CAMPUS TOTALLY SNOWED

Grounds crew labor to free the plow that later broke through to civilization

Storm "Worst Ever" Interrupts Classes

(An account in part of the 1952 Blizzard at Colby College)

The sleepy, bedraggled inhabitants of this fair campus awoke Monday morning after a joyous Carnival Weekend, in a flurry of snow. The first real blizzard to strike Mayflower Hill since Colby was moved here had buried everything in tons of white.

The abruptness of this storm was apparently completely unforeseen and the Maintenance Department found its plows stuck in the immovable snowdrifts. Classes were suspended for two days. Most of the employees living off campus were cut off from the Hill, and those of us fortunate enough to be marooned here were given the responsibility of maintaining life.

The already crowded Roberts Union cafeteria saw many more customers on February 18 and 19, as

"off campus" eaters were forced to ingest there. Miss Locke and Dean Sherman did a fine job of cooking breakfast Monday morning and the many students who donned chef's apparel are to be congratulated for the cafeteria's smooth running under adverse conditions. The Mary Low dining room managed very well under almost complete supervision of the co-eds. Miss Nichols was very pleased with the work done by the co-eds and by the two women employees who live at the dormitory. By Monday night the milk and bread situation became acute. The pressure, however, was relieved Tuesday morning when some bread was brought in by toboggan and an ice cream order came in by horse and saddle bags.

P & W Shows Wednesday Films

Powder and Wig is announcing the beginning of a new Wednesday series of films to be presented at Colby during the remainder of this semester. There will be a showing in the afternoon at 3:30 and again at 7:30 in the Averill Auditorium of the Keyes Building. Bookings for the next several weeks include the films and the dates that they will be shown.

Hangout Talent Show Saturday Despite Storm

Hangout "Come rain or snow, come hail or high water, the show must go on!" With this slightly garbled combination of the battlecries of the U. S. Mail Carriers and the guys and dolls on the other Great White Way, Hangout continued preparations for their 1952 Talent Show.

The Hangouts have not been idle during the Emergency. Mayflower Hill has been constantly patrolled by seven Saint Bernards laden with kegs of strong tea for snowbound students. But in between rescue operation, the Talent Show preliminaries have marched ahead, and Colby extroverts will appear on schedule.

Barring further meteorological catastrophes, the performance will begin promptly at 8:00 P. M. Saturday, February 23, at the Women's Union. All fraternities, sororities, independents and freshmen (also of two sexes) will be represented. After the exhibition of Talent (?) there will be dancing and refreshments in Dunn Lounge.

Bill Taylor reminds Hilltoppers and downtown smoke-eaters of the "fabulous, colossal, tremendous First Prize" to be awarded to the winning act. — "Support your own group," adds the Hangman in Chief. "Remember, this is your Talent Show."

Marston Moore Is Averill Speaker

"The Scientist-Artist" or "Artisan", will be the subject of the Averill lecture to be given February 22 by the eminent mathematician, Professor Marston Morse. Though he is at present affiliated with the Institute for Advanced Study, Professor Morse finds these hills very familiar as he himself is both a native of Waterville and a graduate of Colby College.

Professor Morse has proved his capabilities, for besides writing books, essays, and papers in the fields of dynamics, calculus variations, and topology, has received his A. M. and Ph. D. from Harvard and such honorary degrees as Sc.D. from Colby and Kenyon Colleges as well as Dr. honoris causa from the University of Paris and Pisa. At one time, Professor Morse interested himself in the game of chess sufficiently to show a strategem whereby a chess game can be extended for hundreds of years (or to the nth power) without reaching victory or a draw.

N. A. I. B. Games Played Here

The Executive Committee of the New England N. A. I. B. has selected Colby College as one of their 32 locations for their annual N. A. I. B. District Basketball Tournament. "Mike" Loeb, director of athletics, has been appointed to head the sectional play-offs here, March 5 and 6.

Four teams will soon be chosen to compete for the honor of being the representative from this district to the National N. A. I. B. Tournament to be held in Kansas City, March 10 to 15. With the finest record in the East, Colby will undoubtedly receive a bid to take part.

The tourney will bring together 32 teams from the United States, Hawaii, and Alaska for the national elimination.

The district play-offs here will have added interest this year due to the fact that this is an Olympic year, and the winner of the Kansas City Tournament automatically qualifies for the Olympic Games play-off.

supernatural tale of intrigue: "The Man Who Could Work Miracles." March 5th — Elizabeth Bergner, Douglas Fairbanks Jr. in "Catherine the Great."

March 12th — Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert in the hilarious academy award winner: "It Happened One Night."

March 19th — Roland Young and Billie Burke co-star with Eddie (Rochester) Anderson in one of the famous "Topper" masterpieces: "Topper Returns."

Also available are such films as: "Drums," with Raymond Massey; "Rembrandt" starring Gertrude Lawrence and Charles Laughton, and the "Adventures of Michael Strogoff, perhaps the best novel to have been written by Jules Verne.

Red Cross Course

The Red Cross Club is arranging for a Water Safety Instructor's Course, to be given at the Waterville Boy's Club. The prerequisites are twofold: the applicant must be nineteen years of age or over, and must have a recent Senior Life Saving Certificate.

The course, costing ten dollars, will consist of a fifteen hour preliminary course on the following Saturdays: March 1, 8, 15, and April 5, 12. The final part of the course will require intensive work on each evening from Monday, April 14 through Friday, April 18.

All those interested and qualified should notify Miss Janet Marchant, at the Women's Union, before February 26.

Folksong Lecture

A program of New England folk music will be present by Mrs. Helen Hartness Flanders Sunday, February 24, at 8:00 P. M. in the Lorimer Chapel. Mrs. Flanders, wife of the Honorable Ralph Flanders, United States senator from Vermont, is one of today's foremost authorities on folk music. Illustrating her lecture will be ballad singer, Mr. Lewis Finnermore, from Bridgwater, Maine.

Speaker Detained

Among those marooned at Colby during the worst storm of the year was Professor Luke Lee, of Clarkson College in Potsdam, N. Y. Mr. Lee came to Colby Sunday, February 17, to give a talk on China before the I. R. C. "I am anxious to get back to my teaching, but I am grateful for the amity and the friendship which Colby College and the students have provided for me." While snowbound, Mr. Lee passed the time at bridge in crowded Roberts Union. He is a graduate of St. John's College in Shanghai, China, and received his M. A. from Columbia University.

Chapel Shut Eves. Med. Rec. Course

Lorimer Chapel will be closed evenings to unauthorized student activities by order of Mr. W. A. Jennison, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds. Mr. Jennison has said that all college buildings not having either janitor service or a house director such as Filler Library, Roberts Union, or the Woman's Union, are to be closed at night. The chapel has no janitor service after 4:00 P. M., and thus will be closed evenings except for special authorized occasions set in advance.

Chaplain Osborne supports Mr. Jennison's decision on this matter. Several times lights have been left on and windows have been left open in the chapel, and the organ motor has been left running in Rose Chapel. Kitchenette equipment has been used and left out unwashed. As of the first of the year Chaplain Osborne has had to lock his office. Un-

Colby begins its Adult Education Program on March 21 and 22 with an extension course for Medical Record Librarians, an intensive study of the techniques of keeping medical records. This two day course is offered by Colby College as a service to hospitals in Maine and other New England States. Ski Meet

The University of Maine won the two-day ski meet with Colby and Massachusetts Institute of Technology by a comfortable margin last Friday and Saturday at the Colby slope. Team scores were,

Maine 591.63, Colby 567.41 and MIT 531.88.

On the first day of the meet the Black Bears won the cross country. Saturday they captured the slalom and downhill. Capt. Dana Anderson of Colby won the jumping contest with Maine taking the next four places.

MULE KICKS

BY PAUL REECE

Now that Colby has been honored by having its spacious and well-operated fieldhouse chosen as a site for the N. A. I. B. District Basketball Tournament, there appears little doubt that the White Mules will receive a bid and most graciously accept. And most graciously win! and most graciously go on to Kansas City! And—gracious—I'd better stop before I get over-optimistic and have them headed for the Olympic Games.

Anyhow, Lee Williams' talented troupe looks like the likely winners here — if they decide to participate. Maybe by the time you read this Colby officials will have okayed the whole idea.

Let us say that the Mules elect once again to enter the New England Tournament as they did a year ago. What will they gain? Nothing! The N. A. I. B. affair is the only logical choice.

If they enter the N. A. I. B. Tournament much prestige will be gained. It comprises 32 districts, and each will have individual champions. The victors — even from Alaska and Hawaii — will trek to Kansas City. Naturally it will be quite a chore to take the title. It's worth a try.

Boston College was crowned champs of the New England Tournament last year. So what? Their efforts ceased at that, and the season closed. Wasn't it Georgie Washington who threw a silver dollar across a river, or a stream, or a lake somewhere and got a few plaudits? So what? What good did it do him? Colby should shoot the works and try to go all the way—go to Kansas City. That IS really a feat. Sure it will be a toughgrind. The N. A. I. B. Tournament will be staged on a straight elimination basis. Many of the nation's top quintets will be participating.

Only four teams will be selected for the district play-offs here, March 5 and 6.

The clubs which will appear here in these play-offs won't exactly be powerhouses. Holy Cross, which is the only five honestly rated over the Mules in this region, will not take part, Colby's chances of coping the No. 1 position would be excellent.

So there it is. We have sanctioned the N. A. I. B. Tournament. The New England Tournament can go to Hades!

Bob Irish and Hans Thoma of Maine came in one, two in the slalom and tied for first in the downhill.

MIT suffered a setback on Saturday morning when Capt. Andrew Wessell broke his wrist in a practice jump which sidelined him for the remaining events.

A new award, the Skimeister Trophy, presented to the skier amassing the most points, was given to Maine's Bob Irish. A large silver bowl, it as a permanent trophy that will be awarded annually. Smaller bowls were awarded to the other place winners.

Varsity Basketball

Colby's flashy basketball club won their tenth consecutive victory by defeating Northeastern University of Boston, 67 to 50, in the Mules' field house last Saturday night.

The Huskies had Colby tied 14 to 14 at the close of the first canto and were behind only 27 to 30 at the half. Colby opened a ten point lead, 45 to 36, at the three quarter mark and thereafter had complete control of the game.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 33...THE SHEEP

They tried to fool him with the "quick-trick" cigarette mildness tests—but he wouldn't go astray! We know as well as he there's only one fair way to test cigarette mildness. And millions of smokers agree!

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke, on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments. Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

THE SNOW AND THE SHOW

Nothing can raise a groan of utter and complete boredom more quickly than mentioning "school spirit." But if the Colby supply of that particular ingredient is as low as it is reputed to be, we deserve a pat on the back for the uniqueness of a couple of incidents of the past week.

One demonstration blew in with the blizzard. Call it survival instinct, call it mere concern with physical comfort, the fact remains that mass cooperation enabled the college to get through the two days adventure quite comfortably. Student help is often late to work, lacksadaisical, and inclined to gripe, but when no help could reach Mary Low and Roberts kitchens from town, these same students dashed into their aprons, and pitched into the business of feeding the voracious victims of the Big Blow. Not only did they wash chicken, fry hamburgs, and swab dishes, but they enjoyed themselves at the same time. Maybe we have no school spirit, but where else can you find Deans, marooned carnival dates, and sleep-till-nooners cheerfully offering to do KP?

The second feather in our cap is "Colbiana."

Colby and the United States have been in the same predicament. The Star Spangled Banner and the Alma Mater — you can't sing either of them. No one denies that the Alma Mater is a beautiful song, but the tongue-tied, stumbling version that we render about once a year is pitifully futile, and it's even more disgusting when some senior says in a shocked tone, "What's that song? I never heard it before."

Now we've got another song. On the Monsanto Program last Sunday, the Glee Club gave the premier performance of "Colbiana", a melody of our songs arranged by Mr. Re. The entire audience was stirred. Some of it had been heard before, but included was a particularly beautiful new melody written by Dr. Comparetti, especially for Colby. And when the final burst of On To Victory came, not only the singers and the tripling accompanists, but the entire audience was proud to be part of Colby.

But most of us still don't have a song we can sing. For casual carolling it is rather impractical to learn the intricate four-part arrangement. So it's been recorded. A long playing record of the entire broadcast has been made available to us. Now everyone, soloists and monotones alike, can flip the phonograph switch and hear a little Colby spirit in one of its better moments.

Letters to Editor

Dear Editor,

As chairman of the Religious Emphasis Week committee, I would like to express both the committee's and my own thanks and praise for the coverage which you gave to the plans for the Religious Emphasis program and for the excellent editorial. The coverage was very good and very full (and extremely well written to my prejudiced eyes.) But the editorial, I feel is one of the most penetrating that has been written for this sort of thing, very well conceived.

As far as the committee is concerned the Echo has been extremely cooperative about publicity and has been one of the most effective means of preparing the campus for Religious Emphasis. We're terribly sorry that the program didn't come off because of the blizzard, but feel that a lot of good ground work has been laid for the Echo for future R. E. Programs and quite possibly for present religious activities on campus. We could not have asked for more in the way of coverage and editorial preparation.

Sincerely,

Wendell Peabody

Student Chairman of Religious Emphasis Week Planning Comm.

Defenestration Epidemic
Sweeps Mayflower Hill

(Reprinted from The Quarterly Journal of Abnormal Psychology by permission of the author, Sigmund Havelock Whitney, C. C. Inc.)

A peculiar phenomenon was observed during the week of February 18, 1952, among male patients at the Mayflower Hill Home for the Mentally Deficient. The first symptoms of aberration were noted on the morning of the 18th, when a male inmate suddenly sprang from his bed, shouted "ENISNAC!" and hurled himself out of a second-floor window.

In itself, this action would not be considered unusual for a Monday morning at Mayflower Hill. It soon gained the proportions of mass hysteria, however, and by Monday evening the air was full of defenestrators. Third-floor windows, dormitory roofs, and the Mayflower Hill water tower were chosen as new jumping-off places as a manical spirit of competition developed.

Various members of the Mayflower Hill psychiatric staff have advanced their personal opinions concerning the epidemic, and as no official diagnosis has been recorded, it seems only fair to discuss each theory separately. Names have been omitted in deference to the staff's wish to avoid unfavorable publicity.

I. The "Lumijuhla" Hypothesis:

Three members of the staff attribute the defenestration craze to a suicidal tendency resulting from the severe psycho-depression which is known to follow prolonged periods of alcoholic and erotic stimulation. Assuming this hypothesis to be correct, the motivation is obviously this year's Winter Carnival, known to the inmates by the indigenous ritual-term "Lumijuhla."

II. The "Overstreet" Hypothesis:

Two staff-psychiatrists consider this epidemic a delayed reaction of the Book-of-the-Year, an institutional project inaugurated two years ago in an attempt to foster a constructive type of intellectual ferment among the patients. A possible overemphasis of the concept of a "Mature Mind" is believed by this minority to have engendered a subconscious revolt, which finally manifested itself in this defiant display of immaturity.

III. The "Snowdrop" Hypothesis:

A militaristic hysteria fomented by recent publicity given to "Operation Snowdrop", (a winter maneuver of Army paratroops at Camp Drum) may have resulted in a form of psycho-projection, according to one staff intern. Senior members of the staff, however, are inclined to reject this explanation.

Addenda:

Although its proponent is not a member of the psychiatric staff, and is therefore hardly qualified to theorize on such an obviously psych-traumatic aberration, there is one more hypothesis which might be relevant to a complete examination of the problem. A member of the Geo-Meteorological Department has submitted a report concerning a singular atmospheric precipitation on the night of Sunday, February 17th. Paragraph 49, Chapter 23, of the meteorological reports calls special attention to the presence of 97.3 inches of snow (S. T. P.) under the window which was chosen by the first jumper. A sufficient quantity of evidence has not yet been compiled to justify a theory which would apply to all cases, but further investigation should ascertain the approximate depth of snow surrounding the dormitories at the time of the epidemic.

An objection raised by the psychiatric department seems valid at this point. There is no previous data indicating a correlation between snow and self-destruction, except that which is found in Hearst's study of insanity in certain nomadic Mongolian tribes in the Antarctic region.

A more complete report, and a possible conclusion, will be submitted for publication in the June, 1954, issue.

CAMPUS SNOWED

It was singularly amusing to witness some members of our devoted faculty who somehow managed to appear out of nowhere on skis and snowshoes during the calm on Tuesday.

At noon on Tuesday a one-way traffic lane was finally opened up and Mr. Jennison allowed produce and maintenance trucks to pass through.

As the oil trucks had been unable to get through the clogged roads the heat situation became serious early Tuesday morning. Even the mail that must go through did so via Knapsack and skis.

Although this frightful flurry caused considerable alarm in the higher departments of the college, it nevertheless afforded convenient excuse for men who were marooned downtown to remain at Foss Hall.

A pamphlet on the Big Blow is being prepared for posterity. If you waxed photographic or compositional about the storm, the Public Relations Department wants your material. The office is in the third floor stacks in the library. Seriously, both pictures and stories are urgently needed.

MARSTON MOORE

While addressing a Kenyon College Conference, Professor Morse described the essential bond between Mathematics and the Arts as existing in the fact "discovery in mathematics is not a matter of logic," but rather, "the result of mysterious powers which no one understands, and which in recognition of beauty must play an important part. Out of an infinity of designs, a mathematician chooses one pattern, for beauty's sake; and pulls it down to earth, no one knows how. Afterwards the logic of words and form sets the pattern right. Only then one can tell of it."

It takes fine tobacco to give you a better-tasting cigarette. And Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. But it takes something else, too—superior workmanship. You get fine, light, mild, good-tasting tobacco in the better-made cigarette. That's why Luckies taste better. So, Be Happy—Go Lucky! Get a carton today!

They'll have a cozy little home where they can bill and coo.
The bridegroom is a Lucky man—
The bride smokes Luckies, too!

Peter F. Linde

I never won a wager till
That day I made the bet
That Luckies' taste is second to
No other cigarette!
