IFC To Enforce Rules And Pass Judgement

The Interfraternity Council has recently taken the responsibility to hear all disputes relating to violations of the rules and regulations encompassed by the IFC and Colby College in regard to rushing, pledging, all social functions and every phase of fraternity life. The IFC shall have the power to determine the guilt of any violator of the inter-fraternity rules and any fraternity violations of the college rules, and shall have the power to penalize the guilty party in any or a combination of the following ways:

1. Issue a warning to the violator.
2. Levy a fine, not to exceed $100 for any one violation.
3. Recommend social probation or disciplinary action by the college, not to exceed one year for any one violation.
4. If it is a rushing violation, the power to exclude a man from rushing and pledging for one calendar year; and the loss of not more than 5 bids by the fraternity.
5. Remove points from Area I - Administration, of the Bixler Bowl competition, not to exceed 25 points for one violation.
6. To determine any other penalties, which in the discretion of the IFC may apply.

Violation of the IFC and/or college rules may be reported by any member of the Council, the Dean of Men, by any student of the college, and by any person affected by fraternity life, e.g. faculty, townspeople, etc.

If the administration feels that the IFC has not acted fairly, it will call the IFC to a joint review meeting. If, at this meeting, the IFC refuses to change its original decision, then it shall stand as done by that body, but the administration has the prerogative to deprive the IFC of their power of jurisdiction from that time forward.

Therefore, the IFC by means of the power delegated to it by the college administration will enforce those rules and regulations pertaining to gentlemanly conduct in every phase of fraternity life and all activities.

KDR'S and Chi O's Win Top Prizes In Annual Greek Sing

Kappa Delta Rho and Chi Omega won the coveted first places at the Greek Sing Monday night. With clear skies above and a crowd of spectators, nine fraternities and four sororities presented their programs.

The KDR's were led by Bobby Brown and presented an original song, "Waterville in the Spring." The music was taken from the show "New Faces of 1956" and the words and arrangement were done by Bobby Brown. Their second selection was their well known "Sweetheart Song."

Becky Crane led the Chi O's to first place with three songs from "Carousol" — "June is Bustlin' Out All Over," "It Was a Real Nice Chamblake," and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

The ATO's added a different note to the evening when they sang "Greek" style complete with costume. The group burst forth with "Lollipop" and a medley of Christmas songs and departed to the tune of "The Bridge on the River Kwai."

Don Williamson Is Winner of Scott Paper Scholarship

Don Williamson, a sophomore from Needham, Mass. was awarded the Madden Scholarship granted by the Scott Paper Company. The announcement of the award was made at Wednesday's Recognition Assembly.

The Madden award entitles the winner to a grant of $1000 a year for two years. The qualifications were listed as good scholarship, character, interest in pursuing a business career, and athletic vigor.

Williamson is an economics major and a Dean's List student. A member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, he was rush chairman and a member of the varsity hockey team. He was also elected vice president of his class in the recent elections.

Bob Keltie was the recipient of the award last year, and Shiela Campbell, the year before that.

New Plan Passed By Students; Some Objections Noted

The new plan for Student Government representation was passed by a 57 per cent majority out of 660 student votes, it was announced at the Student Government meeting Monday night.

Objections have been raised as to the legality of the passing of this amendment. It has been charged that the present constitution was not followed, and that an affirmative vote of 50 per cent of the official student enrollment is necessary to pass such an amendment.

Further investigation is presently being undertaken and advice sought. The results of this investigation will be reported at Monday night's Student Government meeting.

Sabbaticals Granted To Instructors Next Year

Dean of the Faculty, Robert Strider, has announced sabbaticals for the coming year, beginning in September, 1958.

Also in the English Department is Professor Richard Cary who will be on part leave for the whole year. He will fulfill part of his duties at the college while undertaking research in American literature. His material will be based on that found in the Colby Library Rare Book Room. Professor Allan Scott of the biology department will be on sabbatical

IFC Announces Frat. Rushing For Fall Semester

In the forthcoming year, fraternity rushing will be held during the first semester. This change does not necessarily indicate that last year's system was faulty, but rather that no one system will ever be satisfactory in view of the fluctuations of ideas and attitudes characteristic of a fraternity system. After careful consideration of the problem brought about by the deferred rushing of 1957-58, and discussions of the advantages of first semester rushing and pledging as opposed to first semester rushing and second semester pledging, the Interfraternity Council will endeavor to provide a system which will entail those advantages beneficial to both freshmen and fraternities.

Also helpful in bringing about this decision by the Interfraternity Council was an informal meeting of the freshmen pledge captains at which the majority of them expressed a desire for first semester rushing with a culmination between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The rules and regulations governing rushing for 1958-59 will be found in the Interfraternity Council handbook which will be distributed at the beginning of the fall term. Until that time, all fraternities will comply with Articles I, II, III, and IVa of the rushing and pledging rules for 1957-58.

EDITORIALS

CONTROVERSY

Campus Comment this week has been devoted to the presentation of various articles taken from the Student Government Constitution. This has been done in an effort to acquaint the students with the fundamental problem which has developed as a result of the proposed plan for the reorganization of Student Government. It appears that all too few people are aware of the inadequacy of this document is not at all surprising in consideration of the fact that the drawing up of this constitution dates back approximately eight years. Colby has grown considerably in this time, while the constitution has not adapted itself to the growth and changes. If there have been any amendments in the ensuing years, they certainly do not appear on the Student Government president's copy.

By citing this constitution, those people who are questioning the legality of the amendment clause have been responsible for the uncovering of a very grave inadequacy in our student organization itself. Point by point an examination of the constitution and the present functioning and decisions of the organization indicates changes and discrepancies which have arisen gradually in the years since the constitution was drawn up. Since the legality of the amendment clause cannot be refuted in light of the legality of the very organization itself, this may be the necessary starting point. A majority of interested student votes has been achieved, and these interested students are the ones to build an organization whereby all students will respect the organization and will become interested. The situation now boils down to the fact that, since the developments of the past cannot be remedied without invalidating the entire Student Government system, a positive step must be taken in the opposite direction. We, who so often complain of "apathy" and complacency and illustrate our point by the lack of accomplishment by Student Government, should see that here is one of the basic causes of this problem. The organization is presently inefficient, but also powerless to accomplish anything and will continue year after year in the status quo unless a workable and considerate constitution is drawn up.

Whatever the outcome, a satisfactory system of representation must be arrived at immediately in order to find a starting point in order to put the entire organization on the firm basis upon which it was originally and presently intended. As in any organization, actual accomplishments may have to be sacrificed for the time being, while the organization and its constitution are so defined and as a result strengthened that the very future of the Student Government will be insured. In so doing, their greatest accomplishment will be made, the one upon which Student Government will perpetuate in a smooth transition and each year will bring about greater improvements in the college life. Organization is the necessary prerequisite for efficiency, democracy, and improvement.

ENCOURAGEMENT

A recent letter from Mr. Jack Engeman, the author-illustrator who visited Colby this month in pursuit of pictures for his forthcoming book, contained the following paragraph. "Never have I had the pleasure of meeting and photographing so many outstanding young men and women whose conduct, manners, and dress were a credit to themselves, their families, and to Colby. I was greatly impressed with the esprit de corps of the student body. It was just as if everyone felt and wanted Colby to be the greatest college in the United States."

This letter is an indication of the impression Colby is now making. We have beautiful buildings, a first-rate faculty, a skillful administration, and a fine student element. All of these are contributing to

A Guide to the Old 'Masters' of Colby

(Part Two)

by Leslie Colitt

This week I should like to introduce you to some distinguished (and some not so distinguished) men out of Colby's history, who are at present serving their time in the north wing of Miller Library.

We begin our tour on the stairway opposite the telephone switchboard. Hanging to the right, on the landing between the first and second floors, meet Marcellus Lovewell Stearns. Mr. Stearns is a heavily bearded gentleman wearing a dark suit, high, white starched collar, and cravat. He graduated from Colby in 1863. I am very curious as to how he managed to live in Florida in such northern attire, when he was governor of that state from 1874-1877. But that was his problem.

Having arrived on the second floor, walk over to the painting hanging to the left of room 201-B. This man with the white beard and slightly drooping eyelids is James Tift Champlin, the seventh president of Colby. Next to him hangs Rufus Babcock, an earlier president of Waterville College (as Colby was once known) from 1833-1836. It's very difficult to get any further information out of Mr. Babcock, as he persists in staring out of the nearby window.

Butler A Bungler?

Oh, but if only this next fellow could speak! His name is Benjamin Franklin Butler (Colby 1838) and he hangs to the right of the glass-enclosed model of Colby. Surrounded by a huge frame decorated with plaster of Paris U. S. flags, cannon, and drums, the General sits in his field tent with one arm on a U. S. flag draped over a table. A sword lies close at hand. Resplendent in his Union blue uniform, Butler clutches a field map in his right hand. With his drooping mustache and narrow eyes, he somehow resembles those pictures of Genghis Khan before one of his marauding excursions. Butler, however, was a bungler of the first order in all of his military operations, and his first action at Big Bethel, Virginia, was a very humiliating defeat for the Union.

In Old New Orleans

After New Orleans surrendered to Admiral Farragut, Brigadier General Butler was appointed military governor of the city. His administration was vigorous to say the least, and opposition to him came to a peak after a rather infamous (in the South) order which he proclaimed. This directed that women who publicly insulted U. S. officers to be regarded as women of the street plying their trade. So incensed was Jefferson Davis, that he ordered Butler to be considered a criminal, and if captured that he be hanged. General Grant quickly relieved the general of his command, and Butler returned to Massachusetts.

Back home, he fell back on his law practice and took a passionate interest in politics. As an extreme radical, he strongly desired President Johnson's impeachment. Butler served in the U. S. Congress and as Governor of Massachusetts. In 1884 he had the nerve to run for the presidency, as candidate of the Greenback and Anti-Monopoly parties. He was soundly defeated, carrying not one state. In his later years, many charges of corruption were leveled at him, and Butler was quite unable to defend himself against these accusations. This, even though he was considered to be one of New England's outstanding criminal lawyers.

Anyone else I can show you now, is an anticlimax after Butler, but you might as well make the acquaintance of William Edward Wording. He was a trustee, benefactor, and governor of Maine in 1804. He is

After approval by 2/3 vote of the Council, publishing in two issues of the Echo, and posting on the Student Government Association bulletin board, such amendments may be voted on by the student body. A simple majority vote of the entire student body shall be required to pass any of the proposed amendments.

BY LAWS

ARTICLE IV ATTENDANCE AT COUNCIL MEETINGS

Representatives are expected to attend meetings. Any representative who is unable to attend a meeting is expected to send a non-voting substitute for that meeting.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITOR:

I believe that the proposed representation plan of Student Government will be adequately covered in this week's Echo, including its many facets, the pros and cons of those particulars, and the methods used to present them. So I shan't concern this letter with any comments that will not have been heard or printed already.

However, I would like to make one comment that should not be overlooked in this situation: It has been extremely gratifying to many of the Administration, Faculty, and students concerned with the proposal to observe the many discussions about this matter — some quite heated — that have been taking place in every corner of the campus: the Spa, the fraternity houses, the men's and women's dormitories, and even the classrooms. The student body, during this period, has suddenly caught a spirit which hasn't made an appearance on the campus in quite some time. I feel that we can proudly add this to the many other accomplishments and advancements that the Colby students have made this year.

I only hope that we take it upon ourselves to continue in this vein and maintain this vital interest in more serious affairs.

Ed Tomey

TO THE EDITOR:

The present officers elect of our Student Government have proposed a new system of representation and reorganization. One of the principle points which they have maintained throughout this dispute has been that the new system will bring into the Student Government, a more responsible representative, a more capable representative, a representative of higher integrity and judgment. If these officers elect are attempting to raise the general caliber and character of our Student Government, has not their so gross and flagrant violation of the following articles of the Student Government Constitution and By-laws shown only the dangers and fallacies of such a system?

"AFTER approval by 2/3 vote of the Council, publishing in two issues of the Echo, and posting of the Student Government Association bulletin board, such amendments may be voted on by the student body. A simple majority vote of the entire student body shall be required to pass any of the proposed amendments."

The voting took place on the third day after being passed by a 2/3 vote of the Student Government. Three hundred and eighty is not a simple majority of the entire student body.

The second point, from article 2 section 3 of the By Laws;

"The Secretary shall be responsible for publishing and posting the agenda of the Council meetings two days prior to each meeting."

Commencement Plans Completed

P & W Play Included In Graduation Program

Powder and Wig, under the direction of Dr. Irving Suss, will present Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" on Saturday, June 7, at 8:30 p.m. in the Women's Union gymnasium.

"The Glass Menagerie," a memory play in two parts, is essentially a character study of four individuals: a mother, her son and daughter, and a gentleman caller. The set decorations will complement the depressing, emotional atmosphere the play emphasizes. The scenery will consist of a living and dining room and an alley on the side and front of the "home." The walls will be of a depressing brown. Basic to the play itself are such items as a fire escape. In addition, the mood will be emphasized by the unusual lighting effects.

Libby Latham will portray the mother, Amanda Wingfield, who is a hard working woman, intent on seeing her crippled daughter married. In her domineering manner she lives in her southern past and tradition.

The daughter, Laura, will be played by Carol York. Laura and her collection of glass animals, her menagerie, live in a world of fantasy.

Portraying the brother Tom will be Jim Rullison. Tom is restless and dissatisfied with his present home and joins the Merchant Marines as a form of escape.

Joe Consolino will play the gentleman caller, Jim O'Connor, who is a friend of Tom's from work at the warehouse. Laura, Tom and Jim attended high school together where Jim was the typical and popular hero. Jim now, however, has slipped into oblivion.

Brad Sherman is the production manager, and his assistant is Penny Dean. Set designer is Peter Prew

Mary Ellen Chase, Educator & Writer Will Speak June 9

Mary Ellen Chase, educator, writer, and frequent visitor to the Colby campus will be the speaker at the 137th Commencement on June 9.

This well known educator, whose specialty is nineteenth century prose writers, recently retired from the staff of Smith College where she was a professor of English literature. Miss Chase received degrees from the Universities of Maine and Minnesota and in 1918 became a professor on the staff at Minnesota until 1926, when she accepted her position at Smith.

Miss Chase was born in Blue Hill, Maine. Her earliest writings, set in the New England background, depict the scenes and people of her childhood.

Mary Ellen Chase regards good teaching as a fine art. Partly because of her enthusiasm and knowledge of the language, students thronged to her classes, but more so, because she thoroughly enjoys and understands young people. According to "Who's Who in America," "she approves the consuming interest of the younger generation

Mule Nine Overwhelms Powerful Trinity Team

Waterville, Saturday, May 10, 1958 — The Mules scored an important win over one of New England's better teams as they scored twice in the seventh inning to gain a 6-4 victory over Trinity (Conn.). The win was a big one for Coach John Winkin's men as it not only gave them a 13 and 2 won and lost record, but also put them in top contention for an NCAA tournament berth. Tony Ruvo started for Colby and went seven innings. He pitched well but sloppy fielding by his mates paved the way for all four Trinity runs. In the fourth, two singles, a walk, two Colby errors and a steal of home gave the Conn. team a 3-0 lead.

The winners came back with two in the fourth as Norm Gigon walked his second homer in as many days with a man on base. Colby took a one run lead in the next inning as a result of five singles. Two men were thrown out at the plate in this frame to quell a possible big inning.

Trinity tied the game in the 7th as a result of another Colby miscue, but the Mules wrapped up the contest in their half of the inning by scoring two runs. Dickie Hunt pinch-hit for Ruvo and drew a walk. Zash also walked and both runners moved up as Cohen grounded out. George Roden then grounded back to the pitcher. As the pitcher turned and threw to first to retire Roden, Hunt pulled some smart base running and streaked home with the winning run. Gigon followed with a single to center to give the Mules an insurance tally. Charlie Lue-thke hurled the final two frames for Colby and turned in another scoreless relief stint.

The winners smacked ten hits, nine of them off starting pitcher, MacDonough. Zash, Roden, and Gigon led the assault with two hits apiece. Gigon, besides hitting a homer and a single, drew a walk and was hit by a pitch for a perfect day at the plate.

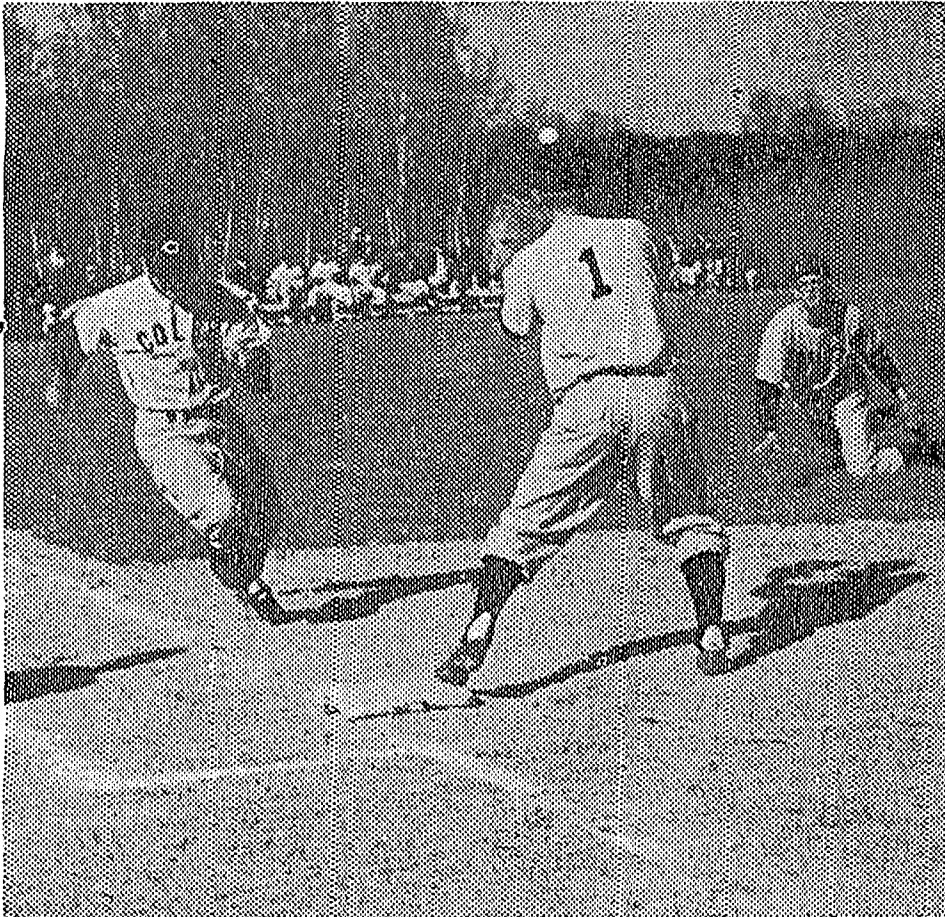

This all important victory gave the Mules a 10-2 mark against New England competition and placed them in one of the two top contending spots for a playoff berth in the NCAA tournament to be held next month.

Cindermen Blanked As Bates Edges U. of Me.

Brunswick, May 10 . . . The Colby trackmen were unable to score as Bates copped the state meet for the second time in a row here today. Bates amassed 65.1 points; Maine was runner-up with 62.2 points. Bowdoin added 37.7 while Colby received none. Bates depended heavily upon the stalwart services of star performer Rudy Smith for their win. Smith set a new record of 21.2 seconds for the 220 yard dash. The former record of 21.7 seconds was set in 1952. Smith also won the 440 yard run. Daniel Renrich of Maine was awarded the outstanding performer trophy. He ran a record 4:19.3 sec. in the mile event. The former record of 4:21 sec. was set in 1910

Judd Grabs Sixth Win Shuts Out Maine, 4 - 0

Waterville, Friday, May 9 — Colby captain Warren Judd pitched his second shutout and gained his sixth victory of the season as he blanked the Black Bears from Maine, 4-0. Except for brief periods of wildness, Judd was superb. He walked six and fanned the same number while allowing only three hits, two of them by Ron Ranco, Maine centerfielder. The victory gave the Mules a 12 and 2 record for the season, including four wins and one loss in state series play.

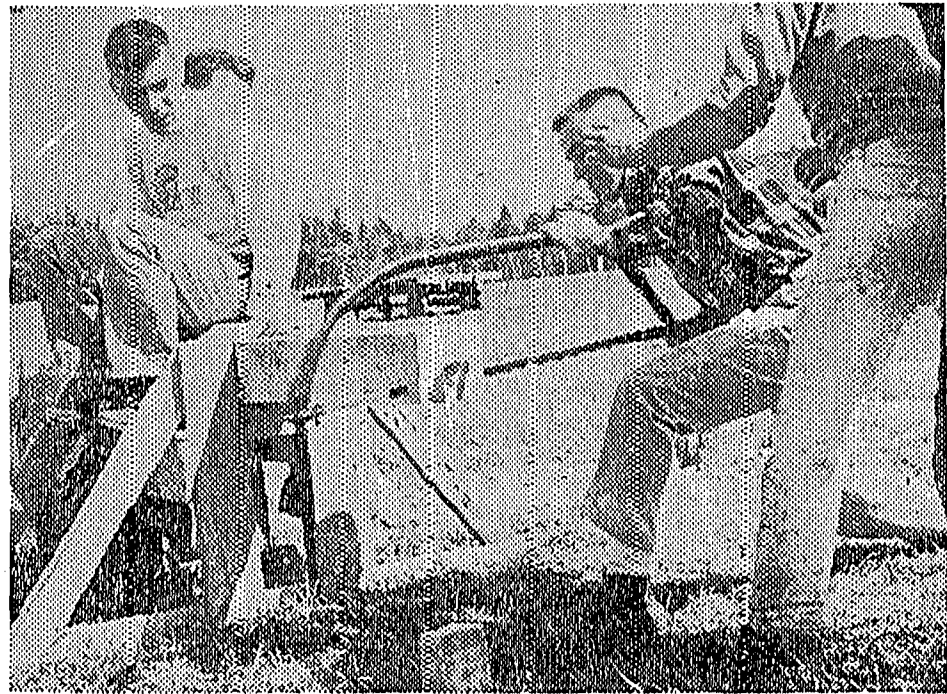

The winners, who garnered eight hits off ace southpaw, Billy Burke, opened up the scoring with three runs in the second inning. Ed Burke, back in action after a cheek bone injury, started the frame with a single to center. Phil Golden followed with a single to left. After Lee Oberparleiter struck out, Pete Cavari reached first on a fielders choice to fill the bases. Judd then walked to send in one run and Tony Zash followed with a double to drive in two more. Burke settled down after this and pitched scoreless ball until the eighth when Norm Gigon, hard hitting Mule leftfielder, smashed his second home run of the season over the left field fence. The four bagger was the first of the campaign at Coombs Field.

Burke and Gigon paced the Colby attack with two hits apiece while Zash and George Roden both smacked doubles.

On Monday, May 19, there will be a W.A.A. field day, rain or shine. If it is a good day, there will be an archery tournament at 2:30 and a student-faculty softball game at 3:30. The students on the softball team are the "all-stars," so it should be a very exciting game. If it rains, there will be no archery, but the softball game will be held inside the gym at the same time. Nichols Jr. Downs Frosh - First Loss

The frosh baseball team suffered its first defeat against Nichols Jr. College, 6-4, last Saturday at Waterville. In a contest earlier in the week the baby Mules overpowered MCI, 510, and fought Husson to a 7-7 tie.

The loss to Nichols marked the first loss by a freshman team, as Nichols came through with six runs, nine hits, and two errors while Coach Kelley's frosh showed four runs, three hits, and six errors.

takes place at a different school each year. Competing teams are expected to increase in number as entrants from New York State and Canada join the New England teams in the competition at Dartmouth in 1959.

This being the second year that a Colby team has entered the meet, they were not entirely newcomers to the events. Even so, an unexpectedly good showing was made by the woodsmen of Colby. The team included co-captains Skip Tolette & Doug Thompson, Pete Loring, Mike Ferber, Andy Sheldon, and Alden Wentworth. Scorers from Colby were Ralph Nelson and Sandy Savage.

Of the sixteen events which included fishing, speed chopping, fire building, log rolling, tree felling, and obstacle and portage events in the canoeing portion, the team took four first places. In the canoeing events held Sunday morning on Mud Pond in Old Town, the team took second place by accumulating 275 out of a possible 300 points. Although each competing school usually specializes in certain events, this year the competition was varied enough to require a well-balanced team able to do well in all events.

Other entrants in the week end competition included Dartmouth, Middlebury, Paul Smith, and Nichols, along with the host school, the University of Maine. It should be noted that the last three schools mentioned were represented by teams from their forestry departments, which are among the finest in the east.

start of a two run homer by catcher Dave Seddon in the first inning. Nichols went out ahead in the fifth, 4-3, but the frosh tied it up in the eighth.

Colby's big chance came in the last of the ninth when the frosh loaded the bases with none out. Then came Cooperman, relieving for Nichols, he struck out the side. The visitors went on to score two more runs in the tenth, but Cooperman again held Colby hitless, and the final score remained 6-4 Nichols.

In the game May 6 with Maine Central Institute, the Colby contingent recorded five runs, seven hits, no errors. Their guests showed no runs, two hits, and one error. Cal Pingree and Dave Seddon provided the batting power with two RBI's apiece, as the baby Mules coasted to their fourth win. Winner Ned Platner went 6 and two-thirds innings until he was relieved by Dave Long. Ace Tony Ferruci went to the mound for Colby in the eighth inning and allowed MOI no hits in the two innings he pitched.

Colby tied Husson in seven innings, 7-7, on Mayflower Hill on May 9. The baby Mules turned in seven runs, ten hits, and five errors while Husson's Indians recorded seven runs, seven hits, and five errors. Colby scored all its runs in the first three innings, but was unable to stop the Husson onslaught late in the game. Tink Wagner, Terry Mix, Dave Long, and Ned Platner all saw action on the home mound.

University of Maine

The U. of Maine also has a day similar to our Johnson Day. Work projects for cleaning up the campus are the main objective. In order to mix fun with work many other activities are in order for the day: Greek sing, a faculty-student show and a float parade. Each float is to portray a holiday in some part of the world. The day was founded by Maine's President Emeritus, Arthur Hauck, and his presence will be greatly missed this year, but the school hopes to carry on the tradition that he started.

Springfield College

Spring is sprung! And from the Springfield College "Student" we find reports of activities similar to what we see here at Colby. "Outside the girl's dorms, the ground crew basks in the sun and the airborne division clambers out of windows to the roof to sink into a state of complete relaxation. Here one can find a variety of costumes which could equal any theatrical production, ranging from the Hollywood type to the bath towel set."

This agenda was not put on the bulletin board, and therefore this is a second violation of the Constitution.

The third point, article 3 section 5 concerning the election committee;

"This committee shall work in conjunction with the president in supervising Student Government Association elections."

The election committee was not consulted and had no part in the election proceedings.

The fourth point, article 5 section 4;

"The newly elected officers shall attend all meetings with the present officers until they officially assume their duties the following September."

Thus, according to the Constitution and the By Laws, the new officers cannot be considered in office until September, 1958, and therefore, there has not been a legal meeting of the Council since the 7th day of April, 1958.

Since the Constitution was not followed in the recent voting, we wish to have it declared invalid, and to have a new vote taken according to the Constitution and By Laws.

Because of the violations which have been brought up in this article we feel that more than adequate evidence has been presented to substantiate the claim that the past election is invalid.

In view of the fact that this is such an important issue and that we feel that the results of this election are invalid we demand that this subject be reconsidered in the Student Government and in the form of a popular vote after all the provisions of the Constitution and By Laws have been complied with.

Is Cited In Digest

Most students are forced to undergo the ordeal of reading their work aloud in class, only to have it "torn apart" by tiger-bright fellow students and a caustic professor. Well, if you're one of these unfortunates, cheer up — you're in good company!

Such literary notables as T. S. Eliot, Walter Lippmann, John Dos Passos, Gilbert Seldes and Brooks Atkinson were once flayed by the whip-lash comments of probably the greatest exponent of the stinging critique — Professor Charles Townsend Copeland of Harvard.

Memories of "Copey," who hated to be called "professor," are recounted in the May Reader's Digest by J. Donald Adams, editor of "Speaking of Books," a column in the New York Times Book Review section.

Many a fledgling writer, Adams recalls, left a critical conference with Copey carrying murderous resentment in his heart. But there was also the "seething resolution to write just 20 pages which would show the beggar he was wrong."

As one writer put it, Copey used "the same hardness, absoluteness, lack of sympathy which the writer must later encounter, and which no friends or relatives will ever give him in judgment."

Copeland's imperious manner even cowed such writers as the late Heywood Broun, who called on his old professor unexpectedly one day after he had achieved fame as a columnist. "Go away, Heywood, I can't see you now," Copeland snapped; "come back at seven."

And Broun showed up at seven sharp, even though he had to delay his return to New York.

Only once was Copey "topped." Becoming impatient with a girl who walked in late to his Radcliffe classroom, Copeland asked feily, "And how will you have your tea, Miss Blank?" His victim replied sweetly, "With one lump, and no lemon please, Mr. Copeland."

But if his caustic wit was well-known, his generosity was equally famous. Many of his students remember him gratefully for his generous loans, his effective job recommendations and his encouragement of talent.

One indication of the esteem in which he was held lies in the fact that he was the only college teacher in the United States ever to have his own alumni association. Every spring for more than 30 years his former students gathered at the Harvard Club of New York on his birthday to do him honor.
