Astronomer to Discuss Influences of Galaxies 31 Dinners To Start Fulfillment Program; Drive Begins Wednesday

Tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the Women's Union Dr. Harwood Shapley, as part of the Averill lecture series, will speak on the topic, "Galaxies, and What They Do To Us."

Dr. Shapley has carried on intensive research and investigation in the fields of cepheid variables and globular clusters. In fact, he has recently completed a book dealing with the latter. His work in these two areas has led to a new understanding of the structure of the universe. His discoveries have been so astounding that Dr. Shapley has actually created a revolution in scientific thought. He is foremost in his field and Colby feels fortunate to have this opportunity to hear him lecture.

Born in Nashville, Missouri, Dr. Shapley holds several scholastic and honorary degrees. He received his A.M., A.B., and LL.D. degrees from the University of Missouri and his Ph.D. and Sc.D. from Princeton. From 1914-1929, he was on the staff of the Mount Wilson Observatory in Pasadena, California, and was the director of the Harvard Observatory from 1921-1952. Since 1952 he has held the position of the Paine Professor of astronomy at Harvard University in Cambridge, Massachusetts, and has lectured all over the United States and in many foreign countries. He has received honorary degrees from fifteen universities including those of Copenhagen, Harvard, Honolulu, Mexico, Princeton, and Toronto. The national academies of ten foreign countries have made him Honorary Foreign member, and he has received medals and prizes from the Vatican, India, Mexico, England, and France. He is a member of foreign, national, and local scientific associations and holds the position of President in

John Franklin, Noted Historian To Lecture Here

Coming to Colby on April 15, as speaker for the seventh in the current series of Gabrielson lectures will be John Hope Franklin, professor and chairman of the department of history at Brooklyn College.

Professor Franklin, a native of Oklahoma, received his B.A. graduating magna cum laude from Fisk University in Tennessee. Pursuing graduate studies in history he attended Harvard where he received his A.M. and Ph.D. in 1936 and 1941 respectively. While at Harvard he held the Edward Austin Fellowship from the University and a fellowship from the Julius Rosenwald Fund.

He has taught at Fisk University, St. Augustine College, and the North Carolina College at Durham. In 1947 he became professor of history at Harvard, but resigned in 1956 to take his present post at Brooklyn College.

Spending a good deal of time in Europe, Professor Franklin has lectured over the British Broadcasting Corporation and has participated in forums and discussions in several European countries. In 1955 he was

On April 16, 1958 there will be 30 dinners held simultaneously to start the alumni drive for the Colby College Fulfillment Program. This will be the biggest gathering of alumni, parents and friends in Colby's history. Plans are completed for these kick-off dinners and it is hoped that each will run along similar lines. The purpose is to raise money for the construction of the three buildings which are needed here at Colby. It is hoped that "even by Commencement Colby will receive enough money to assure the construction of at least two of the three buildings." Already the social science and humanities building has been started. The art and music building and administration building will follow.

Leonard W. Mayo is the general chairman of the program. Mr. Millett and Mr. Turner are working here at Colby. To date the total pledge to the Fulfillment Program has reached $860,302.49. It is likely that the program will pass the one million mark by April 16.

The program of the dinners should not last more than an hour. This will include a 30 minute recording in stereophonic sound. This will be the special feature of the evening. The recording, called "Building From Strength," will include Mr. Millett introducing a brief speech by Mr. Mayo. Dr. Bixler will then give the key-note address with accompanying slides of Colby. Following his address, the record will end with "Colbiana" sung by the Colby College Glee Club. The recording has been made successful through the aid of Carleton Brown of WTVL, Waterville, and one or two program directors of the American Broadcasting Company.

President Bixler will preside in person at the dinner here in Waterville. Faculty members will represent the college at all dinners. Before the recording the representatives will give an address.

Attending the Maine dinners, the faculty members will be Mr. Earle McKee in Augusta, Professor Robert Clifford in Bangor, Mr. Arra Garab in Bath-Brunswick, Mr. William Bryan in Belfast-Rockland, Mrs. Phyllis Fraser in Dover-Foxcroft, Mr. Celand Witham in Lewiston, Professor Irving Suss in Livermore Falls-Farmington-Rumford, Professor Wilfred Combellack in Millinocket, Professor Robert Pullen in Presque Isle, Professor Alfred Wisconsin Minister To Preach At Chapel Sun.

Reverend Alfred Wilson Swan will be guest preacher in Lorimer Chapel on Sunday morning, April 13. Presently serving as minister to the First Congregational Church of Madison, Wisconsin, where he has been since 1930, Reverend Swan has served the Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church in Marion, Ohio, from 1922-27, and the Park Congregational Church in Greeley, Colorado, from 1927-30.

Reverend Swan was born in the mission field in South China in 1897. His education included an A.B. degree from the College of Worcester in 1921, and a P.B.K. degree in 1932. Reverend Swan graduated from Union Theological Seminary in New York in 1921 with a B.D. degree. He has received honorary degrees from the College of Worcester, D.D. in 1932, and from Colorado State College in Education, L.H.D. in 1940.

Extremely active outside his local church, Reverend Swan was a charter member of the Council for Social Action of the Congregational Christian Churches in 1934, and served as Chairman from 1940-42. He was assistant moderator of the General Council of Congregational Christian Churches from 1950-52. Additional activities include being a member of the Executive Council of the General Synod of the United Church of Christ in 1957, a member of the Executive Committee of the Board and vice-chairman of the Executive Committee, a member of the State Inter-Board Committee of the Federated Theological Schools of the University of Chicago, a Charter Member of the Governor's Commission on Human Rights from 1945

Mary Ellen Chase Addresses Seniors

Mary Ellen Chase, educator, writer, and frequent visitor to the Colby campus will be the speaker at the 137 Commencement on June 9.

This well known educator, whose specialty is nineteenth century prose writers, recently retired from the staff of Smith College where she was a professor of English Literature. Miss Chase received degrees from the universities of Maine and Minnesota and in 1918 became a professor on the staff at Minnesota until 1926, when she accepted her position at Smith.

Miss Chase was born in Blue Hill, Maine. Her earliest writings, set in this New England background, depict the scenes and people of her childhood.

Director of Swiss Museum Will Visit College This Week

Colby College will have the honor of playing host to the distinguished director of the Bern Historical Museum, Mr. Michael Stettler, during the week of April 14. Mr. Stettler is coming to the United States from Bern, Switzerland, specifically to make this visit to Colby. His trip is being financed by a friend of the college who feels that becoming acquainted with this man will be of great value to Colby students.

Mr. Stettler's contact with and interest in the college was established during the summer of 1957 when President and Mrs. Bixler met him at Bern during their European tour. Mr. and Mrs. Bixler were ex-

Hagerman Heads Stu G Stresses Reorganization

Jean Smith, Gary Hagerman, Ed Tomey, and Keet Arnett.

The new officers of Student Government were installed at the all-college banquet and are now in full charge of the organization. Three of the officers, the president, vice-president, and treasurer, ran on the Active party slate. The platform of this party emphasized a need to reorganize representation in Stu G.

With a change in the representation it is hoped that Stu G will become a smaller, more capable group. In this way the organization could gain more responsibility which it should have. Stu G, under the new plan, would consist of one representative from each fraternity and sorority, four from each girls' dorm, the presidents of the four classes, one representative from Men's Judiciary and Women's Judiciary, and the Stu G officers. Other campus organizations would send representatives whenever the need arose. Any student who is interested in the organization is welcome to attend any meeting.

This new plan will be discussed in Stu G shortly, and will be voted on by the student body if the plan is accepted. A vote of two-thirds of the students would be required as it involves a constitutional change.

The new officers also hope to better inform students about Stu G

Music Workshop To Present An Evening of Music

The Musicians Workshop will present an evening of Renaissance music at 8:00 p.m. on Sunday, April 13 in Lorimer Chapel. The unusual workshop from New York City encourages performers striving for professional standards of proficiency in interest in the college was established. These and other temporarily neglected instruments are the ones on which music of the Baroque and earlier periods was originally performed.

The nucleus of the present shop was established in 1948 by composer and teacher Erick Kutz. Concerts are given for the purpose of performing and promoting interest in music, old and new, suitable for small vocal or early instrumental ensembles. A unique aspect of the Musicians Workshop is its interest in new music written for old instruments.

The group has given concerts at Carl Fisher Hall, Carnegie Recital Hall and on radio. The director of the group is LaNoue Davenport. He was born in Dallas, Texas, in 1922 and went to Texas Christian University on a music scholarship in

Stereophonic Sound To Be A Part of Programs

The newest method of music reproduction, stereophonic sound, will be used in the program at the kick-off dinners to be held on Wednesday April 16 across the country. The sound recording, accompanied by colored slides of Colby, will portray current events at the college.

Speeches by Bill Millett, alumni secretary; Dr. Leonard Mayo, chairman of the fulfillment campaign; and President Bixler are included on the recording. This part of the program will conclude with Professor Peter Re's composition, "Colbiana," which was recorded for this purpose. It is performed by the combined glee clubs. Professor Wendell Ray is supplying the pictures.

Stereophonic sound has been called the greatest achievement in music reproduction since the invention of the phonograph. Having a third dimension, it is capable of producing sound with truer fidelity and realism than hi-fi.

Carleton D. Brown, '33, a Colby trustee, owner of radio station WTVL, and a director of Mt. Washington TV, Inc., suggested the program techniques. He scoured the

The Front Ranks

Colby is now on the eve of a drive which in the words of President Bixler is aimed at moving Colby "into the very front ranks of institutions of its kind." In a courageous and dramatic movement, funds are being sought to complete the college plant and to provide the resources to enable Colby to do its share in meeting the crisis in education, particularly as it applies to enrollment.

Colby moved in 1952 from its original site in downtown Waterville to the 650-acre campus on Mayflower Hill. The plans for the move were formed in 1930, and 1952 saw 21 buildings standing on what had once been the apple orchards outside Waterville, despite a depression, two wars, a recession, inflation, and other such obstacles. In these years example after example of willingness was seen to tackle projects against tremendous odds. It is significant to note that the original campaign for funds with which to erect the new buildings was launched at a kick-off dinner in Boston on the night of March 5, 1933. The very next morning the nation's banks closed. The dramatic decision to relocate and the achievement which followed is one of the greatest success stories in American higher education. Now in 1958 Colby is seeking resources through the Fulfillment Program to meet the increasing needs of the college itself and the entire field of education in general.

The 31 dinners to take place simultaneously throughout the country mark the formal opening of the drive. However, already close to a million dollars has been received in advance gifts. These gifts reflect the confidence and tremendous interest of many people in the college and all that it is doing. Colby has always been able to find strength in a large number of segments of its family. Parents, alumni, faculty, friends, trustees, and students have contributed much of their time and effort, as well as funds, to strengthen the Colby education. Enthusiasm, loyalty, sincerity, vitality, excitement are just a few of the elements which are helping to spark the current drive.

Dr. Johnson once said, "The students are the most important. A college exists for them and them only." The student, as the product of the college, reflects the quality of the institution. We, who so often fail to appreciate our advantages, might well take the opportunity now to look around us and to count our blessings — those we "see" now and those we know are forthcoming.

What Can We Do?

We are a community of 1100 individuals around which much activity has been and is being focused. The great strides which our college has made and is making are due to a group of highly enthusiastic men and women who may owe nothing to the school but their interest and concern.

Next week marks the formal manifestation of the present interest of that group. We as individuals must applaud and encourage their work, which, in the end, benefits not them, but us, the students.

But we in the role of an observe and critic must also look on this in a different light. The great advancement of Colby in the last 28 years has been effected in the face of a frequently indifferent student body, and often with little active support or initiative.

This is a said situation, and makes us wonder if the efforts of these outsiders, be they alumni or interested parties, has been worthwhile. Certainly, if we students have not the interest to use our own talent and energy to use the facilities of the school as they are now, we are unfair in asking others to take further interest.

This may be a very good time to evaluate our position, and to decide how interested we are as students in the future of Colby, and in the resultant betterment of ourselves as individuals and members of society.

The Battle Of Blue Monday

by Leslie Colitt

"The only thing we have to fear is fear itself." Perhaps, but tell that to any of the 300 odd ROTC boys just before inspection on Monday afternoon. Thoughts such as the following run through the minds of many of our earth-bound aviators.

"Wonder what I'll get demerits for this week? Untidy looking uniform? Unlikely, it was pressed last summer. Dirty shirt? No, I've only worn it since October. Well, guess it's time to get down to drill."

GLAZED EYEBALLS

Small groups of cadets are gathered on the field. Suddenly a rash of impressively indistinct commands cut the air, and the show begins. After finding your little 1 x 1 plot of grass, you firmly plant your feet in the prescribed Charlie Chaplin angle and come to attention. Using the buddy system, with malicious pleasure you ignore telling your buddy of his unbuttoned buttons, the dirt on his pant leg, and the dust on his GOC pin. "Everything's OK," you assure him, thinking fiendishly, "the more demerits he gets the better I look." Now the inspecting officers come up to your buddy. They give him a cursory glance and pass on to you. "Must be a soft inspection," you think to yourself. An officer then proceeds to ask you what General commands the SPC (Strategic Poker Command). You take two demerits for not knowing the answer, and admonish yourself for not having paid attention during the bloc on Career Fields in the Air Force. The flight officers now tell the assembled how slovenly their uniforms had looked, but that the flight's eyeballs looked surprisingly good. "I can tell you guys are shining your eyeballs, keep it up. By the end of the year this group might merit the General Luffmensch Award for the ROTC flight with the glossiest eye."

AROUND THE POND

Deeply inspired, the flight now practices a new and very intricate movement—how to form a column of twos from a single file that contains only one man. After forty-five minutes of this, a true-blue U. S. Air Force commissioned officer congratulates us on our proficiency in this maneuver. Now, with that same nature-loving spirit of such great Americans as Emerson, Thoreau, and General Sherman, we are off on our weekly tramp around the pond. Shortly thereafter, having had our fill of the beauty of the Maine countryside, a flash of green on eyes right and a glimpse of the pond on eyes left, we are met with the jeers, whistles, and off beat music of the occupants of Champlin and Small Halls. It is obvious that the mere sight of these bilge-water blue uniforms commands immediate respect and admiration on the part of our students.

PRESENT ARMS

There is yet another impressive military ceremony before we may call it a day. With devastating military irregularity, 300 cadets "Present Arms." Minutes later, cursing to a man, hands fall in wave-like precision to the cry of "Order Arms."—the conclusion to a successful Monday drill. Slowly, the terrestrial aviators return home from battle, proudly clutching their demerit slips—as if they somehow represent an experience worthy of the Croix de Guerre.

The Colby Camera Club is planning to hold an open exhibition during the last week of April. Anyone who desires to participate should submit eight by ten prints as soon as possible. The club will print a negative which anyone would like to have shown for 25 cents. For further information please see Dennis Ting, Kappa Delta Rho.

CAMPUS COMMENT

by Leslie Colitt

Now that the open door and window policy of the Spring is being observed, we cannot fail to become more aware of the sound and activity that emanate from the construction of the new social science building. Although we students are not able to participate in the actual building of this structure, we certainly can take part vicariously. How? Read on, for my plan unfolds slowly.

A few days ago I walked over to the construction shed that serves as the Colby headquarters of the H. P. Cummings Construction Company. Standing outside, I saw a middleaged man who appeared to have some authority in this project. My hunch was right, for Mr. Carroll O. Quincy is the supervisor of this construction job. A Waterville man, he is associated with the Winthrop, Maine branch of this Massachusetts firm. We entered the shed and immediately I inhaled the smell of newly cut lumber. Mr. Quincy informed me that his company is not new to the construction field, having been in the business since 1879. All this time they have built nothing but buildings—not a road or overpass in the lot. He estimates that he has worked on about fifty-six buildings in his years with the company.

I asked Mr. Quincy whether working on a job for a college was any different from working for a private party or an industrial concern. Basically no, he said, but he added that colleges tend to be more cost-conscious than these others. He noted that this is the first contract that his concern has had here at Colby, because the company was the low bidder on this building. Mr. Quincy nodded in the direction of Thayer Hospital and said that his company had erected that structure a few years ago. He indicated that his company hopes to be the low bidder on the rest of the buildings planned by the college.

Mr. Quincy has just completed a dormitory building for the University of Vermont. "Not at all like this one," he said, gazing out at the building site through the large window of the shed. "More modern it was, the square box type of architecture," he continued. "This one here is naturally more expensive with pitched roof, cornices, and the rest. You get a smaller building for the same amount of money you would spend on the other type." I thought to myself, it may be more expensive, but this is certainly a far more restful and pleasing architecture to the eye than some of the pseudo-modernistic cigar boxes that despoil our landscape.

I inquired of Mr. Quincy how many men were currently working on the building, and he replied that there were about 25 right now. As the work progresses, however, there will be a maximum of 60 to 70 men on the job.

THE WORK AHEAD

I asked what was being worked on at the present time. Mr. Quincy said that at the moment they were doing underground work. He explained: "This is the laying of water pipes, sewers, and telephone lines." He took a large bar graph paper hanging on the wall off its hook, and laid it on the table in front of us, saying: "This is our progress sheet showing the estimated dates of completion of each of the stages of the building. Here are a few examples. By the middle of May we plan on completing the masonry up to the second floor. The third floor should be finished by the twentieth of June, and the fourth by the twentieth of July. The roof is scheduled to be on by the middle of August. Then we begin on the inside work which takes the longest." "This," he showed me on the graph, "is due for completion by December 31."

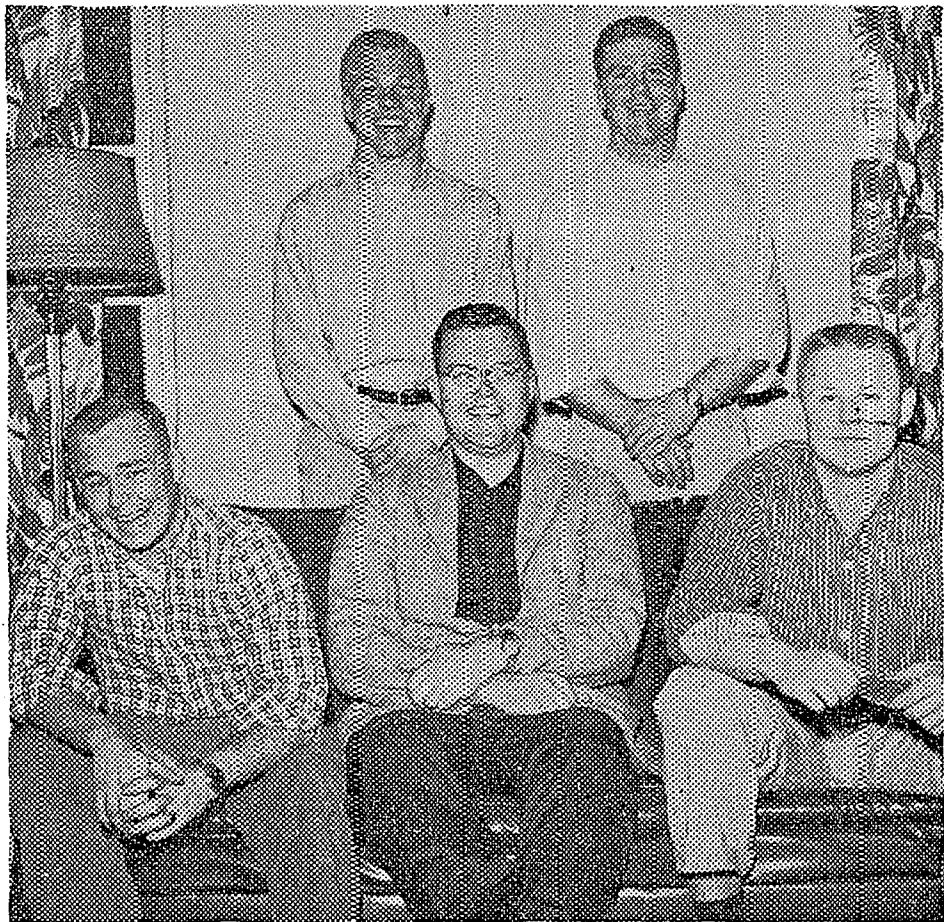

Taking a last whiff of the shed's refreshing wood-scented air, I left Mr. Quincy who was already talking shop with one of his men.

On the way to the quadrangle I couldn't help thinking of the possibilities that this construction of the social science building had in connection with the afore mentioned progress sheet.

CAMPUS-WIDE CASINO

Assuming that we all have a little of the gambling spirit in us, I pictured the college originating a campus-wide game of completion-date guessing. Each student (I'd rather leave the faculty out of this) would pay a sum of money and then would be entitled to pick his estimate of the day and hour of completion of the various stages of construction. The persons who came the closest would win a tidy sum, with a certain percentage, of course, going to the Fulfillment Fund. Yes, I can just imagine the scene that would result. Dozens of students standing around the building, some urging the masons to slap on the mortar, others begging them to take a two hour cigarette break. Note: Please don't take me too seriously.

Informality Is Keynote At Sadie Hawkin's Day

All you Daisy Mae's whose is hankerin' fo' some victuals and a shindig, this is yo' chance! Sadie Hawkin's Day is this Sat'dy and the fun starts at 6:30 p.m. with a spaghetti supper, followed by the dance at 8. The happenin's take place in the Women's Union.

Howie Davison will do the callin' fo' this affair. The bargain price is only $1.75 fo' couple. Gals does the invitin', and they is 'spected to obey the rules posted around the campus.

Dress is real informal. When last heard from, Marryin' Sam had offered to be on hand for those so inclined. Lil Abner will make an appearance, followed closely by Daisy Mae.

This yearly event requires that the gals do the honors, but it's their chance to do the chasin'. On yo' mark, git ready, set . . . go! May the best gal win.

Strider Will Speak ADPi & Lambda At Annual Banquet Chi To Hold Scheduled April 17 Annual Party

Initiating the traditional senior activities is the annual Senior Banquet, which will be held in Roberts Union on April 17 at 5:30. Dean Strider, whose topic remains unannounced, will be the guest speaker.

All seniors and their wives and husbands are invited to attend this affair. The dinner will be free to those students who eat on campus. For those seniors who eat off campus the cost of the dinner is only 75 cents, as the remaining dollar is being subsidized by the commencement funds.

Cyndie Gardner is chairman of the Senior Banquet, which is sponsored by the Commencement Committee. The members of this committee are Sue Bower, Mary Ellen Chisno, Cyndie Gardner, Sally Howes, Lynn Webber, Bruce Blanchard, Marty Burger, Joe Consolino, Doug Davidson, Pete Doran, and Archie Twitchell.

Comprising the guest list for this occasion are President and Mrs. J.

Alpha Delta Pi Sorority, in cooperation with Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity, will give its annual children's party for approximately 40 children on Sunday, April 20. The party will begin at 2:00 p.m.

The 40 children are selected by the Social Welfare Department from various homes in and around the Waterville area. These children will range between the ages of five and ten years.

A program has been planned by Alpha Delta Pi and Lambda Chi Alpha based on an Easter theme. The children will receive small toys and refreshments and participate in various games.

S. Bixler, Dean Frances F. Seaman, Dean and Mrs. George T. Nickerson, Dean and Mrs. Robert Strider, Mr. and Mrs. William Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert F. Loeb, Mr. and Mrs. Darle A. McKeen, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Millett, and Dr. Michael Borne.

Summer School To Open June 24th; 4 Studies Offered

Beginning its eleventh session, the 1958 Colby College Summer School of Language will be held from June 24 to August 11. The school offers elementary, intermediate and advanced courses in French, German, Russian, and Spanish. The courses are designed to meet the particular needs of students who seek: fulfillment of a college language requirement; acceleration of their college language program; study or review of a language for graduate school, for teaching, or for translation work; oral facility in a language prior to foreign travel or study; qualification for positions in the diplomatic or other government service, international relations, or foreign trade.

The school was opened in 1948 as the Colby-Swarthmore Summer School of Languages and during the first five years of its operation was sponsored by Colby and Swarthmore College in Pennsylvania. For practical reasons Colby assumed full responsibility in 1953. The school insists on the exclusive use of the foreign language outside the classroom in so far as circumstances and previous training permit. Teachers live in the dormitories, conduct the language tables in the dining halls and participate in leisure time activities such as sports, group singing and folk dancing.

Instruction is given in small classes so that each student can participate constantly in the classroom exercises and can receive individual help. Mechanical aids, such as tape and disc recordings, supplement special classroom techniques. The emphasis is on individual attention and, in addition to the classroom work, student and instructor meet for weekly conferences in order to check the student's progress in all phases of the language. Special readings in the student's own field of study are assigned to those seeking to meet requirements for graduate degrees.

The teaching staff, drawn from many colleges, is composed of native or bilingual instructors. The faculty includes three members of the regular Colby staff. Professor John McCoy, head of the Department of Modern Languages, is director of the summer school. Philip Bither is associate director, and Archille Biron is assistant director. It is also expected that Jean Bucher, visiting instructor at Colby this semester, will remain for the summer school. Along with these men, there are several members of the faculty returning from last summer. Those returning include the following: George Edward Condoyannis, assistant professor of German and Russian at Saint Peter's College; Heleno Muriel Crooks, assistant professor of Romance Languages at Randolph-Macon Woman's College; Kurt Mueller-Vollmer, former assistant in German at Brown; Boris

Col. Kirby Resigns AFROTC Post To Join Missile Corp. Drokur, Literary Publication, Has Wider Format

Lieutenant Colonel Henry H. Kirby, Jr., commander in charge of Air Force ROTC at Colby since the fall of 1955 when he succeeded Lieutenant Colonel C. Philip Christie, has resigned his post to accept civilian employment in the missiles field. Colonel Kirby will join the Missile Division of the Glenn Martin Aircraft Corporation.

He graduated from West Point Military Academy in 1943 and went to England on duty. He holds a Distinguished Flying Cross with one Oak Leaf Cluster, the Air Medal with fifteen Oak Leaf Clusters, and the Purple Heart.

Air Force authorities have not announced Colonel Kirby's successor at Colby.

A complete face-lifting marks the appearance of the new Drokur. Colby's literary magazine is in a smaller, and less expensive form, but still contains the same amount of information as did the previous editions.

The format of the Drokur is of wider interest than it has been in the past; there is a variety of material which is in keeping with the need at Colby of an appealing outlet for college literary talent.

Actual publication of the magazine has been split between the editorial staff, headed by Anne Dudley and Don Mordecai, and the business staff, managed by Joe Cunningham.

The price of the Drokur, which is now on sale, is 30 cents.

Outing Club

At the meeting of the Outing Club held on Thursday, April 3, the elections of the new officers for the year 1958-1959 were held. Skip Tolette was elected president for his second successive year, and Paul Reichert was chosen vice-president. The other officers are Tom Coleman, treasurer; Joan Crowell, recording secretary; and Janet Grant, corresponding secretary.

Last Monday Andrew Sheldon was elected president of the Woodsman Council at a meeting to elect officers for the next school year. The slate is filled by Phil Henderson, vice-president and Mike Ferber, secretary-treasurer.

ATTENTION SENIORS:

You are reminded to make plans now for housing your parents or relatives if they wish to utilize the college facilities during Commencement weekend, June, 7-9. Each Senior has already received a "Housing Reservation Form" from the Commencement Committee, and it is important that reservations for room space be taken care of as soon as possible. If you have not received your "Housing Reservation Form" please contact Mr. Loeb, chairman of the Commencement Committee, at the Men's Field House.

activities through newsletters. These would explain the activities of the committees and future plans, and would aid the representatives when a question is to be voted on.

Another plan involves the reorganization of Stu G elections. Nominations would be accepted at an open Stu G meeting, then cut down to three people for each office by the Stu G members. Voting would still be by the student body. This plan would eliminate parties and campaigning.

Gary Hagerman, the new president is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon and was a member of the Glee Club for two years. A representative to Stu G this year, he is also a junior advisor and a member of Powder and Wig.

Vice-president Ed Tomey has been a member of Kappa Delta Rho and the Colby Eight for three years. He is a member of advanced ROTC, is a junior advisor, and was president of Canterbury Club. He explained that campaigning was a great experience, and that his term in office will be very educational to him.

Jean Smith, who will serve as secretary for the next year, is president of Delta Delta Delta, of which she has been a member for three years. She made her "debut" at Colby this winter when she reigned as Winter Carnival queen.

Keet Arnett holds the position of treasurer and is happy to have a chance to serve the college through the Student Government. Keet is the vice-president of Lambda Chi Alpha, is a junior advisor, a member of the Colby Eight, and is on the

Six Maine Colleges Send Musicians To Dr. Reid Directs Instit. of Science Band Festival This Summer

On April 19th, the sixth annual band festival will be held here at Colby. Those participating in the concert are 100 students who have been chosen as the best college musicians in Maine. The colleges to be represented at the festival are: Colby, Bates, University of Maine, Bowdoin, Gorham State Teachers College, and Westbrook Junior College. Colby has also invited four members of the Tufts band to attend the festival. The band members will arrive on Thursday the 17th and will practice through the morning of the 19th.

Dr. Compèretti will conduct the program with the exception of two numbers which will be led by Gary Poor. Dr. Bixler will lead the group in the traditional "Stars and Stripes Forever." Included in the program are two selections by Leroy Anderson, "The Typewriter Song" and "The Sandpaper Ballet," selections from "My Fair Lady," "Finlandia" and Mendelssohn's "Overture for Band."

Following the concert on Saturday there will be a dance in Dunn Lounge for the band members and all who care to stay. Tickets will be sold outside the Spa on Monday the 14th. Student tickets are 50c and general admission is $1.00.

Dr. Evans B. Reid, Chairman of the Chemistry Department, applied last August for a grant from the National Science Foundation in Washington in hopes that they would sponsor a Summer Institute for Science here at Colby for the 1958 summer school session. Out of the more than 400 schools which applied for this grant, Colby was one of the 104 to receive the aid.

Dr. Reid will direct the program and will be among the seven faculty members from Colby who will be included in the staff for the Institute. An eighth member has yet to be chosen, but will not be taken from the present Colby faculty.

Beginning on June 30 and lasting for a total of six weeks, the Institute will cover four areas: biology, chemistry, mathematics, and physics. One elementary and one advanced course will be offered in each field and participants will be expected to take two courses, each in a different area, for a total of six hours of credit.

The program is for high school teachers of science and mathematics, and its purpose is to afford these teachers the opportunity to strengthen and enrich their science background and to stimulate their teaching potential. In this effort, Colby is anxious to do its share. Governor Edmund S. Muskie commended Colby on this recent endeavor and was quoted as saying that "The mobilization of our scientific resources at all levels requires our serious attention and thought."

The grant allocated sufficient aid for approximately 45 openings and of the 1400 original requests, 730 filled out applications. Only a small per cent of these applications will be

Mule Nine Undeclared During Southern Tour

Ashland, Virginia, March 24 . . . The Colby varsity baseball team opened the southern trip and the 1958 season with a 6-3 win over Randolph-Macon College. The game was called after seven innings due to rain. The Mules swept to three runs in the third, two in the fourth, and added the final tally in the seventh. Captain Warren Judd started, pitched five innings of good ball, and got credit for the victory. Joe Grimm came in to pitch for an inning, but faltered and had to be relieved by Tony Ruvo in the sixth. The team played completely errorless ball and excelled in all departments.

Annapolis, Maryland, March 28 . . . The ball club raced to their second straight win of the season in edging the United States Naval Academy, 9-8. After having to cancel four games, due to bad weather, the team burst outside to score a decisive win over the team to whom they lost by the largest score last year. Charlie Luethe was the starting pitcher and turned in a fine job, allowing no earned runs until the eighth. Colby scored five runs in the seventh and managed to stave off the Navy rally in the eighth. Tony Ruvo quenched the fire after he came in the eighth and went on to finish the game. Luethe garnered the win. New Brunswick, New Jersey, March 29 . . . The Mule batmen powered to their third consecutive victory in winding up their southern tour by riding over Rutgers, 5-1. Captain Warren Judd allowed only two hits until the ninth in capturing his second win of the season in as many starts. A walk, fielder's choice, and double scored the only Rutgers' run, ruining Judd's shutout in the final frame. He notched eleven strikeouts in going the distance. The successful southern tour may greatly aid in the Colby bid for top-flight competition.

Outlook for Mule Baseball Team Very Bright; Team Boasts Depth

The varsity baseball season is well under way and observers feel that this may be the most successful team in recent Colby history. The club boasts nine lettermen and the competition is so great, because of the powerful upcoming sophomores, that many former regulars are having a tough time holding on to their positions.

Phil Golden, a senior from Elmwood, Connecticut, is filling the role as starting catcher for the team. Phil played varsity ball for two years, batting .357 his sophomore year and covering the outfield ably last year. However, with the loss of George Pierce, all-state catcher last year, Ronnie Staples, and Don Madden, Phil has filled the vacant position. Ed Burke, a sophomore from Brockton, Mass., starts at first base. He played Fresh ball for Jack Kelley last spring and played both fresh and varsity basketball during the past two winters. Ed was one of the top three hitters on the southern trip this year and provides the left-handed power so necessary for a balanced club. Tony Zash, another sophomore left-handed batter, handles the keystone sack position. He is currently leading the team offensively, batting .444. Zash, an Englewood, New Jersey youth, plays as good defensive ball as he does offensive and is the big man in the double play combinations. George Rodon, another New Jersey infielder started in all three freshman sports and for Coach Clifford's grid Mules last fall. At shortstop this spring, he has proved himself and earned a starting berth on his fifth consecutive Mule club. Norm Gigon, another New Jerseyite, rounds out the infield. His booming bat last year set the college R.B.I. record and he is hopeful to better that mark of 27. Gigon also holds the record for R.B.I.'s in state series competition and "times at bat" for a season. The outfield boasts the only returning all-stater, Leo Oberparleiter. Oberparleiter, from Haddon Heights, New Jersey, is only five feet six inches and 140 pounds, but his blistering bat blasted a .337 mark overall and a .343 rate in the state. Pete Cavari, center-fielder from West New York, New Jersey, is rated tops defensively due to his great speed. He started at end this fall in football, as a sophomore. Although a potent hitter, he is among offensive giants and is subsequently batting at the bottom of the order. Lloyd Cohen, last year's starting shortstop and third-sacker, has been stationed in the outfield to give the team the best possible batting team. The Fairview, New Jersey, lad has adapted well and is looking to boost his .288 average of last year.

The pitching staff boasts three very capable starters in Captain Warren Judd, Charlie Unoethke, and Tony Ruvo. Relievers Joe Grimm, Ray Borborian, John Roberts, and Pete Stock are slated for plenty of action, while Denny Towle and Dick Stacey have been looking good.

The substitutes could field a very fine college team on their own with Don Burgess behind the plate, Larry Rose, Dick Hunt, and Al Wilbur in

Track Team Hopes Lie in Newcomers

The Colby varsity track team will make its debut of the '58 season here at Seaverns' Field on April 26 when they meet Norwich and Brandeis in a triangular meet.

The team lacks experience in the hammer, pole vault, javelin, and high hurdle events, but Coach Coons reports that he is depending on spirit and determination to make up for this deficiency.

Bright prospects from last year's fine freshman team are miler Frank Morgan, and quartermiler Bob Littlefield. Jim Ferriman is expected to do well in the low hurdle and dash events. Dick Walton will lend his services to the field events participating in the shot and discus. All showed well last season.

Captain Gordon Cunningham will be unavailable for service this year, but Coach Coons will again depend upon the stalwart services of veterans Ollie Sheerin, Paul Reichert, Tietche Shelton and Pete Doran.

Colby will also participate in a quadrangle meet May 3, at the University of Vermont with Vermont, Middlebury, and Bates. They will travel to the state meet at Bowdoin May 10, where they will meet Maine and Bowdoin.

Spring Grid Practice Gives Much Promise

The formal spring football practices have already begun to shape the team into a well-coordinated unit with less than two weeks elapsed since the outset of practices. The turnout of 44 candidates is the largest of recent years and Coach Bob Clifford is pleased with the response and the outlook. This intensive training period closely resembles the actual period during the fall when a regular varsity schedule is carried. The practices are complete with films of last year's games, skull sessions, blocking, tackling, passing, punting, ball-handling, and callisthenics. Inter-squad scrimmages are on top with interest and spirit high for them. Two more candidates, Felix Suchecki and Leo Beaulieu, are expected to join the squad. George Roden and Pete Cavari, both varsity baseball players, are not out for the drills. Only Don Crowley, Bill Felix Suchecke, Leo Beaulieu, Orne, and Bob Walther are unavailable for practice due to their impending graduation.

Candidates include:
Ends: Bob Bruce, Dave Bloom, Steve Bates, Bob Burke, Carl Paharik, and Pete Loring.
Tackles: Bob Sargent, Dave Fowler, Marty Gache, Boyd Sands, Bill Nicholson, Wes Jordan, Jim Sellers, and Dave Berman.

Dr. Scott Awarded Spring Tour of Grant to Continue Colby Glee Club Study of Genetics Deemed Success

Dr. Allen Charles Scott, chairman of the biology department, has been awarded a Science Faculty Fellowship by the National Science Foundation in Washington, D. C. Dr. Scott will take a sabbatical leave next year to study and do research in genetics at the University of Edinburgh in Scotland and at the Zoological Station in Naples, Italy.

He is among the 54 recipients of grants selected from 440 applicants from all parts of the U.S. and its territories. Fellowships carry stipends adjusted to approximate the regular salary of those receiving the awards.

Dr. Scott will spend nine months overseas. Half of this time will be spent studying at Edinburgh and the other half doing research at Naples. The fellowship is designed for qualified people, such as Dr. Scott, who teach in small colleges and have little opportunity to do extended research. Dr. Scott is especially interested in problems of cell division and has already published several papers on the subject. He will continue his research in this field at Naples.

Dr. Scott is a graduate of Clark University, received his M.S. from the University of Pittsburgh and his Ph.D. from Columbia. He was appointed department head at Colby in 1951. For the past 26 summers he has conducted research at the Marine Biological Laboratories at Woods Hole, Massachusetts. In 1933-36, he was a National Research Council Fellow in zoology and from 1948-49, a Special Fellow in the U.S. Public Health Service, performing research at the Bermuda Station and at the California Institute of Technology.

Dr. Scott will be accompanied on his sabbatical by his wife and their 13 year old daughter, Janet.

During spring vacation the Colby Travelling Glee Club made its third successful tour in the past four years. The group, consisting of 46 mixed voices made its first appearance in Stoneham, Massachusetts on March 20. From there they appeared successively at the Providence School of Design, Providence, Rhode Island; Carnegie Recital Hall, New York City; and in Philadelphia. Enthusiastic notices have been given by music critics in all of the communities in which they have sung.

The "New York Times" said that it was: "a singing group of fine attainments . . . they sang with agreeable purity of tone and with good intonation . . . the singing had splendid power and vitality."

The repertoire included the Mass in G by Poulenc, four madrigals, Beethoven's Hallelujah, Brann's Waltzes, two American folk song sketches by Kubik, a contemporary work with text by Walt Whitman and music by Norman Dello Soio, and a medley of Colby songs arranged by Professor Re.

This was the first year that the tour has extended beyond New York. Many months of planning and anticipation went into the preparation of the trip. The hard work and the able direction of Professor Re were evidenced in the development of both the type of music and in the presentation.

Colby's 'Invasion' Of Bermuda Was Grand Success

Anyone visiting Colby this week would be sure that the college had moved south for the winter, due to the number of tanned faces seen everywhere. In a way many of the students had moved south, but only for the spring vacation. Colby coeds went to Georgia, Florida, Cuba, and the majority to Bermuda for College Week.

Colby is well known in Bermuda. The Colby Eight were a great success singing at the Bermudiana Hotel on the same bill with the Talbot Brothers, Lloyd Simons, a calypso singer, and the Esso Steel Band. They were also invited to sing for the elite of the island at the Royal Bermuda Yacht Club and at an Oilman's Convention. At the Yacht Club they were joined by some of the men in singing old English songs, and some of the cilmen were so impressed that they came to the Bermudiana to hear them night after night. The Colby Eight have been invited back next year.

During the day the Colby students spent their time on the beach, shopping, touring the island on motor bikes, or listening to jam sessions given by other college groups. Despite two days of rain, the week was considered a marvelous success. It held Sunday evening, April 20.

The other new officers of S.C.A. are as follows: vice-president, Daniel Parish, '60; secretary, Carol Wickeri, '60; treasurer, Chester Lewis, '60; program co-chairmen, Margaret Jack, '60 and Mary Elizabeth She-song, '60; community service, Charles Leighton, '60 and Eunice Buchholz, '60; deputations, Beverly Jackson, '60; world relatedness, Carole Richardson, '60; delegates to the I.F.A., Deborah Wilson, '60 and Frank Garish, '61; and publicity, Judith Ingram, '60.

Colby is not alone in its increase in tuition. In fact a great many of the Eastern schools have also announced an increase similar in amount to the rise here at Colby. The latest increase announced at Yale was of $150, and is their third in four years. An administration official at Trinity College accounted for their increase in tuition as "an establishment of college fees on a more realistic basis, approximating to a greater extent the actual costs of educating a student." Following is a list of increases in some of the major northeastern colleges: Amherst, $200; Trinity, $250; Williams, $200; Yale, $150; Harvard, $250; Cornell, $150; Columbia, $100; Middlebury, $50; Mr. Holyoke, $250; Radcliff, $250; Wheaton, $235; Skidmore, $200; Wesleyan, $200. Bowdoin and Princeton also had similar increases.

Because of these rises a problem has arisen to many students on just how they are to finance their education. An article dealing with student financing programs appeared in the Wesleyan "Argus." It included some of the following proposals which will help the individual take on some of the responsibility of financing his own education. "Three plans, none of them particularly new to the American scene, seem to be primary. These are scholarships and grants; do-it-yourself, work your way through college plan; and loan programs.

"Under a loan program, institutions would be assured of payment, a student so long as he maintained his average could be assured of opportunities in all aspects of college experiences, and families would not have to stretch their budgets beyond reasonable means. Most existing

Officers of Honor Society Named

New officers of the Omicron chapter of Phi Sigma Iota were elected at the March 10th meeting. The new officers of this national romance language honor society will serve during 1958-1959.

Elected were president, Sue Featherston; vice president, Erla Cleaves; secretary, Peggy Lippincott; and treasurer, Ann Fuller. Sue, Peggy and Ann are French majors.

Outgoing officers are president, Marcia Griggs; vice president, Ellie Fortenbaugh; secretary, Mary Ellen Chase; and treasurer, Joan Shaw.

The club sponsors meetings which are both cultural and social. Mr. Smith in the absence of Mr. Biron, serves as faculty advisor, together with the other professors in the modern romance language department.

loan companies lend money at very reasonable rates — generally about one per cent after the student leaves school — repayable over a generous number of years."

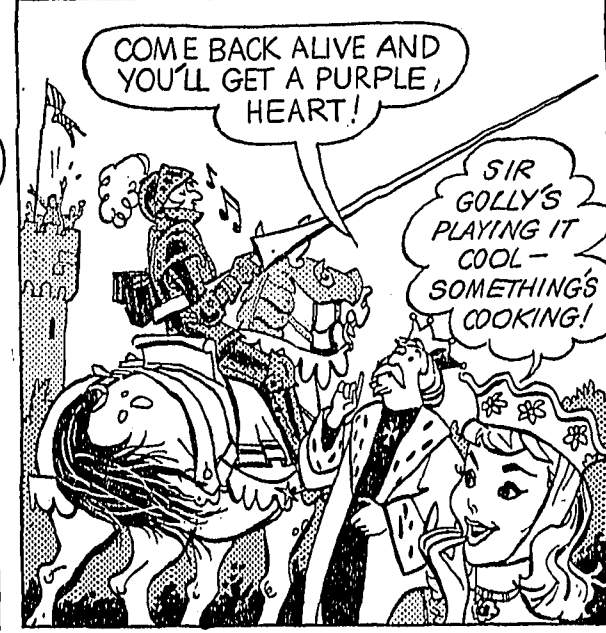

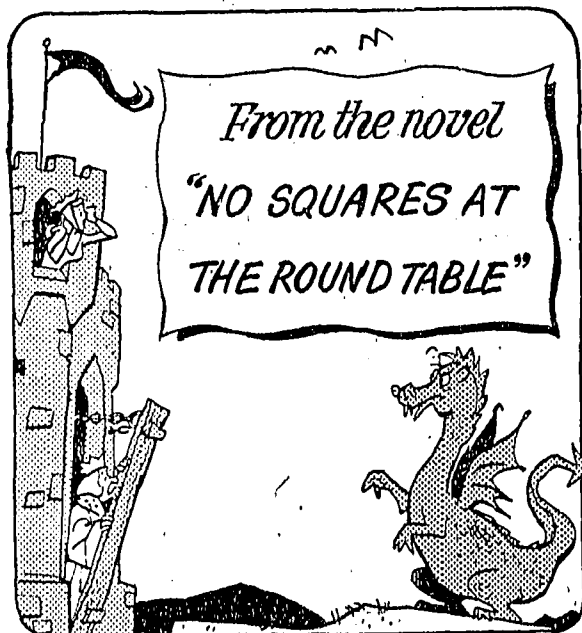

The author of the article felt that if loan programs were set up on a national basis it would be most successful. "Scholarship programs could be converted to fall into this category, banks and corporations could set up similar programs, and the Federal Government could establish a loan plan until private sources could fill the gap. If a nation-wide program could be established, colleges and universities would be able to assess their students the full amount it felt they should assume."

one of the American participants in the Conference of German and American Historians held at Braunschweig.

His first book entitled "The Free Negro in North Carolina," was published in 1943. In 1947 two more of his books, "The Civil War Diary of James T. Ayers" and "From Slavery to Freedom: A History of American Negroes," were published. In 1956 the Harvard University Press published Franklin's "The Militant South." He also served on the standing committee of the American Historical Association, the Southern Historical Association, and Association for the Study of Negro Life and History.

Among his civic and public service has been his membership in the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO and the Board of Directors of the American Council on Human Rights. He is a present member of the Fisk University Board of Trustees on which he is chairman of the Committee on Educational Policy, the Board of the U. S. Book Exchange and Board of Directors of the American Council of Learned Societies.

Thunersee in the highest Alps was purchased by an American several years ago, and now contains numerous historical trophies.

Mr. Stettler, originally a student of architecture, is in his early forties. He is a master of the English language, and Dr. Bixler reports that he is much interested in the American artistic tradition.

In addition to participating in several dinner discussions in the dorms Mr. Stettler will attend various banquets, teas, and lectures with Dr. Bixler while he is at Colby.

MARY ELLEN CHASE

Mary Ellen Chase regards good teaching as a fine art. Partly because of her enthusiasm and knowledge of the language students thronged to her classes, but more so, because she thoroughly enjoys and understands young people. According to "Who's Who in America"

"She approves the consuming interest of the younger generation in matters of national and international importance. She admires their capacity for ignoring the barriers of age and position, their honesty and their abhorrence of fraud and sentimentality."

Among her latest publications are "Edge of Darkness," a novel published in 1957; "Language in the Old Testament," 1956; and "The White Gate," 1955.

1939. After serving four years in the Navy during World War II, he entered New York College. There he studied composition with Erick Katz and conduction with Siegfried Janda. In 1950 Davenport joined the Workshop, and in 1955 became its director.

He is a teacher at the Dalton

School and the New York College of Music. Mr. Davenport plays the oboe, the trumpet, the piano, and the recorder. His compositions have been played at the American Music Festival, over the radio, and in concerts in this country and abroad.

ASTRONOMER TO DISCUSS

eight of the nation-wide scientific organizations.

Dr. Shapley is well known as an advocate of international cooperation in politics, science, and culture and has lectured at great length on this topic. He has even extended his work to the field of biology, having made the discovery that ants move fastest on hottest days. From here, he made investigations into physiology and worked out a published theory on the relation of ant speed to temperature. For his work in biology, he was awarded the position of President of the Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology and botanical societies.

In recent years his work has been published mainly in the "National Academy of Science Proceedings," in "Science," and in "Nature." Aside from research papers and magazine articles, Shapley has written and edited a number of books including "Source Book in Astronomy," "Star Clusters," "Flights from Chaos," "A Survey of Material Systems from Atoms to Galaxies," "Treasury of Science," and his more recent work late speaker, and his down to earth on globular clusters.

He has been called a witty, articulate manner has stimulated many other scientists to do research in astronomy. He is an inspiring teacher, having a manner all his own.

WHAT IS A MAN WHO
BLOWS SMOKE RINGS?
(SEE PARAGRAPH BELOW)

SMOKE RINGS come in all shapes and sizes. Like 4-sided smoke rings for squares. Sturdy smoke rings for windy days. Even invisible smoke rings for people who aren't ostentatious. As any competent smoke ringer (Vapor Shaper in Sticklese!) will tell you, the best way to start one is to light up a Lucky. It's best mostly because a Lucky tastes best. A Lucky gives you naturally light, wonderfully good-tasting tobacco, toasted to taste even better. Why settle for less? You'll say a light smoke's the right smoke for you!

DON'T JUST STAND THERE...
STICKLE! MAKE $25

Sticklers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. (No drawings, please!) We'll shell out $25 for all we use—and for hundreds that never see print. So send stacks of 'em with your name, address, college and class to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, New York.
