr. and Mrs. David Howard.

But despite Mr. Howard's Masters Degree and Prof. Pullen's Ph.D and their experience in this line they were both outdistanced by a Freshman, Mrs. Harold Leathe, Freshman wife, gave birth to their first child eight hours before either of the faculty wives, and it is a whopping eight pounds five ounces, well ahead of the best faculty efforts.

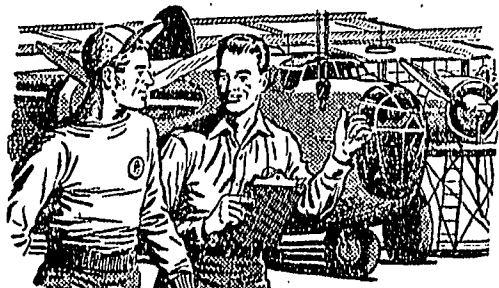

Everybody's doing fine.

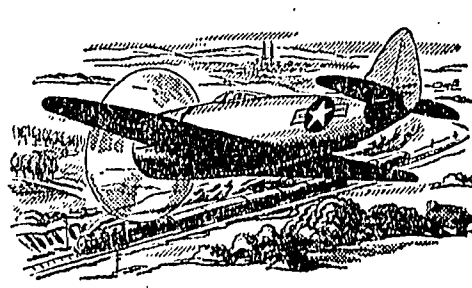

Major Roy Carlson, U. of Iowa, Training Executive, U.S. Air Force!

Born in Red Oak, Iowa, Roy graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School at Council Bluffs. He was ready to enter the University when war changed his mind.

He went to work at Consolidated Vultee in San Diego, building PB Y's and B-24's. But it wasn't long until he had put in his application for Aviation Cadet training.

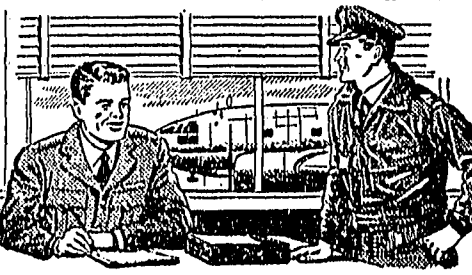

Cadet Carlson won his wings in April, 1943, was assigned to P-47 "Thunderbolts" with the 368th Fighter Group in England, to break ground for the Normandy invasion.

Roy completed 125 combat missions, leading many of them, supporting the invasion and the advances on into Germany. Won Air Medal, D. F. C., many other decorations. Promoted to Captain, then to Major.

Back home, he married the lovely Army nurse from Lowell, Massachusetts, whom he had met at Cannes, France. After the honeymoon, he returned to finish his studies at the University of Iowa.

Major Carlson is now Chief of Operations, 2471st Air Force Reserve Training Center, at O'Hare International Airport, near Chicago. Has two husky sons, a fine job, a great career still ahead of him!

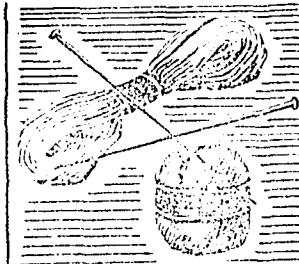

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider the many career opportunities as a pilot or navigator in the U. S. Air Force. Prerequisite Teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for them. You may also get full details at your nearest Air Force Base or U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force, 4th Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.

Fainsod Speaks

bers are eliminated without warning. These tensions are at least temporarily inescapable because Russia has few resources to devote to consumer goods, and their policy of controlling instead of trusting causes internal tensions and external suspicions; together part of a vicious circle necessitating more control.

Force Holding the Country Together
The first of four binding influences is a pair of ideological weapons: communism and nationalism. Most Russians are "very Russian" and communism is "just a veneer over their nationalistic spirit". That was their weapon during the war and they are trying to keep it in harness by associating communism with it.

For the first year since the war, there are no veterans in the women's division of the freshman class.

The ideological enthusiasm of communism which was extensive during the first five year plan has waned. What before was a revolutionary plan, is now authoritatively imposed dogma. The indoctrination propaganda used on students is not as effective as is thought.

The other binding forces holding Russia together are the managerial elite, the Communist Party with its six million members—even though many join only to get quicker advancement and higher pay—and the secret police and repressive controls.

No Relief Soon

Professor Fainsod does not think that the wide-spread dissatisfaction will be relieved soon. Even Stalin's death probably will not make any great difference, although it is liable to create great intra-party strife.

Professor Fainsod did not offer any solution or predict an end to the problem. He did say, however, that if we keep strong the Russians will not attack in the next few years.
