Colby Frats Assist Theta Chi of Me.

A few weeks before Christmas vacation Theta Chi Fraternity at the University of Maine suffered the greatest loss in its chapter history. The whole structure of Theta Chi House was completely destroyed by fire, which included clothing and personal effects. Realizing the magnitude and seriousness of the disaster, the Colby Inter-Fraternity Council responded quickly to discuss the means by which the Council could be of some assistance. The Council concluded that each representative would appeal to his individual fraternity groups for contributions in cash. The appeals were made, the collections totaled, and the amount that was needed to reach the one hundred dollar goal was donated by the Council's treasury. The following letter was received during the Christmas recess:

"On behalf of the members of Gamma Chapter, Theta Chi Fraternity, I wish to express my sincere appreciation and gratitude for your help following the recent fire which destroyed our chapter house.

"We of Gamma Chapter have of course suffered a great loss because of the fire, but this has been greatly minimized by the help that has been given to us by groups such as yours. The greatest problem presently facing us is the financial one, and your contribution has been a significant addition to our now ex-

Affirmative Wins Murray Prize Debate For Increased Enrollment

"RESOLVED: That Colby College should increase its student enrollment to fifteen hundred." This was the proposition under consideration at the annual Murray Prize Debate in Lorimer Chapel last Monday night. The decision of the judges, rendered on the basis of which team did the more effective debating, went to the affirmative team of E. Conrad Forziati and Peter L. Goldthwaite, who received the winners' prize of $60. Their opponents on the negative team, William P. Clark and Chester H. Lopez, received a token prize of $20. An additional prize of $20. for best individual speaker of the evening, went to Peter Goldthwaite. The Murray Prize Debate is endowed from the estate of the late George E. Murray, 1879, who wished to provide for "the annual award of prizes for the best arguments presented at a public exhibition."

It has been a custom in the history of the Murray Prize Debate to choose topics which are pertinent to the college, in order to bring issues to light and to help crystallize and move ahead opinion on these issues. The arguments and opinions presented by the two teams last Monday night certainly did much to fulfill this function, relative to the increased enrollment question at Colby. Some of the main issues brought out were as follows: the affirmative team pointed out that there is a definite need existing, and that it is expected to continue—since the number of college applicants is predicted to be more than doubled in the near future. It also asserted that each college had to do its part in accepting a share of the educational burden of the nation, rather than sitting back on its traditions and passing the buck to other institutions.

The negative team maintained that 400 was a small number in proportion to the millions that would be seeking admission, and also that the advantages to be gained by the college through increased enrollment would not be worth the loss in identity which would ensue. It said that the advantages of a small liberal arts college which Colby possesses were too precious to be forfeited. These included closer student and faculty friendships, closer relationship with faculty advisors, a feeling of being a part of the school rather than a file cabinet number, a better opportunity for participation in extra-curricular activities—which form a good part of college education, quality over quantity in education through being able to pick the cream of the crop among applicants (a need which was pitted against the need to accommodate the increasing numbers of college applicants), and the opportunity for the development

Scott Paper President Honors Award Winners

Eleven students representing seven colleges on the eastern seaboard have received scholarship certificates from the Scott Paper Company Foundation. The students, each of whom has been awarded an academic scholarship from the Foundation, were invited to a special two-day program at Scott's headquarters offices in Chester, Pennsylvania. Representing Colby were Sheila Campbell and Peter Merrill.

Dr. Newhall To Give TV Course

Dr. Richard A. Newhall, visiting professor of history, will give a 15 week TV course on the history of the Middle East. The course will be offered for credit by Colby over Mt. Washington TV (Channel 8) and WABI-TV (Channel 5) beginning Sunday, January 20.

Dr. Newhall is teaching at Colby under a fellowship of the John Hay Whitney Foundation. He retired last June from Williams College after 32 years with the history department. He received his B.A. and M.A. from the University of Minnesota and his Ph.D. from Harvard University. Williams awarded him an honorary doctor of literature in 1943. A former Guggenheim Fellow, Dr. Newhall taught at Harvard and Yale before his appointment to Williams. He is an editor of the Berkshire Studies in European History.

The course, entitled "The Middle East, Land of Crisis," will be offered Sundays at 1:30 p.m. It is the third in a series of educational television programs in which Colby, WM-TV, and WABI-TV have cooperated to assist teachers in earning graduation credit. These courses are recognized by the state departments of education in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

The series was inaugurated a year ago with "Introduction to the Atom," by Professor Jonathan

Many Donations Acquired by Colby

In the last twelve months Colby has been the recipient of various material gifts from numerous people. These recent acquisitions have been received by several different departments and organizations within the college.

3559 volumes have been contributed to the library in the past year. Included in these are several prominent collections. Charles E. Fineberg, president of the Fineberg Foundation, has given Colby the Charles R. Capon Graphic Arts Collection. Colby's Walt Whitman Collection is an earlier gift of Mr. Fineberg. H. Bacon Collamore of the Board of Trustees has presented Colby with the entire Joseph Sheridan LeFanu Collection. Composed of 51 volumes in all, they are the first editions in their original bindings. The John Millington Synge Collection is a gift of Mr. James A. Healy. This is the third of the Irish Collection, which also includes works of William Butler Yeats and George Russell who wrote under the pen name of "AE." A complete check list, compiled by Robert E. Dysinger, Circulation and Reference Librarian, will appear in the February issue of the "Colby Library Quarterly."

Gilbert H. Montague has given his estate "Beaulieu" at Seal Harbor, Maine to Colby. On March 7, 1956, Mr. Montague, a New York lawyer, spoke at Colby on Emily Dickinson, and at that time gave the land to the college.

The Athletic Department reports two gifts for the ice arena. Dr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Gates contributed the hockey goals and David Alford, the electric scoreboard.

Mrs. Gertrude Mellon has given Colby the breakfast in Louise Coburn Hall. This piece is valued at $6000. Also included in Mrs. Mellon's gift are a Chippendale mirror, English dining chairs, 15 Chinese

All Must Register Before Jan. 30th

The Recorder's Office makes the following announcement concerning Registration for the Second Semester.

All students please note the following excerpt from the 1956 "Gray Book."

"Second semester registration day will be Wednesday, January 30. On or before this date students must complete payment of second semester tuition and board deposit and make approved changes in courses for the second semester. To make changes in elections the student must present to the Recorder a receipted Treasurer's card. Late registration will be fined one dollar for each day of delay. There will, however, be no fine for course changes after January 30, made because of failures in a course. Such changes may be made after classes have been resumed providing all financial obligations have been met."

Registration for the Second Semester may be made in the Recorder's Office any time now. You must bring a receipted Treasurer's card with you. Even if you are not planning to make a change, you must take the card to the Recorder, so that your election card may be checked.

If you have not attended to this before Wednesday, January 30, you will have to report for Registration on that day. Students who have not taken care of this registration are not enrolled in courses for the second semester. There will be no opportunity for registration between January 31 and February 4.

Students should make appointments with their advisers as soon as possible, if they plan to make changes in a course.

In the near future there will be an announcement of any new courses being offered for the second semester, as well as changes in time or place of meeting.

Adult Courses To Begin Second Year

The division of adult education and extension of Colby introduced in February of 1956, evening courses for men and women employed in industry of Central Maine. The program now starts its second year, and enrollment is open for all interested adults.

Working with a community committee, the college is providing courses specifically geared to the needs of business. The main objective of the instruction is to improve the professional competence of those participating.

Practical English for Business Use, course one, instructed by Dean Nickerson, will emphasize written and oral English, including the composition of reports, letters, and applications. The proper use of words and the use of clear, concise sentences will also be stressed, as well as the speaking of forceful, correct English.

A second course in Practical English for Business Use will be under the guidance of Professor Iorio. It will be a continuation of course one, with advanced work in writing and speaking.

Finally, Mr. Pullen, will instruct a course in the American Economy which is to be a simple presentation of the structure and functioning of the American economy and its major parts.

Each of these courses is worth three semester hours, and will be

Letters To The Editor

I would just like to say a few words of appreciation to the college for their support of the John Jay movie held on December 12. We had a full house, an occasion which is seldom seen by the majority of lecturers at Colby. The Outing Club was happy to see that the Colby people took advantage of the opportunity of seeing a man who is the best in his field.

Many thanks also go to the Colby Eight, Pete Hussey, Norm Lee, and many others who helped make the program such a success.

I hope, you, the student, realize that the Outing Club is your club, and it can do just about anything you want it to do, so if there are any suggestions as to new events or to the bettering of old ones, they would be gladly welcomed.

BUD BATES, President

Faced with a serious financial problem this year due to pressure by the student body for a "name" band, the Winter Carnival Committee recently found itself in a precarious position. We had the opportunity of securing, at a nominal price, and in conjunction with Sigma Theta Psi fraternity, the calypso specialist Irving Lord Burgess. Burgess composes all of Harry Belafonte's songs, and was secured for us through Belafonte, who couldn't visit the campus due to a movie commitment.

After a lengthy discussion, the committee decided to gamble rather than remaining conservatively safe within our budget. Therefore, the committee solicited financial support from a number of campus organizations who generously contributed in order that the Winter Carnival Weekend might be an even finer all-college function.

For their generosity and consideration, the Winter Carnival Committee wishes to thank the following organizations: The Women's Union Committee, the classes of 1957, 1958, 1959 and 1960, and Alpha Delta Pi, Sigma Kappa, Delta Delta Delta and Chi Omega.

Campus Comment

by Arthur Goldschmidt

Are Colby students currently on speaking terms with their professors? Perhaps this question is strangely stated or over-generalized. However, the relationship between faculty members and students is not as friendly as it could or should be. Often a course is a protracted battle in which students try to get away with a minimum expenditure of effort while instructors try to catch them up with unannounced quizzes, tricky examination questions and the like. Discussion periods sometimes enable alert students to engage their professors in tests of wit. Outside of class, few students venture to associate with their professors except when in urgent cases. Student opinion frowns on those who do. It is a common notion that anyone who is friendly toward his professors is engaging in an underhanded attempt to improve his grades. Evidently, we students prefer to regard our professors as inhuman (or sometimes inhumane) imparters of erudition whom we must try to outwit. The faculty members are not entirely blameless. Many are content merely to go through the motions of lecturing, testing and grading, caring little whether the students really grasp the material. Of course, in scattered cases students willingly respect and associate with some professors without incurring unfavorable student opinion. This is particularly true in small classes. Such instances, however, are uncommon at Colby, to the detriment of those who seek the greatest possible benefit from the liberal education they receive. It is ironic indeed that one advantage generally attributed to the small college is the greater opportunity it affords for the students to become personally acquainted with their professors.

What are the chief causes of this problem? One is the impersonal classroom atmosphere which is so evident to incoming freshmen. Freshman classes, even discussion periods, are large and consequently formal. Student participation is at a minimum. Faculty members state that the optimum size for a discussion period is around fifteen students. Due to limitations in space and personnel, most freshmen courses are considerably larger. The lecturers and the so-called discussion leaders seem remote, and few freshmen venture to approach them outside of class even for help. The only faculty members with whom the freshman can become personally acquainted are his adviser and (for the men) his dorm counselor. The others seem to be remote figures who appear at specified hours to give lectures, who occasionally are consulted for a minute or two, and who pass some students and fail others.

A significant cause for faculty-student friction is faculty chaperonage at such social functions as fraternity parties. The administration feels that supervision of these parties is necessary and that faculty members should assume this respon-

The Scoop On Mononucleosis

Acute infectious mononucleosis, commonly known as "mono," is a frequent invader of every college campus—young adults are readily susceptible.

"Mono" is characterized by lymphocytosis with a typical lymphocytosis in the blood, enlarged lymph nodes, spleen, and other constitutional symptoms.

The causative agent, it not yet known, however, accumulating evidence points to a virus. Although termed infectious "mono" has a low degree of contagiousness, with a debatable incubation period of 4-14 days.

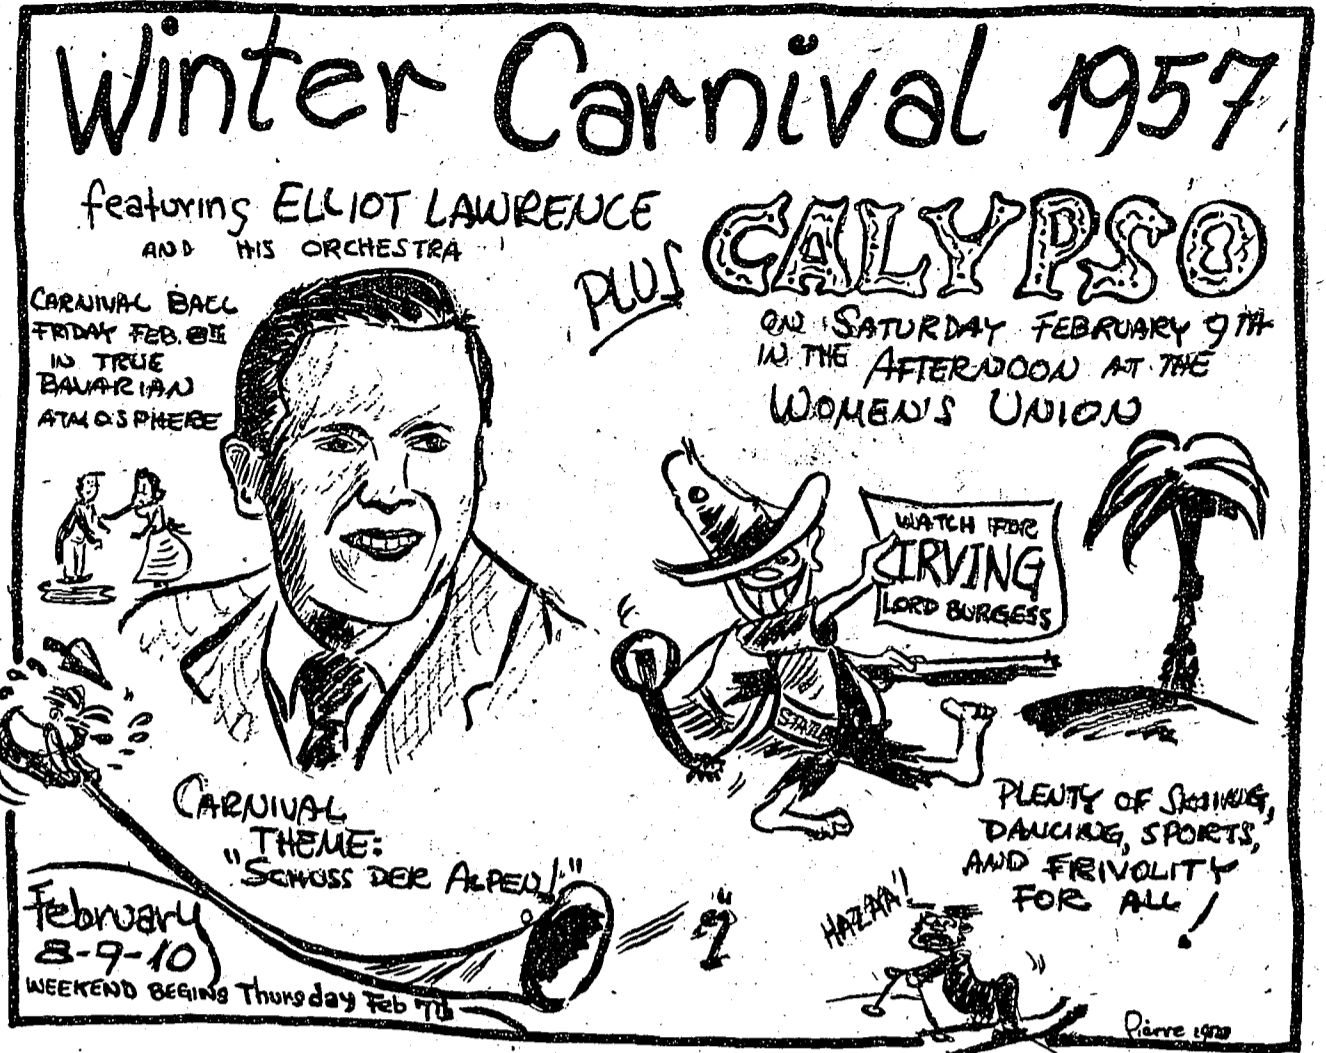

The symptoms vary widely. Most frequently the disease, in this age group, is marked by fever, sore throat, acute tonsillitis, headache, pain and soreness about the eyes, nausea, excessive fatigue, rash and swollen glands. Patients may complain of any one or many of these symptoms. Diagnosis is resolved by study of blood tests, for example by a white differential count, heterophile antibody tests, and by clinical findings.

The laboratory picture shows a leukocytosis (increased white count) accompanying fever. Total white count may range from 10,000 to 20,000 plus per cu mm. during the peak of the disease. This count may also vary greatly and a leukopenia (lowered white count) to levels of 3,000 per cu mm. may mark the disease in its first week. The normal white blood count is about 7,000.

The treatment is largely symptomatic. Antibiotics are used only in the presence of severe sore throat and high fevers. Vitamins are given daily. Hard candy and an abundance of fluids are encouraged. Hospitalization or bed care depends upon severity of the disease, 7-14 days is not unusual.

As for prevention, daily practice of the laws of good health is the best way to avoid a session with mononucleosis. One ought to eat proper foods, wear adequate protective clothing, and perhaps most important, the intelligent budgeting of time to allow adequate rest and sleep—at least 8 hours daily. Vitamins are also of value especially during the winter months.

This often places obliging faculty members on the spot. If an infraction of a college rule occurs, they are obliged to stop it or report it. If they do so, however, they incur unfavorable student opinion and may get the sponsoring group into trouble. Possibly the problem could be solved by appointing two or more students to keep an eye on

"Schuss Der Alpine" Is Winter Carnival Theme

A smorgasbord will be served on the Colby campus February 7, 8, and 9, a smorgasbord of entertainment as varied and filling as that thought up by an imaginative cook. Why February 7, 8, and 9? Why it's Winter Carnival, naturally!

Schuss der Alpen!, the theme for this year's carnival was chosen because it combines the main feature of the winter weekend, skiing, and the festive air of Swiss Alps. To those not acquainted with skiing, the word "schuss" is an expression for a completely abandoned race down a steep slope, the closest thing reached by a skier to flying. "Schuss" spells abandonment and a carefree spirit which the committee hopes all Colbyites will adopt. Of course, unlike the results of most "schusses," we hope the student body isn't in corresponding heap on Sunday morning.

The Winter Carnival Committee has been working since last summer to give Colby a "different" weekend. Many innovations will be introduced. Contrary to other years, Winter Carnival queen will not be nominated arbitrarily by the men students. This year each fraternity will sponsor a girl in hopes of correcting the terrible total of 96 votes in the final election of last year.

Red Cross Offers Instructor Course

Through the cooperation of the Waterville Red Cross Chapter, the Instructors Course will again be given at the Boys' Club provided there are enough candidates.

The swimming course consists of fifteen hours preliminary training on Saturday afternoons, five three-hour sessions, starting Saturday, Feb. 16, and continuing until March 16. The final course, conducted by Ray Amire, Red Cross representative from the New England district, will be every Friday evening the week of April, beginning the day we return from spring vacation.

This course covers the material presented at the Aquatic School. It is invaluable for water front camp councillors and is usually required for all who expect to be in charge of a swimming program anywhere. It is open to men and women students, eighteen years or older, who hold a Red Cross Life Saving Certificate. There is no charge for the course but the Boys' Club required payment of $5.00 for the use of the pool.

Candidates should apply in person or in writing to Miss Marchant, Helen Payson, W.A.A. Swimming Manager, or Ronnie Webber, Boys' Club Instructor. Deadline for application is February 9. Early registration will be appreciated.

each function. If they observed an infraction to take place, they might then notify an available but anonymous student.

A Bowdoin Meddibempster-Colby Eight concert on Thursday the 7th will commence the activities and Peter Merrill promises us an excellent evening of music.

Friday the 8th will offer to skiing enthusiasts the slalom and downhill races at our own slope. At 2 p.m. there will be a hockey game with Tufts, highlighted with a skating exhibition, a prospective Colbyite who was fourth in the nation's pairs of skating contest. From the hockey game the crowd can file into the neighboring gymnasium for the varsity basketball game with Trinity. Immediately following the game, the fraternities will be open to women from 6 to 7:30 p.m.

Climaxing Friday's activities will be the Carnival Ball in the Women's Union. A name band from New York will give Colby some of the smoothest music it has ever heard. Elliot Lawrence and his Orchestra, named three times by Billboard Magazine as the top band in the land, will play from 8:30 until 12:30.

Saturday will offer even a more varied program. There being no classes, the cross-country skiing event will begin at 10:30 and skiing activities will continue until 2 p.m. Then during the Freshman hockey game the skiers will compete in the jumping events at Bridgton. At 3 p.m. there is a freshman basketball game with Edward Little High School.

Beginning at 4:30 on Saturday, one of the highlights of the weekend will occur in the Women's Gymnasium. Irving Lord Burgess, the composer of all of Harry Belafonte's songs and the writer of eight of the ten songs on Belafonte's long-play album, will play from 8:30 until 12:30.

First Semester Exams Are Scheduled for Friday, January 18

The official schedule of semester examinations, January 18 through 29, 1957 has been made up. All examinations will be held in Women's Union, except as otherwise indicated. Students should check this schedule immediately and if they have a conflict, they should report at once in writing to the Director of Schedule (in Miller Library, Room 207E) the following information: Courses in conflict, date of examinations, names of the instructors, and name of the major advisor.

No semester examination, or make-up examination, or any part of a semester examination is to be held prior to the date scheduled here.

No changes in this schedule are to be made except by the Director of Schedule, and then only in cases of absolute necessity.

No examination will be conducted in the following courses: Art 321, Economics 411, English 381, French 461, Geology 461, Humanities 101, 301, Philosophy 381, Physics 421, and Sociology 401.

Middle East Topic Of Gabe Lectures

On February 12 the first of a series of the Gabrielson Lectures will be given. The topic of 1957 is the study of the political problems of the Middle East and the importance these problems hold for the American people. Held every Tuesday afternoon at four, the lectures will be given by distinguished gentlemen who are either students of the Middle East, or who hold responsible positions in dealing with Middle East affairs. The areas concerned include Egypt, the countries bordering the Mediterranean to the Arabian peninsula, and the Persian Gulf. The first speaker will be Professor Hans Kohn of New York City College. Following Professor Kohn will be Professor Bruce Hopper of Harvard, Professor Philip K. Hitti of Princeton, Mr. R. H. K. Maratt, the British Counsel General for New England, and Mr. R. Dickson, Senior Economist for the Arabian Oil Company.

Mr. Zukowski, secretary of the Administrative Committee, announced that the date for the annual Recognition Assembly has been changed to May 1, 1957.

College Enrollment Now Nation Wide Problem

If for no other reason, 1956 was the year that higher education came into its own. A great many issues and problems arose during the past twelve months. Not all of them have been solved, but the public has become aware, to greater extent than ever before, of the serious crisis that looms ahead for American colleges and universities.

Higher enrollment is the crux of the problem. Soon after World War II, when the Federal Government gave the Veterans free tuition and maintenance through the G.I. Bill, hundreds of thousands of ex-servicemen flocked to the classrooms. At one time in the late nineteen forties more than 1,000,000 veterans crowded the colleges.

This was expected to be a temporary situation. But the days of pre-war college enrollments did not return. Last fall more than 3,000,000 students were in college, an increase in one year of 250,000. Nor is the end in sight. By 1970, conservative estimates show, the number will rise to 6,000,000.

Every study made during the past year indicated that the private colleges, at most, will be able to increase their capacities by 50%. Yet the demand will be for a 100% increase. Who will take up the slack? The burden will fall, it would appear, upon the public institutions.

In New York State, as the year ended, there was conflict between the private and public institutions of higher learning. New York is the only state in the union without a campus style university. With the pressures mounting from increased numbers of high school graduates for admission to college, the quesmous faculty member, who would then take whatever course of action deemed necessary.

Of course, many efforts are being made to solve this problem. Most faculty members keep regular office hours at which time students who are so minded may come for help, or to enjoy a social chat. Captain Forsman of the Department of Air Science invited many of the sophomores to come into his office so that he could get to know them personally. Other instructors ask all their students who are in academic difficulties to come in for individual conferences. Many faculty members serve as advisers for extra-curricular activities through which they strike up personal acquaintanceships with participating students. Occasionally, professors are called upon to participate in informal discussions, notably in the religious organizations. The S.C.A. conducts an annual "Spa-faculty Night" at which several professors talk with students and each other on any topics of interest to the students. Seminars and small discussion sections serve the same function on an academic plane. Leslie Colitt's well-written series, "Faculty Briefs," give students a glimpse into the lives, backgrounds and views of many prominent faculty members.

Nevertheless, the problem of faculty-student relations has not been solved. Attempts to improve the situation have helped, but they tipon was whether the state should help private colleges financially or develop a real state university.— N. Y. Times, Dec. 30, 1956.

Colby Club Provides Worthwhile Agenda

The spirit which has recently pervaded the campus is being perpetuated throughout the year and will become increasingly apparent through the activities of the young Colby Community Club which was formed last April.

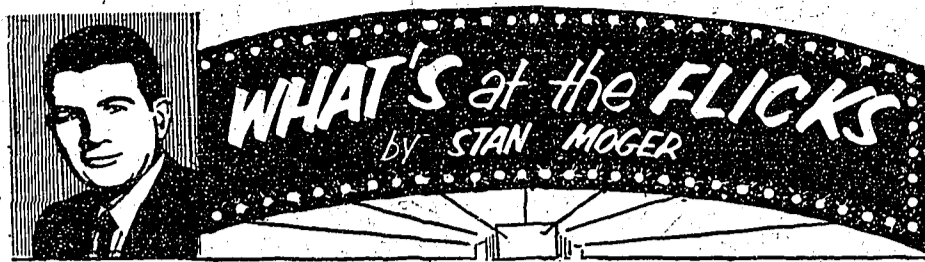

The club, which devotes itself entirely to community service projects, has now in full-swing a varied program chiefly in the field of athletics. Each man in the club spends a few hours a week at the Boys Club coaching basketball and supervising various recreational activities for the youngsters between the ages of nine and thirteen.

Another group of members have been asked to coach the junior basketball team in Benton, Maine.

The Colby Community Club has extensive plans for activities for next semester including a program to bring town boys to Colby hockey and basketball games. Admittance will be free and they will sit in a special section supervised by CCC members.

Leading the club with an increasing tempo and helping CCC to become one of the most worth-while groups on campus are the officers. Frank Landrey is president, Bob Hess is vice-president, Art Smith is secretary and Peter Durand is keeper of the funds.

are clearly inadequate. If we students are to benefit as fully as possible from the liberal education Colby has to offer, we cannot afford merely to declare complacently that faculty-student relations are better than at larger colleges. Instead, as is true with all campus issues, we must recognize the existence of the problem and examine ways of alleviating it.

Hi everyone! Well, 1956 has gone and with it have gone some of the finest pictures Hollywood has ever made . . . Pictures such as "Guys and Dolls," "King and I," "Trapeze," "High Society," "I'll Cry Tomorrow," "Picnic," "War and Peace," "Moby Dick," and "The Searchers," are but few of the offerings we have viewed with pleasure on the theater screens of America. "What's at the Flicks?" has sponsored a contest and the winners will be mentioned next issue. 1956 is gone but . . . 1957 promises to offer us even bigger and better entertainment via the celluloid media than the passing year. "Pajama Game" starring Doris Day, "The Wayward Bus," "The Helen Morgan Story," "Sayonara," "The Old Man and the Sea," "The Spirit of St. Louis" and approximately 115 other feature film presentations will be rolling on the Hollywood lots and sound stages.

"GIANT" BEAUTY—Elizabeth Taylor has her most romantic role to date as the beautiful but strong-willed Leslie Benedict in "Giant," George Stevens' epic production of the Edna Ferber novel for Warner Bros. Rock Hudson and James Dean co-star with Miss Taylor in the picture, filmed in WarnerColor, which opens at the Haines on Jan. 25.

PIC TO SEE!!!—"The Wrong Man"—Alfred Hitchcock draws upon real-life drama for this gripping piece of realism. He builds the case of a N. Y. Stork Club musician falsely accused of a series of holdups to a powerful climax, the events providing the director a field day in his art of characterization and suspense. Hitchcock gives the unfoldment an extra documentary touch through the use of actual backgrounds, ranging from the Stork Club and the Queen's subway to city's police stations and courtrooms. Loy-key photography and a simple but effective music score addition all help maintain the grim mood. Henry Fonda and Vera Miles star in the Alfred Hitchcock pic for Warner Bros.

DOWNTOWN FLICKS!!!
HAINES: Sun.-Tues., Jan. 13-15—"The Girl Can't Help It" starring Tom Ewell and Jayne Mansfield is a 'rock and roller' with talent galore for all 'rock and roll' fans.

Wed.-Thurs., Jan. 16-17—Alfred Hitchcock's "Rebecca" stars Sir Lawrence Olivier and Joan Fontaine. This is one of Hitchcock's earlier pictures and dates back quite a few years but still is fine viewing.

that tuition does not cover the full cost of a student's education, the Foundation also makes a separate, unrestricted contribution of $1,000. to the college during each year in which one or more scholarship awards is effective.

To be eligible for the award, a student must have signified an intention of pursuing a career in business or industry and must have specifically demonstrated in extra-curricular activities, as well as in the classroom, those qualities associated with the well-known "Rhodes Scholar."

of individuality in the small liberal arts college, as opposed to mass thinking and acting.

The affirmatives' reply was that size was strictly a matter of personal opinion and that an increase of 400 students would not result in a loss of identity. Relative to the argument about extra-curricular activities, it pointed to the Freshman football team this year, which consisted of only 15 players. The negative argument that high scholastic quality should be maintained was rebutted with the fact that Colby standards have been going up and yet, this past year, the college had 75% more applicants than it could accept. Another affirmative argument was that placing the burden on state-supported schools would result in an increase in taxes. To this, the negative team replied that the increase would be worth it to maintain quality education. Also, educational taxes are small today compared to liquor, cigarette, and television taxes.

As to the financial practicability of Colby expanding at the present time, the negative team presented the following opposition. Existing facilities are inadequate since three new buildings are urgently needed. Therefore, take first things first and meet the present objective before thinking of expansion. In addition, Colby's financial aid to students is already spread thin, so that even less would be available if an enrollment increase took place. Financial aid is necessary to attract top-notch students to any college.

In the discussion period which followed the debate, President Bixler injected a few comments. He expressed the desire that student opinion would appraise the situation with as much knowledge of the facts as possible and debate the issue at hand among themselves. On the negative side, he emphasized the fact that the genius of the small liberal arts college should not be changed, nor the scholarship fund strained. On the affirmative side, he emphasized public responsibility and said that if it can't be proven that the quality of our education at Colby would change as a result of increased enrollment, then it was up to the college to accept its responsibility. Also, if it could be proved that an increase would be more economical, through the increase in tuition receipts, Colby would be obliged to take in the 400 extra students.

The Chairman of the debate was Doug Davidson. Judges were Prof. Borschneider; J. H. Sloan, professor of speech at Bowdoin; Dean Tompkins; Edward H. Turner, Director of Development at Colby; and David E. Woodbury, class of '58. A sliding scale point system was used to judge the speakers. William Winslow was timekeeper; and hostesses at the refreshment hour following the debate were Patricia Orr, Secretary-Treasurer of the Forensic Society; Mary Harrington; and Barbara Larsen. Professor James P. Oliver was director of Debate.

Various other gifts are noteworthy. H. Ridgely Bullock, Jr., '55 donated the settings and properties of the Camden Hills Summer Theatre to Powder and Wig. An original rail of the first railroad in America has been received from Louis Volpe, '43, Charles A. Parsons has given the college a snow removal machine valued at $10,000. Value Line (Investment Service) is the gift of Arnold Bernhard. Mr. James Healy has donated a tape of the Connolly-Gloucester Celebration.

Three credits will be granted by Colby for the course upon successful completion of home assignments based on required reading and the final exam to be given at Colby and other centers.

ADDED FEATURE!!!!

Colby College is sponsoring a series of foreign films. This week Sir Lawrence Olivier may be seen at the star of "Henry V", one of the finest of the great spectacles. There will be two showings: one Sunday evening at 7:00 and the second on Monday evening at 6:30 (January 13-14). Both showings will be held in the Averill Auditorium.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young engineer pioneers new ways to use x-ray

A new x-ray inspection system which intensifies an x-ray image more than 10,000 times in brightness and transmits it to a conventional TV screen has been developed recently by General Electric. When perfected, it may enable medical specialists to perform "long-distance" diagnosis on patients in remote areas.

One of the principal men who developed x-ray television — called TVX for short — is Dr. John E. Jacobs, Manager of the Advanced Development Laboratory of General Electric's X-Ray Department in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Jacobs' Work Is Important, Responsible

As an electronics specialist, Dr. Jacobs' work in the past has been devoted to the study of photoconductors—substances whose properties change under the influence of radiation — and the use of x-ray in industrial inspection. This in turn led to his development of the x-ray-sensitive camera tube used in TVX.

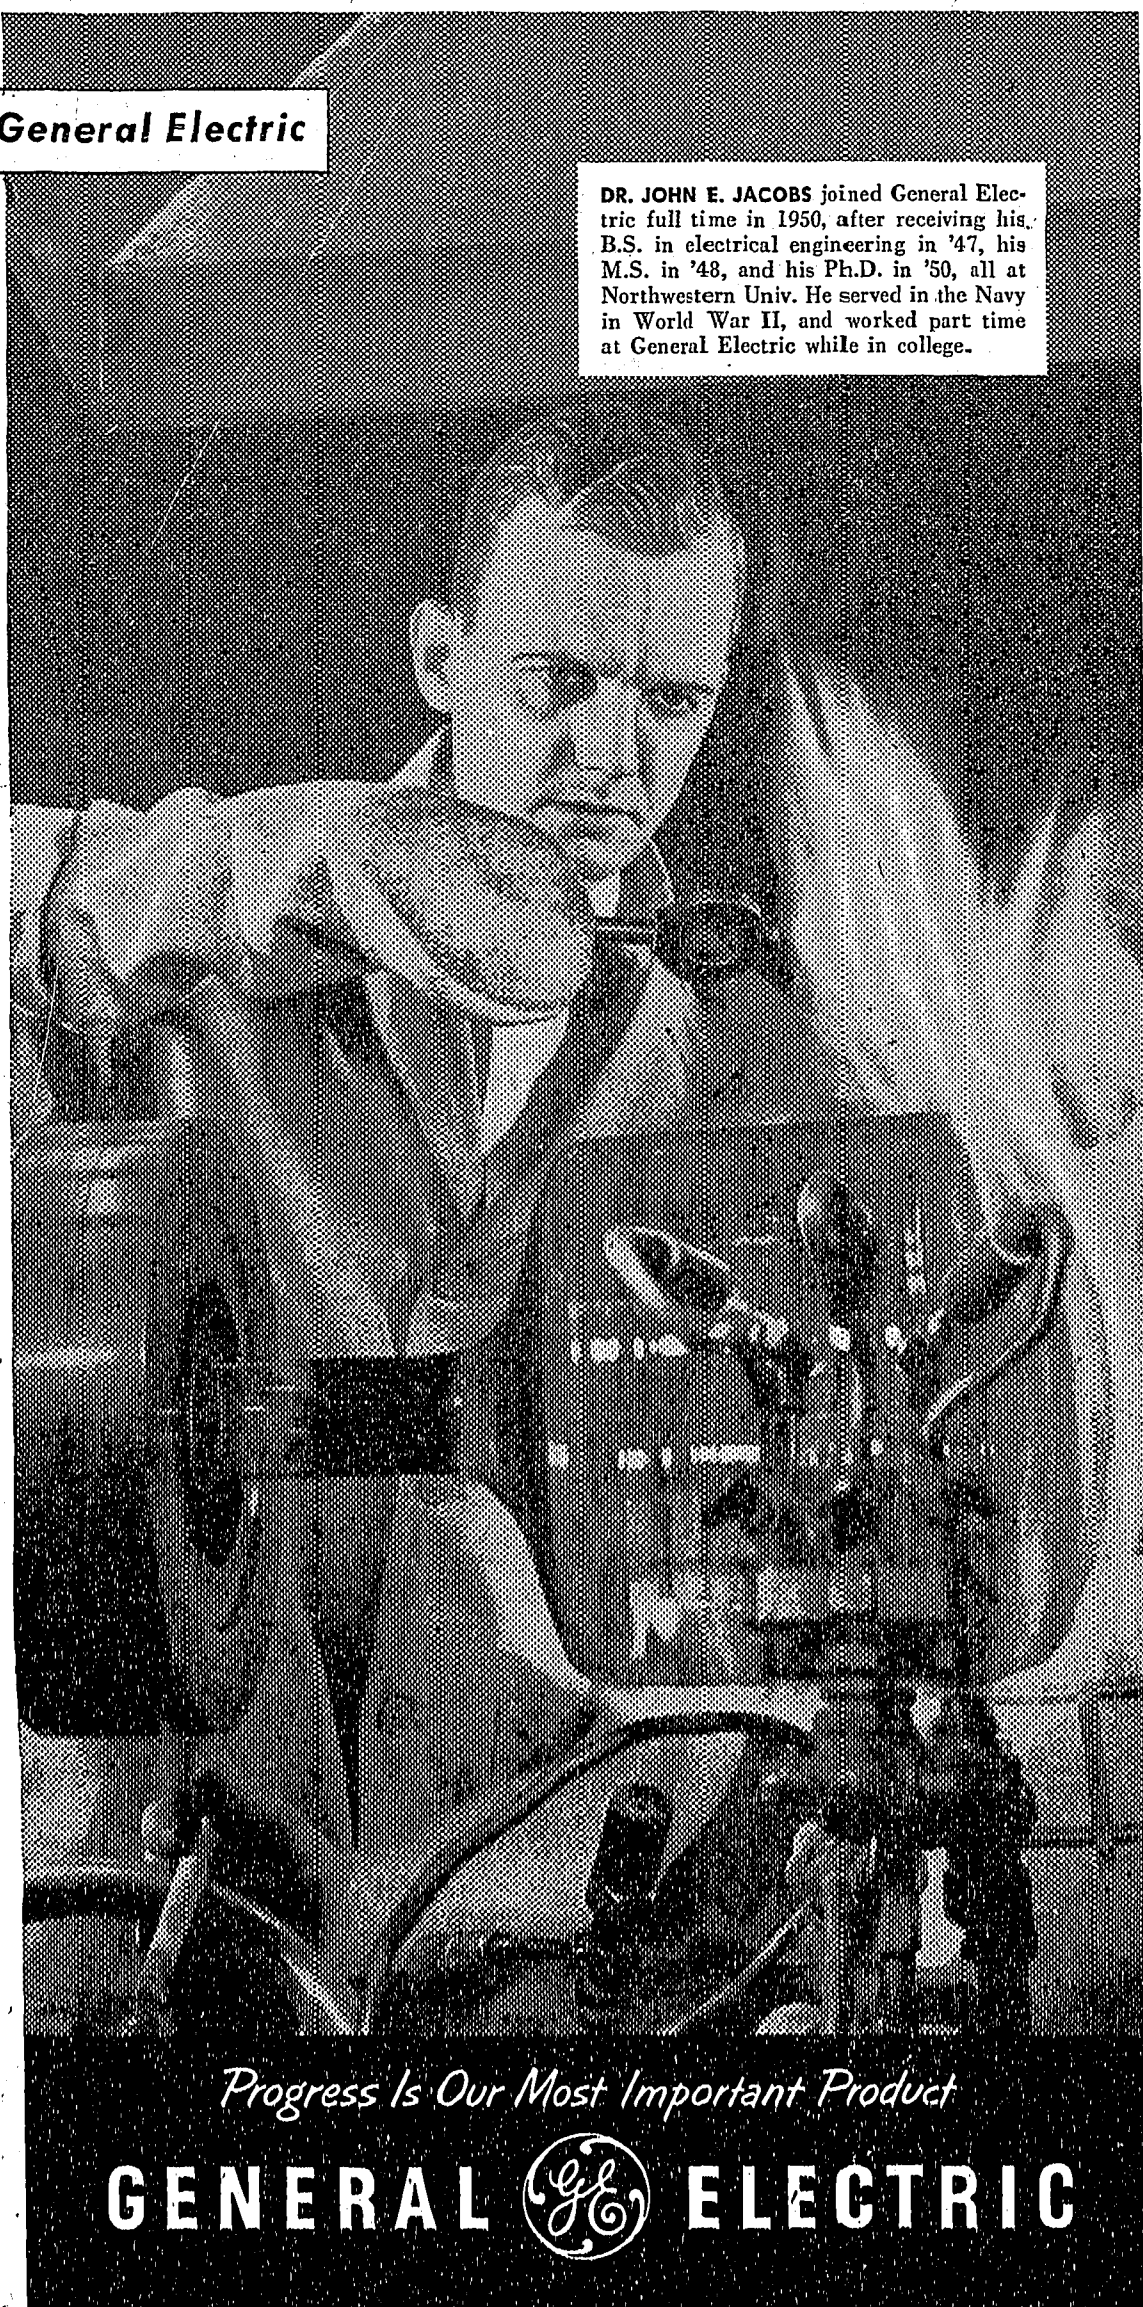

His present administrative duties with the Advanced Development Lab allow him more time for teaching others what he has learned. He now teaches the second-year graduate course at Northwestern in vacuum-tube networks, and has recently been named McKay Visiting Professor for 1957 by the University of California at Berkeley, where he will give a two-week series of lectures on photoconduction.

27,000 College Graduates at General Electric

Since his youth, when he was a licensed radio "ham," John Jacobs has been devoted to the study of electricity and electronics. Like each of our 27,000 college graduates, he is being given the chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: when fresh young minds are given the freedom to develop, everybody benefits—the individual, the Company, and the country.

Educational Relations, General Electric Company, Schenectady 5, New York

DR. JOHN E. JACOBS joined General Electric full time in 1950, after receiving his B.S. in electrical engineering in '47, his M.S. in '48, and his Ph.D. in '50, all at Northwestern Univ. He served in the Navy in World War II, and worked part time at General Electric while in college.

Colby Shares Honors Mule Cagers Ready For State In Hamilton Tourney Series Rematch With Bowdoin

The Colby Varsity Hockey had a busy schedule during the weeks when the student body was home. The pucksters opened their vacation schedule with a fine game against Brown, although they were defeated in the contest, 6-3. Brown led Colby 2-1 after the first period and 3-2 after the second. It was only toward the end of the game that Brown showed its superiority by pulling out ahead with three quick tallies. The Brown goalie was outstanding as he stopped drive after drive by the Colby offense. Despite the score, Colby played one of their best hockey games of the year.

After five days rest, the team journeyed to Clinton, New York to take part in the Hamilton Hockey Tournament with Williams, Norwich, and the host team, Hamilton. Having played good hockey in their past few games, the Colby contingent played their opening round game against Williams with a slight case of overconfidence. They played one of the worst games of their season. They lacked the fine stick play and hustle which characterized their former play. Williams beat them to the puck most of the time and goalie Auriemma had so many shots directed at him that he could not help but let some through. The final buzzer sounded with the score 6-1 in Williams' favor.

Amherst Sextet In Clash On Colby Ice

Colby's improving hockey team will meet Amherst College tomorrow night in the first half of a basketball-hockey double-header. Game time is at 7 p.m. The Mules who lost to Norwich last Saturday will try and notch their fourth victory, pending the New Hampshire game of Tuesday. The Mules have a record of 3-4-1. Amherst, who the Mules defeated last year 4-3, has a fairly strong team and will be out to add the Mules to their list. Dickie Morrison, Jay Church and Bob Keltie will be in the first line, while Don Cote and Guy Vigue will be on defense. Bob Auriemma will be in the nets. The Mules of Jack Kelley lost a close one to Norwich when they had a 4-1 lead and lost it 5-4. In the Hamilton Tournament, they tied for first place by defeating host Hamilton and Norwich and losing to Williams.

Colby went into its second game with a determined attitude. The stick men went out to a quick 5-1 lead in the first period against Hamilton. By the end of the second period, the gap had lessened a little, but Colby was still enjoying a 7-4 lead. However, on a few unlucky breaks, including two penalty shots, Hamilton tied up the game and the final score was 7-7. Both teams agreed to the ten minute sudden-death overtime period. The puck exchanged hands a few times with neither team posing a serious threat. Then, Hamilton drove down the ice past the Colby defense, and took a shot which was miraculously saved by Bob Auriemma. Defenseman Don Cote, retrieved the puck from behind the cage, skated through the entire team, and passed to Dick Morrison who blasted it by the Hamilton goalie to register a clutch win for the Mules.

Colby Five Breaks Even Over Xmas

The Colby basketball team won two and lost two on their annual Christmas vacation trip. The day classes ended, December 14th, the Mules traveled to Bowdoin for a State Series game with the Polar Bears. The Mules were slow getting started in the first half, but went into a commanding lead of 49-30 in the second half. The game ended with the Mules in front by eleven points. Campbell had 20 points to lead Colby, while Edes had 14 rebounds. Stover was high for Bowdoin with 23.

Colby wound up its tournament schedule with a 10-2 romp over Norwich. The Mules had played the Norwich team earlier and had tied them 5-5. However, with the loss of their goalie Bruce Gillies and with the psychological barrier of entering the game on a five game losing streak, Norwich lacked the spark

W. A. A. News

Although reading period gives some of the activities on campus a chance for somewhat of a rest, W.A.A. carries on. The annual volleyball tournament, comprised of four teams this year, will be held on the afternoons of January 9th, 11th and 14th, at 3 p.m. It is hoped that these teams will have full support.

In the pre-vacation inter-dorm volleyball tournament, Woodman emerged the victor in the finals over Foss 34-11, with a team comprised of Marilyn Berry, Joan King, Marcia White, Jane Spokesfield, Nancy Shoemaker, Judy Sessler and Judy Brown. Foss was on the right end of the basketball tournament, however, when the girls squeaked out a victory against a small but fighting Mary Low team, 15-14. Members of the Foss team were: Ann Dudley, Ellie Fortenbaugh, Ellie Ardoff, Barbara Field, Carol Hall, Cindy Gardner, Carol Shoemaker, Jean Roberts, Jane Mills, Ann Kimball, Eunice Buchholz and Kathy Coughlin.

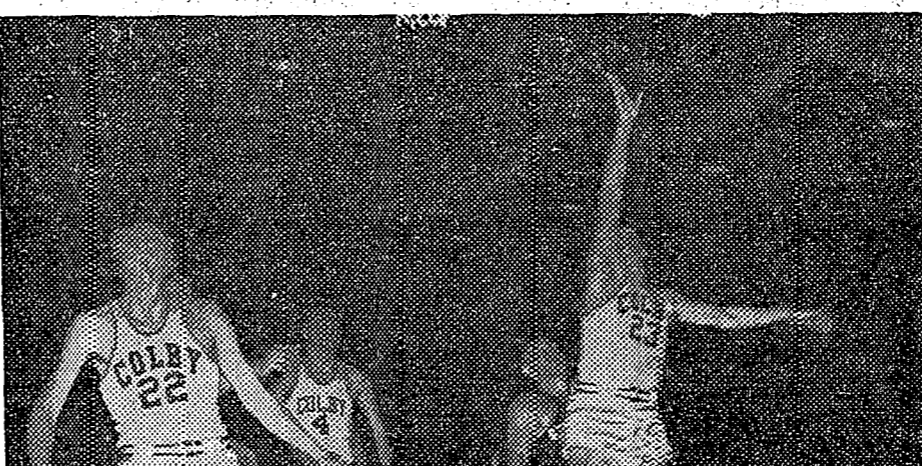

There seems to be a considerably smaller number of girls participating in tournaments this year and we hope it is only because of heavy exam schedules. However, a little more enthusiasm could be directed W.A.A. way and from more underclassmen too!

On December 18th, the Mules took on undefeated Brandeis and were beaten 102-86. Brandeis shot 65% and the Mules could not match them. Finderson and Aranow spelled trouble for Lee Williams' five as they collected 46 and 20 points respectively. Johnny Edes led the Mules in this one with 27 points and 11 rebounds. Dick Campbell had 17.

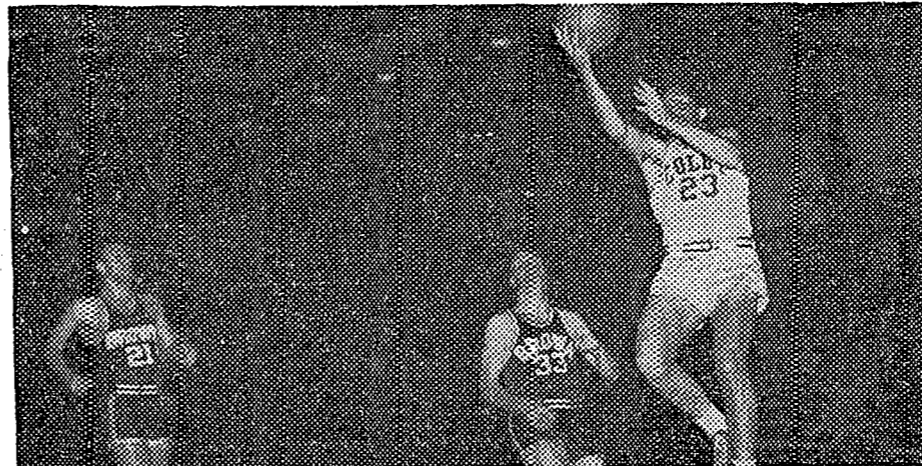

At Upsala, December 20th, the Mules defeated the Vikings, 91-63.

Springfield Losses To Colby Five

The Colby Mules won their second game in as many nights last Saturday as they defeated Springfield College, 73-58. The Mules were slow in getting started and Springfield led most of the first half. The Colby five couldn't do anything right, then Lee Williams inserted Lloyd Cohen into the game and the speedy youngster went like a hall of fire. When he entered the game, Colby was behind 24-17. He sparked a drive which saw the Mules lead at halftime, 31-26. It was a poor contest at the start, except for the last few minutes of the half. In the second half the Mules took matters in their own hands as they poured on the heat. Larry Cudmore and Charles Twigg were the chief operators for the Mules during this contest. Larry had 13 and Charlie had 20. Dick Campbell hurt his ankle in the first half.

"Soupy" Campbell (22) and Larry Cudmore (4) watch Captain Charlie Twigg sink his layup against Springfield. Colby won 73-58.

Charlie Twigg scores again in Colby's 76-56 win over Brown last Thursday night in the Field House.

Colby's inexperienced, but hard fighting Mules face the Bowdoin Polar Bears in an important State Series contest tomorrow night at the Colby gym. Coach Lee Williams quintet is undefeated thus far in Series play and has a 6-5 overall record. The Mules easily defeated the men from Brunswick, 83-68, in their only other encounter to date.

With a lineup filled with sophomores and juniors, Colby figures to be tougher as the season progresses. The only senior on the squad is Captain and high scorer Charlie Twigg. The young Mules have come along nicely and have shown considerable improvement as evidenced by their two straight victories over Brown and Springfield. Their other wins have come at the expense of Bates, Maine, Upsala, and Bowdoin. Colby's five losses were suffered at the hands of Dartmouth, Brandeis, Vermont, Connecticut, and New York Athletic Club.

Bowdoin has a 1-2 record in the State Series, having upset Maine in their opener and having lost to Bates and Colby. Coach Ed Coombs' squad lost seven of ten lettermen and is rebuilding around Captain Tom Fraser, Junior Brud Stover, Junior Bob Johnson and Sophomores Dick Willey and Jim Woods.

MULE KICKS

Well, 1957 is here and the first issue of the Colby Echo is out in the new year. We at Colby hope this year will be very prosperous. The sports department is looking forward to a good year in sports. All the Colby athletic teams are on the young side, consisting mostly of sophomores and juniors. Football has six seniors, basketball has one senior, hockey has three, baseball has five, tennis has three, track has one, golf has three, and skiing has one. This shows that 1957 may be a big year for Colby sportswise.

Going over 1956 at Colby, it was a pretty good year. The varsity basketball team finished with a 13-13 record and posted some big wins over Connecticut and Amherst. The Mules were led by Bob Burns. Charlie Twigg was awarded the most valuable player award and elected captain for the 1956-57 season. The Mules won the State Series crown again. This year the Mules have a 6-5 record and a 3-0 record in the State Series. The outlook is good for the Mules. Most of their games will be on their home court in February.

In baseball, Coach Winkin's team won the State Series and were offered a bid to play in the NCAA playoffs. They were led by Captain Don Rice. Pel Brown was awarded the most valuable player award and elected captain. They posted a 15-5 record.

In tennis, the Mules tied with Bates for the State Championship. Captain John Marshall won the State Championship in the singles and teamed with Johnny Shute, '57 captain-elect, to win the doubles.

In golf, Frank Maze's team lost some close matches, but finished in a tie for second place in the State Series. Captain Stephen Van Schenck will lead the team for 1957.

In track, the Mules won their first track meet in many seasons. The team is young and with some available help from the Frosh could do okay this season. Gordon Cunningham is the captain for 1957.

In hockey, the Mules won five while losing eight. This season they have a 3-4-1 record so far. They have a young team and should end the season with a good record. Guy Vigue is the captain.

In football, Colby suffered another losing season. It was Coach Bob Clifford's first year and we know that he won't stand for a loser. With practically a veteran team back, especially in the line, the Mules should do very well next fall. Captain Lee Mathieu was the most valuable player and Bill Orne and Don Crowley were elected Co-Captains for 1957.

In skiing, Colby has been down for a few years. Captain Nate Bates has been the bright spot in this sport. With plenty of hopefuls this year, the ski team may do very well.

Now that we have looked at last years records and had a glimpse into this year, we will make some predictions and print what we think was tops for 1956.

PREDICTIONS OF THINGS TO COME:

A winning season for the varsity football team and a second place finish in the State Series.

A State Series Championship in basketball, baseball, and tennis. Johnny Winkin to come up with a good baseball team again this year, after losing players like Rice, Dunbar, Boole, Jamieson, etc.

Brown Subdued By Strong Colby

The Colby Mules ushered in the 1957 segment of the 1956-57 Basketball Season with an impressive 76 to 56 win over the Ivy League Brown Bruins last Thursday evening at the Field House. The Mules again led by their outstanding captain Charlie Twigg, who was high man for the evening with 17 points, were in the driver's seat all the way. The first half was a close contest with both teams seeming to concentrate on the one good shot and defense. During these first twenty minutes the two teams were never separated by more than four points, as the Bruins kept pace with the Mules almost shot for shot. Just before half time intermission the Mules began to find themselves and left the floor with a 31 to 27 edge.

Frosh Five Seeks To Extend Streak

The Colby Frosh basketball team finally showed why it is one of the finest to come to the Mayflower Hill campus when they defeated Westbrook High School, 84-70. The Baby Mules had had a hard time working together this year, but looked very good in notching their fifth victory in six starts. Westbrook, who is rated tops in Western Maine high school circles, shot very well at the start and kept with the Frosh until baskets by Burke and Nelson pulled the game out of their reach. The minute Coach Winkin pulled his regulars out Westbrook would threaten, so the Frosh had to apply the pressure throughout. The period leads were 32-20, 47-38, and 66-50. Eddie Burke had 21 and Leon Nelson had 20 to lead the Frosh. Both boys had 14 at halftime. Ed Marchetti and Bob Purdy had 13 and 10 respectively.

Friday night, the Frosh defeated Portland Boys Club by sixteen points. They were slow getting out in front and led by the low score of 20-14 at halftime. Portland had a six-sever center who hit for 10, but offered no battle on the boards as Marchetti and Burke cleared them with ease. Marchetti, Burke, and Purdy were point leaders for the Frosh.

Colby to Institute Stu. G. to Present Between Exams' Movie Schedule

Under the sponsorship of the Robert's Union and the help of a Hangout sub-committee, there will be movies shown for the relaxation of the students of Colby. These movies will be shown free of charge in the Averill Auditorium at 1:15 p.m. and will last until 1:45. The half hour shows will include sports, comedy and cartoon movies.

This idea originated at Bowdoin last year and were found to be very effective. The opportunity to take some time out from the exam routine was extremely helpful and relaxing to a great many students. Mr. Donovan Lancaster of the Moulton Union at Bowdoin interested Mr. Macomber of Colby in the idea and it was carried from there. Through Mr. Lancaster's help, Mr. Macomber has gathered an enjoyable program of movies. This has certainly proved to be a fine example of the mutual cooperation between Colby and Bowdoin. The interest of Robert's Union, under the direction of Mr. Macomber, in the students of Colby is greatly appreciated.

Henry V On Jan. 13

The last in the series of Student Government films, "Henry V" will be shown in the Averill Auditorium on Sunday, January 13 at 6:30 p.m. and Monday, January 14 at 7 p.m. The film, an Academy-award winning production of Shakespeare's play, is in technicolor. It is one of the finest, as well as the most expensive, to be shown on the campus this year. There will be an admission charge of twenty-five cents.

Tables Moved for More Room

During Christmas recess the study tables and chairs in the reserve room of the library were rearranged at the suggestion of some of the faculty members.

The new arrangement was made for the benefit of the Colby students. In arranging the tables lengthwise, the students are given more room per person for studying. It is also hoped that the new plan will improve lighting conditions. The plans were able to come into existence due to the fact that the reserve room is no longer a through passageway. Therefore, the need for as much passage space has been eliminated.

Founded entirely upon an experimental basis, this setup is subject to change at the consensus of student opinion indicates a change.

COLBY SHARES HONORS

Continued from Page Six they needed to break their streak. The tournament ended in a first place tie between Colby, Williams, and Hamilton, each of which won two and lost one.

Colby traveled to Northfield, Vermont to play an apparently easy contest with Norwich once again last Saturday. The Mules got off to a good start and led their opponents by a 4-1 score with ten minutes to go in the game. Then, in less Bill Bryan's Pittsburg Pirates to finish fifth in the National League. Charlie Twigg to be picked All-New England.

Outstanding Basketball Game: Colby vs. Connecticut last winter carnival with Mules winning, 98-93.

Outstanding Baseball Game: Colby vs. Bates, Mules winning 1-0 behind Pel Brown's no-hitter.

Outstanding Football Game: Colby against Brandeis when the Mules almost pulled the upset of the season, losing 26-20.

Outstanding Performance: Pel Brown in pitching a no-hitter against Bates.

Best Athlete: Neil Stinneford who plays baseball and football and can also do very well in track.

Most Promising Athlete: Al Rogan who can do most anything and Leon Nelson who does the same.

Best Coaching Job: Johnny Winkin who has built up a great baseball record in his three years at Colby. He has also done equally as well in Fresh football and basketball.

Top Individual Effort: Charlie Twigg who scored 48 points against Maine to break State Series and Colby scoring records.

Most Needed: School spirit which at times is good and then goes down.

Most Discouraging: The baseball team's waiting for the school to give them a chance to enter the NCAA playoffs and then being refused.

Best Try: Colby's rally against Massachusetts in baseball. The Mules got seven hits in a row to almost pull the game out.

Hardest Job: Any athletic manager under the Colby coaching staff.

Biggest Victory: For a little humor, Bob Cliffords' victory over Lee Williams in gin rummy after a great comeback. This was on the New York basketball trip and Lee was without the help of his sidekick, Johnny Winkin.

Students—The Following Will Appear In "The Echo" This Issue and Next For Your Appraisal And - Or Approval

As a result of the President's League being dissolved, the Student Government has decided that the Social Committee should function as a centralizing authority for all major campus events. It has passed by majority vote of the members present the following, as an amendment to article III, section 2 of the Student Government Constitution:

The Council shall set up a social committee which shall be responsible for the scheduling of all student social functions affecting the college as a whole. The chairman is to be elected by the Social committee, subject to the approval of the Council. This committee, subject to existing college rules and regulations, shall compose and enforce the social standards to be followed by all college organizations and shall have the power to recommend probation for any violator thereon. In addition this committee shall act in an executive capacity, having authority to organize, direct, and coordinate; and to delegate responsibility for, the planning and holding of all college social function as so designated by the committee. This committee shall be composed by one representative from each of the college organizations which the Council shall determine requires a seat in such a committee, the Dean of Men, the Dean of Women, and one faculty advisor. Hangout will have a member ex-officio of the Council.

COC Sponsors Ski Trip After Exams

On February 15, 16 and 17 the Outing Club is sponsoring a ski trip to Jackson, New Hampshire. With permission to use the cabin belonging to the University of New Hampshire, about fifty people will leave after supper on Friday in a rented bus. After a three hour drive the students will arrive at one of the largest ski areas in New England, including Thorn Mountain, Black Mountain and Cranmore Mountain.

Mainly a novice's skiing area, the slopes range from the beginner size to expert. The facilities are above average, including a T-bar, a ski mobile and rope tows.

The Outing Club has high hopes of a successful trip which will help in promoting skiing at Colby.

Well, we hope this doesn't hurt anyone's feelings. It's just an opinion.

STU-G REPORTS

The regular meeting of Student Government was held on Monday evening, January 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Government Room.

Pete Riger reported that the social calendar will be handed in the near future for second semester. Lynn Webber has announced that when there are no visiting hours for the infirmary it will be posted by the infirmary list in the library.

Dates for Campus Chest will be March 13-17, 1957, Carol Conway reported.

The treasurer reported that about $295.00 has been collected for the Hungarian student fund to date.

BROWN SUBDUED

Shortly after the third stanza began the Mules established an unbeatable lead with the jump shooting of forward Larry Cudmore, one of the Mules' steadfast performers. The final score read Colby 76, Brown 56.

MULE NOTES

Hats off to the two outstanding Sophomore guards of the Mules, Lloyd Cohen and Tony Ruvo. Ruvo by his all around ball handling and hustle has been a pleasant surprise for Coach Lee Williams this year, Lloyd, expected to be a help this campaign, has amazed the fans with his tremendous passing and ball handling time and time again. . . Charlie Twigg's 17 points put him over the 1,000 point mark for his inter-collegiate career at Colby—he has 1,013 with 15 games left in his college competition. . . The win put the Mules at five and five so far this season. . . John Edes continued his fabulous foul shooting which has earned him the eighth ranked spot in small college ratings with 5 for 6.

COLBY FIVE BREAKS

This was a surprise to the Viking fans whose team had won four and lost one at the time. Charlie Twigg had 28 points in this one as the Mules enjoyed a safe lead throughout the contest. Edes once again had 13 rebounds.

The next night, the Mules played a tough New York Athletic Club five and lost in the last two minutes, 98-91. The Mules stayed with New York throughout the first half trailing by only four points at halftime. They fell behind in the second half and with six minutes to play were down by 17 points. The Mules fought back to a three point deficit. But fouls told the story as Colby was pressing to get the ball. Twigg with 20 and Campbell with 19 led the Mules.

Luckies Taste Better

"IT'S TOASTED" TO TASTE BETTER . . . CLEANER, FRESHER, SMOOTHER!

LIGHTING A LUCKY? You might rub two sticks together—but it'll take you hours to see the light. You might use ten-dollar bills—if you've got money to burn. Or you might insist on matches—in which case you'll be a Lighter Slighter! Any way you light it, a Lucky tastes out of this world. It's all cigarette . . . nothing but fine, mild, good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste even better. Try a Lucky right now. You'll say it's the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

STICKLE! MAKE $25

Sticklers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. (No drawings, please!) We'll shell out $25 for all we use—and for hundreds that never see print. So send stacks of 'em with your name, address, college and class to Happy Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, N. Y.
