The Editor of the CHAP-BOOK presents his compliments, and regrets that he is unable to use the manuscript which you kindly offered.

THE CAXTON BUILDING
CHICAGO

My dear friend,

My letter went off. I understand that you will not accept the gift book of mine.

about the same time - as we envisaged it - I put out tickets for some on the to meet them - Fresh water sums, for my hand (including) I am told, is due to the Earl You too - what is my claim standing. I try like you thought - the same by you my the last of all is most of your service

I got my friends to do and what in the morning change sums. I can't find the way my will yet.

and the morning I turned the end of my left hand finger, so it will be a little enlarged at first - But I'll be a number - to remedy of that hand is the on the morning and the

for some there are given it is what you make a kind of more you know there is why no. - I will - you you see if the same - and on the hand and I can confuse that you and the is: the your chapters -
