Barbara Ward, British Economist, To Lecture At Colby On March 8

Friday evening, March 8, in the Women's Union, Miss Barbara Ward, British economist, lecturer, and writer, will deliver an Averill Lecture entitled "Asia and the West." President Bixler urges a large turnout for the occasion as he believes that "a fine attendance will stimulate Miss Ward to her best effort."

Miss Ward, considered one of the foremost economists in the world, has a reputation for being a thorough economist with a remarkably clear head. She is respected for her devotion to an ideal point of view grounded in fact and her surety that right will triumph. As an influential writer, Miss Ward is known for her clarity and aim in helping people to understand the problems confronting the world. Furthermore she has great powers of public speaking and is magnetic on the lecture stand. Miss Ward is much in public demand, and is greeted with great acclaim wherever she goes. Colby has sought to bring her here for six years, and it is a triumph for the college to do so at this time.

Miss Ward, who was cited as "one of the most widely read and most influential persons in the entire Western world," when she received an honorary LL.D. degree from Smith College in 1949, has been the foreign editor of the British weekly "Economist" since 1940. A governor of the British Broadcasting Corporation since 1946, and a former member of its celebrated "Brain Trust" discussion panel, Miss Ward is known to Americans as a lecturer not only on economic topics but on the role of Catholicism in the modern world. She is also the author of the book "The West at Bay," in which she advocates the formation of a Western-European economic union.

Miss Ward was born in York, England in 1914. She received her schooling at the Sorbonne in Paris and graduated from Oxford with highest honors in politics, philosophy, and economics. She then accepted a post graduate Vernon Harcourt scholarship which enabled her for the next three years to spend most of her summers abroad, studying conditions in several countries, among them Italy and Austria, while giving university extension lectures during the winters to workers' groups. In 1935, appeared her first book, a brief study of the colonial question entitled "The International Share-Out," which attracted the attention of Geoffrey Crowther, editor of the "Economist." He invited her to contribute articles on foreign affairs to that periodical; and in 1939 she joined the regular staff of the weekly.

Miss Ward, whose socialism is described as "mitigated by her strong Catholicism" is, she declares, "a believer in planned economy, with more thought for the content of policy, for its purpose and therefore for priorities, than for structure." A co-author of the book "A Christian Basis for the Post-War World" (1941), she also has contributed many articles to various Catholic publications. Her writings are also frequently published in "The Atlantic Monthly," "Harper's Magazine," "Foreign Affairs," and "The Times Magazine."

Barbara Ward made her first visit to the United States in 1942, and returned to study trends of American opinion in 1947. She made numerous addresses, notably on "America's Town Meeting of the Air" and at the New York "Herald Tribune Forum." Her books "The West At Bay" and "Turkey" have been hailed in this country as "informed, intelligent, and impressive." Another book, "Policy For The West" was Colby's Book-of-the-Year several years ago.

Weekend for Campus Chest Has Definite Goal

The Campus Chest Committee, with Pete Lockwood and Carol Conway as co-chairmen, Jane Daib as secretary, Pat Richmond as publicity chairman and Bob Bruce as treasurer, has been planning a full weekend this year for Campus Chest—March 13-17. Cooperation of all Colby students and organizations on campus during this time result in aiding students throughout the world as well as here at Colby. The proceeds of all the events are given to students. Fifty per cent will remain here on campus; thirty of which goes toward Student Government Scholarships and twenty to the "Pop" Newman Loan Fund. The other fifty per cent goes to students off campus; forty to the World University Service and ten to the Negro Scholarship Fund.

Improved Demerit System Instigated

The Women's Student League voted into effect on March 19th a new simplified demerit system. By this revised system, offenses, which previously have been treated singularly, are now put on a cumulative basis. In this system, the women will have much more leeway regarding petty offenses, since no action can now be taken against them until they have been fined ten demerits.

The Women's Student League felt that "campusing" was beginning to lose its effectiveness. The revised demerit system would give a more positive attitude towards penalties, and an opportunity for individual improvement.

Furthermore, the "repeated offenders" of dormitory regulations will now appear before interdorm council when they have accumulated ten demerits, while girls who have forgotten only two or three minor regulations will be more fairly treated. This system will allow the dorm councils to function as house governing bodies instead of as penalty Continued on Page Seven

Senior Agenda Lists Banquet

Heading off a busy round of activities which, along with such things as Comprehensive Exams, will be keeping the Seniors well occupied from now till Commencement, will be the Senior Class Banquet, March 7. To be held at 6 p.m. in Roberts Union, this affair will feature an address by Professor Bershneider of the History Department, who should, per usual, prove quite thought-provoking.

A short business meeting will take place at the banquet, during which reports will be made to the Class regarding Senior commencement activities, the Senior Picnic, Senior Ball, caps and gowns, budget, the class gift, invitation, and the Senior Breakfast. Also, class marshalls will be elected at that time by the class, from a slate of nominations to be presented. All Seniors are cordially invited to attend this Banquet, for which there is no charge.

Variety Show Revised; Roaring '20's Featured

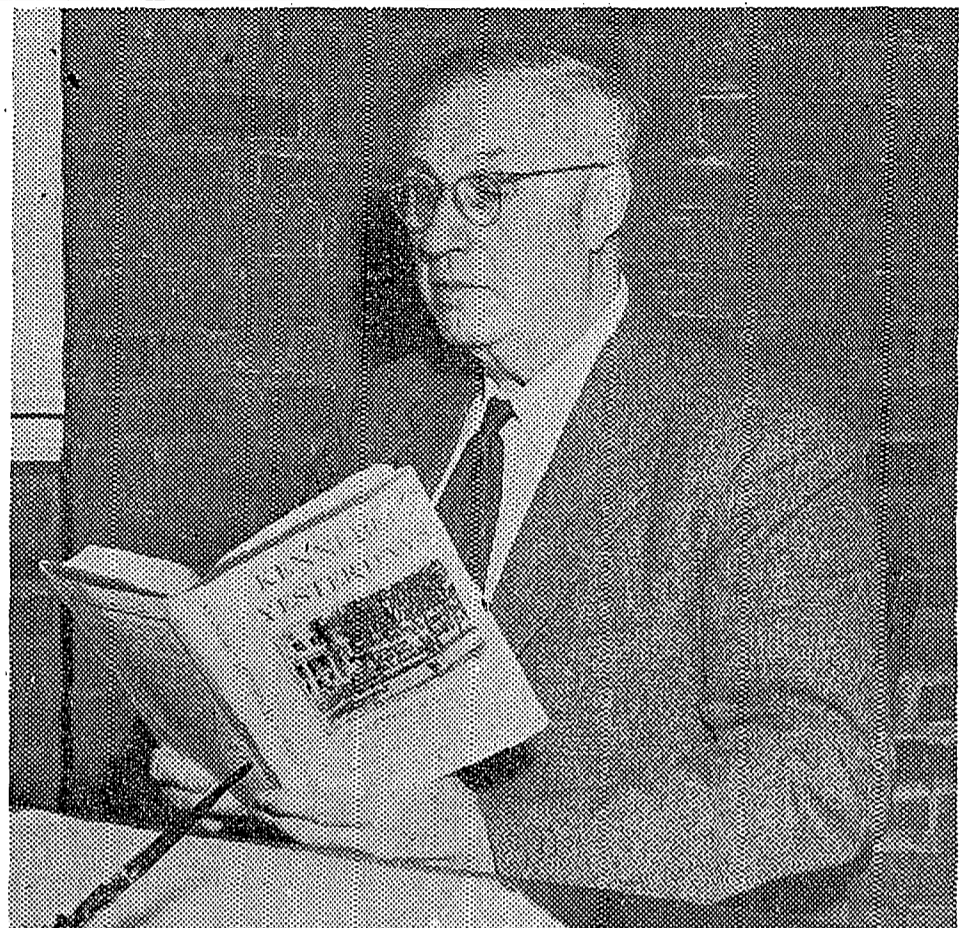

"The Roaring Twenties" is the theme of the fraternity-sorority show to be held on March 16. The Hangout Committee is again sponsoring the show.

This year for the first time the variety show is being planned and directed in affiliation with Campus Chest. Admission will be 50c, while each of the performers will pay 25c. All proceeds will go to Campus Chest. For some time Hangout Committee has been working on the idea of having a central theme, thereby unifying the entire show. Formerly, the production consisted of independent numbers given by each fraternity and sorority with a master-of-ceremonies attempting to keep the show running smoothly.

Several revisions have been made in addition to having a central theme. There will be 13 seven-minute skits given by each of the fraternities and sororities. Each will be limited to a maximum of eight performers. In contrast to the practice of having a master-of-ceremonies, there will be entertainment between the acts. A Grand Finale in the true 1920 fashion with all members of the cast will be included. There will also be a chorus, dance group, and band, all of which will not be confined to members of sororities and fraternities. The show will be set in "Club 57," Colby's version of a "classy" night club typical of the Twenties. Bob Brolli is the dramatic director, while Debbie Robson is the musical director for these between-numbers productions.

The competition will be arranged the same as has been the custom in the past. A committee will judge the best performance of both the fraternities and sororities.

These revisions have been presented to each of the fraternities and sororities.

Dean Marriner Assumes Colby Historian Position

Dr. Cary Writes For Britannica

Dr. Richard Cary, assistant professor of English and advisor for American Literature majors, has received a request from the Encyclopedia Britannica to write an article on Sarah Orne Jewett. Walter Yust, chief editor of the Encyclopedia, has asked Dr. Cary to submit his article for the forthcoming edition of the Britannica.

The request has resulted probably from Dr. Cary's recent book, "Letters of Sarah Orne Jewett," published by the Colby College Press last November. In this book Dr. Cary has edited and commented on the works of one of Maine's foremost female writers, filling in biographical details absent in another book on Miss Jewett.

Dr. Cary has made a study of Miss Jewett's works primarily because of her appeal as a colorful writer, representing late nineteenth century American literature. As the first lady of Maine literature, according to Dr. Cary, Sarah Orne Jewett expresses authentic and genuine feeling in her characterizations and settings. Thus, her works have become a fascinating subject for study and analysis.

Harvard Professor Views Middle East

Bruce Hopper, Associate Professor of Government at Harvard University, will speak on "Russian Policy in the Middle East" in the Gabrielson lecture series on March 5 at 4 p.m. in the Keyes Building.

Mr. Hopper attended the University of Montana before coming to Harvard College. In 1918 he received a B.S. degree and now holds an A.M. and a Ph.D. also from Harvard. His graduate work was done at Sorbonne and Oxford University.

As a specialist on history and politics of the Far East, Mr. Hopper frequently interrupted his teaching career to do work for the government and U. S. Air Force. He was the official historian for the U. S. Strategic Air Forces in Europe and he spent a large part of the war years in the European Theater gathering Continued on Page Eight

President Bixler has announced that Dean Marriner shall retire at the end of this year as Dean of the Faculty and take over the position as official historian for the college. The President stated that, "We find an increasing need for an up-to-date history of Colby, and I can think of no other man more capable for the job than Dean Marriner." The Dean will remain at Colby while writing the history and take up his two English courses, "The History of the English Language" and another to be announced at a later date. No replacement has been announced as yet for the retiring Dean.

Author of "Kennebec Yesterdays" Dean Marriner has served Colby as Librarian, Professor of Bibliography, Professor of English, and Dean of both Men and the Faculty. He has written other books about Maine, the most notable being, "Kennebec Yesterdays," published by the Colby College Press in 1954 and now in its third printing.

The President feels that this history of Colby will be "a social and intellectual contribution to New England." With Dean Marriner's long acquaintance with Colby, "there is no other man for the job." Dean Marriner graduated from Colby in 1913, and has been with the College since 1932.

1963 Goal Set

Aside from the importance of an up-to-date history, President Bixler has the goal of the Development Drive, 1963, in mind. This date will mark the 150th anniversary of Colby College, and will be the date toward which Dean Marriner shall aim with his book. If the development drive is a success, it will be most important and natural that we should have a good history on hand.

Born in Bridgeton, Maine in 1891, he has spent most of his life in the State of Maine. While at Colby he was president of the senior class, a specialist in weights for the track team, and a debater. He was a member of Alpha Tau Omega and Phi Beta Kappa. The Dean is now the chairman for the State Board of Education, on which he has served since 1949. He was President of the New England Colleges Admissions Board, 1936-45; and is a trustee of Coburn Classical Institute; Higgins Classical Institute and Leo Academy. Besides "Kennebec Yesterdays," he is the author of the "History of Hebron" (1921); "Jim Connolly and the Fishermen of Gloucester" (1929).

A Gift for Colby

"For Colby girls now and to come the alumnae and the friends have given this building to Colby College." This quote, found on the plaque to the right of the entrance of the Women's Union aptly explains the purpose of the Union. Under the direction of Miss Louise Flanders and the newly created Women's Union Committee, the facilities of the Union have been expanded to include both men and women of Colby in its plans.

It seems ironical to hear so frequently the lament that Colby offers nothing in the way of recreation and relaxation on open weekends. Too bad more students haven't come to realize the value of this "new" building. For it is literally a "new" building. More than a place to scribble out a few soc notes or cram for a listening quiz, the Union is a place for the recreation of Colby students. Miss Flanders has recently invested in a completely new set of kitchen utensils, crowned the addition of a new range and refrigerator. Merely by signing up for the use of this equipment anyone can have the use of them. Adjoining the kitchen is one of the loveliest rooms on campus, Smith Lounge. It can readily facilitate all kinds of card games, chess, checkers, and scrabble. The newly purchased hi-fi phonograph is well supplied with LP's. The gym is open for badminton, shuffleboard, and ping pong.

Another part of the program is the weekly Friday afternoon tea. Faculty and students are encouraged to come for informal out-of-class conversation and the inevitable game of bridge, along with tea and cookies.

Miss Flanders has gone to no small expense of time, effort, and money to provide these opportunities. The Union was built for a purpose, as indicated in the plaque. Miss Flanders has interpreted its meaning well. What the Union has to offer is there for the asking. All you have to do is ask.

Letter to Editor

Dear Sir:

In an age possessing the power of inthinkable destruction, it must be the primary concern of every citizen of this country to establish international understanding, and to abolish the ever-present possibility of war. The United States today is in a position to lead the way towards peace, and it must meet this grave responsibility. We feel that our present foreign policy, founded as it is on the struggle to maintain supremacy, is leading us towards, rather than away from, war. The outcome of every arms race in history has been war, and this one is carrying us headlong in the same direction. The accumulation of military strength implies the threat of using that strength as a means for protecting our interests. It is unthinkable that we fully intend to unleash the destructive powers of our atomic weapons on even our most bitter enemies. Yet even if we do not intend this, and our threat is a bluff, it is naive to suppose that this bluff will not eventually be called. When it is called, we will be compelled to carry out our threats, and the use of arms will cease to be a bluff. It will be a necessity. Our race for military supremacy draws us inevitably to the use of military power.

Our military policy has repeatedly failed to achieve its objectives. China and northern Indo-China have both become communist in spite of such a policy; military action in Korea has solved nothing. Communism has continued to spread without regard for military alliances. The growth of fear about us, reflected in the nervous plunge into accelerated military production is an index of this expansion. We must come to the realization that our military policy cannot halt this advance. The appeal of communism is ideological. On the front we have failed to meet the communist challenge. Do we feel that we have no strong alternative to offer the new nations of Africa and Asia? We submit that there is much in the democratic ideals of the United States to inspire these new nations. But instead of

Admissions Deep In Applications

by Corky Fitzpatrick

This is the time of year when Mr. Bryan, the Director of Admissions, and his extremely capable staff are definitely pressed for time. From now until the middle of April, when acceptances and rejections are mailed the people in the Admissions Office will be working overtime reading applications, interviewing students and sending out questionnaires.

Last year the Admissions Office handled 870 applications. This was a substantial increase over the number of applications received in 1955. In fact, this large increase created a crisis in the Admissions Office; Mr. Bryan and the Administration had to decide on some means by which the large number of applications from students who were not really interested in Colby could be eliminated. After much discussion, it was decided that, starting in 1956, any student who applied to Colby would be required to take the College Board Achievement Tests

It was also decided that any person who applied for entrance would be asked to submit a five dollar application fee. The Administration felt that these two changes in the application procedure would stop many of the "sight-seers" from applying, while it would not discourage seriously interested students from applying.

As of February 21, Colby had received 621 applications from men and 603 from women. Although this figure is below the total received by this time last year, it is far above the number received by the corresponding date in 1955. The decrease is probably due, for the most part, to the "sight-seer" group mentioned above.

As may easily be seen, the Admissions Office does an extremely important job for the college, for which it definitely deserves to be commended.

I.R.C. Discusses Foreign Policy

The International Relations Club invites the student body to participate in a discussion program devoted to key current issues in American Foreign policy.

The "Decisions" program is one of thousands of groups around the country, including schools, churches, labor groups and civic organizations, radio and television stations.

The idea behind this program is simply to help public opinion play its necessary role in the shaping of American foreign policy. The starting point is current international problems, the eight chosen for this year being as follows: How should the United States compete with Russia? What United States policy

Campus Comment

By GEORGE WELCH

At least superficially, the 1957 Colby Religion Convocation and Religious Emphasis Week, of which that event was the most prominent feature, are now things of the past; however, for those who were fortunate enough to be in attendance at some or all of the meetings of the Convocation, the historical fact of its completion should be overshadowed by its more profound spiritual significance.

Of all the convictions expressed by the various religious leaders who honored us with their presence last week, probably the most fundamental one was the point stressed by Dr. Peter Bertocci of Boston University in his keynote address, "What Do You Seek In Religion?"—that God and man are searching together for greater creativity. His speech began with a sharply defined contrast between two motivating factors basic not only to religion, but also to the larger phenomenon of life itself: the desire for security, and the desire for creativity. As children we experience the desire for security, or rather fear of insecurity; it is fundamental in our lives, and indeed we would not be normal without it. But all too often we fail to overcome this fear of insecurity, and the desire for creativity dies, unfulfilled, as a fear of creativity supplants it. God, however, is creatively insecure in His own way; He too, having created man in His own image, needs to be created; hence man and God together seek creativity in the search we call religion.

At the conclusion of Dr. Bertocci's address I turned to a classmate who had been sitting beside me and found that our minds were running in the same channel; for both of us, having read Aldous Huxley's satirical novel, After Many A Summer Dies The Swan, had immediately associated the speaker's definition of the purpose of religion with Huxley's mouthpiece, William Propter, who felt man should always be striving "to achieve a definite union with God."

While writing this column, I sat back and reflected upon this same speech again, thinking especially of the two types of fear about which Dr. Bertocci had spoken. His words carried me back to an event I have known only through recordings and photographs, yet as well as if I had been there—back to that chilly gray day in 1933 when Franklin Roosevelt stood on the steps of the Capitol and faced Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes to receive the oath of inauguration as President of the United States and then reassured the troubled people of a great nation, humbled by the Depression: "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself . . ."

These are but two of the associations which I have made between my own meager sphere of knowledge and what seems to me the most important single thought expressed in last week's Religious Convocation. Doubtless others of you were more impressed by some other conviction of the many stated, or made, different associations between your own experiences and whatever impressed you most about the Convocation. This is as it should be; diversity is only natural; the important point to be made about Religious Emphasis Week in general and the 1957 Religious Convocation in particular is not the emphasis upon religion, as though it were played down the rest of the time, but the provocation of thought on the part of the individual.

Colby's Honor Societies Phi Beta Kappa

Election to membership in the Phi Beta Kappa Society is generally considered one of the highest academic honors which an undergraduate can attain. Each year, a select group of seniors is chosen to become members of Colby's chapter, Beta of Maine, by a committee of faculty members who belong to the society.

The Phi Beta Kappa Society was founded at William and Mary College in 1776. Chapters were soon formed at other colleges, notably Yale (1780), Harvard (1781), and Dartmouth (1787). Alpha of Maine was established at Bowdoin in 1825. In 1882 a national constitution was drawn up and a Triennial Council instituted to grant charters to colleges that might wish to start chapters.

The Beta Chapter of Maine was formally chartered at Colby by the fifth session of the Council on September 11, 1895. This was the successful culmination of several decades of agitation by students and faculty members for the founding of a chapter. Considerable credit is due to Professor J. William Black, who served on the Colby faculty for over a quarter of a century. At first, students attaining a 90 average and in the top quarter of their graduating class were made eligible for membership. Earlier qualified graduates were also admitted on a retroactive basis. Later, the necessary average was reduced to 88.

The present procedure for admission to the Colby chapter is more complicated. The Recorder presents to the chapter a list of seniors in the top 15 percent of their class at the end of the first semester. Each student's record is examined carefully for distribution of courses and academic progress. The student's faculty adviser and other members of the faculty with whom the student has taken courses are consulted as to the student's intellectual aptitude and interest. His actual record, including mention of any infractions of the college rules, is obtained from his Dean. Each member of the Membership Committee

Chapel Holds Daily Services

Until the move up to Mayflower Hill, chapel at Colby was compulsory for all students once a week. Since then, because of difficulties in the time schedule, chapel has become entirely voluntary. For the first four years on the hill services were held from Monday to Friday under the direction of the chaplain. Two years ago the responsibility of these services was entrusted to the Interfaith Association, which changed the schedule to the present one; Tuesday to Friday 12:05-12:25 p.m.

Canterbury Club, Channing Murray, Colby Christian Fellowship, Hillel, and Student Christian Association are in turn responsible for speakers for one week. The volunteer speakers, drawn from the student body, faculty, local clergy of Waterville and vicinity, and visiting guests, represent various denominations and speak on subjects of their own choosing. Any student or facul-

P. & W's Cast For May 2

"King Lear" has been selected by Powder and Wig for production May 2 and 3. A very ambitious undertaking, "King Lear" has often been compared to "Hamlet" from the standpoint of literary merit and difficulty of production.

Mr. Jellison says Powder and Wig has decided to produce "King Lear" because it represents a great challenge for a small amateur group. It is a play which Mr. Jellison feels Powder and Wig can perform adequately. As the play is not frequently produced in college or community theater, it will be a rare occasion for Colby to see the play.

Like other Shakespearean plays, "King Lear" has a rather complicated plot. The King of Britain, Lear, wishes to retire from the throne, and decides to distribute his holdings to his daughters on a basis of how much each loves him. Goneril and Regan, the two eldest daughters, falsely profess their great love for their father and each is given a large grant. The third, Cordelia, an honest, simple girl tells her father sincerely that she loves him only as any child loves her father. The King is enraged and gives her nothing.

Stu G Reports

The regular meeting of Student Government was held on Monday evening, February 25, in Roberts Union. The Roll Call was given and the secretary's report was read and accepted. The treasurer reported that funds on hand amount to $1,331.35. Loans outstanding are $200. so total assets are $1,531.35.

Pete Lockwood reported that the dates for Campus Chest are March 13-16. The variety show will be held on Saturday night and the fair on Friday, if there is room available for it.

Mr. Whalen will round up the left-handed desks on campus and give them to the janitor at the library p.m.

for the use of those students who want them.

Dean Nickerson reported that comprehensive exams for seniors cannot take the place of the regular spring finals, since they serve a completely different purpose.

A plan was submitted concerning the election of class officers. Instead of the long and tedious class meetings each spring to nominate officers, it was suggested that those interested in running take out nomination papers and get the approval of some of their classmates. The plan will be mimeographed and distributed among the student body before it is rejected or approved.

The meeting was adjourned at 8 p.m.

YES!!!

Here is something for YOU to take note of . . .

The 46,000,000 annual domestic and overseas airline passengers can now nominate their favorite airline stewardesses for the "Miss Spirit of St. Louis" Award as the world's Ideal Airline Stewardess. The Award will commemorate the 30th anniversary in May of this year of Charles A. Lindbergh's epoch-making trans-Atlantic flight. The Award winner, who will be one of the 12,000 stewardesses now working for one of the more than 35 domestic and overseas airlines, will be announced to coincide with the national release of Warner Bros. motion picture, "The Spirit of St. Louis," starring James Stewart.

Passengers can make nomination of their favorite stewardesses simply by sending the names to the airlines for which they work or to the Airline Stewards and Stewardesses Association, 321 West 44th Street, New York City. ANY Colby College "high" flyers can be of service. Please take notice.

On April 20th a stewardess from each airline will be chosen by a preliminary judging committee. These semi-finalists will fly to New York for the final judging in May. "Miss Spirit of St. Louis" will receive, besides the Award, a 1957 Hillman Minx convertible and also will be given a screen test by Warner Bros. Pictures. Both the winner and the runners-up will receive additional prizes including a wardrobe from Fashion Creators of St. Louis.

The judging committee includes Ruth Nichols, the world's most famous aviatrix; Leonora S. Slaughter, executive director of the Miss America Pageant; Ellen Church, the first airline stewardess; James Stewart; and Leland Hayward, who, with Billy Wilder, produced "The Spirit of St. Louis" for Warner Bros. Additional judges will be announced at a later date.

Margaret Graham, of the Airline Stewards and Stewardesses Association, is secretary of the Award Committee.

Dogged & Fiery

by Bill Bryan

The Public Address system rasped, "The game will be delayed ten minutes." One of the downtown alumni suggested, "Guess it was his teeth." Another one commented, with the air of one long accustomed to seeing goalies eat flying hockey pucks, "He'll be back all right!" The crowd moved into the foyer, seeking the warmth which the game had, so far, failed to produce. Then minutes later, a squat, Yogi Berra-type figure, with a patch covering the deep cut and a large space in his mouth where two teeth had stood a short while previously, skated back between the poles of an empty net. The fans thought to themselves, "Another game, just another goalie showing his grit." But is this "just another goalie?" Let's go back—

December, 1955—Alfond Arena—Freshmen hopefuls are greeted by Coach Kelley. They're a pretty fair squad, as small colleges go, particularly for one that has slipped from a top Eastern hockey power in 1940 to an informal status in 1954.

There wasn't a single goalie in the class of 200 men. But there is one person who does come out and volunteer—Robert A. "Tank" Auriemma.

Auriemma Learns Quickly

Experience? None! He didn't even own a pair of skates, and had never been on a pair in his life. Sure, he played football, he was quite a full-back—considering his 5' 6" height and 150 lb. weight—and had played some good football during his high school years at Memorial High in New Jersey.

Yes, Bob tried out for the hockey squad—he stuck to it, and filled the gap. His efforts helped the Colby freshmen to compile a record of 11 and 1.

Now, it's 1956—the varsity is in need of a goalie. Yes, once again, Auriemma fills the bill. He spends his free time down at the rink, always practicing—learning to be at home on the ice. This determined young man works vigorously to learn in a few short weeks what has taken others years of experience to perfect. Once more, through his efforts, the Colby puckmen manage to complete a successful season.

Goalie Is Valuable

True, a winning baseball team necessitates a good pitcher, just as an experienced fullback is needed if a football team is to meet with success on the gridiron. But, go to a hockey game and see what that guy with the pads goes through. Then, you will realize just what this guy "Tank" has done.

Years and years from now you'll have plenty of great goalies, to remember, along with a host of other Colby sports standouts. There will be many, but it would be hard ever to match or forget "the Tank's" example of team spirit and determination!

Varsity Pucksters Vanquish M.I.T.

Cambridge, Feb. 22—Last Friday, the Colby Mules traveled to Boston to play M. I. T. The Engineers were no match for the sharp shooting Mules, who netted 7 goals. As usual, the Colby team collected many penalties and played about a third of the game shorthanded. There was a good-sized Colby crowd from the Boston area cheering for the pucksters. They had plenty to cheer about as Vigue and Megathlin each collected two goals and Church, Coto, and Keltie each tallied one apiece. Colby led 6-0 before M. I. T. scored twice. Colby scored late in the third period to make the final score 7-2. The Mules were aggressive and clever, and played commendable hockey in preparing for their big tilt with a Boston powerhouse—Northeastern.

Mule Stickmen Trip Northeastern With 3rd Period Comeback Surge

Waterville, Feb. 23—Probably one of the most exciting athletic events ever to take place on the Hill happened last Saturday night as the Colby hockey team tore back from a 2 goal deficit, ten minutes from the final buzzer, and scored 5 goals to upset Northeastern, 8-5. As characterized by many of Jack Kelly's players throughout the year, determination and inspiration played a major role in this almost insurpassable task.

The first period flashed with outstanding hockey, as both teams played at a terrific pace. Before the large, enthusiastic crowd had a chance to take their seats, Sophomore Bob Keltie tapped in Dick Morrison's rebound to put Colby ahead. Colby dominated the play for the next 15 minutes and bombarded the Northeastern goalie. Finally, Colby's great captain, Guy Vigue stickhandled through the defense and shot cleanly past the hapless goalie. Only two minutes later, the Keltie-Morrison combination clicked again with Keltie notching his second goal of the night. Ray Bell scored for Northeastern with only 15 seconds left in the first period. Thus the first period ended 3 to 1.

The second period was unlike the first, in that the game was dominated by defensive hockey. Fox and Cote thrilled the crowd with their bruising checks. Colby seemed to fall into momentary lapse as the Mules were unable to get the puck out of the zone. Where the defense and forwards seemingly failed, Colby's goalie held the fort successfully. Bob Auriemma foiled many Northeastern drives. He had many saves, some flat on his back. Truly, his exhibition of goal tending was spectacular. Yet the best part of the game was still to come.

In the hectic third period, Northeastern's powerful cogs started to move. Within the 8 minute mark, Wenham and Cavanaugh, both all-New England choices, proved their selection by putting on a dazzling display of hockey, with Wenham getting the hat trick in 8 minutes and giving Northeastern a 4 to 3 lead. At the 14 minute mark, Cavanaugh seemingly put the game on ice by pushing one past Bob Auriemma. The crowd also sensed defeat and started to moan. However, the Mules, still determined to get this big one, fought back brilliantly and almost chilled a dazed crowd by their startling comeback. Bob Keltie, collecting his third goal of the night, swept in front of the goalie and made it 5-4 at 15:02. Only 46 seconds later Don Megathlin let go a twenty foot blazer that the goalie never saw. The Mules caught fire as Megathlin tied the score in this great battle. Dick Morrison, playing his greatest game for the Mules showed his potential by scoring three quick goals within three minutes. After Dick made the score 6-5 the crowd yelled and screamed in excitement. However, Dick still applied the pressure and before the crowd finished cheering for his first goal, he had scored two more making the final score 8-5. This victory increased Colby's hockey prestige tremendously by knocking off one of the best teams in the East. The followers of Jack Kelly's Mules talked about this win all week, but let them prepare for another battle of two hockey powers this Saturday. West Point, ranked high in hockey circles, will play here on March 2 at 7:30, and this promises to be just as exciting as the Northeastern game. The powerful cog of this outfit is Rod O'Connor and Dick Hickey, both outstanding players. But the Military Academy will have plenty of trouble in stopping the Mules.

Mules Edge Bates Clinch Series Title

Lewiston, Feb. 22—The old Gray Mule "ain't" what she used to be but Lee William's boys can still take good care of any quintet in the State of Maine. By downing the Bates Bobcats 72-69, Colby annexed her seventh consecutive Maine State Series title and her Eighth in the last nine years. It might be added that Bates, Bowdoin, and Maine face no apparent alleviation since half of the squad is composed of experienced sophomores who will pace the team for the next two years.

Colby started slowly and trailed by five points at the half, but took the lead at the five minute mark of the second half and they were never headed, although it was touch and go to the wire. Charlie Twigg had 19 points to lead all the scorers while Larry Cudmore had 15, Tony Ruvo had 13, and John Edes contributed 12.

Sparked predominantly by the deadly set shots of Jackie Hartlib, Bates appeared capable of springing an upset, but Twigg and Edes quickly got things under control. Hartlib tallied 14 points and Bobby Burke led the Bobcat attack with 18. A basket and two converted foul shots by Bob Kopchans with two minutes remaining put the game out of reach. Once again, it's hats off to Coach Lee Williams, Captain Charlie Twigg, and each member of the team for successfully defending the State Championship.

St. Doms High Defeats Frosh

Waterville, Feb. 23—The Colby Frosh suffered its fifth loss of the season as St. Doms High School avenged a previous loss by beating Colby 4 to 3.

"Mo" Paradis was the big gun for the visitors as he got two goals in the first period to give St. Doms a lead they never relinquished. Bob Fontaine scored the other two goals for the winners. At 4:19 of the second period Bob Tait sent Ray Paradis in cleanly with a nice pass and Ray flipped the puck over the sprawling Dick Coto to put Colby back in the game. Colby kept pressing, trying to get the equalizer, but could not click on any of its passes. The Colby hopes were dimmed considerably when at 19:48 of the period, John Judge was banished to the bastille for hooking, and at 19:59 Fontaine poked in a rebound from just outside the crease to put St. Doms ahead 3 to 1.

In the final stanza the Baby Mules kept the pressure on to score two goals, but the boys from Lewiston also tallied one to keep the score in their favor. Tait scored at 4:06 of the period with an assist going to Paradis, but Fontaine got his second goal shortly after that to keep the visitors ahead. Don Whitney scored the final goal for Colby late in the period.

St. Doms High Defeats Frosh

Waterville, Feb. 23 — The Mules have undoubtedly dominated State Series play, as their record of recent years have consistently shown. However, compared to their seven wins and one loss within the state, the team could do little better than win five and lose ten outside the state. It is true that Colby has tackled some pretty tough clubs for their out-of-state competition. Connecticut, Dartmouth, and Brandeis rank among the top quintets in New England. But the Mules fell to their worst defeat of the season in being blasted by a St. Michael's powerhouse, 87-51. The thirty-six point spread is indicative of the complete dominance of the Purple Knights. Kuchar, Grotkowski, Dornmead, Cieplicki and company scored pretty much at will and the outcome was never really in doubt. Billy Kuchar hit on nine of his twenty field goal attempts. Hank Grotkowski, a candidate for all New England honors was seven for thirteen and Bernie Cieplicki tallied on ten of his seventeen shots from the floor. Twigg country is founded. Can we talk to the Arabs about democracy and freedom while still supporting the absolute monarch King Saud? With our military outlook we cease to view the nations of Asia and Africa as homes of human beings to whom our moral standards apply. This very way of thinking will lose the respect, friendship, and cooperations of these nations for us.

We have just witnessed another colossal failure of policy based on military force. Let us not repeat the mistakes of Britain and France in the Middle East. Such action will cripple us in the ideological struggle, and place us in immediate danger of the total war which we cannot afford.

To our militaristic foreign policy is now to be added the Eisenhower doctrine committing us to military involvement in the Middle East. Expression of public opinion received by mail in Washington has been eight to one against such an involvement. We feel it our responsibility as citizens of the United States to add to this manifestation of opinion. As students we have the unique opportunity to do so. If you feel as we do:

- 1) Write individual letters to your senator, expressing your views.
- 2) Urge your student government to draft a petition against our policy in the Middle East, to be sent to the President.

MESSAGE to Botany majors: today's lesson is easy. No spore lore, plant cant or stalk talk. Just the fact that Luckies' fine tobacco is A-1 Puff Stuff! This information won't help you graduate, but it'll cue you to the best smoking you ever had. You see, fine tobacco means better taste. A Lucky is all fine tobacco . . . nothing but mild, good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste even better. Why settle for less? You'll say a Lucky is the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

STUDENTS! MAKE $25

Do you like to shirk work? Here's some easy money —start Stickling! We'll pay $25 for every Stickler we print—and for hundreds more that never get used. Sticklers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. (Don't do drawings.) Send your Sticklers with your name, address, college and class to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Luckies Taste Better

"IT'S TOASTED" TO TASTE BETTER . . . CLEANER, FRESHER, SMOOTHER!
