Harvard School Offers Fellowship

Colby College has been selected as one of twenty-one eastern colleges to inaugurate a cooperative program with the Harvard Graduate School of Education for training elementary and secondary school teachers. The program will begin in the fall of '52.

Each of these colleges have been asked to select a group of top-ranking seniors as candidates for the Harvard program. Colby, for example, may well send three to five qualified students who are interested in teaching to Cambridge for a fifth year of graduate training. Scholarship aid will be available from the fund for the Advancement of Education. The fifth year of work will lead to a Master of Education degree in the field of elementary education or to a Master of Arts in Teaching degree in the field of secondary education.

The Red Cross bloodmobile will be at Colby not later than the first of March. It will visit Colby from Bangor, the Maine sub-center. These visits will be continued monthly, and a required number of volunteers must be available for donations each time.

The bloodmobile has been delayed in coming to Maine because sixteen of the thirty Red Cross chapters in Maine have to be ready, and because the bloodmobile has not yet arrived in Boston, the regional center, from the factory. Ten of the Maine chapters, Waterville included, are prepared for the bloodmobile right now, and the bloodmobile unit will be here by the time the other six chapters are all set.

This coming visit of the bloodmobile is the beginning of a series of monthly visits, and, for their continuation here, 150 students from Colby must donate each time. A single person can donate only every three months. This sustained drive over a period of months is preferred over all-out donations at one time.

Therefore it is important to have continued pledging by Colby students.

More permission cards, which must be signed by parents of students, under 21, are now being made and will soon be ready for distribution. There are representatives in each dorm and fraternity house who will distribute these cards as they are resupplied and explain the process of donation.

Although well over the 150 necessary students are now signed up for the first donation, more are welcome since some may be unable to donate at the time the bloodmobile arrives. Furthermore, it is important to sign up more students immediately for the second visit, for the bloodmobile will be here each month except July and August.

The blood drive at Colby is being sponsored by the Colby Student Christian Association and the Colby Red Cross Unit. Col. Christie has guaranteed full co-operation from the ROTC. President Bixler, the

Glee Club Broadcasts 1:30 Sunday

The Colby Glee Clubs will present their second annual broadcast for the Monsanto Chemical Company's program, "Songs from New England Colleges", Sunday afternoon, February 17. The program will feature "Colbiana", a medley of four Colby songs, arranged by Director P. J. Ro, and including a new "Song to Colby", written by Dr. E. J. Compagnetti. For this number, Joe Unobskoy '52, will be the soloist. Other numbers to be heard are: Brahms' Leibeslieddr Waltz; the "Holiday Song", by William Schuman; and the chorus "Surely He Hath Borne Our Griefs" from Handel's "Messiah". The Men's Glee Club will sing "Hear My Prayer, O Lord". The Colby Eight will sing "The Providential Elbow", and a new arrangement of "How High the Moon".

Juilliard Quartet Plays Thursday

The Juilliard String Quartet, one of the foremost string quartets in the country at the present time, will give a concert in Lorimer Chapel on Thursday, February 26.

Outstanding music critics have acclaimed this group in its numerous appearances throughout the United States and Europe. They are particularly famous for their rendition of the six Bartok quartets, one of which they will play here at Colby.

That they are well-grounded in the works of the earlier composers has been proved by the reception that has been given to their perform-

The female version of the Colby Eight, the Colbyettes, will sing Cole Porter's "In the Still of the Night". The Colbyettes are something new around campus, having made their first appearance at the Women's Christmas Banquet. Members are: Georgia Roy, Carolyn English, Dot Forster, Anne Fairbanks, Dot Sellar, Elaine Zervas, Larry Walker, Ginny Falkenbury, Nat Harris, and led by Sandy Pearson.

Last year, the Colby Club was one of the few selected by the Monsanto Co. to receive records of the program for each member. On these records, Colby has two numbers from the Carousel group, reproduced as one of the high points of the season.

The broadcast originates from the Lorimer Chapel at 1:30 p.m., and will be heard over the following stations: WTIC, WRZ, WLBZ, WCSH, WJAR, WRDO, and WNEB. No one will be admitted without a ticket, which may be obtained from Glee Club members.

Frosh Stop MCI Streak, 69-57

The Freshman basketball team stopped a nine game winning streak of Maine Classical Institute in a preliminary to the varsity contest last Friday night when it beat the prep schoolsters, 69-57.

Dino Sirakides, with his most productive game of the season, was the high scorer for the young Mules with 20 points on ten field goals, some of which were on the dazzling side.

In another prelim Friday night the Frosh blasted Ricker College 74-40. Larry LaPointe was the top scorer for the Mulettes with 13 points. Masterman, Zambello and Sirakides got 10 each.

Colby Pucksters Return Home

Colby's team took a short road trip on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week and lost to Amherst and Army by narrow margins.

In both games the Mules had first period leads only to run out of gas in the succeeding periods. The Lord Jeffs scored five goals in the second and third periods while holding the Mules to one counter. The final outcome was Amherst 7 Colby 5.

In the contest at West Point Colby tallied three goals in the opening period while Army got two. However, the West Pointers caught fire in the second canto with four goals and in the third with one, while holding the Mules scoreless. The score: Army 7 Colby 3.

Mules Win Over Tufts and MIT

The Mule basketball club remained in the ranks of the undefeated in New England competition when it whipped Tufts and MIT on Friday and Saturday nights of last week.

In both tilts, the Williamsmen were in command from the opening tapoff. Against Tufts, with Frank Piacentini the high scorer for the Mules with 17 markers, the score was 74-53. Other double figure scorers for Colby were Lallier with 14 and Hawes with 10. Sussenberg, the Jumbos' left forward, was the game's top scorer with 23 points.

The Mules swamped MIT the following night 81-53. Again it was Piacentini, who led the Mule offensive by dumping in 15 points.

The victory over MIT was the Mule's seventeenth in nineteen games for the season.

Ski Jumping

Jumping will highlight ski activity during Winter Carnival, with the recent combination of ice and snow making the slope extremely fast for the triangular meet between favored University of Maine, MIT, and Colby.

Events got underway this afternoon with cross country. The slalom at 9:00 a.m. will start action on Saturday, followed by the downhill at 11:00 and jumping at 1:30. Unlike the 1951 carnival, when all skiing was cancelled because of the lack of snow, the recent snowfall has made ideal conditions for all events. Mule jumpers Captain Dana Anderson, Dick Whiting, and Don White are expected to soar record distances on the icy slope.

The White Mules of Leo Williams wrapped up their second consecutive State Series title here Wednesday night by defeating Bowdoin 83 to 55 to continue unbeaten in New England.

It was Colby's third State of Maine championship since Williams became coach in 1946. The Mule record—which is unequalled in the East—now stands at 18 wins as compared to only two losses.

Colby still has a pair of Series contests remaining with Maine and Bates, but the Wednesday night decision assured them of the No. One spot.

Goralski Fund

All those who attend Saturday night's Colby-Northeastern ball game will have the opportunity to make donations towards Colby's contribution to the Bill Goralski Emergency Fund.

Goralski, Trinity Captain — Little All-American mention, lies paralyzed in Hartford Hospital as a result of injuries suffered last fall on the gridiron. Doctors estimate he has a 50-50 chance of walking again. Medical expenses are expected to surpass $15,000.

Colleges and Universities throughout New England have contributed to the fund in various ways; now the Colby student body is to have its opportunity. Student Government hopes and urges that all who can contribute tomorrow night do so. "No dollar, they say, could be better spent this weekend."

MULE KICKS

By PAUL REECE

That humble basketball exhibition displayed by Tufts and MIT last weekend still leaves the question open as to the genuine quality of our White Mules. It's obviously an outstanding team. Only Buffalo and Rochester have left the court with Colby wins this season. The Mules added another blue ribbon Wednesday evening by going through the formality of beating Bowdoin to clinch the state crown for the second year in a row. But where do they actually stand in regards to other small college quintets in the East?

Boston sports writers rate Colby fourth in New England — trailing Holy Cross, Boston College, and Connecticut in that order. However, after that 19-point walloping Holy Cross handed the Uconns this week, the Mules may move up. The Cross appears to be the only club to hold a definite edge over the Blue and Gray. Colby's 18 wins in 20 outings is the top record in the East, but defeating minutely ranked teams has blocked them from further recognition.

About the only other rating system is that used by Dick Dumbkel, a so-called cage sage, who tabs the Mules eighth in New England. What Mr. D. D. bases his observations on is a mystery.

Returning to those weekend walkaways, it's a shame that two such clubs from the Boston area were booked on successive nights. The Mules — although a little ragged from the long semester lapse for exams — continued to connect for better than 40 per cent of their shots. They are listed fifth nationally in this department. Lee Williams was greatly pleased over the performance.

Pity could be bestowed upon the poor team which meets the Mules when they really have a hot night. Colby missed a bushel of lay-ups against Tufts and MIT. If they hadn't the score would have entered triple figures. Perhaps it was a good pair of games to tune-up on after exams. It was a fine drill for offense and defense. Both opponents had about as much punch in their offensive attacks as contained in an empty pint of Old Grandad.

(Mayflower Hill residents will kindly refrain from reading those last two intoxicating words.)

WITHOUT FRENZY

God isn't necessary — that's a "collegiate" attitude. "Chapel? I haven't been inside the place since convocation my freshman year," chortles the Big Shot. And he's proud of it.

Like so many attitudes, however, this indifference is acquired, and few of us, in our hearts, believe in it. But that is a personal business; no one can dictate another's faith. Consequently this editorial is not a call to "Repent and Be Saved".

At Colby we chase madly after a liberal education. We explore the minds of the world's thinkers. During the next week we will have on campus outstanding thinkers — national religious leaders of the three major faiths. Should we be less eager to attend one of their panels than an illustrated lecture on the North Pole? Is it any less a part of our education?

The meetings during Religious Emphasis Week are for those who have deep convictions, who are actively concerned with religious activities at Colby. But they are also for the Christmas-and-Easter group. These meetings are for everyone.

Just once, let's crack our veneer of sophisticated cynicism. Let's forget any psychoses developed because we were forced to go to Sunday School as children. Without fanaticism, without frenzy, let every one of us, for this one week, emphasize religion.

STATE OF THE UNION

The ECHO gets a pretty thorough going over in discussions at Colby. Some nice things are said. So are a lot of not so nice things.

Many, many changes must be made before the ECHO can consider itself a first-class college newspaper. Just about the most important is to get a competent and adequate staff. With only a handful of always-rushed people, mistakes and failures are inevitable. Every mistake costs a great deal in public confidence, and increases the number of unfavorable things that can be said.

There are two kinds of people who talk down the ECHO — those who know what they are talking about and those who don't. Those who don't — the chronic complainers — are not worth worrying about. We are interested only in the ones who do, those who have the knowledge and ability to work on a paper. With this knowledge and ability they are justified in criticising, but also, as we see it, they should feel obligated to contribute their ability to the ECHO, since it is entirely a student project belonging to them as much as to anybody. If they know enough to criticize they know enough to work for its improvement. Now is a good time to start.

Some students have previously offered their help; they say they were ignored or overlooked until, in disgust, they gave up. Here is the one promise the new ECHO staff makes: Any student at Colby who wants to work for the ECHO (and work it is) will be given every chance to find the place on the staff that most interests and fits him. With cooperation we will make the ECHO a newspaper to be proud of.

Letters to Editor

Dear Sarah,

I do hope you are enjoying life at Colby, and are making your parents proud of you by getting good marks in all your classes. The weather report here speaks of so much snow in Maine that I imagine the campus shines with a downy white blanket. If the evenings are cool, you'll use that spare blanket, won't you? And if there is snow on the ground, please don't forget your galoshes. Cold feet make you cold all over, as Aunt Isabel always says.

Now that Exams are over there won't be so much studying to do, but please keep up your grades. The bridge club meets this afternoon and tomorrow night there's a lecture at Horticultural Hall on Bird Life in Jamaica. Never a minute's rest around here. We saw a car with Maine license plates the other day and noticed that it had the word "Vacationland" on it. You must be leading a soft life (ha, ha). Do enjoy yourself and be a good girl. All my love, Mollie.

Editor's Note: We believe the ECHO needs a "Letters" column, so we try to print one every week. Unfortunately, the only letter the editor received this week was from her mother, and none of her assistants will allow their mail to be published.

Sound and Fury

By Vox Populi

Even on Mayflower Hill, where "Integration" is a byword, there are certain limits. When it was suggested that there might be a relationship between Religious Emphasis Week, the Blood Drive, and the Book-of-the-Year, we were inclined to think that integration had gone berserk. Life in our brick-and-ivory tower may be placid and non-alcoholic, but the rarefied atmosphere is intoxicating to some.

Communiques from the non-academic world, however, indicate that these three programs are very closely connected. For example:

"The Department of Defense greatly appreciates the fine cooperation it has always received from the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and particularly its determined effort to launch a campaign in behalf of the Armed Forces Blood Donor Program.

"Brotherhood has many meanings, but most important of all is the fellowship and understanding of the burdens of one another . . . The ill and wounded of our Armed Forces need blood and such sharing will transcend mere expressions of sentiment and be brotherhood in action."

Robert A. Lovett
Secretary of Defense

"The brotherhood of man under the Fatherhood of God is well exemplified by the pledging of blood for the Armed Forces by all Americans regardless of race, creed, or national origin. It is also an outstanding example of national unity."

Roger W. Straus
Chairman, National Conference of Christians and Jews

"Everywhere in the world there is need of greater tolerance. I have run into that particularly in working in the Far East. There is need of much closer cooperation between free east and free west so that we can all preserve our freedom. However, that cooperation is not greater because the people of Asia fear the intolerance and arrogance of the Western white people who often in Asia have displayed a sense of superiority, based only on color, and who have ignored the richness of the cultures and civilizations of Asia. We shall particularly face in Japan the challenge of working in free cooperation as equals to promote peace and security in the Japan area.

"I am confident we shall meet that challenge because basically the peoples of the West do believe in the equal rights and equal destiny of all men. That faith had its beginning in Judea, where east and west met, and throughout our national history our greatness has come from acts inspired by faith that all men were endowed by their Creator with equal and inalienable rights. Throughout our national history we have performed great deeds inspired by that faith. All about us lie new opportunities and new occasions to renew that faith in those deeds."

WAX FACTS

By CHARLES FISHER

Being home for a few days, away from the musical nowhere of Vacationland, I found myself about a month behind in the pop picture. The Ray named Johnny had just about cried himself out and was now talking to the sun, the Basin Street Six were trying to out-dixie the Firehouse Five, and there was a sudden deluge of new singers, new orchestras, and new record companies. This first deal is just such a case.

Eddie Wilcox "WHEEL OF FORTUNE"; "YOU SHOWED ME THE WAY" (Derby)

As the label said, "this is the original", so I guess it must have meant something, although I can't figure out why anyone else would ever want to make a record of it. Both sides have a vocal by Sunny Gail, a chick who has been listening to too many Kiby Starr records. She should go back and listen to them more closely, or else try someone else. "Fortune's" only claim to fame is a refrain about a 'spinning, spinning, turning, turning' wheel sung in a manner that made me think the record was warped. The flip side is one of those ballads you won't remember two minutes after you hear it. Still don't know how good an orchestra Wilcox has — she didn't shut up long enough for me to hear it.

Woody Herman "NEW GOLDEN WEDDING"; "BLUE FLAME" (M. G. M.)

These are new waxings with Herman's new band of tunes he did years ago with his initial band, the band that played the blues. "Blue Flame", his theme song, with its intense blues mood, is just about the same, except for a different trombone solo, this time with Bob Burgess giving it a bop kick. The "New Wedding" loses the gentle swing it was created as, and turns out to be a frantic peice of mayhem, a change much for the better. This is the kind of wildness Herman hasn't had since the days of "Apple Honey" and "Caldonia". It's wonderful to hear. Sonny Igoe's rousing drum solo will leave you exhausted.

Frank Sinatra "I HEAR A RHAPSODY"; "I COULD WRITE A BOOK" (Columbia)

This is the best coupling Frankie boy has turned out in a long time. "Book" is the old Rogers-Hart tune having a go again via the newly revived "Pal Joey" show in New York. Axel Stordahl keeps his strings lush, and Sinatra maintains a relaxed pace throughout both sides. All that early smoothness seems to have come back to him again. Jeff Alexander's chorus are here, too, all to the good.

The Treniers "TAXI BLUES"; "IT ROCKS, IT ROLLS" (Okeh)

Look out for this one. If you caught their first record "Go, Go, Go" you know what I mean. A house rocker that should leap right to the top of the Sepia hit parade. This is a study of how six men can go berserk in two minutes and fifty-two seconds. None of the elements are lacking. There's plenty of handclapping, shouting, and the screamingist sax you'll ever hear. A couple of drinks, a few plays of this, and you'll absolutely "blow your top".

It is with deep regret that we announce to Colby College that Hummel Enterprises, Inc. has been forced to file bankruptcy papers. Monday night's storm demolished a brand new aerial and "Television or Bust" is busted. This is the second time that a TV aerial has succumbed to the elements and Mr. Kommel's only comment was: "Movies are better than ever."

The sports news is rather slim this week — the basketball team finished first with a 4-4 record, winning its last three games in a row. The bowling team finished fifth.

Winter Carnival holds the spotlight in this week's social events. The open house Saturday should climax the weekend on a great note. Brother Pape's social committee has planned a fine time for everyone and that includes all of you freshmen. Don't fail to drop over.

The chapter welcomes back one of its more illustrious members, Dick Jones of Melrose, Mass. Jonsie spent first semester at Tufts but still appears to be in good shape. It is with sadness that we say farewell to Spike, but we wish him good luck always.

Lambda Chi

For the information of several curious readers, the Lambda Chi's did elect officers for 1952. They are: President, Roe Nagle; Vice President, George Pirie; Secretary, Franklin King III; Treasurer, Rick Tyler; Ritual Chairman, Tom Hunt; Social Chairman, Gil Tallmadge; Correspondent, Freeman Sleeper; Rushing Chairman, Tony Yanuchi; Historian, Mr. Biron.

Monday night the basketball team defeated a strong KDR quintet in a close contest. High scorers were O'Meara, Curtis, and Doughty, all of whom hit double figures. Just think what might happen if the team practiced.

LCA held its open smoker on Tuesday night; as usual, it was a rather hazy affair. However, a good crowd of freshmen turned out (in spite of the cold) and it was quite successful. The applause for Gene Floyd brought tears to our eyes.

In response to many anxious questions — the snow plow did not go out of control Monday night. The pile of snow in the middle of the quadrangle was the beginning of our snow sculpture.

Plans are being made for an open house on Saturday night under the direction of Gil Tallmadge. The brothers have been looking forward to a party in our "house" all year, and it promises to be one we won't forget.

The Department of Pertinent Information reports that it has an answer to the song "Bill Bailey, Won't You Please Come Home?" He did. Chuck Spencer has received his title of jump rope champion of the dorm.

Advise of the week: (By Nick Lupo) Follow your nose, or you can't see where you are going.

Tau Delta Phi

Tuesday, January 15, the following officers were elected by the members of Tau Delta Phi: Gerald R. Ramin '52, Consul; Arthur Rothenberg '54, Vice-Consul; Hershel Albert '53, Quaestor; Charles Landay, '54, Scribe; Paul S. Ostrove '53, Custos; Stanley Abrams '54, Editor; John Resler '54, Historian; Robert Frank '54, Alumni Scribe.

The following committees were appointed by the Consul: Social Committee, Barnet Fain, Chairman; Harris O'Brasky, Jess Smith, Richard Ullman, David Saltzman, Edwin Eisen. House Committee, David Lavin, Harold Krieger, Co-chairmen; Paul Ostrove, Howard Sacks, Harris O'Brasky, Robert Fischer. By-Laws, David Saltzman. Athletic Chairman, Richard Ullman. Library, Richard Baggs, John Resler. Welfare Committee, Howard Sacks.

For this weekend the House has planned a "coming out" party in honor of the removal of the social suspension penalty imposed on them last semester. The theme of the party will be strictly French. Social Chairman Fain and his committee claim that they will bring all the brothers back to the days of pre-war Paris. As of Friday noon, the house will become "Cafe Symphonie des Nus" (with all due respects to the French Department). However, lest it be forgotten, there will be a Colby tradition at this gay, Parisian Cafe, namely, prohibition. The punch served during the evening will be a delightful mess entitled "Green Glug". Hope to see you all over at the house.

D. U.

Delta Upsilon moved en masse to Belmont for ex-president Bruce MacPherson's wedding. A few of us made it back from Boston in 2 hours and 46 minutes in Rapaport's Blue Bomber.

The Fat Phi's bowed to Pete Klinzman's hoopsters Monday. Forgotten what the score was.

This brings us up to Winter Carnival weekend, which has all kinds of potentialities; that pile of white stuff out on the front lawn is Mike Manus's snow sculpture, Whitey Johnson says that there is all kinds of date potential around, and Hap Rosborou is in the hospital with the flying crud. This dispatch came in a little late but Uncle Tom Cressman was elected President of the House a while back. But let's get back to the coming winter orgy at this Kennebec Country Club. Kenny Castonguay says that he is promoting a direct pipeline from the local Fairview Wine Corporation. Snake Hobart says that if we'll freeze him in beer, he'll win the snow sculpture for sure. Brother Frankie Masters sent his apologies and best wishes, saying that he could not make it for the Saturday night blast because he is currently in London playing for the King's last ball. The young man with a horn, Johnny Hammond, is flying up a Dixieland combo from Dartmouth, so we'll have music, anyway. Carl Leaf says that kissing her was just like kissing the coat rack.

Don't forget to Lum Your Jula and save your empties.

The ATO quintet, coached by Bob Alpert, swept to the 1st half championship in the Inter-fraternity Basketball League. The team was composed of Voorhees, Edson, Kierman, Fraser, Keef, Andrews, Hilbert, Super Ganem and the Davis boys.

Dana Anderson, captain of the Colby Ski team, returned home from a meet with scratches on his face, indicating a close contest. Ralph Davis leads the Valentine parade. Ava Gardner, Tom Davis's Winter Carnival date, will definitely not give autographs during her visit to Colby. Super Ganem's "Supmobile" may not be ready for the big weekend. If not able to move under its own power, it will be towed across Johnson Pond onto the highway.

Plans have been made for a gala Winter Carnival program. With Harry James and Doris Day furnishing the music, all should progress with the usual smoothness.

D. K. E.

Fritzi (those buckeyes are the greatest) Zeigler is anxiously awaiting the second half of the inter-fraternity basketball league. An ardent believer in the law of averages, he feels his 'boys' are long overdue and about to cash in with a few red-hot victories.

Tim Terry, Deke delegate to the national convention at Atlantic City, lost his head momentarily and was side-tracked to California. However, he soon regained his composure, reached Atlantic City, and a fine time was had by all.

Attendance increasing rapidly in Mo Rennie's Monday Nite Club. Mr. Rennie, elated over the fine spirit being shown by all, is planning new and greater attractions.

Brothers Zeigler, Rennie, Holt, Jacobs, Johnson and Gordon held down the house after exams and the rest of the brothers departed for various places. Some went to New Hampshire for some of that fine skiing in between rain storms. Derry Tatlock went to Salem, to buy antiques. He came back with some fine beer mugs, too. Frank Totman and Tuba Lundin went to Quebec. Tuba now has a few more chapters to add to his memoirs.

Several industrious brothers made good use of the snow and have started a fabulous statue. They are making a strong bid for that prize. We are looking forward to the open house Saturday night as Tim Terry is making final arrangements. Brother Moe Rennie is eagerly awaiting the weekend and the arrival of a long separated friend, two years, I think. He has been frantically knitting a scarf or sweater, too.

Non-fraternity men are cordially invited to our Open Smoker. Watch for date and time.

Phi Delta Theta

Recently elected officers for the second semester were: President, John Ratoff; Secretary, Nicholas Sarris; Warden, James White; House Chairman, Chase Lasbury; Choirster, Theodore Rico.

With the arrival of snow, the challenge of the Chapel lawn has once again claimed its share of victims. Senor Don Killeen and date alone have conquered the slope. Brother Killeen states, "Really — it was nothing at all!"

The Fat Phis are still hanging on in the intra-mural basketball league. Coach Swindells states, "The boys are blocking well, tackling hard and we could surprise."

Socially the lads are anxiously awaiting Winter Carnival and all the surprises it promises to bring.

Scholastically, the four Phi Beta candidates are continuing their studies at Mary Low.

Athletically, league director Ron Lannan has announced that night stoop-ball will be held this spring. The two graduated power houses, the Gilhooley "Bellys" and Cannell "Grubatts" leave it a wide open race.

ECHO are also giving their whole-hearted support to the drive.

Editor's Note: The preceding story explains why details on the forthcoming Bloodmobile have been slow in accumulating. Colby has been organized and ready for some time; however, other donor centers had to complete preparations before the Red Cross could set a date or make final preparations. Thus any lack of information was in no way the fault of Colby's Blood Drive committee. An ECHO editorial gave a contrary impression. We apologize for the misunderstanding.

So far, the new semester has gone along fairly smoothly with only a few complaints. Abbott Rice has complained to the "Office of Price Stabilization" that its new orders have placed an unreasonable low ceiling on his fares between the campus and the town. From his office, Howie Gaskill, chief stabilizer, has stated that "the price will have to remain low enough and be in easy reach of every brother's pocketbook."

Rice says that these prices are far too low.

Everyone who ventures into the house will need one of the new directories being given away on the first floor, if he hopes to find anyone. During the past few days everyone has been moving about, with the general trend being toward the third floor and away from that barre-rolling company located in the basement. Bob Ardif has followed the trend and much to his new room mate, Vic Sealise's delight, all the Stan Kenton records were lost in the moving.

During the last semester, the KDR bowling team won first place in the bowling league. Congratulations go to Brothers Bryant, Beat-son, Caouette, Gammon, Gaskill, Mason, and Sealise for the fine job they did. We all hope that they keep it up during the next semester.

With the Winter Carnival coming up this weekend, Brothers Morso, Gammon, and Raup are getting ready to show their "talents" on the slippery slats. By Sunday afternoon their long training ought to pay off.
