January 2009

Table of Contents
Talk About Future | Martin Connelly ’08 calls Gerry Hadden ’89 on the phone to talk about life, building yurts, having kids, and the timeless question: “When do you feel like a grownup?” Listen in.
Keyword: growingup

Giant Robot | Bruce Maxwell (computer science) tells why he is wild about robotics.
Keyword: robots

Haunting Reflection | Darshini Mahadevia ’10 on how the terrorist attacks in Mumbai struck very close to home.
Keyword: mumbai-attacks

Being Muslim | Muslim students and faculty share feelings about their religion and its use as a perjorative in the presidential election.
Keyword: muslim-campaign

Expatriate | Emily Goodnow ’09 explores the conflict of falling in love with an African place and culture only to find certain customs unacceptable.
Keyword: peace

Foreign Exchange | Qiamuddin Amiry ’09 and John Campbell ’09 not only dreamed of bringing high school students to Maine from Afghanistan, they did it.
Keyword: afghan-scholarships

Plugged In | Mark Jablonowski ’10 rose from intern to technology director in the Barack Obama campaign. Now he is charged with managing all of the technology for the inauguration.
Keyword: political-techie
A Taste of Colby

Nirakar Poudel '12 and Smriti Bajracharya '11, left, serve foods from their native Nepal to staff and students attending the International Food Festival in Page Commons in November. Poudel and Bajracharya are from Kathmandu.

Photo by Brian DiMento '10