Famous Yale Philosopher Accepts Convocation Bid

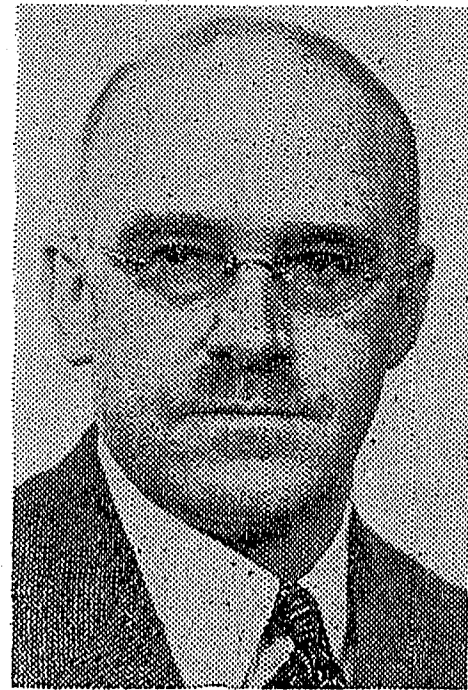

Dr. Blanchard is an outstanding liberal. He is a strong believer in the liberal arts college where our minds get the kind of discipline needed for the problems we must meet. He has written and spoken a great deal and with great effectiveness on the liberal arts education and is much sought after as a commencement speaker.

Dr. Blanchard's career includes author of many magazine and philosophy periodical articles. His fame as an author was heightened by the publishing of his book, "The Nature of Thought," about which Dr. Bixler has commented, "His is one of the finest statements by an American of the Idealistic philosophy. He has won a great deal of attention both in this country and abroad; he has been president of the American Philosophy Association. Recently he has done quite a bit of speaking and writing on the nature of the liberal arts in a brilliant and provocative vein."

Dr. Blanchard has lectured widely, including lectures at the British Academy, of which he is a Corresponding Fellow. Other important lectureships include the Dedleian Lecture at Harvard in 1945; University of Manchester, England in 1953; the Howison Lecture on Philosophy at the University of California in 1954; and the Gifford Lectures at St. Andrews during 1952 and 1953.

In 1945 Dr. Blanchard was called from Swarthmore to be the Chairman of the Department of Philosophy at Yale. He served in this capacity until 1950 and is still one of the most distinguished faculty members there along with Dr. Theodore Greene who was at Colby for the 1953 Convocation.

Dr. Blanchard's Gifford Lectures have been published and he is the

Reading Period Is Set For January 3 - 14

The Reading Period, an innovation last year at Colby, will be in effect again this semester from Tuesday, January 3 through Saturday, January 14, for almost all courses in the 300's and 400's. A small number of courses, affecting relatively few students, have been exempted from the Reading Period by the Committee on Examinations. The exempted courses fall into three classes: (1) Workshop or Studio courses, where all possible time is needed to develop the desired skills; (2) Seminars and Special Problems courses, in which the purposes of the Reading Period are achieved through assigned readings throughout the semester; (3) returned last week and from two months of her tour of U. S. colleges under the Carnegie Travel Grant.

P&W Announces Cast for Wilder

Tryouts for Thornton Wilder's comedy, "The Skin Of Our Teeth" were held last week, and the following people were cast.

Announcer, Richard Stratton; Sabina, Yvonne Noble; Mr. Fitzpatrick, Robert Brolli; Mrs. Antrobus, Eleanor Duckworth; Mr. Antrobus, David Mills; Dinosaur, Janet Stebbins; Mammoth, Marcia Phillips; Telegraph Boy, Capt. Frederick Dietz; Gladys Antrobus, Carol Kiger; Henry Antrobus, John Curtis; Doctor, Tony Ruesch; Professor, Richard Stratton; Judge Daniel Yett; Fortune Teller, Joanna McCurdy; Broadcast Official, Russell Higgins; Mr. Tremayne, Richard Stratton; Hester, Patricia Orr; Ivy, Barbara Porte; Fred Bailey, Russell Higgins; Miss E. Muse, Lois Latimer; Miss T. Muse, Jo Whitney; Miss M. Muse, Sue Miller.

Although "The Skin of Our Teeth" appears on the surface to be a comedy, it carries extremely provocative undertones. George Antrobus, his wife, his children, and the maid, Sabina, constitute an average American family beset by all

Colby Women Hold Xmas Banquet

Monday evening, Dec. 12 at 5:45 P. M., Colby co-eds will gather in the Women's Union for the annual Christmas Banquet, sponsored by the Women's Student League. This is a traditional affair very much looked forward to by the Colby women; for, although there were always Christmas dinners held in the dorms, it is only in relatively recent years that the entire women's student body has gathered on one mass as the Christmas season draws near, to unite in an evening of fun and good fellowship.

This year, under the leadership of Jan Kimball and her hard working committees, the banquet promises to be better than ever. Certain innovations in decorations are planned, the fraternity house mothers have been invited for the first time, and Dean Thompkins, who returned last week and from two months of her tour of U. S. colleges under the Carnegie Travel Grant,

Frank Maze and Andy Tyrens Have Resigned Positions

Frank Maze, Colby College varsity football coach and his assistant Andy Tyrens, announced their resignations on Tuesday of this week. Their resignations become effective as of August 1, 1956 at the expiration of their present contracts. Both intend to stay in the coaching field in the future.

President J. Seelye Bixler praised both coaches for their contributions to the athletic life of the college. Said President Bixler, "Mr. Maze and Mr. Tyrens have worked energetically and devotedly. Their popularity on campus is testimony to their insistence on the high standards of sportsmanship and ethics which they have demanded from their teams. We accept their resignations with regret."

Maze and Tyrens came to Colby in 1952. Maze succeeded Nels Corey as head coach.

A graduate of Syracuse University in 1942, Maze had coached previously at Syracuse, Cornell, Wesleyan and Dickinson. In addition to handling the head football assignment at Colby, he has coached intramural wrestling, freshman baseball, and varsity skiing.

C&G Sponsors Children's Party

Cap and Gown is sponsoring a Christmas party for the children of faculty members in the Hangout tomorrow at 3:00 P. M. Featured during the afternoon's activities will be such games as pin the nose on Rudolph, musical chairs, a magic show by Brad Sherman, and Santa Claus complete with presents. Thirty-five children between the ages of four and ten are expected at the annual event.

Vashti Boddie, president of Cap and Gown, is general chairman of the party; Jean Pratt and Nan Hubbard are in charge of games; while the decorations and invitations were taken care of by Becky Rowe and Nori Edmunds. Vonnice Noble is in charge of refreshments and the gifts are supervised by Ann Steigler.

Professional Skater Helps Dedicate Rink

The new indoor skating rink now nearing completion will be officially opened in a dedication ceremony on December 15 at 7:00 P. M. The public and all those connected with the college are invited. Students are advised to arrive early as a capacity crowd is expected.

The dedication program is intended to show the various ways in which the new rink will be used. Some members of the several Waterville youth groups will play a brief "pee wee" hockey match, to be followed by a varsity game against Bowdoin. Neil Leonard, chairman of the Board of Trustees, will make the dedication speech. Other

Fraternities Plan Winter Formals

by Phil Tirabassi

Kris Kringle drove up the College Drive in his new Jaguar, green with a red top. The girls at the dorms were running back and forth borrowing formals and cocktail dresses and seeing what Hank had to offer. Robie was looking at last year's formal and debating "to buy or not to buy" as she gazed longingly at her check book. Prince, the pledge in the Quadrangle, was dusting off last year's tuxedo which had been stored away since the spring formals of last year. Everywhere the fraternity houses were a bustle of commotion. The phone lines were jammed with calls about bands and chaperones.

Kris Kringle decided to look into the situation further. At the KDR house no one was in sight. They were all at the Sentinel Hall, watching Antwerp Prow directing his little elf, the pledges, in their Christmas task of decorating for the formal tonight. Willie Thompson, complete in season's color of red, where someone had dropped a paint brush, was decorating the festive occasion. "Ray Anthony" was to play for the dancing. All were trying to finish so that the dance would start on time at eight o'clock and be over at 12:30. Mr. and Mrs. Austin and Mr. and Mrs. Weiner will be the chaperones for the evening.

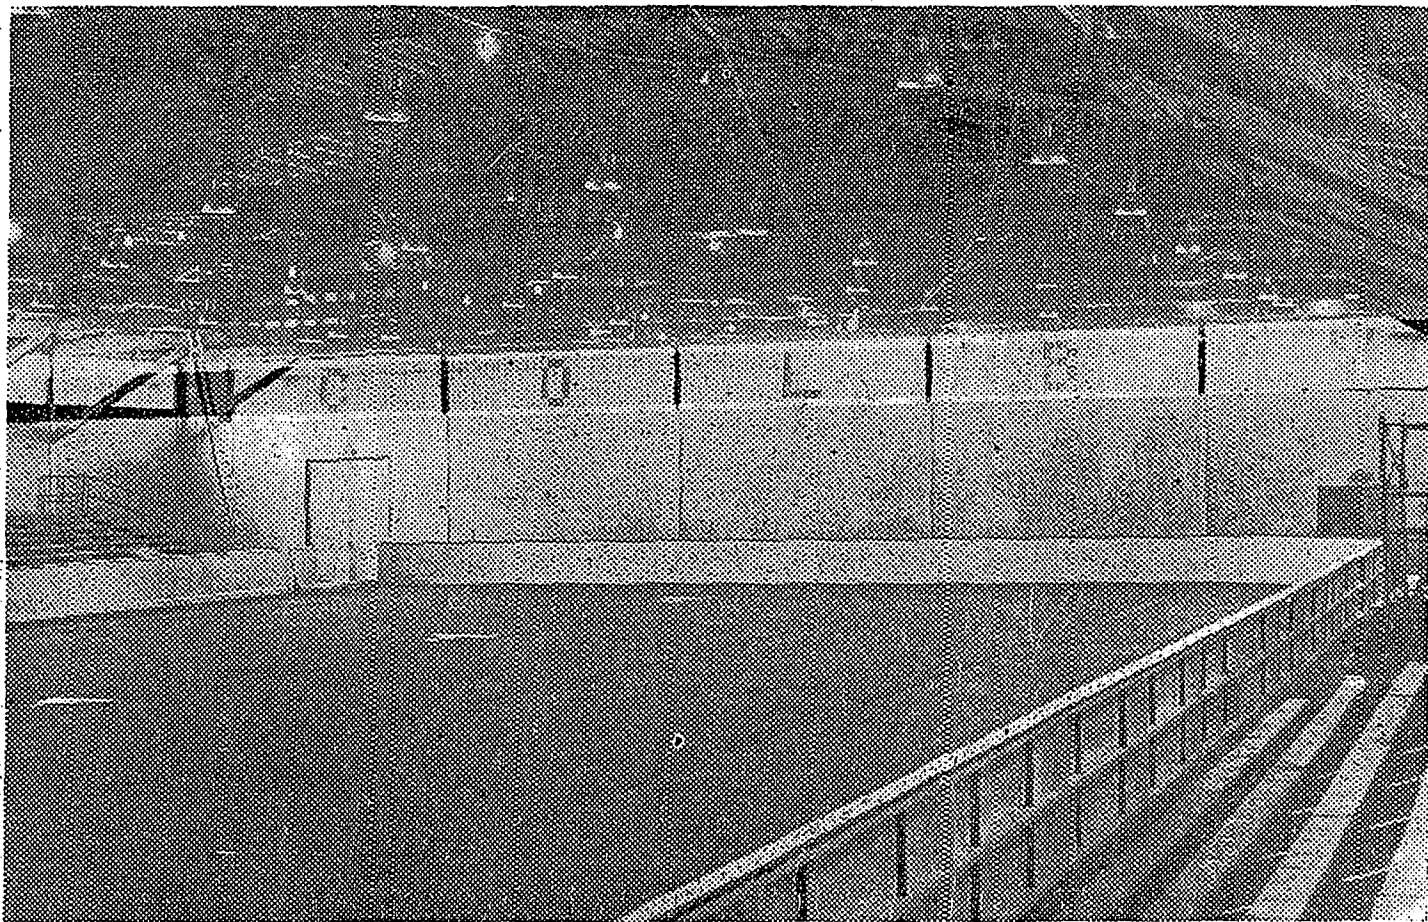

The Jaguar then roared down to

Morriss Studies Colby Education

Dr. Margaret S. Morriss, Dean Emerita of Pembroke College, will visit the Colby campus next Monday through Wednesday, as a Representative of the Committee on Standards and Recognition of the American Association of University Women. This organization is currently reviewing their admission policy with regard to admittance of colleges to their approved list. There are at present 363 such colleges, any graduate of which is eligible for membership in the AAU. The total individual membership is approximately 132,000.

The AAUW has singled out Colby College as one of its approved colleges whose educational program is considered to be outstanding. The purpose of Dr. Morriss' visit here, as at other such colleges, is to study the educational program and thereby provide the Committee with a basis of judgment in restating the standards for admission into the AAUW.

Dr. Morriss will confer with President Bixler and Deans Tompkins and Marriner during her visit, as well as with members of the faculty connected with the Ford Self-Study Program.

Citizenship Clearing House Reestablished

Gaile Noble, Jerry Plante and Ralph Weston were elected to serve as student advisors for the remainder of the current semester at the first meeting of the newly reorganized Colby branch of the Citizenship Clearing House on Tuesday, Dec. 6.

This organization, originally started at Colby under the guidance of the late Professor Paul Fullam several years ago, is affiliated with the law center of New York University, supported financially by the Falk Foundation. Mr. Raymond is faculty advisor assisted by the other members of the History Department.

The general purpose of this club is to establish a closer contact between students and faculty on the one hand, and politics and politicians on the other. It attempts to interest members in the political Winslow Grange to Lambda Chi's Second Annual "Pajama Party," preparations were under way. Carl Siegel was there directing Santa's helpers with all the details. Al Corey's band was scheduled to play. The pledges were decorating the hall with December greens and trying to look busy while all the time they were thinking of whom they were taking to the party tonight. Bo Haggert, one of the pledges, was on the phone checking last minute details, and trying to find out where the stray pledge had disappeared to with all the refreshments.

On the way up Mayflower Hill Drive, Kris Kringle stopped his new green and red Jaguar to pick up Rudolph who was going to the DKE house for the evening. The pledges were busily decorating the house for the evening's dance, and brushing up on the newest dance steps to match Gordon Howe's band. Warren Kinsman was checking on all the last minute details. Pete Lockwood and Jim McIntosh, sneaking off from pledge duty, were checking their date books. Santa called to tell Pete Vloches that he would be at the house that evening, and present it with its annual Christmas goose.

Kris heard music coming from the DU house and went over to investigate. Sammy Saliba from Bangor was warming up his six piece band. Jim Cobban came in covered with snow, having been downtown checking with people about all the details. Dick Vogt had collected the snowballs from the pledges and had them trimming the house with greens and other Christmas decorations.

Mike Riordan was painting decorations for the greens, and getting more paint on him than on the decorations. Everything was ready and they were all getting "spruced up" for the dance. The phone lines to Mary Low, Foss, Woodman and Louise Coburn were busy with last minute checks on dates. One poor DU had two dates for the evening.

The last stop was at the Zeta house where Pete Pierce was passing out aspirins to all the pledges who were decorating the walls, floors and anyone else who was in the way. Someone was looking for Don Cote who had skipped out of pledge decoration, and was skating on the pond. The house looked splendid with all the Yuletide color. From the pledges to the brothers, gaiety shone in expectancy for the good time in store at the Zeta house.

READING PERIOD

Even in some of the exempted courses, however, a comparable special assignment is given to bring into play the knowledge and techniques learned during the semester.

The Committee is gratified that such a large percentage of instructors have their students accept the challenge of the Reading Period. Students' attention is called to the objectives of the Reading Period as expressed in the College Catalog of last May: "The period is not for review work or 'make-up', but rather to free the student from routine class meetings in order that he may devote full time to independent study of freshly assigned reading or laboratory work. Assignments for the reading period are in addition to ordinary assignments in the course. The Reading Period assignments will be tested in the semester examinations, to a maximum of one-third of the examination time. During the Reading Period the classes affected do not meet. The instructors are, however, available for consultation through daily office hours or in library or laboratory."

will be present. She will have with her a special guest, Dr. Margaret

S. Morris of the American Association of University Women.

The committee chairman for the banquet are: invitations and gifts, Ester Bigelow and Perky Perkins; New Orleans, La., at the Hotel table decoration and setting, Jackie Adolphus, Dallas, Texas, and in Huebsch; floor decorations, Nancy Hansen and Nan Hubbard; table clearing, Fran Wren; and program, Ellie Ewing.

In keeping with the tradition of this Christmas Banquet, President Bixler will read the Christmas Story and Chaplain Osborne will read the tale of "The Littlest Angel." The Colbyettes and Colby Eight will be present to add their musical talents to the festivities.

A special vote of thanks goes to Miss Nichols for all the time and work contributed by her to make this evening one that is sure to be long remembered.

PROFESSIONAL SKATER

A figure skating exhibition will feature Miss Hertha E. Garson, (wife of Francis F. Silver, Colby graduate). Miss Garson started skating in Vienna, Austria, where she was born. As an amateur she won the international junior championship and was holder of the Gold Medal, highest award for figure skating. She started skating professionally in London, later touring England and Scotland. Coming to the United States in 1939, she was featured or starred in shows at the Hotel New Yorker, the Hotel Roosevelt, both in New York City, in New Orleans, La., at the Hotel Adolphus, Dallas, Texas, and in Miami Beach, Fla. She skated at the Silver Skates exhibition in Madison Square Garden and at an exhibition at West Point Academy. Teaching professionally in New York City, Lynn, Mass., and being Skating Director at the Worcester Arena were her activities during the 1953-54 season. She hopes to continue limited teaching here in Maine.

The committee responsible for arranging the dedication program included President Bixler, Student Council President Raymond, Director of Public Relations Dyer, Hockey Coach Kelley, Director of Health and Physical Education Loeb, Director of Intercollegiate Athletics Williams and Ronald Brown, President of Dunham's Clothing Store in Waterville.

The rink, which is 195 feet long and 85 feet wide, cost $180,000 to build, $14,000 of which was contributed by the citizens of Waterville. Although it is to be used for intercollegiate and intramural ice hockey, it will be open to all the members of the college and of the community for recreational purposes. It is also expected that the rink will be used by community youth groups.

the common trials that have harassed mankind throughout the history of the world. Through flood, plague, glacier and war, the Antrobuses maintain a stubborn optimism towards the future that demonstrates that this play is not only the story of a family living at 216 Cedar Street, Excelsior, New Jersey, but that it is also a tribute to the indestructibility of humanity.

In addition to the large cast, many students will be needed to help with the involved technical aspects of the production. Anyone who is interested in building or painting sets, making costumes, or constructing dinosaurs is invited to come around to the Drama Workshop at the Women's Union.

The production date for the play has been set for February 2nd and 4th.

Glee Club Plans Xmas Society Concerts Home-Away

The Glee Club has a full program of Christmas concerts planned. The opening concert was given last Sunday, when a group of forty selected from the Glee Club sang over television. The program originated from Poland Spring and was one half hour long. Among the numbers given were "Hodie Christus Natus Est" by Jan Sweelinck and "Shepherds' Carol" by Billings.

The next concert will be given on Saturday, Dec. 10, when the Colby Glee Club will go to Bowdoin to sing in their annual Messiah concert. Other glee clubs participating are: Bowdoin, Colby Junior College, Westbrook Junior College, The Brunswick Choral Society, and the members of the Brunswick High School Chorus.

The following night, Sunday, Dec. 11, a concert will be given in Lorimer Chapel at 8:00. The first section of the program will be given by the Colby Community Symphony. The second section, selections from The Messiah, will be given by the Bowdoin Glee Club, the Colby Glee Club, and selected members from the Symphony, all under the direction of Mr. Peter Re. Among the selections given will be "And The Glory of The Lord," "His Yoke Is Easy," the tenor solo "Every Valley Shall Be Exalted," "He Shall Feed His Flock like a Shepherd," the bass aria "And the Trumpet Shall Sound," "Hallelujah," and the famous "Amen" chorus. The combined chorus is made up of over 170 voices, and the solos will be sung by members of the Colby student body. Admission is free for Colby students only, and one dollar for all others who do not have an orchestra subscription.

The traditional Christmas assembly will be Friday, December 16 at 11:00 in Lorimer Chapel. Eleven o'clock classes will be cancelled. Part of this concert will feature Christmas carols sung by everyone. The other part will be presented by the Glee Club, which will repeat much of the program given over television, and in addition will do a selection for women's voices by

From all reports, the Chi Omegas had a very successful Mother-and-Daughter Banquet Tuesday night at Reggie's Steak House. Babs Faltings was chairman of the event.

Saturday afternoon, December 10, finds the busy Chi O's giving a party for the underprivileged children with the DKE's.

Thursday night found the Alpha Delta Phi's holding their annual pledge dance with the music being supplied by Oscar Brown & Orchestra. The evening was highlighted by the crowning of Art Engdale as Mistletoe King. Plans for the dance were headed by Marilyn Godsey.

Delta Delta Delta honored their pledges at a dance given Dec. 1 with Oscar Brown supplying the music and the Colby Eight the entertainment. Fran Wren headed the committee for the smooth running of the event. The Deltas also had for their culture meeting Tuesday night an informal panel of five foreign students who told about conditions in their native countries. Informal questions were asked by the audience during the speaking. In the way of Christmas activities the Delta's, as well as holding their own party, are giving a party for the handicapped children at Thayer Hospital on December 16. Carol Ann Cobb is co-ordinating the plans for this party.

Along with the Christmas spirit of things the Sigma Kappa's as well as holding their own party on Tuesday the 13th, are sponsoring a pledge caroling, the pledges being invited from all sororities. The caroling will be followed by refreshments. This event will take place the day before everyone leaves for the Christmas holidays, and, sounds like a lot of fun. Nancy Ransen will see that these plans for caroling on the 16th are run smoothly.

marked for their use. Thirdly, all cars must be registered at the Buildings and Grounds Office near the Field House. Cars not registered are subject to ticketing. Result of such is a fine and the maximum penalty for students is the revoking of the right to have a car on campus.

There has been a marked increase of poor and thoughtless driving on campus. Both town and college police are doing everything in their power to insure the safety of other drivers and pedestrians.

Cooperation with the authorities is expected. Consider your fellow operators, and you will not be involved in this problem. The individual operator, and only he, can see to it that the campus traffic laws are obeyed as well as would be necessary in a city.

Gaile Noble Is Winner Of Speaking Contest

Gaile Noble was voted the best speaker at the Goodwin Prize Speaking Contest held Tuesday night at Roberts Union. The prize winning topic was "Hard Rock, Thin Air, and a Rope," a discussion concerning the lore of mountain climbing. Judges were Mrs. Alice Compatti, Mr. Frederick K. Gillum and Mr. William Weiner. F. Celand Witham presided and announced the following cash prizes: 1st, $35; 2nd, $25; 3rd, $15, and 4th $10.

QUIDNUNC

Colby will join with three other New England colleges at the "Meadowbrook" in Cedar Grove, N. J., to celebrate the Christmas holidays.

"Colby Night" has been proclaimed for Dec. 27, beginning at 8:00 P. M. All students are invited to join in the festivities. Highlighting the evening will be dancing to the orchestra of Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey.

Students interested in making reservations are asked to contact Dorothy Olapp, Louise Coburn Hall.

The Social Committee has sent out notices to all organizations on campus to submit their semester schedules. The due date is Wednesday, Dec. 14, 1955. The schedules are to be sent to Betsy Hall, the secretary of the committee, in Woodman Hall. In order to have an event listed on the second semester printed calendar, the schedules must be received by the due date. Any suggestions for the semester calendar will be welcomed by the committee, and can be placed in the Social Committee box in the Public Relations office.

Camera Club will meet tonight for a short business meeting and a program of colored slides of Europe shown by Professor Whitlock. Meet in Smith Lounge at 7:00 P. M.

The Societaid Hispana will have the usual weekly Spanish Table in Roberts Union at 5:10 sharp.

Bixler Participates In Council Meeting

President Bixler will attend a meeting sponsored by the American Council on Education in Ann Arbor, Mich., from Dec. 7-9. He will participate in a conference of the Council's Commission on Student Personnel, an organization established in 1952. The Commission planning group made up of four college executives, four student personnel workers, and two students. Its work is concerned with the total development of the student as a person, as a member of the academic community, and as a member of the larger society.

The commission includes Dr. Harry J. Carman, Dean Emeritus of Columbia University, President A. Blain Knapp of Denison University and Prof. Ira A. Reid, Professor of Sociology at Haverford.

The current meeting will discuss reports of special committees on the problems of fraternities and sororities and the problem of student participation in college and university policy making. Questions of counselling practice and reports of studies of character education will be taken up, and in addition, the contributions of foreign students will be noted.

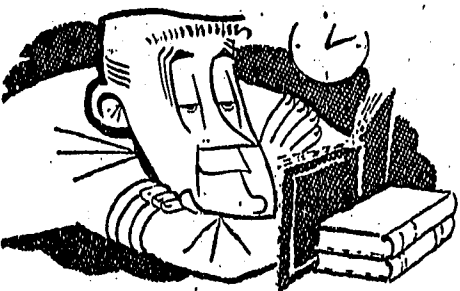

Parking Facilities Create Problems

Question: how, when and where can an automobile be left on campus without having a little yellow ticket placed on said automobile? This situation, affecting students, members of the administration and faculty, seems far more serious than in past years. Lack of adequate parking facilities and the increased number of cars on campus are primary causes of this problem.

The following suggestions have been made by authorities concerned with this problem. First, all students and persons operating cars on campus should read the parking rules published by the college in September. Secondly, persons are urged not to park in reserved or restricted areas other than those

The Locked Door . . .

Student Government has recently announced that it is working on a project intended to facilitate study in Miller Library. Their plan is to lock one door of the Reserve Room, allowing exit and entrance via only one end of the room.

The main object of this plan is to cut down the noise and distraction which occurs when the Reserve Room is used as a general passageway and conference hall. They also contend that additional noise from outside the room itself is permitted to enter because of the incessant opening of both doors.

Due to a larger enrollment than ever before in the history of Colby College, larger in fact than was planned for in the construction of the plant, there is a crying need for more quiet study facilities. It must be remembered that the prime function of any library is to promote and provide opportunity for study.

Therefore we urge that all students support Student Government in this attempt to provide the necessary study room.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Either the right people don't read the editorial column, or if they do, they must think childish the idea of the rights of others, and consequently do not need a word to the wise.

I wonder if they who lack this respect for other people's property realize the inconvenience they are making for the object of their pleasure. I wonder if the person who drunk the grape juice which was to be served for Holy Communion realizes the inconvenience created when the discovery was made at 6:00 and communion was to be served at 6:30. I wonder if the person who took the Colby mug from the chapel kitchen cupboards realizes that the mug was borrowed and the "borrower" is now giving the lender a Colby mug for Christmas instead of the nice blouse for which the "borrower" had been saving.

These two cases are actually outright stealing; but there is another form of stealing demonstrated in the signing of fictitious names, or even fraternity brothers' names to lists for certain type programs. In effect this is robbing people of time and energy by the inconvenience as well as waste it is causing. Take for example the lists posted for the SCA Faculty Night. Fictitious names were signed and when the groups left for the houses it was very embarrassing when only three people went to a professor's house who was expecting six people. It also left a good amount of wasted refreshments on the hands of the professor's wife, to say nothing of the incumbrance of the group discussion because of the limited number of opinions.

"Borrowing" books, and note books, especially around exam time is another pastime of those who enjoy unaccommodating others. These people must believe in the survival of the fittest. If they could put themselves in the places of those they are troubling they might be enlightened to the fact that these things are what help one, not only pass exams, but grow mentally and spiritually into better personalities and citizens, educate oneself, in other words. Apparently these "borrowers" are not interested in educating themselves but rather become dependent upon others for their success or failure. I wonder how these leeches will face their post-college life.

To me these actions demonstrate a sign of immaturity—a device, and a trite one at that, to be smart, a bid for attention. Could it be that these people don't care what they do, or how much they inconvenience others, and if so, how much can these same people care about their own integrity?

Nan Eggleston

Editor of the ECHO:

What do I think about an honor system at Colby? I think it's a swell idea! I have seen this system in operation at Russell Sage College and in its early stages at Emma Willard School. The students react whole-heartedly in favor of such a system and feel it their duty to enforce it among themselves. Only in this way can an honor system be effective. It takes time and effort on the part of every individual of the college community to see that such a system is under control at all times. I think it is the duty of each individual to understand what the honor system involves, before accepting it, and consenting to support it. When this has been accomplished I feel sure that we, as the students of a college community, could handle this responsibility and proudly uphold the provisions of an honor system at Colby.

The World Today

by Carlos Davila

There is legend in Europe that tells that in one of its mountains there was a giant and if you disturb him, he will come out and destroy the world. Scientists have just found that the mountain contains heavy deposits of uranium. We have disturbed this monster, he might destroy the earth.

Since the first atomic explosion in 1945 until today, ten years later, the greatest men of science have co-operated to invent and develop the most powerful, destructive element ever thought of—the fission of uranium by a means inexplicable to the imagination.

When the bomb was invented during the first World War, man was satisfied to kill a mere handful. Today man can drop a bomb which can kill millions, and yet the satisfaction is not complete. Every day more and more power is added to these nuclear weapons, and bigger and more destructive ones are contrived.

Today, two leading nations of the world are trying to win the race to see who will be the one to destroy more of this earth than the other one. They are trying to break this world into pieces, not caring or thinking that they might blow themselves "to kingdom come."

Can it be that man has degenerated so much that heavenly powers have given him the atom as a means to cause his destruction? The bomb can transform New York City, complete with suburbs, into a sea inlet. It can leave a lagoon where before seven million people lived.

The Russians still state that they wish to ban all types of atomic and thermonuclear weapons. The Soviet Union also submitted a proposal to the UN for the moral and political condemnation of atomic and hydrogen weapons. The Western Powers refused to accept both of these proposals.

The Russian bomb was exploded at great height purposely to reduce the radioactive fall-out and thus reduce the danger to millions of lives. The desire of the Soviet physicists and scientists was to achieve the greatest explosion with the least amount of materials. The explosion was more powerful than one million tons of TNT. This does not sound like much, but let us remember that during the Second World War, the famous "block-buster" bombs weighed one ton and religion used bread upon its altars were named so because they could destroy a whole city block.

There was a time when man ap-

Meet Your Campus

In an effort to acquaint the Colby Student with the workings and accomplishments of the various organizations on campus, the editors of this page will present from time to time articles which it is hoped will stimulate interest and at least provide a basic knowledge of what the students of this campus are doing outside of class.

Spotlight On Student Gov't

By Sally Fritz

In its efforts to increase awareness and interest in its work, the Colby Student Government is cooperating with the staff of the ECHO by providing a summary of its purposes and activities.

The work of Student Government is divided among various committees which function under the direction of chairmen elected by the entire body.

Newest of these is the committee concerned with N. S. A. (National Student Association), a nation-wide group which seeks to create or im-

Mary Ellen Chase Defines Imagination

By Sarah Stewart

"I feel as if I were coming home" said Miss Mary Ellen Chase, one of the most delightful personalities ever to speak before the Colby family. She was welcomed back for her second Averill lecture last Friday evening by an enthusiastic audience.

Miss Chase, a renowned author, and for 30 years professor of English at Smith College, discussed the value of any work of art or any phase of life itself in terms of man's imagination. "Behind and within all art and life lies a strange and peculiar power called the imagination," she said. "What is this power?"

Miss Chase then gave her three definitions of imagination. The first was that imagination is "that creative and magical power which can transform the ordinary and reduce the danger to millions of simple into the mysterious and strange." To illustrate her point, she told us what a common loaf of bread symbolized to her. "A loaf of bread takes me back 6,000 years in the history of man," she remarked. "It was used by the most primitive men not only as a food, but for religious and sacramental purposes. You will find that every religion used bread upon its altars at one time," she said.

Miss Chase's second definition of imagination struck an important prove recreation and study facilities. The committee was born at Colby after our representatives, Ellie Rieg and Tom Levine, attended the Eighth Annual National Student Congress in Minnesota this summer. Its members are working for more adequate representation of the student body in Student government affairs by including day students. Under their College Union Board they are trying to make both Colby Unions entirely student-managed. Their Travel chairman organizes tours in Europe for college people.

The very active Improvement Committee, under Jackie Heubusch, has finally succeeded in providing for mail boxes and drinking fountains in the women's dorms, to be installed as soon as the workmen complete the hockey rink.

Student Government is backing all efforts toward an honor system at Colby. By mid-year time the Honor Committee hopes to see some of their theories put into effect.

The Stu G bulletin board outside the Spa is maintained by the Publicity Committee, headed by Ellie Jones, in hopes that the interested undergrad will take a minute to read new announcements. An ECHO reporter is sent to regular weekly meetings in order that the body may have the newspaper's criticism (and praise) and also that Colby people be kept informed of Stu G. actions.

The Campus Chest Committee, Nancy Hansen, chairman, is already at work planning for that great spring event.

The Social Committee, Mary Ann Papalia, chairman, is presently discussing ways to fill empty week ends on campus, some suggestions being Hangout dances and a round-robin system of informal open houses in the fraternities.

This year the Maine Inter-Collegiate Student Government Convention will be held at Colby, and committee members are at work laying plans for entertaining delegates from Maine, Bates and Bowdoin.

Members of the Infirmary staff reach the student body by means of a committee which works toward smoother administration of infirmary policies.

Elections of class officers and members of the Freshman Interim Council are organized and supervised by the Election Committee.

The chairman of the Men's Judicial Committee keeps the Stu G. informed of the statistics of Colby crimes and punishments by weekly reports.

Student Government's over-all goals for this year have been defined with care and enthusiasm: 1. To make NSA benefits on the campus and national level better known. 2. To create an interest and awareness by inviting non-members to do committee work; 3. To extend an influence in the solution of more student problems, considering in addition to the petty parking questions wider problems such as the national state of education. The President and his team have accomplished much in these directions already. With appreciation and support from non-members Student Government can anticipate a most successful year.

CROCKETT OR BOONE BETTER EDUCATED?

West Virginia University's Daily Athenaeum gleaned the following information from a Social Security Administration report:

According to the latest figures, the administration has issued social security cards to 149 people named Davy Crockett and 221 people named Daniel Boone. That apparently means the Boones have it all over the Crocketts when it comes to replenishing the earth.

At last report, no figures were available on Napoleon Bonaparte or Donald Duck.

CARS AND COLLEGE HARD TO MIX

The Student Council of Indiana State Teachers College in Indiana, Pa., reports that students are not cooperating in solving the college's parking problem. The need for action was impressed upon the council members when they were taken around the campus and shown the results of student neglect. It is apparent that many automobiles are being parked haphazardly and are not properly utilizing available parking space.

FOR THE TRAVEL-MINDED TEACHER

Syracuse-in-Asia, of Syracuse University, New York, has announced that applications are now open to both men and women for the next Syracuse representative to Thailand. Any qualified senior or graduate student may apply for the position. The chosen representative will teach English at Chulalongkorn University in Bangkok for two years.

The Republican Corner

By R. Weston

The purpose of the Republican Corner will be to present to the reader the Republican Party's views, attitudes and policies on a local, national and international scale. All views or attitudes expressed will not necessarily represent those of the writer, who is willing to compromise his basic beliefs so that the party will remain strong, and the two party system will endure.

For many weeks now the Democratic Party has been searching for the campaign material. Against one of the issues, the farm problem, they have turned their heaviest artillery, and in so doing, have created a loud and rather disarming noise. They would have the farmer and others believe that we are about to embark on a monstrous depression. These prophets of gloom and doom liken the problem to the farm depression in the twenties which spread to all other aspects of the national economy. But the facts show that there is no depression in the farm states today. Admittedly, there is a problem, but after years of Democratic misrule why wouldn't there be! It can be pointed out that farm income has dropped 8.4 per cent from last year's level but nowhere has there been a vast wave of foreclosures. Yet even this drop isn't surprising since, previous to the Eisenhower Administration, Democratic mismanagement had bought tons and tons of farm surplus, almost at price, and dumped it into the ocean or set the torch to it, all at the taxpayers' expense. This simply encouraged more and more production on the part of the farmer, and necessitated more expense on the part of the taxpayer.

The Eisenhower Administration, under Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, has taken positive action toward remedying this problem. Farm surplus has been shipped abroad to a greater extent than ever before in our history. Diversification of crops has been encouraged wherever it was deemed necessary, plus the flexible support which has just recently gone into action. Secretary Benson may simply point out these unusually positive steps taken by his department as well as the note for Colby students. It is one of the foundations upon which a liberal arts education is based. "Imagination," she said, "is that creative and magical power which can discern the universal in the particular." "The purpose of education," said Miss Chase, "is to awaken one's mind and one's heart." The development of the imagination to see the universality in every phase of life, in every experience, in every object created by man, is really the awakening of one's mind. To perceive this universal meaning is to discover life's meaning.

The third definition of imagination presented by this vivacious woman who holds honorary degrees from the University of Maine, Bowdoin, Smith and was the first woman to be awarded an honorary degree from Northeastern University, is that imagination is "That creative and magical power which enables man to perceive on a page that which is not there. In Miss Chase's words, the "unsounded note" in literature brings out a quality which would not give meaning to man if everything were expressed.

Thus, imagination to Miss Chase is what makes life worth living. It is the creative and magical power

The Democrat's Corner

By J. Plante

The purpose of this column is to provide a means for the exchange of ideas among Democrats throughout the Colby campus—a means of giving the light of truth and knowledge to our Republican friends.

The Eisenhower Administration has done a big job—a big job on the farmer, the consumer, the laborer and the family with a small income.

This week's topic of discussion will be the farm problem.

Ezra Benson's approach, with the Republican Administration's approval, is slowly reducing the American farmer to the state of Hoover-advocated peasantry. Why and where has the Eisenhower Administration's program of controlling production through flexible parity failed?

(a) Benson's plan increases surpluses. The only thing a farmer can do to survive is to increase his production to make up for the lower prices.

(b) Farm states have had to create emergency appropriations to keep some public schools open.

(c) Wheat is now $1.91 a bushel. Under Democrats it was $2.81 a bushel.

(d) Farm outlook, reported by Agriculture Department, is for lower prices in 1956.

(f) Prices of articles the farmer sells are down. Prices of what he buys are going up.

(g) A survey by one farm organization shows that farmers are receiving about 30 cents an hour for which drives men to great heights. It causes men to delight in every hour of their existence. Imagination awakens the mind and the heart. It takes a man from himself; it produces a man who burns with pity for all creation and has compassion for life and for his fellow beings.

(h) Benson's proposal for flexible price supports from 75 to 90 per cent is in itself harmful. Whenever a minimum is set on price supports, it automatically becomes the maximum.

How do the farmers feel? In Decatur, Ill., where the Farm Bureau was asked whether it approved of Benson's policies, voted 60 to 1 against him. And the Farm Bureau hitherto has been strongly Republican. The farmers remember all too vividly Ike's promise at the Kasson, Minn., plowing contest of not merely 90 per cent of parity but full parity. Why shouldn't the farmers get subsidies? Nearly everybody else does. Look at the big air lines, the steamship companies, the large manufacturers with their protective tariffs, all getting fat when their taxes have been lowered and their profits increased.

It is not an easy problem to solve. We have 350 million acres of cropland and 5½ million farm families. Higher or flexible farm support is not the only answer. There is more to this than merely being the farmer's friend."

Under Democratic rule farmers were getting fair returns. True, surpluses were maintained. However, we can be thankful that our problem were surpluses rather than deficits.

It is a wise Democratic policy to maintain prudent reserves for normal consumption with enough in reserve to meet an emergency such as drought or war. If these reserved commodities should be too greatly increased they could be exchanged for foreign currencies, bartered for strategic raw materials, donated and sold through normal channels.

The Republicans have also made an effort to reduce surpluses by disposing of them and accepting a loss. Alert Democrats have observed that losses were $1,218,533,000 in TWO years of Republican rule and $1,110,000,000 in 20 years of Democratic management. Need I say more?

Basketball Team Colby To Be Host Will Play Triple To NE Basketball Header in Garden Meet In December

Colby Varsity basketball team plays in the Boston Garden "triple header" Monday evening, December 10th. Three games will be played as a feature attraction on the 19th. Colby vs St. Anselm's, Boston College vs University of Mass., and Holy Cross vs University of Ala. Colby will play the first game of the triple header beginning at 5:30.

Student tickets for the above evening, Dec. 19th "triple header" will be on sale at the college bookstore until Friday morning, Dec. 16th. These student tickets are sold here on the Colby campus to students at a reduced price. No student ticket can be purchased after December 16th.

The third annual New England College Invitation Basketball Tournament will be held in the Colby Field House Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Dec. 28, 29 and 30. Eight colleges will be on the campus for the three day tournament, each college playing one game per day. The colleges competing in the tournament will be as follows: Brown, Bowdoin, Colby, Amherst, Univ. of Mass., Univ. of Conn., Middlebury and Harvard Univ. Games will be played at 1:30 and 3:30 in the afternoon session and at 7:00 and 9:00 P.M. during the evening session.

For Colby students it is important to understand that this tournament is run by a regular New England College Committee and the college is only acting as the host for the visiting teams. Colby students attending any of the games will be requested to pay the regular admission prices at the various sessions. Also, it is important for Colby students to understand that there will be no provisions for housing or meals on the campus during the tournament. All college buildings will be closed as outlined in the college regulations for vacation periods. Students are requested to avoid any embarrassment to the tournament officials by attempting to secure lodging in college dormitories or fraternity buildings.

The tournament is played in an elimination-consolation style of play where a final tournament championship is decided on the final game of Friday evening, and a consolation champion will be decided at the first game of Friday evening. Reserved seats will be available for the evening sessions, while general admission will be available for both afternoon and evening sessions.

Student Government

For the past few weeks the main concern of Stu-G has been the improvement of the studying conditions in the college. Due to the insistence of the members and a unanimous vote, the door that joins the Spa with the downstairs reading room will be closed. All traffic will be detoured from now on.

It is very hard to carry on with lack of cooperation. The Phi Deltis have only been represented twice during the year in our meetings. They are urged to send someone to represent them.

The Hangout committee states that the Hangout is open for studying purposes all during the week. All social activity programs should be presented by the end of December so as to have the Calendar and forms approved.

The Forensic Society has just been given the sum of $400 for their speech activities, such as trips to other campuses representing the school.

Christmas Assembly To Be In Chapel

On Friday, Dec. 16, the annual college Christmas Assembly will be held in Lorimer Chapel. The 11 o'clock classes will be omitted so that all students can attend. The assembly will be opened and closed by the singing of traditional Christmas Carols under the direction of Mr. Peter Re. Dr. Bixler will read the Christmas story from the Book of Luke.

The glee club will present part of the program which they gave on television recently. Also they will sing a selection for women's voices by Kodaly, and a carol by Supply Belcher, a composer of Revolutionary War songs.

Mules To Meet Maine In Second Series Game

W.A.A. In Midst Of Tournaments

Women hoop officials and players have new basketball rules to learn for the 1955-56 season. These new rule changes will be explained and demonstrated at the Waterville Senior High School Saturday, Dec. 10th at 1:30 at a basketball clinic sponsored by the National Section for Girls' and Women's Sports. All high schools and anyone interested are cordially invited to attend. Come on out gals, this is a good opportunity to help get your Officials Rating.

The doubles badminton tournament has just concluded with Kathy Vogt and Nan Eggleston taking first place and Jo Raffay and Lucia Johnson taking runner-up position.

Kathy Vogt defeated Bobbie Barnes for the singles title.

The inter-dorm volleyball tournament is underway with Mabel Siu captain of the Louise Coburn team, Denise Lyons captain of the Mary Low team, Jean Shaw captain of the Woodman, and Judy Brown as captain of Foss.

The inter-dorm basketball tournament commences Tuesday, Dec. 13. Keep an eye out for what day you are playing. Be sure to let your captain know when you can't make it!

the program which they gave on television recently. Also they will sing a selection for women's voices by Kodaly, and a carol by Supply Belcher, a composer of Revolutionary War songs.

Tonight the Colby Mules will play their second State Series basketball game of the season when they invade Orono to play the Black Bear quintet.

On paper the Mules figure to be at least a ten point favorite but that figure can't be taken into too much account. Last year Maine had one of its weakest clubs in some time and Colby one of its strongest; yet the Mules were extended at Orono into overtime before they eked out a thrilling one point victory.

Maine has lost only Johnny Dana from last year's club. Colby has lost the services of Lou Zambello, otherwise there are few changes in personnel. Both schools had fine freshman teams last year and they should give their respective varsities a big shot in the arm. Mike Polese, Pete Kosty, Thurlow Cooper, Gus Folman, form a nucleus of returning veterans which should make Maine quite tough.

Tomorrow night the Mules travel to Hanover, N. H. to play Coach "Doggie" Julian's Dartmouth Indians. Last year Dartmouth won a surprising victory over Conn. to win the New England tournament and ended second in the Ivy League. This year they figure to be just as strong, if not stronger, and stand a good chance of coming in first in the Ivy League. The Indians have several big men including 6' 6" center Jim Francis and forwards Tom Donohoe and Ron Judson. Coach Julian's son Toby is also an ace backcourt man and captain along with Gene Booth.

Rules Announced For All Students At Hockey Games

All Colby students attending the home games to be played in the new hockey rink are requested to use the entrance doors on the west side of the building. This is the entrance on the side of the building near the Buildings and Grounds office. In other words, for all home hockey games Colby students will use the entrance on the opposite side of the Field House from that entrance which they use for home basketball games. There will be no tickets sold at the student entrance for hockey games. Only students showing their regular athletic admission ticket will be admitted on the west side of the hockey building. Tickets will be sold at the regular ticket window where you enter for home basketball games. Students are requested to use this "student entrance" to avoid congestion at the ticket window where regular admission tickets are sold.

Mules Outclassed By Yale Quintet

Colby's basketball team started off on the wrong foot last Saturday when the Mules were thumped by a strong Yale quintet 96-74 at New Haven.

Early in the first half Yale broke away from a 7-7 tie with seven straight points and was never headed. The half-time score was 37-32 in favor of Yale.

In the second half Colby kept within reaching distance of Yale until the 10 minute mark; then Yale clicked off six straight points to go out front.

Superior shooting by the Elis throughout the game and top board work were big factors in the victory. The Mules made a few mistakes in this first game which were very costly, but should be ironed out before long.

son's opener at the Field House.

The Baby Mules used three complete teams and built a 30-20 lead at the half. In the second half the fast breaking Frosh broke the game wide open scoring 44 points to the opposition's 23 as the Flyers broke down under the racehorse play.

Norm Gigon led the Baby Mule scorers with 13 points as 13 Frosh broke into the scoring. Al Rogan had nine points, Bruce Williams eleven and Paul Neri, Bob Kopchins, Lloyd Cohen each had six to pace the Freshmen.

Bark and Carpenter led the Flyers scoring with ten points, but it was a case of too much depth and speed on the part of the Baby Mules. The Flyers seemed hopelessly outclassed.

MULE KICKS

Colby's highly touted basketball quintet made a rather inauspicious debut against a suprisingly good shooting, scrappy Yale Bulldog last week. Although the final tally was 96-74, it was no true indication of the game. The Mules were in the midst of the game until the middle of the third period when they suddenly lost all contact with the hoop. Despite the one-sided score it must be added that the varsity played without the services of Bob "Doggie" Raymond, veteran pivotman. Without Bob's rebounding strength and with the sub-par shooting performance of "Lucky" Van Allen, it must be said that everything isn't as bleak as might be indicated by the disappointing opener. Had Van Allen been hitting and Raymond rebounding, the Colby forces would undoubtedly have been a might tougher.

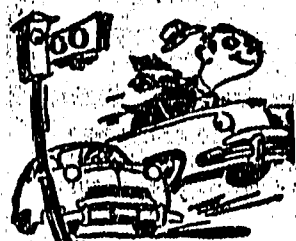

Tonight the White Mules face a holdover University of Maine squad at Orono in what promises to be an exciting fracas. Coach Lee Williams' five will be at full strength, barring injuries in last Wednesday's Bates tilt. Our quintet will attempt to uphold their State Series reputation and this column feels hat it will do just that. Look for a Colby victory by 10 points!

Turning away from basketball for a moment, let's gander at a sport which will undoubtedly rise to prominence at Colby this year. A heretofore relatively unknown sport at Colby, hockey will be bolstered by the inauguration of a new rink. New Hampshire University will invade the Mules' lair on December 10. Early season reports have it that Colby is "loaded" and seeking revenge.

There is no doubt that the boys are 'rarin' to go. As evidence, anyone passing by Johnson Pond when the snow began to come will have noticed the eager beavers shoveling the snow from the ice so they could practice. Let's bet behind the boys and make Colby's hockey team one to be remembered.

QUICK KICKS

Capt. Bob Bruns, Charlie Twigg, Johnny Edes and Jut Cross all hit double figures, getting 17, 13, 12 and 12 points respectively. A familiar figure around the field house these days is last year's basketball captain, Lou Zambello. He is biding his time until he joins Uncle Sam. — The Frosh hoopsters opened with a non-impressive 74-43 victory over Charleston Air Force Base. Norm Gigon led the onslaught with 13 points. — That's 17 straight for the Frosh teams of John Winklin.

The first meeting that members hope to attend is the Democratic District Conference, to be held this Sunday, December 11 at 1:00 P.M. at Waterville's American Legion Hall. All interested students are welcome to attend.

MULES OUTCAGED

Chuck Ross with 22 points and Johnny Lee with 20 points paced the Yale scorers. Capt. Bob Bruns and Charlie Twigg had 17 and 18 points respectively. John Edes and Jud Cross also chipped in with 12 points apiece.

It was simply a case of Yale out-running the Mules in the second half and having the reserves to keep fresh men in there, while wearing down the Mules.

MY GAME! LUCKY DROODLES!

WHAT'S THIS?

For solution, see paragraph at right.

THERE'S NO GETTING AROUND IT—Luckies taste better. And there's no getting around that thing in the Droodle at left, either—the Droodle's titled: Lucky smoker with bum seat at football game. Poor guy is really up against it. But he's got a swell point of view on smoking—he smokes Luckies for better taste. Luckies taste better because they're made of fine tobacco that's TOASTED to taste better. Chances are our friend in Section 28 is thinking, "This is the best-tasting cigarette I ever smoked!"
