Neeley to Commission Graduating ROTC's

Brigadier General Richard C. Neeley

On June 6, eighteen seniors from Colby will be commissioned into the Armed Forces of the United States. Brigadier General Richard C. Neeley, Commander of the Sixth Air Division, will officiate.

General Neeley started his Air Force career after graduating from Stanford University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics in 1939. In the following year he received his wings and was commissioned as a second lieutenant. After serving as a flight instructor at various bases, the General was transferred to Headquarters, Tactical Air Force, Tenth Army in 1945. While serving in this capacity he flew several combat missions from Okinawa. From the end of the war in the Pacific until April 1947, he served as Deputy Director of Operations for Headquarters Air Mid-Pacific and Seventh Air Force at Hickham Field, Honolulu.

Upon his return to the United States in 1947, General Neeley returned to flight training as assistant to the Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations in the Air Training Command. From December 1950 until late 1951 the General participated in Project WIBAC, which proved to be the beginning moments of SAC's all-jet bomber fleet. During this period he flew the first jet over the North Pole.

Since 1953 General Neeley has moved from Air Force Bases in Missouri to Massachusetts and Georgia. During the 1961 Annual SAC Bombing, Navigation and Air Refueling Competition, General Neeley's bombers captured top honors.

In July 1962 Neeley was assigned Command of the Sixth Air Division, located at Dow Air Force Base. In this capacity he has control of the 397th Bombardment wing at Dow, the 416th Bombardment wing at Griffin A. F. B. in New York, and the 17th Bombardment Wing at Wright-Patterson A. F. B., Ohio.

Following his address, the General will commission Distinguished Cadet Norman E. Anderson, Jr., William F. Hendrickson, and Donald J. Short; Robert W. Drewes, also a Distinguished Cadet, will be commissioned at a later date. Also commissioned will be Jon Brassem, James Ellis, John Friberg, Bruce Henkle, John Kreideweis, Robert Metzler, Jr., Paul Palmer, Jr., Todd Sherman, Bruce Pritchard, Bernard Stupski, Jr., and Gerald Zohler. Michael Knox and Robert Woodward will be commissioned at a later date. The General will also commission John N. Lockwood Second Lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Glee Club To Present Annual Spring Concert

The Colby College Glee Club and the Waterville Area Community Chorus, with orchestral accompaniment will combine Sunday evening, May 17, to perform works by Johannes Brahms and Heinrich Schuetz.

Scheduled for 8:00 p.m. in Wadsworth Fieldhouse, the event is the third Annual Spring Concert presented by Colby College. In the past the programs have included the Berlioz Requiem, presented in 1962, and Mozart's Grand Mass in C Minor given a year ago. Featured this year will be Brahms' A German Requiem and the 84th Psalm by Schuetz.

The performance will be under the direction of Donald A. Slagel, who is replacing Professor Peter Re as Glee Club director this year. Slagel, an accomplished teacher and vocalist, is the music supervisor of public schools in Winslow.

A native of Indiana, Slagel received both his Bachelor's and his Masters degrees in Music at Indiana University and served two years with the U.S. Navy. From 1952-54 he taught at the Graham-Eckos School in Palm Beach, Florida, while also serving as general manager of the Adirondack Studio of Song at Lake George, N.Y. For four years he was stage manager for the American Savoyards and from 1958 until coming to Winslow in 1961 he was assistant to the associate editor at Chappel and Company, Inc., in New York City.

Slagel has studied privately with a number of well-known voice instructors and has sung under such conductors as Bernstein, Montoux, Ormandy, and Walter. He has performed numerous roles in operas, operettas, and musical comedies. He first came to Maine in the late 1950's in summer stock at the Gilbert and Sullivan Theatre in Monmouth.

Tickets are available for this concert. More than 150 vocalists from all parts of the state will participate.

Senator To Address Recognition Assembly

Colby's Annual Recognition Assembly will be held this year on Tuesday, May 19th, at 10:45 in Runnals Union. The speaker on this year will be Mr. Robert A. Marden, president of the Maine Senate. Marden is an alumnus of Colby and a graduate of the Boston University School of Law.

The purpose of the assembly is to give recognition to students who have attained superior achievement in the various phases of college life. Awards are given for scholarship and athletics as well as for other extra-curricular activities. The newly-elected members of Blue Key, the men's honor society, and Cap and Gown, the women's honor society, are announced in a tapping ceremony at this time.

Of special interest this year is a new scholarship, the Frederick F. Brewster Honor Scholarship. This scholarship was established early in 1964 by Mrs. Frederick Brewster, now deceased, in honor of her late husband. It will provide full tuition and other college expenses for the recipient, who will be chosen by the Committee on Scholarship and Financial Aid. The scholarship will be awarded annually.

Other honors and awards to be bestowed include announcement of newly-elected members of Phi Beta Kappa, Senior Scholars for next year, the recipient of the highly prized Condon Medal (selected by his classmates as the outstanding senior), and the award of the coveted Bixler Bowl to the fraternity "which has, as a group, contributed most constructively to the overall work of the college program."

New Officers of MSA Prepare for Next Year

The newly created Men's Student Association has been formed as an answer to the many problems facing the male students of this campus. These problems include Fraternity-Independent relations, communication between the male student body and the administration, and student responsibility in self-government. The function of the M.S.A. is to examine the existing policies and to recommend improvements therein.

The voting membership of MSA will include two representatives from the Independent Men's Association, three from IFC, one from the Men's Judiciary board and the three officers. Participating membership is flexible enough to allow any interested male students to join and work.

One of the organization's major objectives is to formulate a set of standards and penalties by which the men's student body is to be governed. Such recommendations as may be made by MSA would, of course, be submitted by referendum to the male student body. Other phases of the male student life to be examined are the intermural athletic program, stimulation of interest in varsity athletics, social functions other than those governed by Stu-G and IFC, and possibly a series of special speakers. There is also tentatively planned a periodic open forum where male students may voice their grievances as well as their ideas concerning improvements in campus life.

The officers are:

Pres. Dave Fearon, a junior sociology major from Portland, Maine. Since transferring here from Springfield College after his freshman year, he has become a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, has

Editorial:

Judicial Changes Necessary

The creation of the newly elected Men's Student Association and the recent controversy over downtown apartments have served to point up certain deficiencies in the operation of the Men's Judiciary. Due to a total absence of any concrete rules or guides concerning the responsibility of male students with regard to keeping women out after their hours, the Men's Judiciary has been forced to decide if this particular offense is a "serious" offense against the college. Having to make this kind of judgment, with no written guides which are either known to the whole student body, or ideally, which have been created and agreed upon by the students, forces the members of the Judiciary to make a personal, subjective judgment which it should not be called upon to make. Women's Judiciary, on the other hand, has been slowly and steadily attempting to remove this kind of subjective "bug" from its system. They attempt to consider the case in terms only of the rule which has been broken, not in terms of the "morality" of the act which prompted the breaking of the rule. If the Powers That Be wish to pronounce an act which results in the breaking of a college rule as "immoral" that is their prerogative; to expect the judiciaries to make such a decision, when there is practically no consensus as to what is "moral," is asking them to take responsibilities which, if they are responsibilities at all, belong only to the administration.

Another problem which the Men's Judiciary feels it has to deal with, in addition to having few concrete guidelines upon which to base its decision, is its feeling that unusual and undue pressure has often been put on it by the Dean of Men. Because the Dean defines an offense as "serious," the board, even if it feels that he is demanding much too strict a treatment, will, nonetheless, very often feel compelled to decide that it is, indeed, a "serious" offense. A few rules, guidelines, would give the Judiciary some sense of the kind of responsibility which is involved. If the offense is dealt with strictly in terms of the rule broken, A RULE THAT HAS BEEN AGREED UPON BY THE MALE STUDENT BODY, then this kind of foggy atmosphere can be cleared away and the judgments of the two judiciaries can be based on the same criteria.

Having a few more written rules would not necessarily affect in any way the Judiciary's oft stated desire to treat all cases individually. As long as there is no IBM — like relation between offense and punishment, this kind of situation could give the Judiciary far more room to treat each case in its individual terms since it would not have to waste time deciding what had actually been done and how morally serious it was.

Newly elected M.S.A. President Dave Fearon has proposed that M.S.A. concern itself with revising the men's rules. A much more realistic kind of suggestion would be that the Men's Judiciary perform the same kind of function as is performed by the Women's Judiciary, that is, to propose and discuss changes in the rules governing the male student body, with these proposals being approved or rejected by the men's student body itself. This latter business could be carried out under the auspices of M.S.A.

Governor Welch of Indiana, whose speaking engagement was cancelled due to campaign pressures, will be at Colby Monday, May 18. He is scheduled to speak at 8:00 p.m. in Given Auditorium.

Letter To Editor

To the Editor:

Overhead there is a tower, a gleaming white tower, and a young man in a white shirt sees the sun caressing, smashing against the white tower and the young man says nothing. He can only wonder. And he hopes. Somehow, deep within him, he hopes that he has arrived, that a resounding future lies before him, and he smiles. Somehow he smiles. And the first year, the harmonic first of the chromatic four, begins.

They come in droves, hundreds of them. The earth pulsates beneath their throbbing feet. They run, walk, crawl, creep through many doors, their hands holding blue, black, orange, pink, red parcels, things of knowledge, things which speak in letters, and to those who listen the letters say much of value. To others they say little or nothing. But they speak, and somehow there are some who listen.

The years go by quickly. There are games played and lost, groups joined and forgotten. There are hands which grasp and grip and then ultimately loosen. There is laughter and there are tears and the few chastise the many and the many the few and at times the few are angry and the many sad but somehow they smile, in the end they all smile.

And then it is over. Suddenly, sadly, softly it is over. A young man in a black robe walks upon the many moist grasses of past fortune and despair. Deep within him a voice cries for answers but there are none given and he must wait, ultimately he must wait.

The tower is bright with light and the youth grown older walks apart from the confining hill upon which it stands. It is over and he has been angry and he has been sad, but somehow he says: "Thank you." In that one brief moment he says, "Thank you." And then he is gone, blending morosely with the distant horizon of the Western world, forgotten by all, forgetting many, but still, somehow, a bit the better for it all.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT REPORTS

May 11, 1964

A regular meeting of the Council was called to order at 7:00 p.m. by President Bill Neil. The secretary's minutes were read and approved. The treasurer reported a cash balance of $330.60 and a sinking fund balance of $125.78. The senior class, Mary Low, and Student League were not represented.

COMMITTEE REPORTS:

1. Buildings and Grounds Committee — Lew Krinsky, Chairman

a) In regard to the motion tabled last week concerning the Spa, Lew reported that this was not an area of chronic need and therefore, the issue has been dropped.

b) Lew announced that carrel reserve boxes will be set up in the cubes and the third floor study rooms this week.

2. Academic Life Committee — Stu Rakoff, Chairman

a) Stu announced that he hoped the new Library hours would go into effect before the end of the week.

b) the Council unanimously accepted the combined recommendations of the Academic Life and Buildings and Grounds Committees which read as follows:

(1) In partial alleviation of the study area problem, the Committees recommend that Rooms 207C and 207D in Miller Library be renovated. By knocking out the partition separating them, painting the walls, installing fluorescent lighting, and adding desks, tables, and chairs, a study area for approximately 30 students can be reasonably added to the Library's present capacity.

(2) The Lovejoy Building should remain open in the evening for studying. There should be, of course, no need for any change in the structure of the facilities. Simply stated, the building would be open for the great number of students who have already requested or inquired about the availability of Lovejoy. A satisfactory arrangement could certainly be worked concerning the building's use by evening seminars and the adult education division.

The Bingham Associates Fund has announced its fourth Student Seminar on Medicine as a Career at the New England Medical Center — Tufts University Medical School in Boston next September 8-11.

The Medical Preparation Committee has been asked to nominate qualified Colby Sophomores who are interested in attending this seminar in order to determine their own interest in a medical career.

The Bingham Associates Fund is an organization which is primarily interested in the public health problems of New England, particularly Maine. One of its projects is to assist in relieving the shortage of physicians in this state. They feel that one beneficial effort is recruiting into the medical profession students who have interests and contacts in Maine, in the hope that some of them may eventually return home to practice.

The previous seminars have been made up of students from the Maine Colleges, including five from Colby (Jon Pitman, Nancy Rankin, Susan Sawyer, Jon Vore and Andrew Woiland.) Our small numbers are due to the fact that two seminars have been scheduled at the same time as our opening classes. The seminars have been enthusiastically received. They have included talks and demonstrations by medical educators and visits to hospitals and medical laboratories in the Boston area. Any of the above students who attended can give you more information.

Any sophomore seriously considering medicine as a possible career choice is invited to discuss the possibility of attendance with me. The most desired students for this program are those who are academically able but who have some doubt as to their real motivation toward medicine. The committed premedical student, the person who is certain he wants to go to medical school, has the hearty blessing of BAF, and their hope that he will return to Maine, but this Seminar is not designed for him.

The committed premedical student, please see Dr. Robert L. Torrey before May 21st. The final selection of participants will be made by the BAF and announced early in the summer.

There are numerous signs plastered in about every conceivable spot on this campus; all suggesting that we "start something." I, for one, would like to start an investigation to find out who is responsible for all the ridiculous signs which clutter the bulletin boards, smear the walls, and deface just about all the trees on campus. Do I want to make something of it? Yeah! I want to make everybody see how ridiculous some of these signs are.

According to Fairfield Police, Gregg was driving his convertible around a sharp curve of the road in the Nye's Corner area when he lost control of the machine.

The Winkin Decade: Baseball Excellence

By Derek Schuster

THOUGH COLBY'S accomplishments on the athletic field have been properly subordinated in its striving for academic excellence, the student-athlete files through the Mayflower Hill portals with increasing frequency.

Whereas the Colby recruiting staff used to be bumping heads with counterparts from some of New England's more obscure institutions, it has recently found itself in competition with many of the Ivy League colleges. Somehow before and during this transition Colby baseball coach John Winkin has always emerged from what has become a recruiting rat race with results indicative of his intensive efforts.

ALONG WITH WINKIN'S once-defeated soccer team, which went to the Atlantic Coast Championships, it seems that the Mule baseball squad alone stands in a position to shed any degree of athletic glory on Colby. Though the college's tennis, golf, and track teams can all regretfully be located on the lowest echelons of the ladder in their quests for Maine State trophies, the Mule nine seems ready to supplement its Rollins tournament crown with at least a partial claim to the Maine championship, for the tenth consecutive year. With Monday's 7-3 conquest of Bowdoin, the Mules have, as this issue goes to press, grasped a 2-game lead over all the state rivals. Barring an unforeseen lapse, the Mules seem headed for either the College or University Division of the June NCAA Regionals. So far, the greatest stigma on the Mules' 1964 achievements has been an inexcusable double loss to American International College in a twin bill marred by fourteen errors and twenty-four Colby men left on base.

SINCE WINKIN ASSUMED the coaching reins of the baseball team ten years ago, his charges have accumulated a glossy 104-36 record in New England competition, never encountering a losing season. This praiseworthy performance has proceeded directly from Winkin's thorough recruiting job in Maine's secondary schools. Such solid varsity diamondmen as Mike Knox, Ken Reed, Bill Cottle, Ken Stone, Ed Phillips, and Dave Lowell, as well as freshmen Pete Haigis, Ken Lilly, Roger Valliere, and Bob Kimball stand as handy examples of the home-groomed nuclei of Winkin's teams.

The coach sees a strong up-the-middle combination (pitcher, short-stop, second base, catcher, center field) as the essential ingredient of a consistent winner. This requirement has been filled with greater competence than had been expected as sophomores Sal Manforte and Ed Phillips have blossomed into fixtures at second base and on the mound respectively. Furthermore, Reed has developed into the slick-center fielder the Mules have possessed in recent annals.

WINKIN TAKES PARTICULAR delight in his successful platooning experiments which have enabled him to give his sophomores considerable game experience. In fact neither Bill Snow nor Pete Wagner, who have recently been sharing an outfield position, even made the Florida trip; but this pair has helped support the batting efforts of veterans Bruce Waldman and Billy Leighton and newcomers Reed and Manforte.

THOUGH WEDNESDAY'S COLBY Invitational track meet was re-scheduled for sometime next year, Coach Ken Weinbel is sending a healthy contingent to Lewiston tomorrow to enter the Eastern Intercollegiate Championships.

Dick Gilmore will compete in the broad jump and triple jump in an attempt to top his own Colby record of 43' 9½" in the latter event. Bruce Barker, riding the crest of a second place performance in the recent state meet, will represent the Mules in the shot-put. Also Ken Astor and Bob Tripp will enter the discus and high jump events res-

But Baby Mules Remain Undefeated

UNH 2nd Colby Net Victim

by Al Filadoro

Sophomore Dag Williamson seems at this point to be the brightest light on the otherwise not so bright varsity tennis scene. In the past three matches he has been the only singles player to sweep his matches, only one of which went the limit of three sets.

Another sophomore, Dick Dunnell, has also won three out of his last four singles matches playing in the sixth position.

As a team, however, the Mules have not fared so well, winning a lone match against UNH in their last four outings.

Among these losses are two to the Bates Bobcats, and one to the Black Bears of Bowdoin. Bowdoin won, 7-2, Bates, 7-2 and 6-3, while the Mules shut out UNH 9-0.

One comment which UNH mentor Olson made after the game was, "We've lost like this before, but never as fast as this." The most amazing event in this match was that Jack Meehan lost only two points during his 6-0, 6-0 victory over John Meehan.

Meanwhile the Baby Mule net squad still remains undefeated after five matches. In their most recent showings they have downed Bowdoin, 6-3, Kent's Hill, 6-3, and UMaine, 8-1. Thus far Terry Stratton has held down the number one spot with Rick Barrie, Nick Jansen, Geoff Currier, Fred Hopengarten and Bob Gruber rounding out the singles lineup. Derek Schuster and John O'Reilly have seen action at third doubles.

To this date the toughest competition that the Mules have faced was against the Bowdoin Frosh whom they defeated, 6-3. Stratton displaying his best form to date, defeated the number one player in Virginia, Spencer Smith, in a thrilling match.

The next varsity meet will be tomorrow at UMaine. The Frosh appear on the home court this afternoon against the St. Dom's Saints.

THOUGH THE COLBY tennis team has as yet only been able to master two victories, steadily fine performances have been turned in by number two man Dag Williamson, seen hitting a backhand here.

Mules Fourth In Maine Golf

by James Quirk

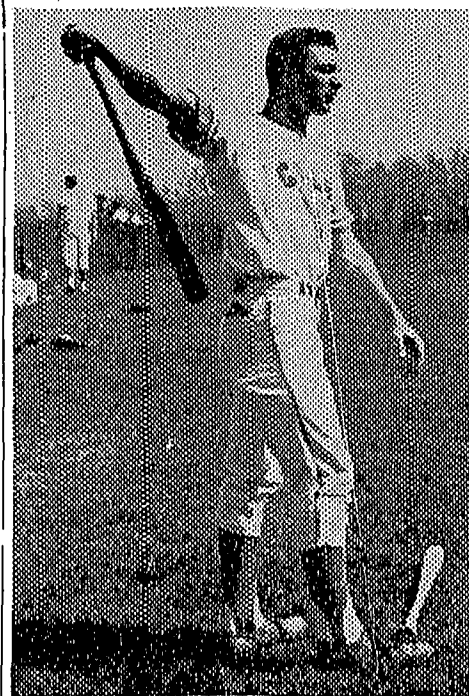

Though facing the frustration of defeat at every turn, Colby's varsity golf team is yet striving for the success which has proved so elusive in MIAA competition.

Playing each of the other State Series teams three times, the Mules have been unable to escape fourth place, as Bowdoin, Maine, and Bates have dominated state competition.

In spite of the Mayflower Hill crew's cellar standings, however, the linksmen's prospects are far from dismal. Though finishing fourth at Lewiston and at Orono, they defeated Bates for third place in the series played at Brunswick. The fact that the final match — an MIAA quadrangular meet — will be held at Waterville on a familiar course may well bode better things for the Blue and Grey linksmen in their drive for better State Series position.

Having played this match on Monday, the Colby seven will journey to Augusta the following day for the State Tournament, where the Mules' ace John McNabb is a definite threat. McNabb turned in a very creditable showing in the New England Tournament, finishing third of more than 150 competitors, far ahead of any other Maine representative.

Cindermen Subjected To Last Place Finish In State Meet At U. Of Maine

Colby's Varsity track team came in last in the 65th State Meet at Orono last Saturday. Maine led with 78 points; while Bates and Bowdoin followed with 56 and 32½. Although Colby scored only 9½ points, Saturday's performance was the Mules' best in the last six years.

Steve Freyer led the Mules with thirds in the broad jump and hop, step and jump. Bruce Barker took a second in the shot put; Tripp tied for second in the high jump; Chris Balsley took a third in the 100.

Maine's Bob Delaite, a triple winner in the shot put, discus and javelin, was awarded the Alan Hillman Memorial Trophy as the outstanding contestant. Fred Judkins, also of Maine, was the only record breaker of the cold drizzly afternoon, with a 9:24.3 two mile.

The Freshman track team came in second behind Deering in a quadrangular meet on May 7th. Deering had 79½ points; Colby 36, Bangor 20, Waterville 18½.

Chris Balsley was lead man for the Baby Mules with three wins in the three events he entered: the 100, 120 high hurdles, and 330 intermediates. Sol Hartman was also a winner in the 880.

Bulletin

In a skillfully played, spirited Johnson Day encounter the American and foreign contingents of the soccer team settled for a scoreless double overtime tie.

As soon as President Strider kicked out the first ball and referees Mike Loeb, who brought soccer to Colby, blew the opening whistle, the contest became a defensive struggle. Starring for the Internationals were John Chan, Pancho Luternauer, and Abou Sylla while Dave Kelley and Peter Ives pressed hard for the Yankees.

Monday's nine-error 13-5 freshman baseball setback by Bowdoin has lifted the Baby Mules tennis team into the position of being Colby's lone potentially undefeated team this year. Last week the freshmen netmen were especially impressive in registering their first defeat over Bowdoin in six years. Particularly outstanding members of the team are the individually undefeated second and third singles players and second doubles pair of Nick Jansen and Rick Barrie. . . Colby chessmen Jim Quirk, Chuck Cutler, John Ryan, Cary Knight, and Dave Oelerking will compete at Bates tomorrow.

Stevens New Captain Of Basketball Squad

For the third successive year a graduate of Deering High School has been elected captain of the Colby basketball team. Forward John Stevens was elected to the position by his teammates Monday evening.

Graduating captain Ken Stone, the highest scorer in the history of Maine State basketball, copped the Robert LaFleur Most Valuable Player Award while Larry Dyhrberg, a scrappy center, was announced at the same session as the recipient of the Most Improved Player award.

Stevens, the Mules' third leading scorer, follows in the footsteps of former Deering High stars Stone and Don Oberg, captain during the 1962-63 campaign. Oberg was presented with a medal for his high foul shooting percentage of 79% during the past season.
