Miller to Present Ski Film 'Anyone For Skiing?' Feb. 6

One of the most spectacular spills ever recorded on film, according to Warren Miller, international ski photographer, is that of Buddy Werner, during the National Downhill Championships at Aspen, Colorado last year. This is only one of the many outstanding features in the 1958 Warren Miller movie production, "Anyone For Skiing?" The movie will be shown on Thursday, February 6 at 8 p.m. in Women's Union. Miller will personally narrate this color film. General admission will be $1.00, advanced student sales, $.50, and $.75 at the door.

"Anyone For Skiing?" covers the latest and funniest in skiing from Southern California to Maine, and from Anchorage, Alaska to Champlain, France. The new Welden ski technique is demonstrated in the film by a young Frenchman, Guy Arpin. In this demonstration, Miller shows the evolution of this

Carnival Queen to Undergo Rigors of New Judging Plan

The method of selecting the Winter Carnival queen this year will be different from that used in the past. This new method will for the first time allow the independent men to put up a candidate.

Instead of having the student body vote for the queen, the candidates, chosen by each fraternity and the independents, and their escorts will be given a dinner at the Jefferson Hotel. They will be seated at three tables. Three sets of judges will rotate among the tables, each set eating one course at each table. Before the dinner, the judges and candidates will spend a half hour getting acquainted. The girls will be judged on looks, poise, and personality.

Judges will be Mr. and Mrs. Ted Shairo, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Brown, and Dr. and Mrs. James Pullin. Mrs. Pullin has been connected with the Miss Maine and Miss America contests. No faculty members or persons connected with the school were selected as judges to insure complete impartiality.

The judges will vote by secret ballot; ballots will not be opened until just before the dance to keep the result a complete surprise. Mrs. Pullin has drawn up the criteria on which the judging will be based.

In the past independent men have not been allowed to nominate a candidate for queen since that candidate would win automatically because of the large number of independent votes. Last year they asked and were refused. This year they may put up a candidate by getting a petition signed by 50 independent men and submitting it to the Winter Carnival committee. Anyone having any questions concerning queen elections should direct them to Chris Rand or Dick Russell.

Portland Symphony To Offer Re's Composition

The first public performance of a composition by Peter Re, assistant professor of music at Colby, will be given Wednesday evening, January 22, by the Portland Symphony Orchestra. "Variations on Airs by Supply Belcher," composed by Mr. Re is based upon melodies in Belcher's work, "The Harmony of Maine," printed in 1794. Soon after joining the Colby faculty in 1951, Re became interested in known." This interest in Belcher took Re to Farmington, Belcher's home town, where he probed further into the history of the composer.

A former student of the famed Paul Hindemith at the Yale University School of Music, Re has had his works played at Town Hall, the Berkshire Music Center, Juilliard School of Music, and Columbia University.

Attilio Poto will direct the Portland Symphony in presenting Mr.

Carnival Comm. Releases Program, Theme of Weekend

"Flights of Fancy" will be the theme for the annual Colby College Winter Carnival on February 14, 15, and 16. "Flights of Fancy," a culmination of ideas since last January, is taken from Mike Todd's "Around the World in Eighty Days." It was chosen as a challenge to the imagination of the fraternities and sororities participating in the snow sculpture, one of the events of the Weekend.

Winter Carnival will officially begin Thursday night, February 13 at Lorrimer Chapel where there will be a concert featuring the Colby Eight and other prominent guests.

A buffet dinner in Foss Hall, and Louise Coburn will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, February 14. At 9:00 that evening, the Winter Carnival Ball will be presented in the Women's Union. Lester Lanin will play at Colby for the first time. The band recently received a seven-page spread in "Life" magazine and is among America's most popular dance bands. Favors will be given to girls attending the dance.

Decorated in accordance with the theme, "Flights of Fancy," three hundred yards of material will be used to drape the gym. Another interesting feature of decoration will be the four hundred seventy-five lights that will be used under an indirect lighting plan. Of these lights, none will be spotlights or white. If a student prefers a nightclub atmosphere to that of a ballroom, the Carnival Committee has also made provision for a decorated nightclub above the gym in Dunn Lounge of the Union. A Lester Lanin accordionist will be present to play requests. Decorations will coincide with "Flights of Fancy." Cider and doughnuts will be served in Foss at 1:00 a.m.

"Dark of the Moon," a drama based on "The Ballad of Barbara Allen" will be given by Powder and Wig on February 5, 6, and 8. Written by Howard Richardson and William Burney, it is a play with music set in the hills of North Carolina.

Brad Sherman and Barbara Sondern play the leads. Supporting them are Ralph Weston, Libby Latham, Penny Dean, Sue Sandy, Jay Smith, John Baxter, John Curtis, Jan Haskins, Anne Kimsey, Edward Hill, Hugh Nator, James Dullison, Daniel Yett, Dixie Mack, Douglas Miller, Carolyn O'Brien, Jean French, and Warren Weltzman.

Mr. John McKenna, Colby librarian, is calling the folk dances. Dave Adams will play the accordion and Ned Adams, the banjo. Jack Russell will sing "The Ballad of Barbara Allen."

According to Dr. Irving Suss, the director, "Dark of the Moon" is an authentic piece of American folklore. It has had a long run on Broadway and has been on television often. Each time it is received with immense acclaim."

The course in American Thought (Philosophy 352) which was formerly given by President Bixler, will be offered again this semester. It will be taught by Prof. Laurens H. Seelye, formerly president of St. Lawrence University. Open to juniors and seniors without prerequisite, the course will be conducted as a seminar from 7:00 to 9:30 on Tuesday evenings.

Further changes in curriculum include English 316 which will meet MWF at 11 a.m. and TTS at 10:00 and English 352 which will be held on MW from 11:00 to 12:15 and TT from 1:30 to 2:45.

No new courses are being offered. Students must see their advisors to find out how room assignments, etc.

"Scratching the Surface"

To attempt to include all the thoughts of the retiring Editor and Managing Editor about the Echo in one editorial is extremely difficult. We are limited to a few words in passing, and must only scratch the surface of our feelings and convictions.

"Scratching the surface" is a good thought when we come to view what we have tried to accomplish as officers of this newspaper. It is all that we have been able to do; but when we consider the new officers of the Echo, we feel confident that what we have done will be perpetuated in a way which will help to make the Echo a newspaper of which the students of Colby will be proud.

Among the improvements we have attempted to initiate are some which the students never actually see. The Echo now discusses each issue individually with its staff reporters to insure complete coverage of all college events. Our news from the administrative circles no longer comes from one source, but from the offices in the Library which are now covered by a specific reporter. There has been an emphasis on humorous informative stories about things and events which the students know relatively little. Faculty members who have been associated with newspapers have been invited to attend the weekly discussions to criticize and suggest.

To us our most important contribution has been the establishment of an Editorial Board, comprised of five of our best writers and most rational thinkers. This Board will support and assist in the policies and decisions of the editors. The Board will, with the editors and business manager, form the nucleus of a stronger and more valuable newspaper than ever before.

The weekly trek to the Echo office has been an integral part of our Colby existence. Naturally we are sorry to leave, particularly now as technical improvements are progressing and the staff is improving. We are satisfied, however, to have done our best as often as possible, and to leave the best possible combination of people to continue to publish a weekly newspaper.

Big Weekends?

Time becomes out of proportion at this time of the year. All of a sudden January is over and a new semester lies fresh and new ahead. First to appear on the unblemished calendar is Winter Carnival. That is why it is not too early to give a few thoughts to this weekend even though January is barely half over.

Ever since last January the Carnival Committee has fought, thought, compromised, solved, and has decided to let the imaginations of Colby students run wild around the theme "Flights of Fancy." Behind every plan and innovation that the Committee drew up was the sole thought to provide a weekend wherein every student would be sure to enjoy himself to the utmost. Doesn't it seem rather an unnecessary shame that if this weekend does not go over all future big weekends will no longer come near the calibre of present big weekends?

For four days the campus will be enveloped in an atmosphere of fantasy and imagination of far away places. Atmosphere is being unusually stressed, particularly at the ball and night club. In these four days a variety of events will be available to all students and guests for $6.00. That amount would hardly suffice for one night of similar entertainment in Boston. In fact, when you think of it, $6.00 really will not go very far towards having an exceptionally lavish and entertaining weekend, except at Colby the weekend of February 13-16.

Naturally we are interested in the success of Winter Carnival. But the weekend will speak for itself. Here is, perhaps, the last chance to prove that you can get something for virtually nothing.

The Big Balloon

by Jackie Bendelius

As the big balloon drifted lazily across Kennebec County, its passenger peered eagerly through binoculars. "Ah, there it is! Some other balloons are already there." The "it" was a colony of some 20 brick buildings crowning a hill outside of the thriving metropolis called Waterville.

The passenger aimed the gas-filled bag in that direction and slightly deflated the balloon to prepare for landing. He passed several other similar vehicles perched in somewhat precarious positions. "They must be rather poor pilots," thought he, "and what an inconvenience to have to climb down from a roof after landing. Tsk-tsk. I shouldn't have too much competition."

He had a little time to study the location before landing on what appeared to be a football field. The steady stream of traffic leading west alleviated the man's fears that the place might be deserted. He trudged through the snow in that direction. Soon he came upon four massive white piles which appeared to be sculptures. Before he could muse upon this subject, he was pushed along by a group of nattily dressed young men, which then divided into four directions.

The stranger contemplated a bit, then, noting the men and women heading toward a building on his right, decided to follow. Once inside, there was a vast confusion of people, coats, and cigarette smoke. Making his way straight ahead he entered an enchantment of lights and music. Ahead a man was holding a crown and announcing, "It is my pleasure to present to you, the winner, . . ." At that moment the stranger noticed the elaborately decorated balloon in the center of the floor. Turning to the nearest couple, he asked, "You mean the race was today, and the winner is a woman?"

"I don't know what you're talking about, mister. This is Winter Carnival."

So the man remained all weekend and had a ball and he didn't even care that he'd missed the race.

Letter to Editor

Dear Sir:

It was remarked to me the other day that much of what is wrong in the world and in the United States is the fault of our government. This may be a good observation, but upon deeper reflection it appears inadequate.

"Government of the people, by the people, and for the people" is a well worn quote, but it contains the essence of what I have to say. If as it is assumed that democratic, representative government is the people, then any good ideas or laws must ultimately be a reflection of the desires of the people. After all don't the voters elect our senators and representatives? The people of voting age have a chance both in the primary and regular elections to select the persons who best represent their opinions. Accordingly government officials who act in a poor manner or unintelligently are only there because the voters put them there. If there is in our government poor leadership, it is a reflection of the people's judgment if they bother to judge at all.

A more basic condition in our country is shown by the often heard statement "Let the other guy do it." Is not the speaker of that statement the "other guy" to someone else? Unless each individual in our society gets down to work to discover what the political facts and opinions are we will never have good government. Is not the public knowledge of political matters, or any other merely the sum of many private knowledges?

CAMPUS COMMENT

by ARTHUR GOLDSCHMIDT

The following is part of a letter from Art Goldschmidt, one of our students who is spending his junior year abroad at the American University of Beirut, Lebanon.

"I suppose you all would be interested to hear about some of my observations on the Middle Eastern system. I am certainly no expert—indeed, I am more confused than I was when I came. Nevertheless, I have been able to get at least a fuzzy picture of the Arab side of the controversy, and since this is the side generally slighted by the American press, I shall give it to you unreservedly. First of all, it is the opinion of all Arabs, Syrians, and Armenians living in this part of the world that Israel, not International Communism, is their principal enemy. Israel, they claim, has a policy of imperialistic expansion as evidenced by the invasion of Gaza last fall (which even we admit was an act of aggression, however justified by Nasser's threat to Israeli security). America was the first country to recognize Israel and has been supporting that country against the Arabs for the last nine years. The Eisenhower Doctrine is clearly intended as a method of forcing the Arab nations to follow the United States policy and to become, in fact, satellites of the Western Powers. It is to the best interests of the Arabs not to accept any aid from the West to which political strings may be attached, but rather to side with any nation that will support them against Israel. In all probability, most Arab nations will be forced to accept aid from Soviet Russia, as Egypt and Syria have already done. Even if they should be forced to become Soviet satellites, this would be preferable to being (a) dependent on the West for political control and (b) disunited and weak in the face of a threatening Zionist state. Radical Arabs are certain that Hussein will be overthrown in Jordan, that Saud will never become a powerful political figure, and that Iraq will renounce the Baghdad pact in favor of Arab unity. Although Lebanon is currently controlled by such imperialist puppets as President Chamoun, Prime Minister Solh and U. N. Representative Malik, it is expected that pressure from other Arab states will bring about a coup d'etat in Lebanon. Another important matter relates to the Arab refugee problem. As you know, several hundred thousand Arabs left Palestine at the time of the war between Arabs and Jews in 1948. These refugees, most of whom are in Jordan or in Gaza, are still homeless and do not wish to be resettled outside of Palestine without remuneration from the Israeli government for the land that was theirs. Many will settle only for an overthrow of the Israeli government to permit them to return to their homes. If the Jews really can make good their argument about turning a desert into a paradise, why not send them out into the Syrian or Arabian desert and let them prove their boast there on uninhabited soil. Another suggestion of equal merit is that they should be allowed to set up a Zionist state on American soil. The Syria-Turkish border dispute is, as far as I can figure out, an invention of Damascus designed to give an excuse for arming the people of Syria to overthrow the other Arab governments if possible. For a brief period, this scare was fanned by angry words from the Kremlin about Turkey's being a tool for American "imperialism." The big lie collapsed, but Syria is still trying to manufacture a scare, and my Armenian friends tell me that every Syrian boy over sixteen in Aleppo now has a machine gun "in case of a Turkish invasion." I suppose we can not hope for anyone . . . to act reasonably at this point. It appears likely that the entire Middle East, including Israel, will be under Communist domination by 1960. By 1970, my radical Arab friends may see the truth, but I doubt that it will do them any good. By the way, I read in the Beirut, French paper, Orient, that Israel has just suggested a compromise by which part of the refugees would be allowed to return to their homelands and the rest would be given remuneration, in return for which diplomatic relations between Arab and Israeli would be established. As you can easily guess, the Arab states refused, preferring to carry on their political battle by using the refugees as material for propaganda against the West.

"This, by the way, is intended to give you some idea of Arab sentiment among the American University of Beirut students with whom I have spoken. Of course, there are also Syrian Nationalists, who wish to set up a unified Syrian state consisting of Syria, Lebanon, Jordan, Iraq, and Palestine. These students dislike both Nasser and Saud, favor close ties with the West. The Armenians are divided, but all hate Turkey and dislike the U. S. for arming the Turks. There are also Communists, and liberals favoring the West, of course, but it is probable that the Nasser-style Arabs have the greatest popular appeal here."

If there is a responsibility to be mountain of political information placed for the mess the world is in under our finger tips and the in-today, it is not our government but intelligence to deal with it. us, not just our parents, but we college men and women who have a

Dean Strider Back From Two Florida Ed. Councils

Dean Robert E. L. Strider returned last week from Miami, Florida, where he represented Colby at two conferences from January 6 to 9.

The first was the Association of American Colleges. It is an organization made up of colleges, not of people, and usually each president represents his college at the conference, which meets to discuss and decide college policy. The big issue discussed this year was to promote a program of federal aid to education and to urge the support of Congress in this program. Dean Strider also attended the American Conference of Academic Deans where a complete day was devoted to the discussion of ways to improve teaching methods.

Before returning, Dean Strider was present at a dinner meeting of the Education Division of the American Baptist Convention. At this meeting were representatives of many colleges that are connected in some manner with the Baptist Church.

Dean Striders TV Lecture Series Well Accepted; Lasted Fifteen Weeks

A recent letter to Dean Strider expressed only one criticism of his lecture series on American literature. A New Hampshireite felt the program should be one hour long instead of a half hour. This seems to be the general opinion of many viewers in Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont.

Other viewers have expressed the lack of cultural advantages in rural areas. They welcome a chance to view the program each Sunday.

These programs are sponsored by the Colby College Division of Adult Education. Robert E. L. Strider, dean of faculty, began the series on American literature on September 8, lasting 15 weeks. The course is offered mainly to assist teachers in earning graduate credits, but many view it for enjoyment.

Dean Strider attempted "to trace certain recurrent themes through American literature and show how American literature from meager beginnings has grown to be recognized as one of the most vital literatures of the modern world."

He found it very difficult to mention all the writers he wished to in a half-hour lecture. It was hard to select even a few on which to dwell. He tried to compromise by giving single lectures on several individual figures. He talked on five in the 19th century: Emerson, Thoreau, Hawthorne, Melville, and Whitman. The authors from the 20th century were T. S. Eliot and Faulkner.

Dean Strider found lecturing before the impersonal lens of the TV camera far more difficult than before a class.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT REPORTS

The Student Government meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. on Monday evening, January 13. The secretary's report was read and approved. It was reported that total assets amount to $1,691.64.

Beryl Scott reported on a conference that will be held the weekend of February 8 at Regis College. Eight people showed an interest in attending the meeting.

Mike Flynn reported that on the weekend before Christmas vacation $18.25 was made on the movie. Last weekend $49.25 was made in profit on "La Symphonie Pastorale."

Bob Brolli attended the meeting to ask for an advance of $250 from Student Government to pay a special entertainer for the Saturday afternoon of Winter Carnival weekend. The group voted to advance this sum to the carnival committee.

President Archie Twitchell presented a suggested increase in the activities fee for next year, including $1 for a social sinking fund, $.50 for Radio Colby, $.20 for Cap and Gown and Blue Key, and $2 for the foreign student fund.

The meeting was adjourned at 8 p.m.

Beginning Saturday afternoon, February 8, and continuing for five weeks a Red Cross instructor's course will be conducted at the Boy's Club. Interested students should sign up with Helen Payson, Mary Low, or Terry Mayo, KDR.

Colby Crowds Bobcats To Move Into Front

Colby snapped a five game losing streak and at the same time moved into sole possession of first place in the hotly contested state series by nipping Bates 58-57 at the losers court.

The Mules led most of the way but had to stave off several Bobcat rallies to post their fourth win of the campaign. Although a low scoring contest, there was plenty of action as the two teams engaged in one of the most thrilling games of the season.

Colby held a one point lead at intermission to make it stand up as both squads tallied 26 points in a wild second half.

Bob Burke, ace scorer of the Bobcats, missed two free throws with two minutes to go that would have put his team ahead. Ed Burke then clinched the Mule victory by converting two foul shots.

Playing in end basketball, Colby never held more than a 5 point lead. They hit on only 20 out of 66 shots from the floor while Bates hit 17 out of 54.

Eddie Marchetti and Leon Nelson, both sophomores, paced the Mules attack, garnering 14 points apiece. Lloyd Cohen committed 4 fouls in the first half and he saw little action the rest of the way but Grant Hendricks did a neat job filling in, scoring 8 points.

Varsity Six Annihilates MIT Pucksters, 10-0

Cambridge, January 10 — The Colby varsity hockey squad pounded a less experienced Massachusetts Institute of Technology club to the tune of 10-0, here tonight. Led by the highly potent Dick Morrison who blasted home five goals, the Mules completely dominated play. Morrison, who has turned the hat trick in the last three consecutive games, also got an assist.

The two clubs brought the puck up and down the ice intermittently for the major part of the first period. Although the Mules had the puck in their offensive zone most of the time, Burgue, the M.I.T. goalie, turned back the attack time and time again. Nevertheless, at 13:12, Dick Morrison blasted home the first goal, unassisted, to open the scoring. The first line was replaced and Ray Paradis, on an assist from Howie Cates and Skeeter Megathlin, notched the next one only three minutes later. The second period opened with Colby again playing offensive hockey, but not finding the opportunity to score. Megathlin finally hit the twines after breaking through the defense alone at 5:42. Morrison scored the fourth goal at 14:03 of that period on a pass from Church to Keltie to Morrison and then, in less than half a minute, Church raced down ice, passed to Morrison who flicked it pass the goal tender. Paradis hit for the final goal of the period and his second one of the game at 18:29 on a sharp pass from Captain Cates.

In the last period, Morrison smashed his way for two more goals in the first four minutes on assists from Bob Keltie and Jay Church, respectively. Keltie took a Morrison-Church pass at 12:15 to score the sixth goal for that line and the thirteenth point. Morrison got six points, Church four, and Keltie three. Hank Van Beaver closed out the Mule scoring at 12:47 on a pass from Jack Knowles and Henry Lapham.

The game was not a true test for the Mules but it gave them all the extra playing time they need to finish molding the team into the desired unit.

Colby Vanquish Amherst, 69-64

The White Mules turned in one of their best performances of the season as they whipped favored Amherst, 69-64, in the fieldhouse.

Colby held a 17 point lead at one time in the second half but lack of adequate reserves combined with an Amherst all court press cut the lead to four. The Mules, a weary bunch at the final buzzer, had enough left to stem the visitors attack and gain an impressive victory.

Captain Larry Cudmore, enjoying one of his best nights in recent weeks, and Leon Nelson paced the home team's attack in the first half as the Mules gained a 32-26 edge at intermission. Cohen, Marchetti, and Nelson helped Colby to widen its gap to 52-35 with nine minutes to go in the game. However, Bill Warren, top scorer for the visitors, began to hit regularly and Amherst started to jell as the Colby reserves just couldn't cope with the fast working visitors. Warren wound up as the game's high scorer with 26 points. He was the only man in double figures for the losers.

With three minutes to go, Amherst had closed to within five points, 59-54. With 1:43 to go, Colby was still in front by five, 65-60, and excellent foul shooting by Cohen and Ruvo iced the game for the Mules.

Frosh Edge Out Strong M.C.I.

The Mule Frosh edged out a rugged Maine Central Institute hoop club, 60-57. With their 87-49 over Westbrook High School the next night, they ran their win skein to six straight this year and brought their overall consecutive games won to 22.

The team effort on Colby's part was a consistent one, with three men hitting double figures but no one breaking 20 points. M.C.I. on the other hand, had no player break eight points, save one, Skip Chappelle. Chappelle grabbed himself 35 points to turn a usual Colby dominated game into a closely contested one.

The first half ended 27-26 with M.C.I. out ahead. This marked the first time this year that any team has led the Frosh at the half time and was certainly a challenge that had to be met. The Frosh did just that by heaping on the pressure to grab the win. They finally pulled five points ahead with 90 seconds remaining in the game after exchanging the lead a couple of times. During that last minute and a half, the Frosh kept control of the ball and allowing only one basket.

Although Charlie Swenson and John Kelly got 17 and 12 points, respectively and both rebounded very well, the individual star was easily Chappelle. Unlike most prolific scorers he was not a "gunner" and had a fine field goal percentage. The former Old Town High School ace is the same one who led his team last year to the only victory over the Frosh that any opponent secured throughout the year.

Sophomore Hoopster E. Marchetti garnered first honors of the year for the Colby team when he was selected to the all-Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference basketball team by the Conference for his performance in the Bates, Amherst, and Williams games last week.

The winners had four men in double figures. Nelson canned 21 followed by Cudmore with 15. Marchetti dipped in with 13 points and did a great job defensively on and off the boards. Cohen, playing his usual fine game, hit for 10 points.

Hockey Team Defeated By Lord Jeffs 4 to 2

Amherst, January 11 — The Mule pucksters were downed by a rough Amherst team, 4-2, here tonight. Despite a 2-1 lead with only ten minutes remaining in the game, Colby could not eke out the win.

The game opened with both teams playing aggressive hockey, but neither finding the scoring combinations. Colby goalie Pete MacFarlane turned back the repeated Amherst thrusts into Mule territory while Amherst's Brown held the Mules at bay. Finally, with a minute remaining in the first frame, Don Megathlin flicked in the puck on a pass from Cates to Paradis.

The second period was also tight, but a 7:41 of that period, Hutchinson slapped a shot home on a pass from Van Dusen to knot up the score. The Mules came right back three minutes later when a Bob Keltie-Jay Church pass found the stick of Don Cote, who blasted a lightning shot from the blue line.

The score stood 2-1, with Colby out ahead for the final ten minutes of that period and the first ten of the next. However, Amherst's Hutchinson tied up the game on a pass from Ahactman and Bradford. Van Dusen took a Hutchinson pass at 14:36 to pull Amherst ahead and Amherst's Church ripped through for an unassisted goal at 17:34 to end the game's scoring.

Colby was not up against far superior skaters and stick handlers, Dusen A, Hutchinson 14:36; (6) but rather couldn't manage to score themselves. They fought well enough but couldn't seem to find the scoring combinations. This loss broke their three game winning streak and put them 6-3-1 this season.

Mules Garner Overtime Win Over Williams Five

Colby had to go into overtime to rip a better than expected Williams team, 73-65. This was the Mules second triumph in a row over a "Little Three" opponent and their third successive victory in overall competition. The win brought the Mules mark to 6-7, one game under 500. Both teams had 57 points at the end of the regulation time but Leon Nelson, enjoying another successful night, poured in the first seven points of the overtime to give the Mules a lead they never relinquished.

Down four points in the last five minutes, Colby held Williams scoreless while picking up two field goals to send the game into overtime. Burke hit on a two pointer with 3:20 to go to knot the count at 57-57 and each team stalled the remaining time in an attempt to get the final shot. Cudmore took a shot for the Mules with nine seconds to go and missed. Williams grabbed the rebound, and raced down the floor but they also missed, and the home forces came out strong for the five minute overtime, pumping in 11 points to sew up the victory.

J. B. Morris was the first to score in the overtime to give the Ephmen the lead. Nelson picked up three points to give the Mules the lead but Morris followed with another field goal and Williams led with 4:09 to go. At this point, Nelson and Cohen took over and killed any chance Williams had of taking this one.

The same four players who led Colby to victory on the previous night again paced the attack. Nelson and Marchetti, the two sophomore sensations, had 19 and 17 points respectively. Cohen added 13 points and Captain Cudmore garnered 10. Morris and Parker were the hottest scorers for the Ephmen, caging 20 and 16.

If you answered "No" to all questions, you obviously smoke Camels — a real cigarette. Only 6 or 7 "No" answers mean you better get on to Camels fast. Fewer than 6 "No's" and it really doesn't matter what you smoke. Anything's good enough!

But if you want to enjoy smoking as never before, switch to Camels. Nothing else tastes so rich, smokes so mild. Today more people smoke Camels than any other cigarette. The best tobacco makes the best smoke. Try Camels and you'll agree!

Bids will cost $6.00 a couple and will cover all events. Those not buying a bid will be charged $5.00 per couple for the Winter Carnival Ball, $2.00 per couple for the concert, and $3.00 per couple for the special event.

An award of $50.00 in cash is given to the fraternity which sells the most bids over twenty. There will be a thermometer outside the Spa and one in the upstairs library indicating sales progress. IFC is in charge of tickets and gives each fraternity an allotment. When this allotment is sold out, the fraternities will go to IFC to obtain more.

STUDENTS! MAKE $25

Do you like to shirk work? Here's some easy money—start Stickling! We'll pay $25 for every Stickler we print—and for hundreds more that never get used. Sticklers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. (Don't do drawings.) Send your Sticklers with your name, address, college and class to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mt. Vernon, N.Y.
