Colby College is accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges. Membership in the association indicates that the institution has been carefully evaluated and found to meet standards agreed upon by qualified educators.

Colby College admits qualified students of any race, religion, age, or national or ethnic origin without regard to sex or handicapped status. It does not discriminate on the basis of such criteria in its educational or employment policies, or in its athletic, scholarship, loan, or other College-administered programs. Colby is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and operates in accordance with federal and state laws regarding nondiscrimination.

The College reserves the right in its sole judgment to make changes of any nature in its program, calendar, academic schedule, fees, deposits, or any other matters in this catalogue.

Colby College

Chartered as Maine Literary and Theological Institution by the General Court of Massachusetts, February 27, 1813. First classes, 1818. Authorized to confer degrees by the first legislature of Maine, June 19, 1820. First commencement, 1822. Name changed to Waterville College, February 5, 1821; changed to Colby University, January 23, 1867; changed to Colby College, January 25, 1899. An independent college for liberal arts for men and women (women first admitted, 1871), nonsectarian, and funded under Baptist auspices, Colby is the twelfth oldest independent liberal arts college in the country, the first previously all-male college to become coeducational, and the fifth oldest college in New England.

Corporate Name The President and Trustees of Colby College.

Degree Conferred Bachelor of Arts.

Enrollment 1,696 (opening, 1984).

Faculty 159 full-time and part-time.

Library 400,000 volumes and 1,600 subscriptions to periodicals.

Admission

Colby College admits students as candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Admission is selective, and evaluation is based on data concerning academic achievement and ability, as well as qualities of intellectual promise, interest and excitement in learning, character, and maturity.

The College actively seeks applicants who have special qualities or talents to contribute to the Colby community, as well as those who represent diverse geographical, racial, and economic backgrounds. Such candidates are expected to be within acceptable ranges of academic ability and preparation.

The quality of a candidate's preparation is judged by the academic record, the recommendations of school administrators and teachers, and results of tests administered by the College Board or by the American College Testing Program.

To ensure a common educational base, a minimum of 16 academic preparatory units is strongly recommended, including four in English, at least two in foreign language, three in college preparatory mathematics, two in history or social studies, two in laboratory science, and three in other college preparatory electives.

Colby College supports the efforts of secondary school officials and governing bodies to have their schools achieve regional accredited status to provide reliable assurance of the quality of the educational preparation of its applicants for admission.

Application Schedule
November 15: Deadline for filing applications for fall option early decision admission and financial aid. Notification: December 15.
December 1: Deadline for filing applications for midyear admission.
February 1: Deadline for filing applications for regular admission and financial aid.
March 15: Deadline for filing transfer applications and financial aid requests.
Mid-April: Notification of action by admissions committee and of financial aid awards to regular applicants.
May 1: Accepted regular applicants confirm intention to attend Colby by payment of $200 advance tuition deposit.
May 15: Notification of acceptance and financial aid awards given to transfer applicants.

Interviews
Interviews, though not required, are recommended and are available on campus from May 1 to January 31. Appointments may be scheduled between 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. on weekdays, and on Saturday mornings from August through January. Group information sessions are also available on these Saturday mornings.

Interviews with alumni can be arranged for students who are unable to visit the campus and would like some additional personal contact and information about the College.

Campus Visits
A visit is encouraged. Guides are normally available at the admissions office on weekdays, and tours are also possible on Saturday and Sunday afternoons when arrangements are made in advance. A list of motels near the campus is available from the admissions office.
High school seniors who wish to spend a night on campus may do so through the Colby Host Program. The program operates five days a week (Sunday through Thursday) throughout the academic year, with the exception of examination and vacation periods. Requests for accommodations through the host program should be directed to the admissions office at least two weeks prior to the visits. Accommodations are limited to one night.

For those driving, Colby is reached from the Maine Turnpike and I-95; Waterville is served by Greyhound Bus and Bar Harbor Airlines.

Admission Requirements

Colby requires either the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and three achievement tests— one of which should be English composition— or the ACT. The College Board SAT and achievement tests are preferred. A foreign language test is recommended for students seeking exemption from the language requirement. Required tests should be taken no later than January of the senior year. Early decision candidates must take these tests by November of their senior year. A request could be made by the applicant that test results be sent to Colby. Students taking the College Board tests should contact the College Board, P.O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey 08540 (or P.O. Box 1025, Berkeley, California 94701, for those living in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, or points farther west). Students taking ACT should make requests to P.O. Box 168, Iowa City, Iowa 52243.

Advanced Standing

Colby participates in the Advanced Placement Program of the College Board, providing academic credit for students qualified for advanced standing. Those interested take the College Board advanced placement tests and have their scores submitted to Colby for evaluation. Students scoring four or five receive automatic placement and credit from the College. Scores of three and below are evaluated by the academic department concerned.

Early Admission

A small number of students are admitted without completing the senior year of secondary school. This is done only upon the recommendation of the secondary school and when a candidate has exhausted the educational opportunities at the school. Considerations of academic and personal maturity are important to the candidate and to the College in earlier-than-usual admission.

Transfer Students and Veterans

First consideration in admission is for freshmen, but some transfer students are accepted each year. Admission by transfer is open to those with satisfactory academic and personal records from accredited colleges or universities.

Transfer application forms, including a special recommendation form, may be obtained from the admissions office. Credits from accredited institutions are generally accepted for courses comparable to ones offered at Colby in which grades of C or better are received. No more than 60 transferred credit hours may be applied toward a Colby degree.

Veterans may request advanced standing consideration for completion of service schools or USAFI courses in advance of matriculation. Credit is not granted for military service or College Level General Educational Development Tests.

Health Certificate

Before matriculation, each student must present a Colby College health certificate, which includes a physical examination to be completed and signed by the home physician. Evidence of tetanus toxoid immunization within the last five years and completed immunizations for measles, mumps, German measles, and polio are required to be recorded on the certificate. A current tuberculin test is required and, if positive, a chest X-ray. (This requirement is waived for those students who may have had a BCG vaccine.) Preregistration cannot be guaranteed unless all required forms are received two weeks prior to registration.

Nonmatriculated Students Application to enroll as a nonmatriculated student must be made to the dean of admissions, who has the responsibility for the admission of all students. Registration in individual courses requires the approval of the course instructor, and may be limited; matriculated students have priority in admission to courses with limited enrollments.

All persons seeking to take courses for credit must present evidence that they are qualified to pursue the intended courses, and must pay the established fee. A limited number of gifted Waterville area secondary students may be recommended by their schools to take a course for a nominal administrative charge. Adults from the Waterville area who are not degree candidates may qualify to take courses at one half the usual fee.

Persons wishing to enroll as auditing students must also apply to the dean of admissions, and are referred to the section “Auditing Courses” elsewhere in this catalogue.

International Students Colby has traditionally encouraged the enrollment of students from other countries and is actively engaged in programs of international cooperation and exchange.

Applicants to Colby must be able to understand and be understood in English. Oral and writing skills are essential for successful work at Colby. Colby requires the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and three achievement tests (if the tests are offered in a student’s home country). In addition, applicants who have attended a school in which the medium of instruction is not English are required to take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). Arrangements may be made to take these examinations in various centers throughout the world by writing to the College Board, P.O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey 08540, U.S.A. So that the results are sent promptly to Colby, please use the Colby College Examination Code No. 3280. United States embassies and consular offices can provide pertinent information on these examinations. They often have booklets describing the tests, and even have practice tests for your use.

Financial aid for international students is available in limited amounts. Applicants for financial aid should complete the Foreign Student’s Financial Aid Application and Declaration Form, which, upon request, is sent with Colby admissions materials. All applications are due in the admissions office, with supporting documents, by February 1.

Colby has an assistant dean of students for intercultural activities who serves as special adviser to foreign students.
Orientation

From the time of admission until they arrive on campus, new students are invited to make use of a “hot line” to the College to get answers to any questions they may have. An on-campus orientation program for freshmen and other new students is held just before the beginning of each new semester. The program includes an introduction to the intellectual and social life of the College, meetings with faculty and staff advisers, and placement examinations. Prior to the orientation, freshmen may participate in COOT (Colby Outdoor Orientation Trips), conducted by upperclassmen, faculty, and staff members.

Placement in Mathematics  A mathematics placement test will be given during the orientation period and scores will be made available prior to registration. The test should be taken by all students who intend to take Mathematics 121, 122, or 123, and will cover material from high school courses typically entitled “Algebra II” and “Precalculus.” The purpose of the test is to discover those students who would be well-advised to take (or re-take) precalculus before attempting calculus [it should be noted that precalculus is a non-credit course offered only in January]. Final decision on placement rests with the chairman of the mathematics department.

Freshmen who intend to register for a “no prerequisite course” [Mathematics 111, 112, or 115] need not take the placement test.

Freshmen who intend to register for Mathematics 221, 231, or 241 should consult with their advisers and with the mathematics department chairman. They need not take the placement test.

Placement in Foreign Languages  The College language requirement for 1985-86 is met at entrance by a score of 60 or more on the College Board language achievement test.

Students wishing to continue the study of a foreign language at Colby are encouraged to take the College Board achievement test in that language. The results are used to place the student at the appropriate level. If a student has not taken the College Board test and wishes to continue studying a language, he or she will be placed on the basis of a placement exam given during freshman week. Students whose College Board scores are more than a year old at the time of registration are also required to take the Colby placement exam.

Students who have had two or more years of language study may enroll in a course numbered 121 or 122 only if the department of modern foreign languages determines, on the basis of the College Board test or Colby’s placement test, that their preparation is not adequate for the 123, 124 level.

Placement for students who have scored 60 or above on the College Board language achievement test is done by consultation with the department.

Calendar of Payments 1985-86

Upon Acceptance for Admission: Admission deposit – new students only.

April 1: Attendance deposit for first semester – returning students only.

August 1: One half of annual basic charges, less admission or attendance deposit.

November 1: Attendance deposit for second semester – returning students only.

Deposits

Admission Deposit for All New Students: A nonrefundable deposit of $200 is due on or before the date of confirmation of intention to attend. This deposit is credited against the charges for the student’s initial semester of enrollment and will be forfeited if the student does not enroll.

Attendance Deposits: Returning students are required to pay a $200 attendance deposit prior to each semester. The first semester deposit is due April 1 and is nonrefundable after July 1. The second semester deposit is due November 1 and is immediately nonrefundable. The attendance deposit is credited against the charges for the respective semester. For a student who does not enroll, the deposit will be held as a credit for one year, after which it will be forfeited. A student who does not pay an attendance deposit by the due date will not be permitted to select housing or preregister for courses for the coming semester. The admission deposit satisfies this requirement for new students.

Basic Charges

Tuition: The tuition charge for a full-time student covers all schedules of nine or more credit hours. Students registered for fewer than nine credit hours will be charged at the rate of $360 per credit hour.

Board: The College offers a single board plan of 21 meals per week, required of all students living on campus.

Room: Students are expected to occupy College housing facilities to the full extent of their availability. Other arrangements may be made only with specific approval of the dean of students. Dormitory reservations are made through the office of the dean of students.

General Fee: The general fee is charged to all full-time students. Included in the general fee is an allocation for the Student Association and funding of College services. There are no additional fees for staff services in the student health center or for the student health-insurance plan that the College provides as part of its health-services package to all full-time students.

Miscellaneous Charges

Applied Music: A student receiving musical instruction under the applied-music program is charged a fee of $110 for a one-credit course and $180 for a two-credit course. Music majors will be exempt from this charge.

January Program: A January program that requires extensive travel, special materials, or highly specialized outside instruction carries a fee calculated to reflect the costs of the individual program. Such fees are published annually in the January program brochure.

Colby in Caen/Colby in Salamanca/Colby in Cork: In lieu of the regular charges for tuition, room, board, and general fee, an annual fee of $8,300 is charged to a student participating in the Colby in Caen or Colby in Salamanca program and an annual fee of $9,000 is charged to a student participating in the Colby in Cork program. Because of the nature of these programs, separate deadlines, deposits, and refund policies apply. Details are available in the Colby in Caen, Colby in Salamanca, and Colby in Cork brochures.

Cuernavaca/Dijon/Lübeck Semesters: For students participating in one of these programs, the regular basic charges of $6,680 per semester apply. Further information is available from the admissions office.

Fines: Fines are charged to a student's account for: failure to register automobiles, parking violations, late return of library books, late registration for academic programs, checks returned as uncollectible, and for disciplinary actions.

Damage to or Loss of College Property: A student who is responsible for damage to or loss of College property will be billed for the cost of the damage or loss. In addition, the student may be subject to disciplinary action including suspension or expulsion. If the responsible individual(s) cannot be identified, the cost of repair or replacement may be assessed on a pro rata basis to an appropriate group of students as determined by the dean of students.

Payment of Bills

Bills for basic charges are normally mailed two to four weeks before they are due. In addition, students receive statements of accounts at registration. Statements are also furnished in October and March, reflecting adjustments and miscellaneous charges.

Before students are permitted to register, accounts must be paid or satisfactory arrangements made with the business office. Deferments are not granted for pending loans or scholarships. It is the student's responsibility to ensure that these matters are resolved prior to registration or to pay the bill in full and then seek a refund when the loan or scholarship is finally disbursed. Payments are applied against charges in the order in which the charges appear on the student's account.

The College imposes penalties for late payments of charges. A student with outstanding bills to the College will not be permitted to graduate, receive grades and transcripts, or select housing and courses for a future semester.

Loan and Payment Plans

The College makes available three plans to assist students and their parents in financing a Colby education. The Colby Parent Loan Program allows qualified parents to borrow up to $3,000 per semester. Two other plans allowing monthly payments are available through the Richard C. Knight Insurance Agency, Inc., 53 Beacon Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02108, and Academic Manage-Refunds  In cases of voluntary withdrawal during the period for which a student has been billed, a student may be eligible for a refund of basic charges as follows:

- First two weeks of classes: 80%
- Third and fourth weeks of classes: 60%
- Fifth week of classes: 40%
- Sixth week of classes: 20%
- Thereafter: 0%

A pro rata refund of the basic charges will be made for a student who withdraws upon advice from the College physician. When a student is required to withdraw because of unsatisfactory conduct including academic dishonesty, no refund will be made. A refund will not be made until the withdrawal/leave process established by the dean of students is completed. This refund policy applies to off-campus Colby programs as well as the regular academic program on campus.

A refund of basic charges will be made to the source of payment in the following order of priority: (1) to federally funded scholarship and loan programs in accordance with the refund regulations pertinent to those programs, (2) to the Colby scholarship program to recognize the reduction in basic charges, (3) to the Colby loan programs to recognize the reduction of need that corresponds to a reduction in basic charges, (4) to outside scholarship programs, (5) to the student and/or parents.

A refund of raw food costs for the period of the January program is made to a student who has completed the first semester with a board contract and who does not live or eat on campus during the January program. A refund will be credited to the student's account at the beginning of the second semester. No other refunds are made for students who elect not to do an on-campus January program.
Financial Aid

Colby offers financial aid to students who evidence need as well as academic and personal promise. In an effort to insure equal access and opportunity for those from all socioeconomic backgrounds, Colby awards six million dollars annually in grants, loans, and campus employment to approximately 585 students, or 35 percent of the enrollment. The average award in 1985-86 is expected to be approximately $8,000. In addition, Colby administers the full range of federal and state financial aid programs, including Pell Grants, Supplemental Grants (SEOG), National Direct Student Loans, College Work-Study, and Guaranteed Student Loans.

As a member institution of the College Scholarship Service (CSS), Princeton, New Jersey, Colby requires new aid applicants to submit the Financial Aid Form to the CSS before February 15. An analysis of the form determines need within the context of College policy and the schedule of student fees.

As an additional financing option, Colby now offers parent loans. Each year, a $6,000 maximum loan is possible with interest at nine or eleven percent, depending on length of repayment.

Early decision applicants should request a special institutional application for financial aid before November 15 for Round 1 Early Decision candidates and before January 15 for Round 2 Early Decision candidates.

Students who seek more detailed information may write for the pamphlets Financial Aid at Colby College and Parent Loan Program or contact the director of financial aid.

As stated more fully in the section on "Academic Procedures" in this catalogue, the committee on academic standing reviews the records of all students at the end of each semester to determine if each is maintaining satisfactory academic progress. Decisions of this committee determine eligibility for financial aid as defined by federal regulations.

Committee decisions of dismissal (and, therefore, discontinuation of eligibility) may be appealed. When students have been readmitted after academic dismissal, federal Title IV assistance (to a maximum of ten semesters) will be awarded on a funds-available basis according to Colby's published funding priorities for financial aid. All standards are in accordance with AACRAO and NASFAA guidelines for self-regulation with respect to satisfactory progress.
Career Services

Colby's commitment to the liberal arts embraces the firm belief that the breadth and quality of a Colby education should be extended to include an equally broad choice of meaningful and rewarding career opportunities. Located in Roberts Union, the office of career services strives to acquaint students with career options, offers insight into various professions, and assists in preparation for the actual career search. Students, parents, and alumni are invited to visit the office to discuss career concerns, offer suggestions, and avail themselves of the facilities.

The staff works with academic advisers to assist undergraduates in the selection of courses and experiential options that best meet their individual interests and needs. An advisory committee, consisting of departmental representatives and members of the dormitory staff, is available for consultation and referral. Students considering careers in medicine, dentistry, law, and business are advised to meet with a member of the professional-preparation committees for each of these areas as early as possible in the freshman year.

The computer room and the career library, which includes extensive information on job-search techniques, current employment openings for permanent and summer positions, internships, and graduate-degree programs, are open daily, including evenings and weekends.

Students are encouraged to make an appointment to encounter SIGI (System of Interactive Guidance), a computer program that provides interest testing and value determination as well as information about hundreds of professions. Workshops on career exploration, résumé writing, and interviewing techniques can be as helpful to the underclassman seeking a summer job or January internship as to the senior seeking a permanent career opening. In addition, a lifetime reference file may be opened at any time, and a newsletter is distributed throughout the campus on a regular basis, listing current activities and programs as well as career-related opportunities.

Specific programs for seniors include a recruitment program, which brings representatives from graduate and professional schools to the campus in the fall and from corporations and government-service organizations in the spring. Information and applications for the Graduate Record Examinations, Graduate Management Admission Test, Law School Admission Test, National Teachers Examination, and the Foreign Service Examination can be obtained by seniors in the office, and all but the last two are administered at Colby at least once each year.

With the generous support of Colby graduates and parents of current students, a broad network of persons in various professions and widespread geographical locations has been established to assist students and alumni in career exploration. Parents and alumni have agreed to conduct informational interviews, be hosts for on-site visits, sponsor internships for January and the summer, and provide housing for interns and job seekers in their areas. Information on these opportunities can be obtained from the alumni liaison in the office of career services.
General Regulations

All students are responsible for knowledge of the regulations in the Student Handbook and in the annual catalogue. The handbook covers academic, administrative, and social regulations.

The College reserves the right to dismiss any student whose presence its officers believe to be detrimental to its general welfare.

Although authority regarding discipline is the ultimate responsibility of the dean of students, most cases requiring discipline of students are turned over by the dean to a judicial board comprised of students and faculty. The regulations of the board and the rights of students appearing before the board are described in the Student Handbook.

Attendance Although students are expected to attend classes regularly, each student is permitted two absences from each course in any given semester. Work missed by such absence is the student's responsibility. If the instructor deems it necessary, persistent student absence from class will be reported to the dean of students, and dismissal from the course without credit may result.

Official excuses are granted by the instructor for the following reasons: critical emergencies, athletic or other organizational trips, or illness certified by the College physician.

No student on academic probation may be excused from any class because of extracurricular or athletic activities.

Behavior The administrative officers of the College have a responsibility for maintaining and encouraging an atmosphere on campus consonant with the College's function as a community of students and teachers.

The trustees have delegated to various sectors of the College, including the Student Association, extensive autonomy in the conduct of student affairs. Students retain the right to organize their own personal lives and behavior within the standards agreed upon by the College community, so long as they do not interfere with the rights of others or with the educational process.

Colby is committed to maintaining a community in which persons of all ethnic groups, religious affiliations, and nationalities are welcome. The College will not tolerate racism, harassment, including sexual harassment, or intimidation of any kind; any student found guilty of such actions or of interfering with these goals will be subject to civil prosecution as well as suspension or expulsion from Colby.

Effective Commencement 1984, the College withdrew its recognition and support of its social fraternities and sororities and the trustees mandated that no rushing, pledging, or initiating of new members of fraternities or sororities would be permitted after January 1984. Students who pledge or who invite pledging in any fraternity or sorority will be subject to disciplinary action that could include suspension or expulsion.

The College has always encouraged temperance in the use of alcoholic beverages. Moreover, federal and state laws concerning alcohol and drugs must be observed. State of Maine laws forbid possession of alcohol by underaged persons. Abuse of drugs or alcohol that leads to disruptive behavior may result in dismissal. Students found guilty of misconduct off campus are subject to Colby sanctions as well as civil law prosecution.
Health Policy  Physicians in the Colby College health services treat students on the same basis as community physicians treat the patients under their care.

The College feels that the best interests of students are served by having full medical counseling and treatment from physicians thoroughly informed about personal medical history.

The College respects the rights of these physicians to use their professional judgment in meeting the health needs of students.

Upon recommendation of the College physician, the College reserves the right to require a student to withdraw for medical reasons. If, in the doctor's opinion, a student becomes unable to carry on normal student functions, or when his presence is or may become a hazard to himself or others, withdrawal will be required. Following any medical withdrawal, recommendations from the College physician are required before the student is readmitted to the College.

The officers, faculty, and medical staff of the College reserve the right to refuse to divulge information regarding a student's psychological or psychiatric condition or matters of an intimate nature without the student's authorization.

Housing and Student Living  Students are housed in four Residential Commons, accommodating between 300-500 students each. Individual residence hall sizes range from 30 to 200 students per building. All class years are housed in each building.

Except for some area students who may live at home with the permission of the College, all freshmen are required to live in College housing as assigned by the dean of students office. All resident students are required to subscribe to the on-campus board plan. The College has charge of the maintenance and security of its buildings.

In special circumstances, limited numbers of upperclass students are permitted to live off campus, with permission from the dean of students.

Student Records  Colby complies with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, which establishes the right of students to inspect and review their education records and provides guidelines for the correction of inaccurate or misleading data. Complete guidelines used by the College for compliance with the act are printed in the Student Handbook and may be obtained at the dean of students office.
The Library

Miller Library has been extensively renovated and enlarged with a new addition that dramatically increased accommodations for readers, book collections, and staff. The library furnishes printed and audiovisual material for assigned and recreational reading, reference, research, and independent study. The main building is open from early morning until late at night during the academic year, and mornings and afternoons each weekday in summer. Study areas and a computer room with 24 terminals are open 24 hours a day. Miller Library houses the humanities and social science collections, College archives, and special collections.

An open-stack system allows browsing through the collection of 400,000 volumes. The library has 1,600 current periodicals, with strong retrospective runs, and daily newspapers from this country and abroad. Miller Library is a selective depository for United States government documents. In addition, on file are specialized types of material such as microfilms of newspapers, periodicals, and documents, recordings, maps, and videotapes. The library is a member of the New England Library Network.

There are two libraries devoted to departmental collections. The Bixler Center has the Ambrose Coghill Cramer Room for the library of fine arts and music and has a fully equipped listening facility for 4,000 sound recordings. The science collections are housed in the Allyn-Smith Science Library in the Keyes Building.

Special collections of first editions and manuscripts in Miller Library have achieved international recognition. The Edwin Arlington Robinson Memorial Room, named for the famous Pulitzer Prize-winning Maine poet, contains his books, manuscripts, letters, and memorabilia. The Thomas Hardy Collection is one of the most extensive in the country. Other authors represented in the Robinson Room include A. E. Housman, Sarah Orne Jewett, Kenneth Roberts, Henry James, Willa Cather, John Masefield, William Dean Howells, and Thomas Mann.

The John and Catherine Healy Memorial Room contains the James Augustine Aloys Collection of Modern Irish Literature, with numerous inscribed copies, manuscripts, and holograph letters of William Butler Yeats, Sean O'Casey, James Joyce, George Bernard Shaw, and many others. The Healy Collection has 6,000 rare and critical sources representing the Irish Literary Renaissance, 1880-1940. The Alfred King Chapman Room houses the College archives, which hold over 100 manuscript files pertaining to Colby graduates, faculty, and staff dating from 13 to the present. Also included is an extensive collection of books by Colby graduates and faculty.

Audiovisual Center The audiovisual center in the Miller Library provides media services for the College community. In addition to offering the traditional equipment library and loan services, the center also produces educational materials and provides instruction in many media-related areas. Audiovisual maintains a full complement of equipment, from overhead projectors to portable video recorders.
The Commons Plan

In January 1984 the trustees approved a complete reorganization of residential life on the campus. In the fall of 1984, Colby created four distinct small communities, or "commons," each with its own dining facility and governing unit.

The Commons Plan offers a number of advantages to students. Housing of all kinds throughout the campus is available on an equal basis to all students, and students play a greater role in the control and governance of the public spaces within the commons, including the dining halls. Opportunities for the development and expression of individual student leadership come from involvement with the governing bodies and from organizing intellectual and social activities within the commons.

Students may reside within the same residence hall and commons for more than one year, so that friendships can more easily be formed and sustained throughout the college years and afterward.

A new student center will serve as a focus for the Commons Plan and as a forum for campus-wide social and program activities.

Lovejoy Commons is named for Elijah Parish Lovejoy, a graduate of the class of 1826, who became America's first martyr for the free press when he was killed by a pro-slavery mob in Alton, Illinois, in 1837. Lovejoy Commons includes Dana Hall and the residence halls of the Hillside Complex and The Heights.

Chaplin Commons, named for Jeremiah Chaplin, Colby's founder and first president who served from 1817-33, is comprised of Averill Hall, West Quad, and Grosvenor, Treworgy, Pierce, and Perkins-Wilson residence halls.

Johnson Commons is named for Franklin Winslow Johnson, Colby's fifteenth president (1929-42), who inspired the College's move to the Mayflower Hill campus. This commons includes Johnson Hall, East Quad, and the residence halls of Piper, Drummond, and Goddard-Hodgkins.

Mary Low Commons is named in honor of Colby's first woman graduate from the class of 1875. Included in this commons are the residence halls of Foss, Woodman, Coburn, and Mary Low.
The Bixler Art and Music Center is the focal point for the College's art program. Continuous exhibitions of works selected from the permanent collection, as well as inital and traveling shows, are to be seen in the Jetté Galleries of the Colby Museum of Art. The permanent collection features American and European painting, sculpture, and graphic art. Special collections are the Harold Trowbridge Pulsifer exhibition of Winslow Homer Paintings and Drawings, the American Heritage exhibition and the American Painters of the Impressionist Period Collection of Ediper Jetté and Ellerton Marcel Jetté, the Helen Warren and Willard Howe Cummings Collection of American Art, the John Marin Collection, the Adelaide Pearson Collection, the Bernat Collection of Oriental Ceramics and Bronzes, the Langenbach Collection of Watercolors by Charles Hovey Pepper, the Weiss Collection of Levine Graphics, and the William J. Pollock Collection of American Indian Rugs Jewelry (Navaho and Zuni).

The Friends of Art at Colby, organized in 1959, make substantial contributions to overall art program throughout the year.

The Archives of Maine Art, located at the Bixler Center, is a repository of information and documents about artists in Maine from the eighteenth century to the present.

In addition to the studio courses in the regular curriculum, workshops are maintained for extracurricular activities in ceramics, bookbinding, and photography.

The Bixler Center also contains painting and sculpture studios and gallery space for exhibitions in the Museum of Art.

Intercollegiate Athletics

Athletics for men include varsity teams in football, soccer, basketball, hockey, lacrosse, golf, baseball, tennis, cross-country, indoor and outdoor track, swimming, and squash. There are reserve varsity teams for men in soccer, basketball, and lacrosse. Rugby is a club sport for men and women. Skiing, crew, sailing are also coed club teams.

Varsity teams for women include field hockey, tennis, cross-country, soccer, swimming, ice hockey, basketball, squash, softball, lacrosse, and indoor and outdoor track. Men's reserve varsity teams compete in field hockey and lacrosse.

The rules that govern intercollegiate sports are those adopted by the athletic conferences in which Colby holds membership. Colby is a member of the New England Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, which also includes Amherst, Bates, Bowdoin, Connecticut College, Hamilton, Middlebury, Trinity, Tufts, Wesleyan, and Williams. Colby is also a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the Eastern College Athletic Conference, the Eastern Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women, and the Maine Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Men.

Intramurals

Programs in intramurals are on a coeducational basis; each student is to engage in the activities of his or her choice. Competition is organized in touch ball, soccer, basketball, ice hockey, volleyball, frisbee, table tennis, skiing, track, ash, swimming, softball, tennis, cross-country, marathon run, and basketball throw. Teams are divided into independent divisions, with a point system determining winners of each divisional trophy. Participation by all members of the College community is encouraged.
Lectures Throughout the year, outstanding scholars, musicians, and artists visit the campus. The Winthrop H. Smith Visiting Scholars Program invites a speaker for two days to lecture, talk in classes, and meet with students and faculty. Through a grant from IBM in 1983, the opportunity is provided to the mathematics, physics, chemistry, and administrative science departments, on a rotating basis, to present a lecture of related interest annually. The Clara M. Southworth Lecture examines subjects in environmental design. The Samuel and Esther Lipman Lectureship is devoted to Jewish studies and contemporary Jewish thought. The annual lecture by the Grossman Professor of Economics delves into current economic issues of significance. The Christian A. Johnson Lectures bring to Colby distinguished economists each year. The Lovejoy Convocation annually honors a member of the newspaper profession “who has contributed to the nation’s journalistic achievement.” The Kingsley H. Birge Memorial Lecture, established in 1982, seeks to bring to Colby distinguished persons to speak on the human experience, human potential, humane treatment of human beings. The Guy P. Gannett Lectures focus on gene subject areas not covered by other established lectures at the College. In addition, these established lectures, speakers are invited to the campus by the Friends of at Colby, student organizations, academic departments, and learned societies.

Music Musical activities converge in the Bixler Art and Music Center, which contains rehearsal and practice rooms as well as the 400-seat Given Auditorium and electronic music center. Facilities for musical theater and opera are provided in the Performing Arts Center, while Lorimer Chapel serves as a concert hall for large- and small-scale choral and orchestral concerts. The Gould Music Shell, placed in a natural bowl on the northeast corner of the campus, is available for outdoor concerts.

Students are invited to participate (with or without academic credit) in the Colby Community Symphony Orchestra, the Colby Chorale, the Colby Band, LoComoti (the Colby jazz band), and Lorimer Chapel Choir, all under faculty and staff direction. There are also informal student groups: the Colby Eight, the Colbyettes, and Tuxedo Junction.

Concerts by visiting artists are presented by the music department, by the Student Association, and by the Colby Community Music Associates, a group that sponsors a series of concerts to bring artists of international renown to the campus.

Performing Arts Colby offers an interdisciplinary major in performing art which includes courses offered by the departments of art, classics, English, modern languages, and music. In addition, Colby provides courses for non-majors and opportunities for practical experience in all the areas of theatrical production, dance, and music. The Strider Theater, the Dunn Dance Studio, a small cell- and music studios, and many spaces for musical performance serve as laboratories for the arts and as performance centers.

The Strider Theater has a flexible stage, shop, makeup rooms, and rehearsal space, Light and sound booths over the balcony command a full view of the stage.

Radio Colby WMHB-FM is a student-operated station with a Class D noncommercial license from the Federal Communications Commission. From studios in Robert Union, the station broadcasts throughout the day and evening during the academic year.

Religion Colby College was founded by New England Baptists, and although does not now maintain a formal relationship with any denomination, the Colle ports and encourages an ecumenical ministry on the campus. There are Catholic, Jewish, and Protestant chaplains.

Student Organizations More than 60 student organizations are chartered by the college. Academic societies are Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Delta Pi (Spanish honor society), Chi Epsilon Mu (chemistry), Sigma Pi Sigma (physics), Delta Phi Alpha (German), Pi Sigma Alpha (political science), and Psi Chi (psychology). Student publications include the weekly newspaper, The Colby Echo; the yearbook, The Oracle; and UOD, devoted to art, literature, and photography.

Service organizations are Better Alcohol Responsibility (B.A.R.), Big Brother/Big Sister, Colby Environmental Council, and Student Primary Emergency Care Systems (ECS).

Other groups include the American Chemical Society, Amnesty International, Bike Club, Chemistry Club, Coalition for Political Awareness, Coffeehouse Association, Crossfire, Colby Dancers, Colby Democrats, Colby for the Freeze, Colby International Club, Colby Model United Nations, Colby Outdoor Orientation Trips (COUT), Debate Club, Deutschklub (German club), Entrepreneurs' Club, French Club, Geology Club, Los Subrosa (Spanish club), Men's and Women's Rugby, North American Undergraduate Review, One Chop Stick (East Asian club), Outing Club, Pep Club, Photography Club, Pottery Club, Powder and Wig, Republican Club, Rowing Club, Sailing Club, Senior Arts Exhibition, Ski Club, Student Alumni Association, Student Arts Committee, Student Organization for Black and Hispanic Unity (BOHU), Table Tennis Club, Underwater Divers Association, WMHB, Winter Activities Association, Women's Group, and Woodsmen's Teams.

Religious organizations are B'nai B'rith Hillel, Chapel Services Group, Colby Christian Fellowship, and the Newman Club.

Here are other clubs and societies described under appropriate catalogue headings. In addition, each class acts as an organization, with elected officers, as do Commons Councils. Organizations and most activities, including film, lecture, concert series, are funded through the Student Association. Also, students are appointed by the Student Association to serve on College committees.
Colby Yesterday and Today

Colby’s History  In 1813, when Maine was still a part of Massachusetts, a group of Baptists secured a charter for the Maine Literary and Theological Institution, and in 1815 received a grant of land on the Penobscot River. Subsequently permitted to erect the institution on a site other than the land grant, they chose a tract in Waterville on the west bank of the Kennebec, where in 1818 the Reverend Jeremiah Chaplin began instruction of seven students.

The first legislature of Maine in 1820 granted the institution the right to confer degrees, and in 1821 changed the name to Waterville College, with Jeremiah Chaplin as the first president. William King, Maine’s first governor, had been instrumental in securing the original charter, and was himself for many years a member of the board of trustees.

When the Civil War threatened to force closing of the College, Gardner Colby, a prominent merchant of Newton Centre, Massachusetts, made a generous gift, and in 1867 the grateful trustees changed the name to Colby University. In 1899, sensing that the College had never become a university in fact, the board changed the name back to Colby College.

In the first class receiving degrees in 1822 was George Dana Boardman, pioneer in a long line of Colby missionaries to foreign lands. A graduate in 1826 was Elijash Parish Lovejoy, who suffered martyrdom for the cause of freedom of the press when his persistent antislavery articles led to his death at the hands of a mob in Alton, Illinois, at the age of 34.

Colby was the first formerly all-male college in New England to become coeducational. The College first admitted women in 1871, when Mary Low was the lone female student.

After World War I, Colby found its campus confined to 30 crowded acres hemmed in by the tracks of the Maine Central Railroad. On the campus were ten buildings while six others sprawled into the downtown area. In 1930 the trustees voted that “soon as feasible” the College must move to a new site.

For 20 years after this decision, despite the obstacles of a great depression and World War II, Colby was gradually transferred, between 1943 and 1952, to its new site on Mayflower Hill, on land given by the citizens of Waterville.

The growth of Colby since the transfer to Mayflower Hill has been striking. There are now 43 buildings and several playing fields. Enrollment has risen from 600 to 1,600, and students come from 42 states and 26 foreign countries. The faculty numbering 56 in 1940, now is 159. Endowment has increased from three million 40 million dollars. The physical expansion has been accompanied by growth in variety and quality of the curriculum.

Colby is a coeducational undergraduate college of liberal arts committed to the belief that the best preparation for life, and especially for the professions that require further specialized study, is a broad acquaintance with human knowledge rather than narrowly concentrated training in limited areas. Colby is committed to ideas and values as they are inherited from the past, as they are perceived in the present, and as they may be developed in the future.

In addition to a comprehensive investigation of our heritage, Colby students are encouraged to explore through their elective courses and to concentrate by choosing a major or interdisciplinary major.

Academic Requirements

Graduation Requirements  To qualify for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, a candidate must meet specific requirements in residence, quantity, quality, distribution, major, and January Program of Independent Study. Only those seniors who have met graduation requirements are eligible to participate in the commencement exercises. The following statements define the graduation requirements:

Residence Requirements  Candidates for the degree must earn in residence at least 60 credit hours with a 2.0 cumulative average. They must be resident students at Colby for at least four semesters, including the senior year. A resident student is defined as a full-time student taking at least 12 credit hours and paying tuition at the semester rate. Credits earned at another institution while concurrently registered at Colby may not be applied toward graduation requirements.

Quantity Requirements  A minimum of 120 semester credit hours.

Credit Requirements  Among the 120 credit hours required for graduation, up to 6 may be earned in courses taken on a pass/fail basis, and up to 15 may be praxis credits. Praxis credits include both practical and performance activities, and can be earned as field experience or in courses which are identified in their descriptions as carrying praxis credit.

Quality Requirements  A minimum of 240 points earned in 120 semester credit hours. For students entering Colby in September 1983 and later: a 2.0 cumulative grade point average.

For each credit hour, a mark of:
- earns four points.
- earns three points.
- earns two points.
- earns one point.
Each plus mark earned is:
- quality point per credit hour added.
Each minus mark is:
- quality point per credit hour deducted.
No points are earned:
- for marks below D-.
Two points are earned:
- for each credit hour of Cr in nongraded courses.

Distribution Requirements  No part of any requirement can be satisfied with pass/fail or praxis credits.

All-College Requirements

English Composition and Literature: Six credit hours. This requirement will be met by English 115 and 152.

Foreign Language (modern or ancient): This requirement may be met in one of three ways:
1) By attaining before entrance a score of 60 in a College Board foreign language achievement test.
(2) By successfully completing Colby's intensive language program in Cuernavaca, Mexico; Dijon, France; or Lübeck, West Germany. Open to freshmen, the program in Cuernavaca and Dijon are offered in the fall semester, while the Lübeck program is in the spring semester.

(3) By successfully completing a sequence of modern or classical language courses terminating with a course numbered above 123 in a modern language, or Greek 1\textsuperscript{c} or Latin 232. Students will be placed in the sequence according to ability.

Transfer students who have studied a foreign language not taught at Colby may fulfill the requirement by presenting evidence of having completed at an accredited institution, and with acceptable grades, the equivalent of a fourth semester of college study of that language. For foreign students whose native language is not English, knowledge of that language will be recognized as fulfilling the requirement, subject to testing by the department of modern foreign languages.

Division Requirements

A minimum of six credit hours in each of the divisions of humanities, social science and natural sciences. Three of the credit hours in the natural sciences must involve laboratory experience in appropriate courses in astronomy, biology, chemistry, geology, or physics.

Division of Humanities (Chairman, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR DAVID L. SIMON):

- Art
- Classics (except Ancient History)
- English (except 111, 115, and 152)
- Greek
- Latin
- Modern Foreign Languages (above the intermediate level)
- Music
- Performing Arts
- Philosophy 372
- Religion (all courses except 235)

Division of Social Sciences (Chairman, PROFESSOR L. SANDY MAISEL):

- Administrative Science
- Ancient History
- Anthropology
- Economics
- Education
- Government
- History
- Philosophy (all courses except 372)
- Psychology
- Religion 235
- Sociology

Division of Natural Sciences (Chairman, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR DAVID H. FIRMAGE):

- Astronomy
- Biology
- Chemistry
- Computer Science
- Geology
- Mathematics
- Physics

Division of Physical Education (Chairman, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR RICHARD J. MCGEE):

One year of physical education is required for graduation.
Major Requirement  Near the end of the freshman year, each student elects a tentative major in an area of concentration. The major may be chosen in a single subject, one of a number of designated combinations, or in an individually designed independent major. Students are encouraged to reexamine their choices of major during the sophomore year.

The respective academic departments and programs specify the courses constituting a major in each department or program. Before selecting a major, the student should read thoroughly the requirements detailed in the section “Courses of Study.”

With the consent of the departments or programs concerned, a student may change majors. Forms for officially effecting such change can be obtained from the registrar’s office.

Any student whose major average falls below 2.0 has lost the right to continue with that major. A student who has thus lost the major may, with the consent of the department or program concerned, be accepted or retained for one semester as a probationary major. No student other than a freshman may continue at the College without standing in a major. Each department or program designates the courses to be calculated in the major average.

A student may change majors at the end of the junior year if the equivalent of at least 12 credit hours, with a 2.0 average, has been earned in the new major. If, in the senior year, the average in courses completed toward the major falls below 2.0, the major requirement is not fulfilled, and the degree cannot be awarded.

Majors Offered  The College offers majors in the following concentrations:

- Administrative Science
- Art
- Biology
- Chemistry
- Classics
- Economics
- English
- French
- Geology
- German
- Government
- History
- Mathematics
- Music
- Philosophy
- Physics
- Psychology
- Religion
- Sociology
- Spanish

Specific options are available within the majors in biology, chemistry, economics, English, geology, government, mathematics, and sociology.

Combined Majors  Majors are offered in the following combined areas:

- Administrative Science-Mathematics
- Classics-English
- Classics-Philosophy
- Economics-Mathematics
- Geology-Biology
- Geology-Chemistry
- Philosophy-Mathematics
- Philosophy-Religion
- Psychology-Mathematics
- Geology-Biology

Interdepartmental Majors  Approved interdisciplinary majors are offered in the following areas:

- American Studies
- East Asian Studies
- Human Development
- Performing Arts

Major requirements are outlined in the section “Courses of Study.”
Independent Majors  A student may design an independent major by a detailed written proposal, prepared with the support of an adviser who agrees to assume responsibility for the program throughout its course. Normally there will be at least one other adviser who will help to shape and direct the program. The program must include integrated course work representing from one quarter to one third of the total credit hours required for graduation and an independent study in the senior year. Implementation requires the written approval of the independent major board, a subcommittee of the independent study committee. An annual report is required from each independent major and adviser, which will include any minor changes in the program; substantial changes, or a change of adviser, must be referred to the board. Inquiries about independent majors should be directed to the dean of students office.

January Program of Independent Study Requirement  The January Program of Independent Study, introduced in 1961-62, grew from a desire to extend to students a greater measure of academic responsibility. January is a period during which topics may be pursued single-mindedly, free from the competing demands of an orthodox curriculum. Because the January program assures most students considerable flexibility in use of their time, it permits them to participate more fully in extracurricular activities in athletics, drama, music, and other fields. While students are encouraged to attend the lectures, seminars, concerts, and art exhibitions scheduled by the College, they are expected to spend 30 to 40 hours a week on their January program topics.

To be eligible for graduation, each student must complete three January programs if in residence for four or more first semesters, or two if in residence for three or fewer first semesters. Freshmen are required to take January courses and are given preference in 100-level and most noncredit programs. Upperclass students may take courses or pursue independent study. The addition in 1982 of credit options for the January program allows students to reduce the number of credits for which they must register during semesters.

January program options are:
(1) Courses Offered for Credit. Some are created specifically for January; others, originally designed to be offered during semesters, may be modified for January. Such courses are graded in the same manner as semester courses, except that nongrade January courses will be marked credit or fail.
(2) Independent Study. This involves an academic project under the direct supervision of a Colby faculty member. Projects ordinarily involve the preparation of an extensive paper or other suitable indication of the student's independent research or artistic efforts. Two options exist for electing January independent study: (a) for course credit that can be applied toward graduation requirements, to be graded as in (1) above; and (b) for January program credit only, to be graded honors, pass, or fail.
(3) Field Experience and/or Internships. These projects are usually carried out away from the campus. Though students doing such projects do not work under the direct supervision of a faculty member, their programs require a faculty sponsor. Prax credits, either graded or nongraded as in (1) above, earned through field experience or internship may be applied toward the graduation requirements. Field experience and internships may be elected for January program credit only, to be graded honor pass, or fail.
(4) Noncredit Courses. These courses fulfill the January program requirement, but students do not earn course credit that can be applied toward the credit hours required for graduation. These courses may be offered by experts in fields not included in the regular curriculum, and will be graded honors, pass, or fail.
Other than the grades indicated above, marks of Abs (absent from final examina-) or Inc (work otherwise incomplete) may be given only in cases where the stu-ent has made an acceptable arrangement with the instructor. Grades of Abs and Inc ust be made up within limits set by the instructor and not later than the second day ollowing spring recess.

To enable students, in consultation with their advisers, to plan their curricula for year, descriptions of courses to be offered in January will be available during the ction of course period for first semester.

Registration for the January program takes place in October. Students failing to ister by the third day of the January program will be considered to have failed the ogram for that year, with the failure to be noted on official transcripts. A student oosing not to do a January program in any year must signify this decision on the istration form. Except under unusual circumstances, no more than one January ogram may be taken each year. Initial registrations, as well as any subsequent anges of January program registrations, must be properly filed at the registrar's ce. January program options in field experience and internships must also be apoved in advance by the field experience coordinator. Appropriate deadlines for the ass/fail option in January are established each year.

exemption by Examination  When appropriate, either all-college or division uirements, as well as certain requirements for the major, may be absolved by ex-nination without course enrollment, at the discretion of the department concerned.
gerally enrolled students may earn credit by examination in freshman- or ophomore-level courses to a maximum of 12 hours. Departmental examinations or ternal examinations approved by the department may be used, with credit given r the equivalent of at least C-level work. The cost of each examination is borne by e student.

transferred Credits  Courses taken at other institutions, in which grades of C or igher have been earned, may be credited toward the Colby degree under the condiions and circumstances listed below. In addition to the conditions listed below, strictions detailed in the section "Residence Requirements" (q.v.) should be read th care.

1) When students are admitted by transfer, their records are tentatively evaluated by e registrar to determine the transferable equivalent in Colby courses. These courses are credited subject to confirmation through satisfactory progress at Colby lege.

2) College-level courses taken on college campuses by students prior to matriculaon as freshmen are evaluated on the same basis as courses presented by new ransfer students.

3) Credits to be transferred toward a Colby degree by a matriculated student must approved in advance by the appropriate College authority. Forms on which to seek proval can be obtained from the following:

(a) For foreign study: coordinator of foreign study.

(b) For domestic exchange: dean of students office.

(c) For summer school courses, or courses to be taken while on leave of absence ther than exchange or foreign study: registrar.

4) No student may receive transfer credit for more than 14 credit hours taken in sumer school for the purpose of making up deficiencies incurred at Colby.

5) When a student who has been dropped from the College applies for readmission, courses taken during the period of separation are examined for transferable credit on the same basis as courses presented by new transfer students.

Requirement for Returning Students A student returning to college after an absence must meet any new requirements for graduation if fewer than 61 College credit hours had been earned prior to the absence. If more than 60 credits had been earned, the student may elect to meet either the new requirements or those in effect at the time of initial enrollment.

Student’s Responsibility Each student must be aware constantly of progress meeting requirements for graduation. If there is any question about an individual record, consult the registrar’s office. Each student must also be aware of deadlines within each academic year that pertain to academic actions; these are distributed each registration period as “Critical Dates.”

Academic Honesty Plagiarism, cheating, and other forms of academic dishonesty are serious offenses. The instructor may dismiss the offender from the course with a mark of F and may also report the case to the department chairman and the dean of students, who may impose other or additional penalties. A student is entitled to appeal charges of academic dishonesty to the appeals board. The decision of the board shall be final and binding unless overruled by the president of the College who has final authority and responsibility. Students are subject to suspension from the College whenever they are found guilty of academic dishonesty.

Without the explicit, written approval of the instructors involved, registration for two or more courses scheduled to meet concurrently is a form of academic dishonesty.
Academic Honors

The degree of Bachelor of Arts with honors is awarded in three grades: summa cum laude to those who obtain a 3.75 grade point average; magna cum laude to those with a 3.50 grade point average; cum laude to those with a 3.25 grade point average.

A second category of honors, entitled distinction in the major, is awarded to a student with the specific recommendation of the department. To be eligible, the student must have at least an average of 3.25 in the major. The department recommends distinction the major only for those very few students who, in the opinion of the department, merit special recognition.

In American colleges, it is generally considered that the highest honor an undergraduate can receive is election to Phi Beta Kappa. This society, founded in 1776, restricts its chapters to leading colleges and universities, and maintains high holastic standards. The Beta Chapter of Maine was organized at Colby in 1895.

Each spring, the College recognizes student achievement with the announcement of various honors and awards. Among those recognized are: members of Phi Beta Kappa; Senior Scholars for the ensuing year; and recipients of Phi Beta Kappa certificates, awarded to members of the three lower classes for distinction in scholarship.

Academic excellence is also recognized at a convocation each fall for the Julius Bixler and Charles A. Dana scholars. Bixler Scholars are the top-ranking students as determined by the academic records of the preceding year. Dana Scholars are selected on the basis of a strong academic performance and potential leadership.

The Dean's List, recognizing high academic standing, and announced at the conclusion of each semester, includes the name of every student whose average of all marks the previous semester has been at least 3.2 for upperclassmen (3.0 for freshmen) a minimum of 12 credits, exclusive of pass/fail credits. A student with any mark incomplete is not eligible for Dean's List.
Academic Programs

Senior Scholars  This honors program permits a limited number of seniors to devote six credit hours per semester to a project approved by the senior scholars committee and pursued under the guidance of a faculty member. A final report is judged by three faculty readers and, upon successful completion, the senior scholar's report is deposited in the College library. Senior scholars are cited in the commencement exercises.

Exchange Programs  Colby participates in student exchange programs with Fisk University in Tennessee, Howard University in Washington, D.C., and Pitzer and Pomona colleges in California. Ordinarily, exchanges are arranged for a single semester of the junior year. Each student pays tuition, board, and room charges at the home institution; travel is at the student's expense. Students may obtain information about exchange programs from the dean of students office.

A course exchange program is in effect with Bates, Bowdoin, and Thomas colleges: Students may obtain information from the registrar.

Interdisciplinary Studies  Interdisciplinary studies are governed by the Interdisciplinary Studies Council, Professor Phyllis Mannocchi, chairman. The council is comprised of the directors of the interdisciplinary programs.

Interdisciplinary studies offer three unique options. These options are the major, the concentration, and the course cluster.

An interdisciplinary studies program that offers a major has put together a high structured, integrated curriculum involving courses from two or more department together with those that might be offered by the program itself. Majors in interdisciplinary studies are offered in the following areas:

American Studies  Human Development
East Asian Studies  Performing Arts

Concentrations involve a coherent program of interdisciplinary studies, including a final integrating experience. Successful completion of a concentration will be noted on a student's transcript. Concentrations are offered in the following areas:

Education  Public Policy

Course clusters are four or more courses, in two or more departments, that share a perspective or subject matter but for which no formal synthesizing experience provided. Course clusters are offered in the following areas:

Black Studies  Women's Studies
Legal Studies

Information about courses included in each of the above options appears in the section "Courses of Study" under the specific heading.

Foreign-Language Semesters Abroad  Colby offers the opportunity for incomir freshmen and other students to satisfy the College's language requirement (and earn a semester's credit) by living abroad and studying the language intensivel Three programs will be in operation in 1985-86:

Colby in Cuernavaca: Now in its fourth year, this program allows students to learn Spanish in Cuernavaca, Mexico. Students reside with families, attend intensive language courses, and have a full schedule of excursions. The program is under th ervision of the resident director, Professor Henry Holland of the department of modern foreign languages, and is offered in the fall semester.

By in Dijon: This year for the first time a group of Colby students will study French intensively in Dijon, France. Under the direction of Professor Jean D. Bundy of the department of modern foreign languages, these students will be enrolled in a special section of the University of Dijon and will have a full program of cultural activities, excursions, and contacts with French people. The program is open to students who have completed French 122 at Colby or who have a minimum of three years of high school French with emphasis on oral skills. This program is offered in the fall semester.

By in Lübeck: During the spring semester, a new program will be offered in Lübeck, West Germany. Students will live with German families and study the German language intensively. The director of this program is Professor Hubert Kueter of the department of modern foreign languages. Students who have completed German 2 or who have a minimum of three years of high school German may apply. Additional information on these foreign-language semesters may be obtained from the admissions office (for incoming freshmen), the program directors, or the department of modern foreign languages.

Junior Year Abroad While students can find at Colby the courses needed for most general arts majors, many are attracted by the opportunity to study abroad. Students modern languages and literatures may want to spend a year in the country whose language they are studying. Art majors may want to study important works of art and architecture at first hand. Government, history, and economics majors may want to study in, as well as about, certain countries. American studies majors may want to study in a different perspective on their studies. Such programs are generally undertaken during part or all of the junior year.

Colby offers its own programs in France, Spain, and Ireland (see "Colby in Caen," "Colby in Salamanca," "Colby in Cork" below). For other programs, the College requires that students attend a recognized foreign university and be fully integrated into that university's program of study. Proposals to study abroad must be approved by the students' major departments and by the Foreign Study Council. This approval must be obtained before the period of study abroad if credit is to be transferred.

Students should begin inquiries early in the fall semester; some foreign universities have application deadlines as early as December 1. A grade point average of 2.7 is required for many of the programs; British universities require a 3.0 grade point average. The coordinator of foreign study will refer students to faculty members who are area advisers and will assist students with their applications.

Students on financial aid continue to receive that aid if the committee on foreign study approves their programs. For other financial possibilities, students should talk with the director of financial aid.

Some of the programs for foreign study offered by the College or available to Colby students are:

By in Caen: Colby offers a Junior Year Abroad program, in conjunction with Washington University in St. Louis, at the Université de Caen in France. Following a six-week orientation session in Paris (six credits), students begin classes in Caen, normally taking eight semester courses (24 credits), at least four of which are selected from a core program consisting of regular university courses supplemented by a weekly class meeting conducted by the course professor for the Colby group one. In completing their curriculum, students are free to enroll in any course offered in any division of the university. A faculty member from Colby or Washington...
University is in residence in Caen, serving as academic and personal adviser to the students in the group. Grades are assigned by the resident director after consultation with the faculty at Caen and appear on students' transcripts as Colby credits.

In addition to group excursions in the Paris area and in the provinces, students are encouraged to take part in French life through contact with host families, work in the Caen public school system, and activities organized by the Comédie de Caen, the Oratorio (Caen's chorale), the École des Beaux Arts, and the Conservatoire de musique.

The program is designed to provide an intensive language experience. All meetings and courses are conducted exclusively in French. Students are expected to speak only French while in France.

Further details are available from the department of modern foreign languages. The deadline for application is December 1.

Colby in Salamanca: The Colby in Salamanca-Junior Year Abroad program is an integrated academic and cultural experience designed for the motivated student who has a good command of the Spanish language. The formal academic program is comprised of two parts: a four-week orientation program in September, taught by the faculty of the Universidad de Salamanca, and academic course work from October to mid-June.

Although students may enroll in or audit any course at the Universidad de Salamanca, Colby and the University have developed a core curriculum for the American student, covering art, history, literature, and social or political science. In these disciplines the Colby in Salamanca participants, without their Spanish peers, attend weekly a fourth hour of class with their professors. In addition, teaching assistants will be available to help Colby in Salamanca students.

A Colby faculty member serves as resident director of the program. Grades will be assigned by the director in consultation with the faculty at Salamanca and in accordance with the Colby grading system.

Participants live with private families during the orientation period and in university dormitories during the academic year. Colby in Salamanca students have the option of taking only one semester's work in which case the grade achieved on the mid-year examination is considered a final grade.

For further information, consult the department of modern foreign languages.

Colby in Cork: Colby College inaugurates in 1985-86 a year-long program for junior at University College, Cork, one of the three major components of the Irish University system.

Students pursue a wide array of courses and are fully integrated into the academic and cultural life of the college, which includes a strong element of the Gaelic tradition. A Colby College faculty member is resident director, teaching regular university courses and providing support for the College's students. Those who satisfactorily complete the program are awarded 30 Colby credits for the year. Grades are assigned in consultation with University College faculty members in accordance with the College's grading system.

Students live in local housing accommodations arranged by the director, generally with families in homes housing several students and within easy reach of the university. The program begins in mid-September with a short orientation period and tours the academic year of three terms ends in mid-June.

For further information, consult J. Fraser Cocks, director of special collections, Colby College Library.

Study in Asia: The Associated Kyoto Program (AKP) is a Junior Year Abroad program...
Associated with Doshisha University in the ancient capital of Kyoto, Japan. Colby is one of 12 liberal arts colleges that jointly oversee the operations of the program. In pan, the program is directed by a senior Japanologist drawn from one of the member institutions. Study of the Japanese language is required. In addition to a minor taught by the director, students have the option to study Japanese culture, story, literature, economics, politics, and religion. Students are also assisted in selecting the appropriate university club for participation in cultural and/or athletic activity. Students are required to live with a Japanese "home-stay" family for the first semester. All credits are transferable to Colby.

Colby is directly involved in the China Cooperative Language Program sponsored by the Council on International Educational Exchange in the People's Republic of China. For information, see the director of East Asian studies.

Colby is a member of the Intercollegiate Sri Lanka Education (ISLE) consortium, which makes possible a semester of study at Kandy, Sri Lanka. The program features courses in the history, language, religion, and culture of Sri Lanka and South Asia, operates from August through November, and carries one semester's course credit at a cost approximately the same as a semester at Colby. Details are available from the department of philosophy and religion.

Study in the British Isles: The College has more or less formal arrangements with most British universities, among them the universities of Edinburgh and St. Andrews in Scotland, and in England the universities of Bristol, Essex, Kent, Reading, Sussex, Warwick, and York, as well as the University and King's colleges and the London School of Economics, all parts of the University of London. London School of Economics' senior tutor for general studies interviews students in Waterville each fall. Information on these and other universities is available from the area adviser.

Study on the Continent of Europe: In those countries where Colby does not have a program of study, students normally attend through programs conducted by other American universities. Wesleyan and Syracuse University are among those that have programs in Austria, Germany, and Italy. Programs are also available at the Pushkin Institute in Moscow. Information is available from the coordinator of foreign study.

Study in Canada: Some students attend the University of Toronto, McGill University, and other Canadian universities through an exchange program administered by the University of Maine at Orono. Details are available from the coordinator of foreign study.

Off-Campus Programs Qualified students may earn academic credit by undertaking off-campus field experiences or internships as participants in approved programs or by obtaining faculty sponsorship of an individual project or course of study. Such field experiences may supplement regular course work while in residence at the College, be done while on leave from the College, or can be completed in January or in the summer. Students must submit appropriate applications or a formal proposal for individual projects to the field experience coordinator in advance of the start of the experience. Students normally earn from one to six credits. In some cases, students earning Colby credits in such programs are charged an administrative fee.

The Colby in Washington semester is designed to provide an academically rigorous and pedagogically diversified intellectual and cultural experience for Colby students. The program is run in cooperation with The Washington Center, with direct oversight by a Colby faculty member who will be in residence in Washington. Students with a variety of majors will be able to take advantage of the program. Each spring, from the beginning of February to mid-May, a curriculum consisting of one seminar, a tutorial or independent project, and a 35-hour-per-week internship will be offered for 15 credit hours. This program will be open to a maximum of 15 students from the junior and sophomore classes. Application deadline for spring semester is September 30, 1985. For more information contact the Office of Career Services.

An opportunity is also provided for a limited number of Colby students in their sophomore and junior years to participate in the various Washington Semester Programs organized by The American University in Washington, D.C. Through these programs, students can obtain first-hand knowledge of the national government and it deals with the crucial problems of foreign policy, economic policy, criminal justice and urban affairs.

Colby is one of several institutions participating in the Williams College-Mystic Seaport Program in American Maritime Studies, a one-semester program offering courses in American maritime history and literature, marine policy, oceanography and marine ecology. Twelve days are spent at sea on a sailing vessel. In addition to formal course work, students develop maritime skills (e.g., celestial navigation, boat building, small-boat handling) under professional instruction. The program is accredited through Williams College.

In addition to these programs with which Colby has direct affiliation, information on a wide variety of other field experience opportunities is available in the Career Services Library.

Engineering Colby College, the University of Rochester, and Case Western Reserve University are affiliated in joint programs whereby a student may acquire an education in the liberal arts and also in engineering in a five-year period, with three years spent at Colby and two at either Rochester or Case Western Reserve. On successful completion of the program, the student is awarded a Bachelor of Arts degree from Colby and a Bachelor of Science in Engineering degree from the chosen university.

While at Colby, the engineering student must attain mastery of the necessary mathematics and science to support an intensive study of engineering that will follow, while gaining a broad grounding in the humanities and social sciences as well. Students graduating in this program are exempt from Colby's senior year in residence requirement, but all other graduation requirements must be met. The chairman of the physics department serves as adviser for this program, and should be consulted early in the student's Colby career.

Another option for the student who plans to be an engineer but also wants a liberal arts college education is a regular physics or chemistry major at Colby, followed by engineering studies in a graduate school.

Professional Preparation Many Colby graduates go on to study for advanced degrees in specialized areas of concentration; specific committees of the College are available for professional preparation advice in the following areas:

- Law and Government Service: The committee on professional preparation for law and government service advises students preparing for careers in these areas. Prelaw students may major in any field, but they will profit from early consultation with committee members on the courses that provide the strongest possible liberal arts background for the study of law.

- Medicine and Dentistry: Medical schools do not require a particular major but do require high academic standing and the inclusion of biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics, English, and foreign languages in the student's college program. Some dental schools admit applicants after three years, and sometimes after only two ars, of college work; however, the leading schools prefer students with a college degree, and have specific requirements in biology, chemistry, physics, and English.
The professional preparation committee for medicine and dentistry provides formal vising and other support.

Theology: Members of the department of philosophy and religion, in cooperation with the College chaplains, serve as advisers to students who plan to enter seminaries.

Computer Resources  Plans developed by the faculty and endorsed by the trustees will for continued increase in the use of computers in the curriculum. Instruction is offered in computer science, and key courses have been identified which introduce students to uses of computers in several disciplines. Computer literacy for all aduates is an objective. Facilities now offer highly sophisticated but very apdoable computing to a large number of simultaneous users. About 170 terminals many locations on the campus are connected through communications lines to veral time-sharing systems that run AT&T's UNIX operating system. Users may ogram in C, Pascal, FORTRAN-77, BASIC, LISP, or other languages, or they may

c existing programs for statistical analysis, dynamic modeling, text processing, data-base manipulation, graphics, or specific course-related exercises. Every student, non application, has free, unlimited use of these resources for any noncommercial urpose. Colby recently adopted the Apple Macintosh as its standard micro, and of"s it for sale at a discount through the College bookstore to students and faculty.

nty-five College-owned Macs are also available for student use in clusters on ampus.
Academic Procedures

Student's Program  The student at Colby normally takes from 12 to 18 credit hours in each semester, and one offering during the January term.

Each freshman has a faculty adviser to assist in planning the academic program. A new faculty adviser is assigned at the end of the freshman year when the student has tentatively selected a major.

Prospective students frequently ask what subjects they will study—especially in the freshman year. It would be misleading to present any specific pattern of courses for either of the first two years. The programs of individual students may vary widely because there is considerable latitude within the requirements. To prepare students for their lives in an increasingly complex society, students are encouraged to learn quantitative skills, to learn to write well, and to take courses that expose them to cultures other than their own.

To assure distribution among the divisions mentioned above, first-year students must include English composition and literature, a foreign language (unless exempted by examination), and courses to meet requirements in the humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences. Students are encouraged to elect subject areas that are new to them and are advised to avoid overconcentration in any department or division.

Students preparing for a scientific career or the study of medicine will begin electing scientific subjects at once. Many major departments in both the natural and social sciences recommend mathematics for the freshman year. The student and assigned adviser should discuss a prospective program, noting carefully the recommendations and requirements in areas of major study. The selection of a major at the end of the freshman year is by no means final; students are encouraged to explore alternatives throughout their sophomore year.

Academic Standing  A student's class standing is determined by the number of credit hours passed.
Freshman standing: fewer than 24 credit hours.
Sophomore standing: 24 to 53 credit hours.
Junior standing: 54 to 83 credit hours.
Senior standing: 84 or more credit hours.

Registration  Registration each semester takes place on a date specified in the College calendar.

In exceptional circumstances specified in advance in writing by the dean of students, a student will be permitted to register later than the seventh class day of each semester.

It is important that students understand the distinction between payment of fees and registration. Prior to registration, each student must complete payment of fees as specified by the treasurer, who is not authorized to defer such payment.

Election of Courses  Each semester, with the approval of their advisers, students elect programs of study for the following semester; these elections, with approve revisions, are confirmed during the registration period at the beginning of each semester. A student's academic program must have the adviser's approval and be properly filed with the registrar before credit will be granted for any course taken.
Until the eighth class day of the semester, and with the adviser's approval, voluntary changes in a student's program may be made. Any such changes must be filed with the registrar's office on the appropriate [add/drop] form.

Changes of section within a course must be approved by the department or course chairman, and are subject to the same deadlines as changes of course. Ordinarily, a course cannot be repeated for additional credit nor may a student register for two courses scheduled to meet concurrently.

No student may register for more than 18 credit hours in any semester unless one of the following stipulations is satisfied: (1) at least a 3.00 overall grade point average in two or more Colby semesters, (2) at least a 3.25 grade point average during the previous two semesters [cumulative], or (3) special permission from the faculty adviser(s) and the dean of students.

Marks A student may obtain marks from instructors, but the only official college record is that maintained in the registrar's office. Grade reports are issued in duplicate to the student at the end of each term; the College does not normally furnish parents with reports.

In regularly graded courses: Marks are ordinarily posted as A, B, C, D, and F, with _ or - appended to grades A through D. A mark below D- means failure.

In nongraded courses: During the semester, Cr indicates credit is earned; NC is recorded if credit is not earned. During January, Cr indicates credit for program; F is recorded if no credit is earned.

Abs signifies absent from final exam.

Inc signifies incomplete: a course not finished for some reason besides failure to take the final exam. A mark of Inc is valid only if appropriate arrangements have been made by the student with the instructor by the last class day of the semester.

Grades of Abs or Inc must be made up within limits set up by the instructor but not later than January 15 for the first semester or July 1 for the second semester. After these dates, any remaining mark of Abs or Inc will be changed to F unless the student has applied for, and circumstances warrant, an extension by the dean of students. For completion of work without penalty, extensions are considered for exceptional circumstances only.

Marks of W and WF indicate withdrawal from a course and represent the student's standing at the time of withdrawal. WF indicates that the student was failing. W indicates either passing or no basis for judgment. These marks are excluded from computation of all averages. Withdrawal is permitted through the final class day of the term.

F indicates failure or abandoning a course without permission.

Academic Review The committee on academic standing reviews all current student records at the end of each semester to determine that all enrolled students are making satisfactory progress toward the degree. Students who earn fewer than 12 credits or less than a 2.0 grade point average in any semester, exclusive of the January Program, are subject to being placed on probation or dismissed from the College by the committee. Only when there are compelling extenuating circumstances [e.g., illness, unusual personal problems] is it advisable for a student to carry fewer than 12 credits; such a reduced program must be approved by the dean of students.

A student who is on probation must earn 12 credits and a C (2.0) average in the subsequent semester. The January term will be considered as part of the full year's performance in evaluations made by the committee at the end of the second semester.
Students who have been dismissed may, after one year, apply to the committee for reinstatement; during the required interview the student must be prepared to demonstrate an improved commitment to scholarship.

Pass/Fail Students may elect a limited number of courses on a pass/fail basis; these cannot include distribution requirements. Most departments specify that major courses must be taken on a conventionally graded basis.

Forms for declaring pass/fail options can be obtained at the registrar's office. The form must be completed and returned by the end of the change of course period in the term in which the course is taken. A pass/fail election may be voluntarily revoked by a deadline established for each term. Letter grades submitted by instructors will be converted to "P" (for grades A through D-) or "NP" before being posted on permanent records. The registrar's office cannot release more specific information on the quality of the P, even upon request of the student who earned it.

Auditing Courses Adults who are not matriculated Colby students may register to audit courses at the College. Application to audit must be made with the dean of admissions; if approval is granted, forms for registering to audit specific courses must be obtained from the registrar's office. Permission to audit will be withheld if the class is already too large and if auditing applications for it are numerous.

A nonrefundable fee of $25 per course is charged for auditing; the fee is waived for persons 65 or more years of age. Members of the College staff and their spouses may audit courses without charge.

A matriculated Colby student may register to audit courses by obtaining written consent of the instructor and adviser. No auditing fee is charged; no credit is earned, and the audit is not recorded on the student's permanent record.

An auditor is not permitted to submit papers or perform any other function for which course credit is usually given. For this reason, auditing is seldom permitted in courses where the method of instruction involves significant individual attention and criticism. Under no circumstances can academic credit be given an auditor, nor can an audited course later be converted into an accredited course merely by paying the regular course fee. The decision whether the course is to be audited or taken for credit must be made at entry.

Hour Exams and Quizzes Hour exams will be scheduled with at least one week's notice. Short quizzes may be given without notice.

Semester Exams Six days are set aside at the close of each semester for exams in all courses. The registrar's office schedules the time and place of semester exams in all courses except those that are specifically exempted by the appropriate department chairman.

An excused absence for a semester exam is granted if:

1. The instructor gives permission because of illness or grave emergency.
2. The registrar has been notified of a valid conflict on the appropriate form, e.g., three exams on one day, four in consecutive order, or two courses with the same exam number (the last must be resolved at the time of registration).

A student with three exams scheduled in one day or four exams in sequence may choose the exam to be postponed.

A postponed exam may be taken on the designated make-up day or at another time subsequent to the scheduled exam agreeable to both the student and the instructor. There is no make-up for failed exams.

The mark for the exam may constitute up to half of the total course mark.
Reading Period  During the two weeks preceding the final examinations at the close of the second semester, a special reading period is scheduled for many courses numbered in the 300s and 400s. Not a time for review, this period frees the student from the routine of class meetings so that full time may be devoted to independent study of freshly assigned reading or laboratory work. Although classes do not meet, instructors are available for consultation. Reading-period assignments are tested in the final examinations to a maximum of one third of the examination time.

Whether to have a reading period is decided by each instructor, who informs students whether classes are to continue meeting during the two weeks. Reading periods are not held in courses exempted from final examinations.

Warnings  Throughout the semester, at the discretion of the professor, warnings are sent to students. A major warning means that a student’s average is below passing; minor warning means that a student’s average is barely passing.

Withdrawal, Leave of Absence  Students who leave Colby while a semester is in progress are required to withdraw formally, as are students who leave at the end of the semester with no definite plans for return. Students who withdraw are not permitted to return without special approval. Students who withdraw for medical reasons must have the permission of the College physician in order to apply for readmission. Eligibility for initial or continued financial assistance from the College will be subject to review and action by the financial aid committee.

Students who leave to participate in College-approved student programs elsewhere or who leave at the end of a semester for a specified period may take a leave of absence and are not required to obtain special permission in order to return. Those who do poorly in study programs elsewhere are, however, subject to review and action by the committee on academic standing.

Such withdrawals or leaves must be officially accomplished by filing the appropriate form, which must be obtained from and signed by the dean of students. The proper exit procedure, which includes the surrendering of the student’s identification card and dormitory keys, must be followed to be eligible for any refunds that may be due [see “Refunds”]. A student who leaves without official notification is not eligible for refunds, which are computed from the date on the approved notice.

Transcripts  Students and alumni may have official transcripts mailed to other institutions, prospective employers, or other designated recipients only by requesting them in writing; a transcript request form is available at the registrar’s office. The fee for this service is $1 per transcript after the first. Only courses taken at Colby are listed.
Courses of Study

Key to Symbols and Methods of Course Designation

Each course is known by a title, subject, and number: e.g., American Art is Art 271.

The first digit indicates the class or classes eligible to take the course:
- 000: noncredit January programs; freshmen have priority unless otherwise noted.
- 100: open to freshmen.
- 200: ordinarily open to sophomores and classes above.
- 300: ordinarily open only to juniors and seniors.
- 400: ordinarily restricted to seniors.

An odd number as the second digit: an independent semester course.
An even number as the second digit: either of a pair of closely related semester course not usually taken out of sequence, the first of which is prerequisite to the second.

An odd number as the third digit: course is given in the first semester.
An even number as the third digit: course is given in the second semester.

d with a 1 or 2: course is given out of semester sequence.

j: January program offering in current year.
[j]: course not offered in current year.
†: course will probably be offered in following year.
*: course will probably not be offered in following year.

Time and place of classes: a schedule of hours and rooms for courses listed in this catalogue is available at the registrar's office at registration periods.

Courses listed are subject to withdrawal at the discretion of the College administration.

Credit hours shown are per semester unless otherwise noted. Courses listing variable credit are offered primarily for the smaller number of credits. Students can earn augmented credit in these courses by completing such extra work as the instructor may specify. Subject to stricter deadlines as may be specified by the instructor, credit can be increased in a variable-credit course until midsemester or decreased until the last class day of the semester.

Acting Chairman, PROFESSOR YVONNE KNIGHT

Professor Knight; Associate Professors Myles Boylan and Leonard Reich; Assistant Professors John Bubar, Frederick Gautschi, and Elizabeth Fisher; Visiting Assistant Professor Mark McAuliffe; Instructor Charles Grim.

The administrative science major provides a broad exposure to the art and science of decision making in a variety of organizational settings. The program of study places emphasis on analytical and creative thinking as well as the requisite com municative skills. Course requirements are eclectic, drawing on the resources of other departments at Colby, and often complement the diverse interests a student may have. Many students select a dual major or the combined major in administrative science-mathematics.

Both public and private organizations are entering an era of sophisticated computer and communications technology. As this technology is integrated into an already complex political-social-economic environment, the importance of developing the skills necessary to manage organizations with wisdom and moral responsibility is as great as ever. The department is dedicated to applying intellectual rigor, sound value judgment, and imagination to the analysis of organizational problems and to the synthesis of multidisciplinary ideas for the design of administrative systems.

Requirements for the Major in Administrative Science

Administrative Science 221, 222, 321, 322, 413, 494; Mathematics 241, 242, or 381, 382, or 231 and one additional semester course selected from Mathematics 121, 122, 221, 222; Economics 131, 132; two semester courses in psychology or Sociology 121, 22; two semester courses in philosophy; two semester courses selected from the following: additional courses in administrative science, Economics 233, 234. No administrative science course may be taken pass/fail. None of the collateral courses used to satisfy major requirements may be taken pass/fail.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all administrative science courses taken, and to Economics 233, 234, when these courses are used to satisfy major requirements.

Requirements for the Major in Administrative Science-Mathematics

Administrative Science 221, 222, 321, 322, 413, 494; either Administrative Science 313 or 372; Economics 131, 132; at least six semester courses in mathematics, including 221, 222, 381, 382; two semester courses in psychology or Sociology 121, 122. Two courses in philosophy are recommended but not required. None of the courses required for the major may be taken pass/fail.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses in administrative science and mathematics.

On leave full year.

Part-time, first semester only.

221, 222 Accounting The underlying theory and analytical aspects of accounting as a control device and tool of management, including an examination of the role of accounting in modern society—its relationship to law, economics, and social policy. Three credit hours. MRS. KNIGHT AND INSTRUCTOR

231 Technology, Corporate Strategy, and Competition An examination of analytical and empirical research focused on the interactions between scientific progress, technological opportunities, competitive pressures, corporate strategy, and public policy towards science and technology. Consideration is given to [1] the technological evolution of industries and interactions with corporate strategy, [2] the role of science in promoting technological progress, and [3] the impact of public policies intended to increase the speed of diffusion of new technologies and encourage a more rapid pace of innovation. Prerequisite: Economics 132. Three credit hours. MS. FISHER

271] Introduction to Decision Making An examination of analytical, organizational, political, and cognitive theories of decision making. Consideration is given to risk and cost-benefit analysis, computer models, ethical decision making, group choice, and creativity. A case approach is used to enable students to apply theory to complex policy problems. Prerequisite: A concurrent course in statistics. Three credit hours.

272 The Computer and Decision Making
The philosophy, theory, and practice of computing as it applies to administrative decision making. The role of the computer as an intellectual tool is critically examined in the context of its current and potential societal applications. Consideration is given to programming techniques, management information systems, artificial intelligence, systems analysis and design, and decision support systems. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. INSTRUCTOR

298 Corporate Governance
The nature of the governance structure in profit and not-for-profit organizations, with emphasis on understanding the several relationships among corporate boards, management, stockholders, and clients in such organizations. Proposals for restructuring the governance mechanism are considered. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

[313] Introduction to Cybernetics
The science of communication and control. Concepts to be studied include change, information, feedback, variety, regulation, structure, environment, survival, adaptation, stability, self-organization, intelligence, paradox, self-reference, and autonomy. Applications to communications and control processes in organizations and the design of administrative systems are considered. Prerequisite: Mathematics 121. Three credit hours. MR. GAUTSCHI

321, 322 Finance
An analytically structured approach to decision making in the financial area. Money and capital markets are considered. Prerequisite: Administrative Science 221, 222 and Economics 131, 132 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. INSTRUCTOR

[333] Marketing
Development of the broad concept of marketing as an all-pervasive organizational and societal function, both domestically and internationally. Four credit hours.

334d1 Administration of Public and Social Service Organizations
An introduction to the theories and methodologies utilized in the administration of public and social service organizations: federal, state, and local government units, health care and educational institutions. Emphasis placed on the management tools and skills that best enable the organization to perform its function efficiently and effectively in an environment of constantly changing social and economic values. Prerequisite: Administrative Science 221, 222, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MRS. KNIGHT

336d1 Political and Social Environment of Businesses and Other Institutions
Relationships between the private sector and the changing sociopolitical environment in the American political economy, relationships between business and other institutions, influence of business on public values and policies, and the emerging characteristics of the sociopolitical environment. Three credit hours. MR. GAUTSCHI

†[341, 342] Advanced Accounting
Advanced study of accounting theory, with stress on analytical, interpretative, and managerial aspects of the subject. Concepts relating to major current accounting questions are examined. Prerequisite: Administrative Science 221, 222. Three credit hours.

53 Managerial Economics  The application of scientific methods, with an emphasis on economic modeling techniques, to administrative analysis and planning. Topics include decision theory, forecasting, demand analysis, cost estimation, pricing, promotion, productivity, and capital budgeting. Prerequisite: Administrative Science 221, 222 and Economics 131, 132. Mathematics 121 and 241 are recommended. Three credit hours.  INSTRUCTOR

54 Law  The processes of law that underlie personal and institutional relationships. Three credit hours.  INSTRUCTOR

371 Operations Analysis and Design  The study of concepts and tools for the analysis and design of sociotechnical operations. Applications in governmental, industrial, and service organizations are examined; economic planning, information and control, logistics and the human-machine interface. Prerequisite: Economics 131, 32 and Mathematics 231 or equivalent. Three credit hours.

372 Operations Research  The application of scientific methods to the study of organizational operations. The design of a research study and the process of model building. A research project is required. Students primarily interested in basic tools, as opposed to advanced methodology, should take Administrative Science 371. Prerequisite: Mathematics 121 and 231 or equivalent. Three credit hours.  INSTRUCTOR

397 Marketing Research Methods  An examination of a variety of multi-variate statistical techniques as applicable to research issues in administration. Students will be expected to develop a facility for using locally available statistical packages on the computer. Prerequisite: Previous coursework in statistics and permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  MR. GAUTSCHI

398 Corporate Social Responsibility/Business Ethics  An examination of a variety of views, both normative and descriptive, regarding the social role of business and business decision makers in the American political economy. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  MR. GAUTSCHI

411 The Consumer in Society  Consumer behavior is examined within the framework of the financial and social institutions that comprise our complex society. Emphasis is given to those aspects related to financial goals, alternatives, and decisions. Three credit hours.

412 Investments  Traditional concepts of investment analysis and an examination of recent scientific research on securities markets and other investments. Aberrations in market behavior due to crowd psychology are considered. Prerequisite: Administrative Science 221, 222, 321, 322. Three credit hours.  MRS. KNIGHT

413 Organizational Behavior  This course utilizes a historical and sociological orientation as it examines the existing empirical data and theoretical concepts dealing with the behavior of people in business and other organizations. Three credit hours.  MS. FISHER
491, 492 Independent Study  Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours.  FACULTY

494 Senior Seminar  Topics concerned with the broad administrative spectrum. Choice depends upon the interest and needs of the particular class. Prerequisite: Administrative Science 221, 222, 321, 322, 413, and two additional semester courses in administrative science or from the approved group (see major requirements). Four credit hours. American Studies

Director, PROFESSOR CHARLES BASSETT

ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Professors Bassett (English), Joel Bernard (History), Patrick Brancaccio (English), Dallas Browne (Anthropology, Black Studies), Fraser Cocks (Special Collections), Jack Foner (History), Frederick Geib (Sociology), Henry Gemery (Economics), Peter Harris (English), Yeager Hudson (Philosophy), Jane Hunter (History), Thomas Longstaff (Religion), David Lubin (American Studies and Art), Paul Machlin (Music), Sandy Maisel (Government), Phyllis Mannocchi (English), Deborah McDowell (English), Thomas Morrione (Sociology), Fred Moseley (Economics), Richard Moss (History), Harold Raymond (History), John Sweney (English), Robert Weisbrot (History); and five students majoring in American Studies.

A student majoring in American studies at Colby is taught—in single courses and through a combination of courses—the subject matter of America's past and present, with special effort devoted to the integration and knowledge of more than one academic discipline. Built around a core of courses in American history and American literature, the American studies program strives for genuinely interdisciplinary insights into the complexities of American thought and culture.

Requirements for the Major in American Studies

Five courses, to include a senior seminar or independent study course, in American history, coordinated chronologically or thematically with the required courses in American literature, and including courses at the 200, 300, and 400 levels.

Five courses, to include a senior seminar or independent study course, in American literature, coordinated chronologically or thematically with the required courses in American history, and including courses at the 200, 300, and 400 levels.

Note: By the end of the sophomore year, majors are required to have completed History 123, 124 (Survey of United States History) and English 251 and 252 (Major American Writers I and II). Sophomore majors are strongly urged to complete American Studies 271. Senior majors are required to complete American Studies 493 (Seminar in American Studies), which may be used to satisfy one of the senior seminar or independent study requirements in American history or American literature.

Additional courses with an American emphasis—coordinated with the approval of the major adviser according to chronology, theme, or method—to bring the total to at least 15 courses. These may be selected from a list available from the major adviser, and include offerings in administrative science, American studies, art, biology, economics, education, geology, government, music, philosophy, psychology, religion, and sociology.

Majors in American studies may apply during their junior year for selection for admission to the honors program. On successful completion of the work of the honors program and of the major, their graduation from the College will be noted as being with Honors in American Studies.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses offered toward the major. No requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail.

1On leave full year.
2On leave first semester.

†[258] American Character and Culture   Listed as History 258 (q.v.). Three or four credit hours.

271 Introduction to American Studies   Through a combination of lecture and discussion, we will focus on multiple aspects of American life (social, political, sexual, racial, artistic, musical, economic) to dispel contemporary nostalgia about the Truman and Eisenhower periods and gather instead a realistic sense of that era's relationship to our own. Among the cultural documents to be examined will be films, novels, paintings, architecture, and television. Four credit hours. MR. LUBIN

273j Introduction to American Material Culture   Seeks insight into the everyday lives of Americans at different times and places, with a focus on New England. Assumptions about the past will be formulated and tested by visual and historic graphic scrutiny of household artifacts, vernacular architecture, common landscape etc. A field trip and research project are required. Three credit hours. MR. LUBIN

274 The Female Experience in America   An introductory course that focuses on major issues in twentieth-century American women's lives and the second wave of the women's movement: the cycles of women's lives; women and creativity; women, race, and class; and women working for social change. Women's auto biographical writings, including fiction, diaries, memoirs, and oral histories by among others, Emma Goldman, Anaïs Nin, Meridel Le Sueur, Zora Neale Hurston, Lillian Hellman, Tillie Olsen, Rita Mae Brown, Anne Moody, Alice Walker, and Ma Sar ton, and documentaries on women's lives by contemporary filmmakers. Enrollment may be limited. Three credit hours. MS. MANNOCCI

276 Black Culture in America   An interdisciplinary examination of black cultural expression from the slave era to the present, including folk tales and beliefs blues, work songs, jazz, sermons, dance, and literature, tracing the stages of development of a distinctive black culture in America and its relationship to the historical, social, and political realities of black Americans. Three credit hours. MS. MCDOWELL American Visual Arts  Listed as Art 277, 278 (q.v.). Three credit hours.

Business Cycles in United States History  A focus on three major periods of depression in United States history: the 1830s and '40s, the 1870s and '90s, and the 30s. An analysis of the causes of the recurring depressions, and an examination of the effects of depressions on the structure of the economy, on government policies, and on the literature of the period. A brief consideration of the possibility of another serious depression in the future. Cross-listed as Economics 298. Prerequisite: Economics 131 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  MR. MOSELEY

Independent Study  Individual study of special problems in American studies in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor and the program director. One to four credit hours.  FACULTY

Seminar in American Studies  An interdisciplinary seminar incorporating theoretical approaches to the study of American thought and culture. Topics vary each semester. Prerequisite: Senior standing as American studies major. One to three credit hours.  MR. BASSETT AND MR. MOSS

In the department of classics.

Introduction to Greek Civilization  A survey of Greek culture from Homer to Plato, with special attention to the artistic developments that culminated in the classical age of Athens. Three or four credit hours.  MRS. KOONCE Roman History  A survey of selected topics in the history of Rome from foundation of the city to the conversion of Constantine. Three credit hours.

Topics in Ancient History  Topics vary depending upon the particular field of the Taylor Lecturer. May be repeated for credit. Two or three credit hours.

Prehistoric Greece  The art and archaeology of Greece from the neolithic to the geometric periods, with emphasis on Minoan and Mycenaean culture. Three or four credit hours.

Athens in the Fifth Century  The forces that shaped Athenian democracy and the cultural and political life distinctive of Periclean Athens. Three or four credit hours.  MRS. KOONCE

Greece in the Fourth Century  The history of Greece from the death of Socrates to the rule of Alexander, drawing largely upon contemporary sources. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

Independent Study  Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to three credit hours.  FACULTY

In the department of sociology. A concentration in anthropology is offered for sociology majors. See "Sociology."

111 Introduction to Anthropology  The discipline of anthropology; comparative study of societies at different levels of development and complexity; interrelationships among behaviors, beliefs; individual personality in various groups. Methods of cross-cultural inquiry will be emphasized; relevance of cross-cultural findings to our own assumptions and accepted customs will also be discussed. Three credit hours.  MR. BROWNE

112 Cultural Anthropology  An intensive study of different societies in the world. The implications of economic, social, and religious systems for men's and women's lives; means of perpetuating and transmitting values. Sources of coherence and continuity in a group; the impact of change in the material and social environment; the effect of culture contact. Information on societies different from our own will be used to explore our accepted notions about society, human nature, and ideology. Prerequisite: Anthropology 111 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

[211] American Indians: Focus on Maine  Focus on Maine Indians in the context of the Native American experience throughout North America, including projects dealing with the Maine tribes from an anthropological perspective; fieldwork will be encouraged. Prerequisite: An introductory course in anthropology, sociology, American studies, history, or government, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

†[212] The Black Family  An interdisciplinary survey of adaptation to the internal and external forces of change that have shaped the modern black family. Focus will be placed upon the black family's responses to forced large-scale migration, slavery, and adjustments to life in urban America. Prerequisite: Either Anthropology 111 or 112 or Sociology 121. Three credit hours.

†[215] Cross-cultural Perspectives on Sex Roles  Female and male roles in range of different societies. Sources of power and prestige; implications of economic and social arrangements for female and male personality traits and behavior; socialization and the transmission of values; religious systems. The significance of technology, household and family structure, public decision making to the relative positions of women and men in various societies. The relevance of cross-cultural data to our own assumptions and attitudes about males and females. Prerequisite: An introductory course in anthropology, sociology, psychology, biology, or economics, or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

217 Cross-cultural Race Relations  An examination of the effects of prolonged contact between racial groups in America, Brazil, and South Africa, focusing on differential access to resources and opportunities, and ending with a brief analysis of the social conditions that encourage either racial harmony or conflict. Prerequisite: Either Anthropology 111 or 112 or Sociology 121 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  MR. BROWNE
Kinship Kinship and relationships are a central concern of all societies, determining people’s interactions and attitudes—especially about courtship, marriage, and the place of children in a society. A look at the different ways in which people define “kin,” think about relatives, family, parenthood, and decide about marriage.

Prerequisite: An introductory course in anthropology, sociology, psychology, religion, philosophy, history, or government, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

Caribbean Cultures An ethnological survey of Caribbean societies, offering insights into the history, cultures, and social institutions of selected Caribbean groups. Prerequisite: Either Anthropology 111 or 112 or Sociology 121. Three credit hours.

Pacific Islands Cultures An investigation of both the fantasy and the reality of the Pacific Islands, the geography, economics, kinship and social life, political organization, and religion of aboriginal Pacific peoples, and the history of exploration and colonization of the area by Europeans. Three credit hours.

Anthropology of a Region A socio-cultural analysis of a selected geographic area. Three credit hours.

Urban Anthropology A survey of the origin, development, and growth of cities, and social adjustments to urban life. Special emphasis on problems related to urban African adaptation to both indigenous and nonindigenous populations. Prerequisite: Either Anthropology 111 or 112 or Sociology 121. Three credit hours.

Ethnohistory Discussion of the two meanings of “ethnohistory”: (1) the study of unwritten presentation of the past in myth, song, art, and oral tradition; (2) the history of the nonindustrial world as it is known from both written and oral sources. Three credit hours.

Psychological Anthropology The links between personality and culture, how individuals fit into a cultural setting yet achieve distinctiveness, how people learn to be what they are, the boundaries a culture puts around growing up, and the relationships between cultural rules and biological, psychological, and environmental constraints. Prerequisite: Two courses in any one or combination of the following subjects: sociology, psychology, biology, or philosophy, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

Ritual and Identity Stages of life are marked in different societies: initiation rites, marriage and birth customs, rituals of death and mourning. A study of the marking of life-cycle events in a range of societies; the relationship between rites of passage and identity; what rituals imply about male and female roles, personalities, and the bringing up of children. Prerequisite: Two courses in any one or combination of the following subjects: sociology, psychology, biology, philosophy and religion, history, American studies, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

Symbolic Anthropology Culture is a system of symbols and meanings shared by a group of people. An exploration of the processes of the construction and communication of meaning through symbols, using anthropological approaches to analyzing symbols, including structuralism, semiotics, interpretive anthropology, and cultural analysis. Three credit hours.
491, 492 Independent Study Individual topics in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two to four credit hours. FACULTY

Chairman, PROFESSOR DAVID SIMON
Professors Harriett Matthews and D. Simon; Visiting Associate Professor Abbott Meader
Assistant Professors Gina Werfel, W. Hearne Pardee, Sonia Simon, and David Lubin
Instructor Michael Marlais
The Colby art department includes practicing artists, art historians, and a museum director. With special studios for design, drawing, printmaking, and sculpture, as well as a museum, the department features a curriculum that allows students not only to explore the intrinsic nature of materials and techniques but also to develop their own expressive abilities. Art history offerings are designed with the recognition that the artistic products of any period are related to the social, political, and cultural concerns of that period. Students at Colby are able to approach art from both a practical and historical perspective, and thus are better able to understand the total experience of art.

Requirements for the Major in Art
Art 111, 112, 161; at least nine credit hours chosen from 271, 311, 313, 314, 331, 332, 334, 335, 351, 352, 353, 371, 372; additional courses in art to bring the total to 2 semester hours; at least six semester hours chosen from other fields of study relate to the individual student's interests within the major (e.g., history, philosophy, music, English). These courses should be selected with the advice and approval of the student's adviser in the sophomore or junior year.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to courses taken in the department. No requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail. A departmental examination is to be passed in the senior year.

Attention is called to the interdisciplinary major in American studies.

001j Crafts One or more projects and crafts will be sponsored by the department and supervised by artisans not on the Colby faculty. Projects in the past have included calligraphy, pottery, weaving, photography, and ceramics. Noncredit. STAFF

111, 112 Survey of Western Art A survey of the history of painting, sculpture and architecture. First semester: Egyptian pyramids through Gothic cathedrals. Second semester: Renaissance Italy through contemporary America. Four credit hours.

MR. SIMON AND OTHERS

141, 142 Drawing First semester: an introduction to fundamentals of drawing. Second semester: further exploration of these fundamentals. Out-of-class drawing is stressed. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. MS. MATTHEWS

161, 162 Design Exploration of design elements, including line, shape, value, texture, and composition. Introduction to color theory. Second semester stresses color and composition. Students must supply own materials; out-of-class work is essential. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. MR. PARDEE, MS. WERFEL, AND MR. MEADER
1. Beginning Painting  Oil technique; painting perceptually from still life, figure, and landscape. Students must supply own materials; out-of-class work is ential. Prerequisite: Art 141 and 161, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. Mr. Pardee

2. Survey of Western Architecture  Lectures will focus on significant buildings and architects from ancient to modern times. Assignments will include problems of designing, photo essay, and model building. Primarily for nonmajors. Three credit hours.

1. Beginning Sculpture  First semester: an introduction to form and ideas through the use of quick media. Second semester: continuation of first semester, using more traditional media. Prerequisite: Art 141 or 161, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. Ms. Matthews

1d. American Art  Architecture, sculpture, and painting from colonial times to the twentieth century. Lectures and problems make use of the original material in Colby collections. Three credit hours. Mr. Lubin and Mr. Marlaís

5. Classics of the Sound Cinema  Selected masterpieces of world cinema (1930–1960). Particular emphasis on developing skills for viewing films as a form of visual art. Previously offered as Art 297 in 1983–84. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. Mr. Lubin

77. American Visual Arts I  American art and culture from the colonial period, concentrating on the seventeenth, eighteenth, and nineteenth centuries, in terms of changing aesthetic standards as well as social and historical developments. Areas of study include the fine arts, folk art, material culture, and mass media. Cross-listed as American Studies 277. Three credit hours.

78. American Visual Arts II  A continuation of Art 277, concentrating on the nineteenth century. Cross-listed as American Studies 278. Three credit hours.

111. Art of Ancient Greece and Rome  Architecture, sculpture, and painting on the development of the Minoan civilization through the fall of Rome. Prerequisite: Art 111 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

13. Art of the Early Middle Ages  Painting, sculpture, and architecture from 5 A.D. to 1000 A.D., from the Christianization of Rome through the development of Byzantine civilization in the East and through the Ottonian Empire in the West. Prerequisite: Art 111. Three or four credit hours. Mr. Simon

14. Art of the High Middle Ages  Romanesque and Gothic painting, sculpture, and architecture in western Europe, from the reemergence of monumental stone sculpture through the exuberance of the Gothic cathedral. Influences of monastery, pilgrimage, and court on art from 1000 to 1400 A.D. Prerequisite: Art 111. Three or four credit hours. Ms. Simon

31. Art of the Renaissance in Northern Europe  The art of France, Germany, and the Lowlands in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, with emphasis on the major painters from Van Eyck to Brueghel. Prerequisite: Art 111 or 112, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. Ms. Simon †[332]  Art of the Renaissance in Italy  The art of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries in Italy, with emphasis on the major architects, sculptors, and painters.
Prerequisite: Art 111, 112, or permission of the instructor.  Three credit hours.

†[334]  Baroque and Rococo Art in the North of Europe  Painting, sculpture, and architecture of the seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries in Flanders, Holland, England, France, and Germany. Relationships to Spain will also be explored.
Prerequisite: Art 112.  Three or four credit hours.

†[335]  Mannerism and Baroque Art in Italy  Painting, sculpture, and architecture from the late works of Michelangelo in the sixteenth century through the dome of Guarini in the late seventeenth century.
Prerequisite: Art 112.  Three or four credit hours.

341, 342  Advanced Painting  Emphasis on development of individual expression. Further exploration of still life, landscape, and the figure. Students must supply own materials; out-of-class work is essential.
Prerequisite: Art 242 or permission of the instructor.  Three credit hours.
MS. WERFEL

†[351]  European Art, 1780-1880  Emphasis on European art of the neoclassical, romantic, realist, and impressionist movements.
Prerequisite: Art 112.  Three or four credit hours.

352d1  Modern Art, 1880-1945  History of avant-garde movements from postimpressionism to the New York School.
Prerequisite: Art 112.  Three or four credit hours.
MR. MARLAIS

353d2  Contemporary Art, 1945 to the Present  History of art from abstract expressionism to our own time. Emphasis on issues of art criticism as well as on current practices.
Prerequisite: Art 112.  Three or four credit hours.
MR. MARLAIS

361, 362  Advanced Sculpture  Further use of the techniques acquired in Art 261, 262 in developing the student's own visual ideas. Enrollment limited.
Prerequisite: Art 261, 262.  Three credit hours.
MS. MATTHEWS

[371]  The Graphic Arts  History and criticism of drawing and printmaking, with emphasis on European art since the Renaissance.
Prerequisite: Art 112 or permission of the instructor.  Three credit hours.

[372]  Women in Art  Designed to cross the narrow borders of traditional art historical period surveys, this course will focus on women's achievements as artists and on the way women have been represented in art.
Prerequisite: Art 111, 112, or permission of the instructor.  Three credit hours.

[374]  Women and Film  A close study of films by and/or about women, their role in society, and issues of gender. Various nationalities and genres of film will be studied, as well as supplemental writings by mainstream and feminist film historians. Enrollment limited.
Prerequisite: Art 275.  Three credit hours.

398j  Symbolism  A seminar on the painting, poetry, and to some extent the music, of French and Belgian symbolism, an important phase in the development ernism during the last two decades of the nineteenth century. Among the artists considered are Paul Gauguin, Georges Seurat, Odilon Redon, Maurice Denis, Jean Knopff, Stéphane Mallarmé, Paul Verlaine, and Claude Debussy. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two credit hours. MR. MARLAIS

3 The Cinema of Truffaut and Godard A seminar that will examine major as well as lesser known works by the two most important French filmmakers of the first quarter century. Readings will be of a theoretical nature; specific films will be considered. Prerequisite: Art 275 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MR. MARLAIS

1, 492 Independent Study Individual study of special problems in the practice, history, or theory of the visual arts. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One or four credit hours. FACULTY

4 Seminar in Art History Topics in architectural history, a seminar designed to encourage students to question the nature of art history as a humanistic discipline through discussion of the architecture of various periods and analysis of specific buildings. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours. MR. LUBIN

In the department of physics and astronomy.

1 Introduction to Stars and Stellar Systems A descriptive and quantitative survey of stellar, galactic, and extragalactic astronomy. Topics include observational astronomy, stellar structure, classification and evolution, galactic structure, and cosmology. Special topics include pulsars, quasars, and black holes. Laboratory work, which is required, includes both nighttime observing and laboratory astrophysics. Enrollment limited. Four credit hours. MR. CAMPBELL

2 Historical and Planetary Astronomy A descriptive study of the history of astronomy and of our planetary system. The history of astronomy from ancient times primarily concerns the planets. Modern planetary astronomy is treated as an observational science with emphasis on the discoveries of recent interplanetary space probes. Does not satisfy the laboratory science distribution requirement. Three credit hours. MR. CAMPBELL

Chairman, Professor Miriam Bennett

ofessors Bennett and Thomas Easton; Associate Professors Bruce Fowles, Arthur Gamplin, David Firmage, Russell Cole, and Jay Labov; Assistant Professors Frank Keyte, Raymond Phillips, and Elizabeth Flint

The department of biology provides its students with backgrounds in important aspects of both classical and modern biology—anatomical, physiological, developmental, evolutionary, behavioral, and ecological. Graduates enroll in medical schools, dental schools, veterinary colleges, and in graduate programs in biology.
Others are employed as research assistants or as teachers at the secondary level.
Special facilities include the Perkins Arboretum, the Colby-Marston Bog, and a new microscopy laboratory equipped with both scanning and transmission electron microscopes.

Two major programs are offered by the department. For each, the point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses required for the major and all elective biology courses. No requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail.

Requirements for the Basic Major in Biology
Mathematics 121 or equivalent and one additional higher numbered mathematics course (students who enter with Mathematics 121 or equivalent are required to take one semester of mathematics); Chemistry 141, 142; 32 hours in biology, including 121, 122, 271, 272, 301, 302 (substitutions may be made with departmental approval); one additional year of science other than biology. The comprehensive examination in the major is to be passed in the senior year.

Biology 121, 122, 271, and 272 constitute a core program and are normally prerequisite to all higher-numbered biology courses. With special permission of the department, a student may arrange to take Biology 271 or 272 and higher-numbered biology courses concurrently.

The inclusion of geology is advised for majors preparing for teaching or for work in the field aspects of biology. Students interested in teaching, private and public, are urged to read the education section of the catalogue and to contact a member of the education department. Students preparing for dental, medical, or veterinary school should take Mathematics 122 and must take Chemistry 241, 242, and Physics 121 or 141, 142; students preparing for graduate study in the biological sciences should also elect these courses. For most of these students, at least one further course in mathematics should be elected with the advice of the major department. Requirements for the Ph.D. degree in areas of biological science may include a reading knowledge of two modern foreign languages.

Students are encouraged to take courses at approved summer laboratories, and such courses may be approved for credit toward the major requirement.

The Environmental Science Concentration is designed to provide the student with an adequate background to work in the environmental field or to continue on to graduate study in environmental science or in one of the biological disciplines. The requirements are: Administrative Science 354 or 413 or Economics 231; biology, 3 hours, including 121, 122, 271, 272, 301, 302, 352 (with laboratory), 493, and either 354 or 356; Economics 131 or 132; Chemistry 141, 142; two courses selected from Geology 141, 142, 172, and Chemistry 217; Mathematics 121 and either 241 or 351. The comprehensive examination in biology is to be passed in the senior year.

Students are encouraged to take at least one field-oriented course such as Biology 354, 358, Sea Semester, or other similar approved programs.

Attention is called to the interdepartmental major in geology-biology and the interdisciplinary major in human development.

\(^1\)On leave full year.
\(^2\)Part-time.

Hospital Internship Offered in cooperation with Mid-Maine Medical Center. Most students will spend two weeks in orientation, observing in various departments of the center, after which a specific area will be observed more extensively. Designed primarily for juniors and seniors who have an interest in som pect of the health professions. Prerequisite: Permission of the faculty sponsor and hospital coordinators. Noncredit.

2jj Heredity and Evolution  An introduction to the basics of heredity and evolution. Lectures only. Does not satisfy the laboratory science distribution requirement. Cannot be counted toward the biology major. Credit may not be obtained for Biology 112j and 122. Enrollment limited. Two credit hours.

1, 122 Introduction to Biology  First semester: the form, function, and behavior of selected organisms. Second semester: the biology of reproduction, heritance, and development. Examples will be drawn from a variety of organisms. Lectures presented by several members of the biology faculty in their areas of specialization. Lecture and laboratory. Four credit hours.

33j Impact of Microorganisms on Man  An exploration of the world of one-celled organisms. Discussions and lectures will be based on the roles microorganisms play in disease, the food industry, ecology, energy generation, and biotechnology. Cannot be counted toward the biology major. Does not satisfy the laboratory science distribution requirement. Two credit hours.

36j Horticulture  Basic principles in the areas of plant structure and function will be covered and related to plant cultivation. Practical application of these principles will be discussed in areas such as lighting, propagation, pruning, and horticulture. One field trip will be taken. Does not satisfy the laboratory science distribution requirement. Cannot be counted toward the biology major. Credit may not be obtained for both Biology 136 and 138. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours.

212j Aspects of Human Physiology  An examination of the human organism and its functions. Topics to be studied will include the basics of biological chemistry and physics, the physiology of metabolism, integration of information via nerves and hormones, circulation, breathing mechanisms, reproduction, excretion, manipulation of the external and internal environment by muscles, and nutrition. History and methodology of human physiology as a science will be examined throughout the course. Cannot be counted toward the biology major. Prerequisite: Biology 121. Enrollment limited. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours.

19 Environmental Science  Basic concepts in ecology are examined in detail at the population, community, and ecosystem levels. The relevance of these concepts to current environmental problems is stressed. Does not satisfy the laborato cience distribution requirement. Cannot be counted toward the biology maj,

Biology of the Lower Plants  Comparative studies of the morphology, development, physiology, and significance of algae, fungi, and bryophytes. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 271 and 272, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

Developmental Biology  A study of development, with emphasis on the experimental findings that have led to present ideas of the morphological and chemical processes underlying the development and growth of organisms. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 271 and 272, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

Chordate Evolution  A study of the origins of vertebrate form through consideration of homologies in extinct and living organisms. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 271 and 272, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

The Reproductive Biology of Flowering Plants  A study of the flowering process in various plant groups and the mechanisms of pollination they employ. Seed production and vegetational propagation strategies will also be considered. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 271 and 272, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

Ecological Theory  An examination of the theoretical aspects of population and community ecology, emphasizing population regulation, demography, trophic relationships and community structure, and development. Coevolutionary interactions among plants and animals will be considered. Relevance of ecological theory to environmental crisis will be discussed. Lecture and discussion. Augmented credit based on the addition of laboratory work which will focus on quantitative analysis. Prerequisite: Biology 271 and 272, or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

Marine Biology  Field and laboratory studies of marine ecosystems, with emphasis on estuarine and coastal communities; quantitative sampling methods and analysis will be undertaken in group projects. Occasional weekend trips to the coast. Lecture, laboratory, and discussion. Prerequisite: Biology 271 and 272, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

Inland Ecology  Field and laboratory studies of terrestrial and fresh-water communities; quantitative sampling methods and analysis of data will be accomplished through group and individual projects. Lecture, laboratory, and discussion. Occasional weekend field trips. Prerequisite: Biology 352 (may be taken concurrently). Three credit hours.

Ecological Field Study  A trip to a south temperate or tropical area during the spring recess or the January term. Students must cover expenses. Graded or nongraded at the discretion of the instructors. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructors. One credit hour. (January: three credit hours.)
371 Genetics  The mechanisms of inheritance, with emphasis on experimental findings. The physical and chemical bases for the behavior of genes in individuals and populations are examined. Prerequisite: Biology 271 and 272, or permission of the instructor. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours.
Mr. Champlin

375 Problems in Comparative Animal Physiology  Studies of the manners in which animals of major phyla cope with their functional problems. Both ecological and evolutionary correlations are stressed. Lecture only. Augmented credit of one hour based on the addition of laboratory studies emphasizing the methods of comparative physiology. Prerequisite: Biology 271 and 272, or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.
Miss Bennett

†[377] Topics in Neurobiology  Lectures, discussions, and readings on the functional organization of nervous systems, and on how nervous information is received, stored, and transmitted by living organisms. Augmented credit of one hour based on the addition of laboratory work. Prerequisite: Biology 271 and 272, or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

378 Animal Behavior  An examination of animal behavior from a biological viewpoint. Topics will include the control, development, function, and evolution of behavior. Prerequisite: Biology 271 and 272, or permission of the instructor. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours.

379 Electron Microscopy  Principles and practice of transmission and scanning electron microscopy, including electron optics, imaging, and x-ray microanalysis. The routine operation of both the TEM and SEM will be presented and practiced, will the principles and techniques of sample preparation from both living and nonliving materials. The interpretation and evaluation of electron photomicrographs and x-ray spectra will be emphasized. Students will have an opportunity to develop further their techniques and expertise in the area of greatest interest to them. Enrollment limited. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 121, 122, Chemistry 14 142, standing as a junior or senior major in one of the natural sciences, and permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.
Mr. Champlin

473 Topics in Molecular Biology  Detailed considerations of the molecular biology of procaryotic and eucaryotic cells. Topics include molecular evolution; virology; macromolecular assembly; molecular basis of metabolism, contractility, membranous systems, and bioenergetics; enzymes; and molecular immunology. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 271 and 272, Chemistry 241, 242 (may be taken concurrently), or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.
Mr. Fekete

491, 492 Independent Study  Normally open only to senior biology majors. Prerequisite: Permission of the department. One to four credit hours.

Black Studies

Editor, Associate Professor Deborah McDowell

Visory Committee: Professors Charles Bassett (English), Patrick Brancaccio (English), Illas Browne (Anthropology, Black Studies), Henry Gemery (Economics), Paul Machlin (Music), Phyllis Mannocchi (English), McDowell (English), Jonas Rosenthal (Sociology), Sweney (English), and Robert Weisbrot (History); and two students.

Activities in the area of black studies began at Colby in 1969 with the formation of the black studies subcommittee of the educational policy committee. The work of the committee has involved the encouragement of curriculum development, scholarly changes through visiting lecturers, faculty attendance at professional meetings, exchanges of students, and faculty visits to other colleges to keep abreast of developing programs.

Structured around a cluster of courses in anthropology, African and Afro-American history, and Afro-American literature, the black studies program aims to expose students to the history and culture of blacks throughout the African Diaspora. Students interested in the program are strongly encouraged to consider an independent major. Courses in black studies may be applied to the following majors: English, African studies, anthropology, government, and sociology. The history courses listed below may be applied to a field of concentration within the history major.

Courses Offered in the Black Studies Program

American Studies: 276 Black Culture in America.

Anthropology: 212 The Black Family; 217 Cross-cultural Race Relations; 231 Caribbean Cultures; 238 Urban Anthropology.

History: 213 African History and Cultures I; 214 African History and Cultures II; 277 Afro-American History: From Slavery to Freedom; 278 Afro-American History II; 379 Black History; 432 Seminar in Black History.

Students interested in black studies should also note the following courses, which deal with various American minority and third-world concerns.

Economics: 293 Economic Development.

Religion: 235 Religions of the Oppressed.

Sociology: 231 Contemporary Social Issues; 252 Race and Minorities; 412 Sociological Issues in Third World Development.

Chemistry

Chairman, Professor Wayne Smith

Professors George Maier and Smith; Associate Professor Thomas Shattuck; Assistant Professors Gary Mabott, R. Daniel Libby, and Carol Libby

Students in the chemistry department are provided a firm foundation in the fundamental principles of the discipline. The student major has access to a wide range of instruments for course work and research projects under supervision of a faculty that includes teaching specialists in biochemistry, natural products, and organic, physical, inorganic, and analytical chemistry. Many students go on to graduate school in chemistry or biochemistry or to careers in medicine, dentistry, health-related fields, and industrial research. Other career choices in recent years have included patent law, chemical engineering, environmental studies, computer science, and molecular biology.

The department offers several major programs: (1) the basic major, (2) the ACS major (accredited by the American Chemical Society), (3) the major in chemistry-biochemistry, and (4) the major in chemistry-environmental sciences. Of these majors, the ACS major is focused more sharply toward graduate work in chemistry, while the other majors provide an opportunity for additional study outside the chemistry department. A student who successfully completes the ACS program receives official certification from the American Chemical Society. It should be noted that chemistry majors who intend to apply for admission to medical, dental, or veterinary schools must take a biology course with laboratory. All prospective majors should meet with the chairman as early as possible in order to plan their future chemistry programs.

Requirements for the Basic Major in Chemistry
Chemistry 141, 142, 241, 242, 313, 314, 331, 341, 342, 493, 494; Mathematics 121, 122; Physics 141, 142.

Requirements for the ACS Major in Chemistry
All courses required for the basic major, plus Chemistry 332, 411, 413, and six additional credit hours of 400-level courses.

Requirements for the Major in Chemistry-Biochemistry
Chemistry 141, 142, 241, 242, 313, 341, 467, 468 (with laboratories), 493, 494; Mathematics 121, 122; Physics 141, 142; Biology 121, 122, 272, and one additional course numbered 200 or higher.

Requirements for the Major in Chemistry-Environmental Sciences
All courses required for the basic major; Chemistry 217, 483, 484; Economics 131, 132; Biology 121, 122 or Geology 141, 142.

Additional Requirements for All Majors in Chemistry Department
One January program must be taken in the major. The department strongly urges majors to fulfill this requirement by doing an independent laboratory project.

All chemistry majors must take the Graduate Record Examination in chemistry during their senior year.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all required courses and elected chemistry courses. No requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail.

Seminars are held on Tuesday evenings; chemistry majors are expected to attend and seniors are required to participate. Summer employment in industrial or professional laboratories at the end of the junior year is encouraged.

Majors in chemistry who have completed the required junior-level courses for the major may elect an honors research project with approval of a faculty sponsor in the department. On successful completion of the work of the honors research program and of the major, their graduation from the College will be noted as being "Wit Honors in Chemistry." Attention is also called to the Senior Scholars program.

Attention is called to the interdepartmental geology-chemistry major.

Students interested in teaching, private and public, are urged to read the educational section of the catalogue and to contact a member of the education department.

¹On leave full year.
Studies in Environmental Biochemistry  A few situations in which polluting and ultimately toxic chemicals intrude upon the proper functioning of biological systems will be studied in great detail. Intended as a nonlaboratory course for nonscience majors. Three credit hours.

Chemistry for Citizens  Basic chemical principles and their application to issues of current concern, such as environmental problems, energy, nuclear reactions, recycling, health, and consumerism. Intended as a course for nonscience majors. Students with prior credit for Chemistry 141 may not receive credit for Chemistry 112. Laboratory portion is optional and satisfies the laboratory science distribution requirement, but enrollment is limited. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours.  Mr. Smith

Forensic Chemistry  The literature of popular authors such as Arthur Conan Doyle and Dorothy Sayers serves as a source for discussion of the chemical principles underlying the toxicology and methods of analysis related to crime and chemistry. Historical and current chemical perspectives on such topics as: properties and mechanisms of poisons, fiber, blood and stain identification, trace metal analysis, detection of explosives and fire accelerants. Intended for nonchemistry majors. One credit hour.

1, 142 General Chemistry and Elementary Analysis  Fundamental principles, with examples selected from inorganic chemistry; stoichiometry; atomic theory; chemical bonding; thermochemistry; gases, liquids, and solids; solutions; chemical equilibria; electrochemistry; chemistry of certain important elements; bioactivity. Lecture, discussion, and laboratory. The first-semester laboratory is concerned with synthesis and gravimetric analysis, the second with volumetric analysis and qualitative analysis. Four credit hours.  Mr. Smith, Mr. Mabbot, and Mr. Tuck

7d2 Environmental Chemistry  Application of chemical principles to such issues as mineral resources, energy, solid wastes, air and water pollution, and toxic substances. Prerequisite: Chemistry 142. Three credit hours.  Mr. Mabbot

1, 242 Organic Chemistry  The chemistry of carbon compounds, aliphatic, aromatic, and heterocyclic, from the point of view of synthesis, structure, properties, and uses. Lecture, discussion, and laboratory. Laboratory includes separations,ifications, syntheses, determination of important properties. Prerequisite: Chemistry 142. Five credit hours.  Mr. Libby

3, 314 Integrated Laboratory Studies  Laboratory work to complement physical and analytical chemistry. Students will select experiments that explore various aspects of synthesis, characterization, and analysis. Corequisite: Concurrent enrollment in one of the following: Chemistry 331, 332, 341, 342. One or two credit hours.  Faculty

1 Chemical Methods of Analysis  A study of fundamentals of analytical chemistry. Lectures are devoted to principles underlying chemical analysis, literature of analytical chemistry, precision, and sources of error. Prerequisite: Chemistry 2 and concurrent enrollment in Chemistry 313. Three credit hours.  Mr. Mabbot
332 Instrumental Methods of Analysis  Instruction in instrumental method including modern electroanalytical methods, absorption spectroscopy, fluorescence, nuclear magnetic and mass spectrometry, and chromatography. Prerequisite: Chemistry 331, 342 [may be taken concurrently], and concurrent enrollment in Chemistry 314. Three credit hours. MR. MABBOTT

341, 342 Physical Chemistry  The laws and theories of chemical reactivity and the physical properties of matter. Emphasis is placed on chemical equilibrium, molecular bonding, and the rates of chemical reactions. Major topics in 341: thermodynamics, solutions, and reaction kinetics; in 342: quantum mechanics, spectroscopy, and statistical mechanics. Prerequisite: Chemistry 142, Physics 142, and concurrent enrollment in Chemistry 313, 314. Four credit hours. MR. SHATTUCK

411 Inorganic Chemistry  Current models and concepts of inorganic chemistry with emphasis on both structural and reaction aspects. Topics include bonding and structure, periodic properties, acid-base theories, nonaqueous solvents, application of thermodynamics, coordination compounds, and selected areas of descriptive chemistry of current interest. Lecture and discussion. Prerequisite: Chemistry 34. Four credit hours. MR. SMITH

413 Integrated Laboratory Studies  Synthesis and characterization of organic, inorganic, and organo-metallic compounds. One credit hour. FACULTY

431 Physical Organic Chemistry  Reaction mechanisms, molecular arrangements, nonclassical carbonium ions, hard-soft acid-base theory, carbenes and nitrenes, qualitative molecular orbital theory, and pericyclic reactions. Lecture. Prerequisite: Chemistry 242, 342. Three credit hours. MR. LIBBY

434 Advanced Physical Chemistry  Use of principles of symmetry and group theory as an aid in understanding chemical bonding and interpreting molecular spectroscopy. Reaction mechanisms of transition-metal complexes and organo-metallic compounds. Prerequisite: Chemistry 411. Three credit hours. MR. SMITH

467, 468 Biochemistry  Chemical components of living matter and of the major processes of cellular metabolism, including the fundamental chemical characteristics of biological compounds and enzymatic reactions. Biology 121, 122 are recommended as preparation. Prerequisite: Chemistry 242. Lecture only: four credit hours. Lecture and laboratory: five credit hours. MS. LIBBY

478 Seminar in Biochemistry  Reading and discussion of current literature emphasizing a common theme in an emerging area of biochemistry. Prerequisite: Chemistry 467 or permission of the instructor. Two credit hours. MS. LIBBY

483, 484 Special Topics in Environmental Chemistry  Primarily a laboratory course with emphasis on independent studies of environmentally related topics. Paper and oral presentation are required. Prerequisite: Chemistry 217 and permission of the department. One to three credit hours. MR. MABBOTT

491, 492 Independent Study  Laboratory work of a research nature may be arranged with the instructor. Three to nine hours per week. One to three credit hours. FACULTY
3, 494 Seminar Discussion of topics of current interest in all areas of the emical literature. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One credit hour.

Chinese

In the department of modern foreign languages. All courses in Chinese are part of the East Asian studies program.

11, 122 Elementary Chinese Introduction to spoken and written Mandarin Chinese, to provide a thorough grounding in all the language skills: speaking, listening, reading, and writing. Four credit hours. MR. KEENAN

13, 124 Intermediate Chinese A continuation of Chinese 122, with greater emphasis on written Chinese. Prerequisite: Chinese 122. Four credit hours. MR. KEENAN

51 Introduction to Chinese Literature in Translation A survey of Chinese literature in translation from ancient times to the present, covering poetry, plays, novels, and/or prose. Three credit hours. MR. KEENAN

52 Introduction to Chinese Literature in Translation A survey of Chinese literature in translation from ancient times to the present, covering poetry, plays, novels, and/or prose. Three credit hours. MR. KEENAN

21, 322 Advanced Chinese Advanced Chinese language, concentrating on reading, writing, and speaking. Prerequisite: Chinese 124 or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours. MR. KEENAN

91, 492 Independent Study Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two to four credit hours. FACULTY

Classics

Additional courses offered by the classics department are listed separately under "Ancient History," "Greek," and "Latin."

Chairman, Professor Dorothy Koonce

Professors Peter Westervelt and Koonce; Taylor Lecturers Ann De Vito1 and John Porter2 students in classics may concentrate in either Greek or Latin literature and civilization or in a combination of both. A wide variety of courses in both fields is provided through the Taylor Lectureship in Classics, which brings a different specialist each ear to teach in his or her chosen area of interest. There is also the opportunity to study for a year in Greece or Rome in programs especially designed for American students, as well as occasion for experience in field archaeology through arrangement with other institutions.

Requirements for the Major in Classics

Two courses numbered 200 or higher in Greek or Latin. Six additional courses selected from at least two of the following categories: two or more courses numbered 300 or higher in the ancient language elected above; two or more courses in ancient history; two or more courses numbered 200 or higher in the other ancient language; two or more courses elected from Classics 232 or 234, Art 311, Philosophy 331, or their equivalent.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses in the department. No requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail.

Requirements for the Major in Classics-English

In classics: either three years of Latin in courses numbered 200 or higher or three years of Greek.

In English: six semester courses approved by the departments.

Requirements for the Major in Classics-Philosophy

In classics: either three years of Latin in courses numbered 200 or higher or three years of Greek subject to departmental approval.

In philosophy: 152; 111 or 211; 331, 332, 491 or 492.

The point scale for retention of each of the above majors applies to all courses that may be credited toward the major. No requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail.

The Classical Civilization Program is presented for students with an interest in ancient culture who do not wish to pursue study of the ancient languages. In addition to courses in classical literature in translation, ancient history, art, and philosophy as listed in the catalogue, special courses in various aspects of antiquity are given each year by the Taylor Lecturer in residence. In recent years, these have included Greek and Roman religion, Greek and Roman archaeology, Byzantine history, mythology, and literary criticism. Courses in the program (not a major) are: Classics 133, 232, 234; Ancient History 151, 154, 252, 352, 353; Art 311; Philosophy 33 Classics 177, 178, and Ancient History 177, 178 (177, 178 is a sequence offered each year by the Taylor Lecturer in residence).

The following are courses in classical literature in translation. These courses require no knowledge of Latin or Greek. Attention is called also to courses in ancient history.

1 First semester only.

133 Greek Myth and Literature

Readings will focus on the development of few well-known myths and will include Homer's Odyssey, selections from the lyr poets, and representative tragedies of Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides. Three four credit hours. MR. WESTERVelt

177 Greek Tragedy

A survey of the Greek tragic poets of the fifth century BC. Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides focusing on the particular interests and range of each. Plays studied include Aeschylus' Oresteia, Sophocles Antigone, Oedipus Tyrannus, Philoctetes, Euripides Hippolytus, Electra, Helen, Bacchae. Two or three credit hours. MISS DE VITO

178 The Epic Tradition

The development and influence of epic from Homer through Kazantzakis: a detailed examination of the epic in antiquity focusing on the Iliad and Odyssey of Homer, the Argonautica of Appollonius, and the Aeneid of Virgil and including the once influential works of Lucan and Statius, and the pervasive influence of epic on later literature. *Two or three credit hours. MR. PORTER
32] Greek Tragedy  The development of tragedy as a dramatic form and its relationship to the contemporary changes in Athenian democracy. Readings will include major plays of Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides, and the parody of tragedy in the odes of Aristophanes. Three or four credit hours.

34] The Heroic Ideal in Early Greek Poetry  Particular emphasis on Homer's id and the odes of Pindar, with some attention to modifications of the heroic ideal it appear in Attic tragedy. Three or four credit hours.

1,492 Independent Study  Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to three credit hours. FACULTY

In the department of mathematics. A concentration in computer science is offered. See "Mathematics."

5d Introduction to Computer Science I  An introduction to computer science focused on problem solving and programming using the PASCAL language. Algorithm development, control structures, and data structures and their implementation in PASCAL. Formerly listed as Computer Science 131. Four credit hours. SKRIEN AND MR. ALLEN

16 Introduction to Computer Science II  A continuation of Computer Science 5. Concentration on advanced programming techniques, including dynamic data structures and recursion. The theory and analysis of algorithms and applications of finite automata will be introduced. Prerequisite: Computer Science 125 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. HOSACK

12 Computer Organization and Assembly Language  Introduction to computer organization (memory, processors, input/output, virtual machines) and assembly language (data representation, machine instructions, system calls). Prerequisite: Computer Science 125 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. HOSACK

31 Data Structures and Algorithms  An introduction to the primary data structures and the algorithms that operate on them. Data structures to be studied include arrays, graphs, trees, stacks, and queues. The algorithms include searching, sorting, insertion, deletion, and traversal. Prerequisite: Computer Science 125. Three credit hours. MR. HOSACK

78 Introduction to the Theory of Computation  Listed as Mathematics 378. Three credit hours. INSTRUCTOR

91, 492 Independent Study  Independent study in an area of computer science particular interest to the student. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to our credit hours. FACULTY
East Asian Studies

Director, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR LEE FEIGON
ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Professors Roger Bowen (Government), Feigon (History), David Keenan (Chinese), Tamae Prindle (Japanese), and Deborah Soifer (Philosophy and Religion)

The East Asian studies major contributes a new dimension to the traditional liberal arts curriculum by exposing the student to rich cultures outside the scope of Western civilization. Study abroad during the junior year is strongly encouraged; see “Junior Year Abroad” for information about the Associated Kyoto Program, the CIEE Program in the People’s Republic of China, the Colby program in Beijing, and Colby’s exchange agreement with Kansai University of Foreign Studies in Japan. Other foreign study possibilities include Hong Kong and Taiwan.

Requirements for the Major in East Asian Studies

A minimum of two years of training in an East Asian language, East Asian Studies 151, 152, and 13 additional credit hours obtained from courses in East Asian studies in at least three different disciplines, to include at least one seminar or independent study project in the major.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses offered toward the major. No requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail.

Courses in East Asian Studies Approved for the Major

East Asian Studies: 151, 152 Self, State, and Society in East Asia; 491, 492 Independent Study.

History: 215 America and Asia: Attitudes and Relationships; 216 The Chinese Revolution; 317 The Introduction of Marxism into China; 318 The People’s Republic of China; 457 Seminar in Modern Chinese History.

Philosophy: 355, 356 Indian Thought; 391, 392 Philosophy Seminar (when appropriate).

Religion: 211 Religions of India; 212 Religions of China and Japan; 218 Buddhist Literature in Asia; 314 Religion in Modern India; 391, 392 Religion Seminar (when appropriate).

151, 152 Self, State, and Society in East Asia An introduction to the society and culture of East Asia, focusing on the elite and popular culture of the region as personified by the great historical personalities of China and Japan. Topics in the history of philosophy, religion, language, literature, and government of the area will be discussed. Four credit hours. MR. FEIGON AND INSTRUCTOR
1. Independent Study  Individual study of special problems in East Asian civilization, offered in the departments that participate in the program. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor and the program director. One to four credit hours.

Economics

Chairman, Professor Thomas Tietenberg

Professors Jan Hogendorf, Henry Gemery, James Meehan, and Tietenberg; Assistant Professors Kristin Hallberg, Fred Moseley, and William O'Neil; Instructors Bruce McNeulein, David Findlay, John Santos, and Charles Grim

In addition to dealing with the study of business behavior, consumers, inflation, and employment, economic tools find increasing use in other social sciences, with the skills of the economist central to studies of sex, race discrimination, energy, technology, government behavior, environment, the population explosion, crime, and other issues of public and private life. The economics department provides a selection of courses with which to help analyze problems arising in these areas. The major prepares the undergraduate with a good background for employment and graduate work in numerous fields, including, in particular, business, law, government, and education.

Requirements for the Major in Economics

Economics 131, 132, 233, 234, 391; either Mathematics 231 or 241 and 242 or 381 and 2; one of the senior seminars numbered Economics 431, 494, or Public Policy 493. Thirteen additional credit hours in elective economics courses, of which six credit hours (three of which must be taken at Colby) must be in economics courses numbered 300 or above. Of the 14 additional hours, up to four hours may be satisfied one of the following: Administrative Science 321 or Computer Science 125.

Students who wish to be recommended for graduate work in economics are urged to elect Economics 393 and 431. A knowledge of mathematics through calculus and statistics is essential.

Students may be invited by the department to prepare a thesis in the second term, successful completion and defense of which will result in the degree being awarded with Honors in Economics.

The point scale for retention of the major applies only to courses in economics, except that Administrative Science 321 or Computer Science 125 will be counted if substituted for courses in advanced economics in fulfilling the major requirement. No requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail.

Requirements for the Major in Economics-Mathematics

Economics 131, 132, 233, 234, 393; one of the senior seminars numbered 431, 494, Public Policy 493; nine additional credit hours in elective economics courses, six which must be numbered 300 or higher. Mathematics 221, 222, 381, 382, and two additional courses numbered 300 or higher.

The point scale for retention of the economics-mathematics major applies to all courses offered toward the major. No requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail.

Attention is called to the interdisciplinary program in public policy, and to the honors program (see description under Economics 491, 492).

On leave full year.
131d, 131j Principles of Macroeconomics  Principles of macroeconomics and their applications to modern economic problems: national product and income accounting, monetary and fiscal policy, inflation, unemployment, and growth. Three credit hours.  FACULTY

Education

Chairman, Professor Harold Jacobson

Professor Jacobson; Assistant Professor Marilyn Mavrinac

The education program serves the following functions: (1) to enable students to study one of the basic institutions in society, the schools, (2) to prepare students for graduate study in education, and (3) to prepare students for careers in education and in related fields, especially teaching in private and public schools, colleges, and universities.

The interdisciplinary program in education is not a major, yet it allows students to pursue studies in their fields of interest and simultaneously (1) to qualify fully for private and public secondary-school teaching and a teaching certificate in English, social studies, science, mathematics, Latin, American studies, and modern foreign languages, or (2) to begin preparation for teaching other levels and teacher certification in early childhood, special subjects, elementary, and types of special education.

Colby's teacher-education program is approved by the State of Maine under the standards of the Interstate Certification Project. The Maine secondary-school teaching certificate is honored in 28 other states. Candidates for the Maine secondary-school teacher certificate must take qualifying examinations in communication skills, general knowledge, and professional knowledge. To receive an institutional recommendation for the teacher certificate, candidates must have demonstrated serious commitment to teacher preparation, above-average academic performance in courses, and above-average teaching performance in the practica. No requirement for the certificate may be taken pass/fail.

Practica

Early and continuous practical experience with learners, preschool through adult education, is a major strength of Colby's education program. Career benefits include the development of a network of professional contacts, the opportunity to test career plans, and the accumulation of references valuable for later employment search.

Practica are the "laboratory" component in the education sequence, and are available at several levels: preschool, elementary, junior high, special education, senior high, and adult education. Specific practica are required for certification.

Students who plan to teach in private and public schools should confer with members of the education department as soon as possible. Career guidance and counseling services are also available at the education department offices.

Required Program of Studies for the Secondary-School Teaching Certificate

English

Chairman, PROFESSOR JOHN R. SWENEY

Professors Mark Benbow, John Sutherland, Douglas Archibald, Colin MacKay, Eileen Curran, Patrick Brancaccio, Charles Bassett, Howard Koonce, John Mizner, Edwin Kenney, and Sweney; Associate Professors Ira Sadoff, Dianne Sadoff, Peter Harris, Susan Kenney, Phyllis Mannocchi, Deborah McDowell, and Eric Binnie; Assistant Professors Robert Farnsworth and Douglas Green; Lecturers Patricia Onion, Jean Sanborn, Robert Gillespie, David Mills, Linda Tatelbaum, and Kirsten Wallace

The English department offers literature courses in all the periods, genres, and major authors, as well as seminars in particular topics and broad literary and historical issues. There is a creative writing program in both fiction and poetry at the introductory, intermediate, and advanced levels. The department also sponsors special-topic courses and supervises about 50 independent-study projects each year. Committed to interdisciplinary studies, the department encourages team-taught courses with colleagues in chemistry, government, history, philosophy, sociology, and other departments. English is one of the most useful preprofessional majors for those who want to attend graduate schools of law, medicine, and business, as well as for those seeking jobs in commerce, industry, and government. Some majors become college or school teachers; some go into related work, such as journalism, library science, or publishing. Students interested in teaching, private and public, are urged to read the education section of the catalogue and contact a member of the education department.

Requirements for the Major in English and American Literature

English 221, 222, 251, and eight courses numbered 300 or higher; English 252 may be substituted for one of the eight. At least three of these must be courses in which the major focus is upon literature written before 1800, and at least three must be courses in which the major focus is upon literature written after 1800. English 411 does not count toward the major.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all English courses that may be used to fulfill major requirements. No requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail.

Students planning to continue the study of English in graduate school should confer with their advisers to be sure that they have planned a substantial and adequate curriculum. They should be proficient in at least one foreign language. Most universities require two languages, and some require a classical language as well. Work in classical or foreign literature, history, philosophy, art, music, and some of the social sciences reinforces preparation in the major and enhances one's chances of success in graduate study.

Requirements for the Concentration in Creative Writing

The concentration consists of at least one introductory, one intermediate, and one advanced writing course, plus either an independent study (in which the student will write and revise a portfolio of poems or stories) or the repetition of the advanced writing course incorporating the portfolio requirement. The portfolio, like an honors thesis, is to be read and approved by two creative writing teachers. Students electing the concentration in creative writing are responsible for completing all the traditional requirements for the major in English.
The department encourages interdepartmental and interdisciplinary studies, and supports programs in American studies, black studies, women's studies, and performing arts.

398A Art and Oppression The development of gay and lesbian literature in Anglo-American society; how a minority artistically responds to societal oppression that ranges from "invisibility" to censorship and persecution. An examination of literary response/resistance of gay and lesbian people and their ongoing process of literary self-definition, in the face of what Adrienne Rich has defined as society's "compulsory heterosexuality." Writers whose works will be studied include Oscar Wilde and Radclyffe Hall; H. D., E. M. Forster, Willa Cather, and Virginia Woolf; James Baldwin, Andrew Holleran, Rita Mae Brown, and Audre Lorde. Special issues to be addressed include sexuality and the transformation of literary tradition and convention, the development of an underground culture, the unique vision of the "double minority," and the emergence into the cultural mainstream of a gay and lesbian "political" voice. Three credit hours. MS. MANNOCCHI

398B Arthur and the Round Table For a thousand years—from before Geoffrey of Monmouth's History of the Kings of Britain to "Prince Valiant" and "Camelot"—the western world has been fascinated by, and has recreated for its own purposes, the ies of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table. An examination of the ins and development of these legends, using Malory's Morte d'Arthur as core text, ing with other versions by such writers as Wace, Layamon, Twain, White, and vart. A substantial amount of reading will be required. Three or four credit hours. MACKAY

Teaching Writing and Reading Theory and practice in teaching writing, e reading, and grammar, and in methods of class discussion and testing. Open to tients whether or not pursuing the education program. May not be counted and the major in English. Nongraded. Three credit hours. MRS. SANBORN

'd2 Advanced Poetry Workshop* Practice in the writing of poetry, with ma­​ emphasis on student manuscripts. May be repeated once for additional credit. Requisite: English 317 or 318 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. SADOFF

3 Advanced Fiction Workshop Practice in the writing of short stories and r fiction, with major emphasis on student manuscripts. May be repeated once additional credit. Prerequisite: English 317 or 318 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MR. SADOFF

'31] History of Literary Criticism Principles and history of literary criticism, cient through modern, with attention to Plato, Aristotle, Coleridge, and Eliot. Three four credit hours.

2d1 History of the English Language A brief study of the mechanism of ch—primarily to explain the connections between western European Romance Germanic languages—followed by an examination of the major historical, so­l, literary, and linguistic reasons for changes in the sound, grammar, spelling, liction, syntax, and vocabulary of the language from the Anglo-Saxon period to den American English. Three or four credit hours. MR. MACKAY

36] African Prose Fiction and autobiography dealing with such themes as rican traditional culture and the coming of colonialism, the struggle for in­­­­­­­­­pendence and the problems of development, and the reactions of Africans to the ed States. Readings will be restricted to the works of authors writing in English, ch as Chinua Achebe, Ezekiel Mphalele, Peter Abrahams, James Ngugi, Stamlake mkange, and Bessie Head. Three credit hours.

4? The Literature of Existentialism Though emphasizing the novels and say of Sartre and Camus, this course also includes works by Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, elville, Conrad, Beckett, Ionesco, Pinter, Abé, and Percy. Students enrolled for four edits will do fewer written assignments if they produce one of the plays studied. Three or four credit hours. MR. MIZNER

1, 492 Independent Study Individual projects exploring topics for which theudent has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent ock. Prerequisite: Consent of a project adviser and permission of the chairman. One four credit hours. FACULTY
493, 494j, 494 Seminars in British and American Literature  Topics for 1985-86 will include Intellectual Backgrounds of Literary Modernism, Literature and Film of the Holocaust, Literature of the Black Woman Writer, Modern English Canadian Literature, and Contemporary American Poets. Descriptions will be published before registration. Three or four credit hours. FACULTY

Field Experience, Internship

Field Experience or Internship  Noncurricular experience with a direct, demonstrated relationship to the student's curricular program. Credits earned in field experience or internship may be applied toward requirements for a major only with explicit approval of the chairman of the major department or program. Nongraded, credit or no entry, unless otherwise approved. Prerequisite: A formal proposal filed with the field experience coordinator prior to beginning of the project. Praxis. One to six credit hours (zero to three credit hours in January).

French

In the department of modern foreign languages. Unless otherwise specified, all courses numbered above 124 are conducted in French. French 142 or permission of the instructor is required for all courses numbered 200 or higher. Courses numbered 500 and above are given in the Colby in Caen program.

Professors Jean Bundy¹ and Guy Filosof; Associate Professors Charles Ferguson, Jonathan Weiss², Arthur Greenspan, and Jane Moss; Assistant Professor Camille Laparra; Instructor Benoit Melançon³; Lecturer Dace Weiss⁴

Achievement Test: If a student offers a foreign language for entrance credit and wishes to continue it in college, that student must either have taken the College Board achievement test in the language or take the placement test during freshman orientation.

Requirements for the Major in French

1. For students who begin their study of French at Colby with French 141 or higher French 221, 222, 231 (normally taken in the sophomore year), and at least five additional courses numbered above 222, not including 234.
2. For students who begin their study of French at Colby with French 123: French 141, 142, 231 (normally taken in the sophomore year), and at least five additional courses numbered above 200, not including 234.
3. Students who begin their study of French with French 121 and who wish to major in French should consult the chairman of the department of modern foreign languages before the end of the second semester of their freshman year.

All majors must complete at least two courses at the 300 or 400 level dealing with French literature before 1900 and two courses at the 300 or 400 level dealing with French literature after 1900. French 232, 235, 272, and 351, while counting toward the major, may not be substituted for the century courses in French literature.

The following statements also apply:

1. The point scale for retention of the major is based on all French courses numbered above 124.
2. No major requirements may be taken pass/fail.
No more than the equivalent of four semester courses of transfer credit may be applied toward the major.

All majors in the department must take at least one course in the major approved by the major adviser each semester until graduation. For students returning from foreign study, these courses must be numbered 300 or higher.

French majors are encouraged to apply for admission to the Colby Junior Year Abroad program in Caen and to be aware of the French component of interdisciplinary programs in performing arts and women's studies.

Teacher Certification: Students desiring certification for teaching French should consult the department of modern foreign languages and the education department. FACULTY

1, 122d Elementary French Introduction to the language with emphasis on inter-lingual skills. Presentation of dialogue materials supplemented with visual aids. Use of taped materials in the language laboratory is a regular part of class work. Four credit hours. FACULTY

1, 124d Intermediate French An intermediate course emphasizing reading for direct comprehension, aural and oral skills, grammar, and vocabulary building. Materials used include literary works by Sartre and Camus, as well as full-length feature films. Prerequisite: French 122 or an appropriate score on the College Board French achievement test. French 123: four credit hours; French 124: three credit hours. FACULTY

1d Conversation and Composition Practice in writing compositions in French, with additional work in developing oral skills, building vocabulary, and expression. Prerequisite: A score of 60 on the College Board French achievement test or French 124. Three credit hours. FACULTY

1, 142 Introduction to French Literature Introduction to the reading of French literature using selected prose, poetry, and theater. Emphasis on reading, discussion, and composition. Prerequisite: French 124 or appropriate College Board score. Qualified students may be admitted to the second semester without the first. Four credit hours. FACULTY

1, 222 Major French Authors The evolution of French literature and thought from the sixteenth century to the present. Included among the authors read are: Montaigne, Pascal, Racine, Voltaire, Diderot, Rousseau, Stendhal, Camus, and Sartre. French majors may choose to write papers and examinations in English. Prerequisite: French 142 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. GREENSPAN

1 Grammar and Composition An advanced language course intended for majors and others wishing to do further work in French. Required of students who seek admission to Colby in Caen. Intensive grammar review and frequent practice in writing French. Prerequisite: French 131, 141, or 142. Three credit hours. MS. LAPARR.

232 Introduction to French Culture A course designed for students who have been accepted into the Colby in Caen program but open to other students as well. Major aspects of contemporary French life and culture, with continuing practice in improving oral and written language skills. Prerequisite: French 231 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. INSTRUCTOR

234 Intensive Spoken French Weekly practice in oral French, designed for participants in the Colby in Caen program. Drill sessions and conversation groups will be conducted by French exchange students and returning seniors under the direction of a faculty member. Nongraded. Prerequisite: Acceptance into the Colby in Caen program and concurrent enrollment in French 232. One credit hour. INSTRUCTOR

†[235] Québec in Transition The evolution of French Canada based on both literary and nonliterary texts, tracing the transition of French Canadian society from its rural beginnings to the modern, cosmopolitan province of Québec. Focus on events from World War II to the present, and topics include nationalism, migration to New England, the language question, terrorism, and the Parti Québécois. Offered alternately in English and in French. Three or four credit hours.

†[272] French Film in English A historical overview of French cinema as technology, as industry, and as art; an introduction to the techniques of filmmaking; at the close analysis of selected works representative of the principal schools of film and filmmaking. All films have English subtitles. Qualified students may earn extra credit by writing papers and examinations in French, and by attending an additional meeting per week conducted in French. Does not satisfy the College language requirement. Three or four credit hours.

*335 Seventeenth-Century French Theater The classical theater: Corneille, Racine, and Molière. Non-French majors may choose to write papers and examinations in English. Prerequisite: A 200-level French course. Three or four credit hours. MR. FILOSOF

†[336] Eighteenth-Century French Literature The literary climate of the Enlightenment: theater of Marivaux and Beaumarchais; novels of Montesquieu, Voltaire, and Diderot. Non-French majors may choose to write papers and examination in English. Three or four credit hours.

[338] French Classical Comedy A study of classical French comedy as seen in the works of Molière, Marivaux, and Beaumarchais. Non-French majors may choose to write papers and examinations in English. Three or four credit hours.

†[351] French Canadian Literature Analysis of important literary works from Québec and Acadia, focusing on problems of cultural identity, language, and the French-English conflict as seen in contemporary fiction. Non-French majors may choose to write papers and examinations in English. Three or four credit hours.

*353 Francophone Women Authors The female literary tradition through detailed analysis of major French and French Canadian women writers. Topics will include the role of women in society, the autobiographical element in women's novel ninism, and the gender specificity of l'écriture féminine. Non-French majors may choose to write papers and examinations in English. Three or four credit hours.

2d2 Nineteenth-Century French Poetry Baudelaire and the symbolist poets: Mallarmé, Verlaine, and Rimbaud. Non-French majors may choose to write papers and examinations in English. Three or four credit hours.

58j Nineteenth-Century French Literature A study of realism and naturalism through representative works by such writers as Flaubert, Maupassant, and Zola. Non-French majors may choose to write papers and examinations in English. Three or four credit hours.

75j The French Novel of the Twentieth Century A close reading of selected novels from twentieth-century writers such as Vian, Robbe-Grillet, Wiesel, Lagorce, and Rezvani. Non-French majors may choose to write papers and examinations in English. Three or four credit hours.

76j Modern French Drama The theater of the absurd, political theater, recent trends in France, and some current French Canadian theater. Dramatic texts will be studied along with production techniques. Non-French majors may choose to write papers and examinations in English. Three or four credit hours.

78j French Literature and Society in the Twentieth Century A multidisciplinary course exploring some major problems in contemporary French society, using both literary and nonliterary sources. Non-French majors may choose to write papers and examinations in English. Three or four credit hours.

2 Advanced Composition An advanced practical course designed to develop the ability to apply through themes and versions the grammatical, linguistic, and syntactic skills essential to proper written and oral expression. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: French 231 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

91, 492 Independent Study Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two to four credit hours.

93, 493j, 494 Seminar in French Literature Topics may cover an author, a genre, or a literary movement. (Fall 1985: Albert Camus. Spring 1986: Jean-Jacques Rousseau.) Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

31, 532 Twentieth-Century Literature Selected works by major twentieth-century French authors, including Anouilh, Queneau, St.-Exupéry, and Sartre. Offered in Caen. Three credit hours.

41, 542 Poetics Analysis of the structure and styles of poetry; second semester dedicated mainly to twentieth-century poets. Offered in Caen. Three credit hours.
543, 544 Stylistics  Intensive study of advanced French grammar and vocabulary; analysis of various styles of writing, using articles and passages from French literature. Explications de texte. Offered in Caen. Three credit hours. FACULTY

545, 546 Romanticism and Realism  Study of trends in nineteenth-century French literature, through selected works by Rousseau, Balzac, Chateaubriand, and Stendhal. Offered in Caen. Three credit hours. FACULTY

Geology

Chairman, PROFESSOR DONALD ALLEN
Professors Allen and Harold Pestana; Assistant Professors Robert Nelson and William Doll

If one is interested in our planet—how it developed its present characteristics and what may happen to it in the future, where we came from and what supports us on the planet, our resources and their use—geology is a central area of study. The geology department features an unusually fine rock and mineral collection for study, an excellent small-college library, various geophysical instruments, and access to the College's new transmission and scanning electron microscopes. The setting of the College also provides an intriguing area for field study. Students are encouraged to work on independent projects and to develop ways of actively examining and interpreting observational data.

The department offers three major programs for students with different interests. For each option, at least one independent January program is required to be taken in the major during the junior or senior year. The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses taken in the major. No requirement may be taken pass/fail.

Requirements for the Basic Major in Geology

Geology 141, 142, 215, 232, 251, 271, 331, 351, 381, 382, 452; at least three hours of 491 or 492; Mathematics 121, 122; Chemistry 141, 142; Physics 121, 122 or 141, 142.

Requirements for the Major in Geology-Biology

In geology: 141, 142; 215, 271, 311; six additional credit hours numbered 200 or higher.

In biology: 121, 122, 271; 12 additional credit hours.

Other courses: Chemistry 141, 142; Mathematics 121 and one additional mathematics course numbered above 121. Physics 121, 122 or 141, 142 is recommended.

A comprehensive examination is to be passed in the senior year in either geology or biology.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses in geology and biology.

Requirements for the Major in Geology-Chemistry

In geology: 141, 142, 215, and two courses from 352, 381, or 382.

In chemistry: 141, 142, 331, 341. Chemistry 241, 242, and 332 are also recommended.

A Graduate Record Examination in geology or chemistry must be taken in the senior year.

Students should consult one of the major advisers regarding election of language and other required courses in the freshman and sophomore years.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses in geology and chemistry.
The Earth Science Option is offered for students planning to teach in the secondary schools; the requirements are: Geology 141, 142, 215, 251, 292, 311 (or 312), 351, 1; Chemistry 141.

The Environmental Science Option is designed to provide students with a core geology courses supplemented by related courses from other departments. The requirements are: Geology 141, 142, 215, 311, 494; Biology 121, 122, 271; Chemistry 1, 142, 217 (or any of the following: 241, 242, 331, 332); Mathematics 121, 241 or 1; Physics 112 or 121 or 141; Economics 131, 132, 231; Sociology 232. Other related courses include: Biology 311, 314, 316, 318, 332, 352, 354, 356, 358; Geology 172 (or 6), 232, 333, 351, 354; Mathematics 122, 242, 382; Physics 122 or 142; Economics 3, 294, 314.

The Bermuda Semester. Majors may earn 12 credit hours in field study of coral reefs and carbonate environments. Geology 176, 312, and 314 are offered biennially Colby faculty using the facilities of the Bermuda Biological Station.

1, 142 Introduction to Geological Science The physical Earth and its past. Emphasis in 141 is on earth materials and physical processes; 142 is devoted to energy and resources, environmental geology, and the physical and biological evolution of the Earth. Enrollment limited to five laboratory sessions of 25 students each. Lecture and laboratory; laboratory sessions will include mandatory field trips. Four credit hours. MR. NELSON

1] Paleontology for Non-majors An introduction to the principles of paleontology. Laboratory work concentrates on environmental interpretation through the e of fossils. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MR. PESTANA

72 Oceanography A descriptive introduction to physical, dynamical, and logical oceanography. Topics will include: the structure and composition of the ocean and its floor; tides, currents, and other important dynamic features; the nature of ocean life. The value of the oceans for food and physical resources will be discussed. Lecture. Three credit hours. MR. PESTANA

176] Oceanography Similar to Geology 172 but taught at the Bermuda Biological Station. Students cannot receive credit for Geology 172 and 176. Lecture. Three credit hours.

15 Mineralogy Physical properties and chemical structure of minerals leading to investigation of the chemical composition and optical properties of minerals. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Geology 141, Chemistry 141 (may be taken concurrently), or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. ALLEN

32 Structural Geology Mechanical deformation of rocks, microfabrics, primary structures, structural associations with plate tectonics. Prerequisite: Geology 42. Four credit hours. MR. DOLL

51 Invertebrate Paleontology Morphology of invertebrates and general principles, including nomenclature, taxonomy, paleoecology, evolution, correlation, and techniques of identification. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Geology 142 or one year of biology. Four credit hours. MR. PESTANA 252 Micropaleontology  A laboratory course covering one or more of the major microfossil groups. Emphasis will be on identification, age determination, and environmental interpretation. Prerequisite: Geology 251 or permission of the instructor.

One to four credit hours.  MR. PESTANA

254 Advanced Invertebrate Paleontology  A laboratory course involving detailed investigation of one or more invertebrate groups. Emphasis will be on identification, age determination, and environmental interpretation. Prerequisite: Geology 251 or permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours.  MR. PESTANA

258j, 258 Field Geology  A course of studies to be conducted off campus in regions whose climate permits field study of geologic features. Emphasis will be placed on development of fundamental concepts, analysis of field data, field identification of lithotypes, basic mapping techniques, and recognition of geomorphic features and their genetic significance. Grades will be based on field notes, reports, and maps submitted following independent projects, which will be conducted periodically over the duration of the course. Prerequisite: Geology 141 and permission of the instructor. Two or three credit hours.  FACULTY

271 Computer Applications and Mathematical Methods in the Earth Sciences  An introduction to computer applications and mathematical methods in the earth sciences, to provide appropriate tools for more quantitative approaches to geological problems in advanced courses. Prerequisite: Geology 141, 142, and permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  MR. DOLL

292j Meteorology  Physical properties of the atmosphere, the origin and classification of weather types, air mass analysis and principles of prediction, and meteorology of air quality. Does not satisfy the science requirement. Lecture. Two credit hours.  INSTRUCTOR

311 Sedimentation  Processes of sedimentation, methods of analysis of sediments, the description and interpretation of environments of deposition, and the classification and description of sedimentary rocks. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Geology 142 and 215. Four credit hours.  MR. PESTANA

†[312] Sedimentation and Carbonate Sediments  Sedimentary processes, environments of deposition, and the classification and description of sedimentary rocks. Emphasis will be on carbonate sediments and the biological aspects of sedimentation. Taught at the Bermuda Biological Station. Students cannot receive credit for Geology 311 and 312. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Geology 142 and 215. Four credit hours.

†[314] Field Study in Bermuda  Field and laboratory study of selected topics dealing with coral reefs, carbonate sediments, or other aspects of the Bermuda environment. Corequisite: Geology 176 and 312. Five credit hours.

331 Tectonics  Large-scale features and physical processes of the crust, mantle and core of the earth are discussed, and the constraints imposed by several areas of research are summarized. In this setting, the concepts of plate tectonics are explained and applied. Prerequisite: Geology 232 and Physics 122 or 142, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  MR. DOLL.
3 Geophysical Prospecting Gravitational, magnetic, electromagnetic methods, and geologic mapping commonly used in mineral exploration, are studied and applied to local field areas. Prerequisite: Geology 232 and Physics 122 or 142, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. DOLL

36 Seismology Theory of collection and interpretation of seismic data. Both naturally occurring (earthquake) sources and artificial (exploration) sources will be considered. Body waves (P- and S-) and surface waves will be used in determining local and global structure. Prerequisite: Geology 232, Mathematics 121 or 123, and Physics 121 or 141, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. DOLL

41 Principles of Geomorphology The origin, history, and classification of landforms and the processes that shape the earth's surface. Emphasis on study of erosional processes. Lecture and laboratory. At least one all-day field trip required. Prerequisite: Geology 141. Four credit hours. MR. NELSON

352j Dating Techniques in Geology The use of radioactive isotopes and their decay as a means of determining the ages of rocks and other geological deposits. Radiometric techniques will also be examined, with particular attention to their applicability and reliability. Lecture only. Prerequisite: Geology 142, Chemistry 141. Four credits.

354] Glacial and Quaternary Geology The origin and development of glaciers and their influence on the landscape, both as erosive forces and as transporters of new earth materials. Geological and biological evolution of the landscape during the Quaternary, the most recent of the geological periods. Lecture and laboratory and several field trips (including two all-day Saturday trips). Prerequisite: Geology 141. Four credits.

58] Geological Field Study A spring-recess field trip to a selected area. Students must cover expenses. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One credit hour.

372 Quaternary Paleoecology Reconstruction of biological environments on land for the recent geologic past, based on the fossil remains of plants and animals preserved in sediments. Emphasis will be on the use of pollen in reconstructing past vegetation types, but other groups of organisms will be included. Extrapolation of past climatic parameters from the biological data. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Geology 142 and Chemistry 141. Geology 354 and some biology recommended. Four credit hours. MR. NELSON

74 Ore Deposits An investigation of the genesis and localization of ore deposits. Topics may include the history of mineral deposits, materials, and formation of ore deposits, supergene sulfide enrichment, paragenesis and zoning, epigenetic versus magmatic deposits, magmatic segregation deposits, and mineral deposits related to regional tectonic environments. Prerequisite: Geology 215 and Chemistry 141. Three credit hours. MR. ALLEN

81, 382 Optical Mineralogy; Igneous and Metamorphic Petrology First semester: determination of mineral composition and properties by means of petrographic microscope and emission spectrograph. Second semester: hand-specimen and thin section examination of igneous and metamorphic rocks to determine structure, composition, and origin. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Geology 215. Four credit hours. MR. ALLEN

452 Stratigraphy Principles of stratigraphy. Includes a study of the relationship and correlation of sedimentary rocks. Laboratories include work with index fossil and a detailed analysis and correlation of well samples. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Geology 251 and 311. Four credit hours. MR. PESTANA

491, 492 Independent Study Field and laboratory problems in geology or environmental problems, with regular reports and a final written report. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

494 Environmental Geology Selected topics dealing with environmental quality. Extensive individual investigation. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours. MR. ALLEN

German

In the department of modern foreign languages. Unless otherwise specified, all courses numbered above 124 are conducted in German. German 142 or permission of the instructor is required for all higher-numbered German courses.

Associate Professors Hubert Kuetter¹, James McIntyre², and Peter Nutting; Assistant Professor Margrit Lichterfeld

Achievement Test: If a student offers a foreign language for entrance credit and wishes to continue it in college, that student must either have taken the College Entrance Test in the language or take the placement test during freshman orientation.

Requirements for the Major in German

Eight semester courses numbered above German 124.

The following statements also apply:

1) The point scale for retention of the major is based on all German courses beyond the intermediate level.

2) No major requirements may be taken pass/fail.

3) No more than the equivalent of four semester courses of foreign study or transfer credit may be counted toward the major.

4) All majors in the department must take at least one course in the major approved by the major adviser each semester until graduation. For students returning from foreign study, these courses must be numbered 300 or higher.

Teacher Certification: Students desiring certification for teaching German should consult the department of modern foreign languages and the education department.

¹Resident director, Colby in Lübeck, second semester.
²Part-time second semester only.

121, 121j, 122 Elementary German Introduction to the language by an audio-lingual method, with emphasis on understanding, speaking, and reading. Use of taped materials in the language laboratory is a regular part of the class work. Four credit hours. FACULTY
3, 124j, 124 Intermediate German  Continued practice in the oral-aural skills; increasing emphasis on reading and writing through use of modern prose and poetry. These studies, and the review of grammar, are supplemented with drill work in the laboratory. One section of 124j will be offered in Lübeck, West Germany (for which a supplemental fee will be charged). Prerequisite: Appropriate score on the College Board German achievement test or German 122 (for 123) or German 123 (for 1).

4 Four credit hours (January: three credit hours). FACULTY

2 Conversation and Composition  Language review, with emphasis on oral expression, written composition, and vocabulary development. Prerequisite: German 1 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. INSTRUCTOR

15| Intermediate German for Specialized Communications  Continued practice in the oral-aural skills, with emphasis on the specialized vocabulary andraseology needed for communication in the areas of business and economics. Study of appropriate readings from current journals and newspapers will be used as the basis for oral and written practice and a review of grammar. Cannot be counted toward the German major. Prerequisite: Appropriate score on the College Board German achievement test or successful completion of German 123 or above. Four credit hours.

1, 142 Masterpieces of German Literature  Introduction to German literature through readings of selected masterpieces illustrative of a major literary genre and continuing practice in composition and conversation. Prerequisite: German 124 equivalent. Four credit hours. MR. NUTTING

75 Fortsetzung: Deutsch  Designed for students with majors other than German who want to maintain proficiency in German. Practice in conversational skills, view of grammar, and vocabulary building. Students completing the course may take a special examination leading to a certificate of proficiency in German. Prerequisite: German 124 or equivalent background in German. One credit hour.

23, 224 German Cultural Traditions  A chronological survey of German story from the rise of the barbarian tribes to the fall of Hitler will serve as the background for a discussion of current trends in the German-speaking countries of Europe. Prerequisite: German 124.

321 Advanced German  A review of German grammar at the advanced level, with directed themes and free compositions. Prerequisite: German 132 or 141.

3 Three credit hours. MR. KUETER

135, 336 The GDR: 1949 to the Present  Representative literary texts in the context of their historical perspective will be used to introduce and analyze the phenomenon of Kulturpolitik. Prerequisite: Successful completion of a German course numbered above 124.

Four credit hours.

55 Topics in Nineteenth-Century German Literature  The German romantic movement. Four credit hours. MR. NUTTING
Topics in Twentieth-Century German Literature  German literature after 1890. Four credit hours.

Independent Study  Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two to four credit hours.

Seminar in German Literature  Topics, which change each semester, may cover an author, a genre, or a literary movement. (Spring 1986: A study of the works of Franz Kafka.) Four credit hours.

Government

Chairman, PROFESSOR L. SANDY MAISEL
Professors Albert Mavinac¹, Günter Weissberg², William Cotter³, and Maisel; Associate Professors Charles Hauss, Calvin Mackenzie⁴, and Roger Bowen; Assistant Professors Pamela Blake, Instructor Beverly Hauk; Lecturer Morton Brody⁵.

The department of government offers a wide range of courses in American government and politics, comparative government and politics, transnational political theory, and research methods and quantitative analysis. The departmental goals include exposing students to a variety of forms of governments and of governmental activities and to the means for studying these governments and the actions.

Internships are encouraged, so that students can experience the practical as well as the more theoretical aspects of the field. The interdisciplinary program in public policy also furthers this goal. In addition, for those students who intend to pursue the study of government in more depth, the department offers an honors program which emphasizes substantial independent research under the close guidance of one or two members of the faculty. Successful completion of this program will result in the degree being awarded “With Honors in Government.”

Requirements for the Major in Government
Ten semester courses in government, including Government 111 and 112, a senior seminar, a course in the subfield of political theory and analysis, and at least one course in two of the other three subfields defined below. No more than four of these courses may be taken at institutions other than Colby, and none of those courses may count toward the distribution requirements within the major. All government courses count toward the grade point average needed to retain the major. Government courses for completion of the major may not be taken on a pass/fail basis.

Attention is called to the interdisciplinary program in public policy.

History provides the opportunity to expand an understanding of the human experience through the study of one's own and other cultures and societies as they have evolved through time. It is also a rigorous intellectual discipline involving research techniques, problem solving, and the critical evaluation of evidence. The department offers a wide variety of learning experiences, including lectures, individual tutorials, discussion groups, and research seminars. Students are encouraged to take courses in many areas of history and in interdisciplinary programs and related fields. While a number of distinguished academic historians began their training at Colby, most majors find that history is excellent preparation for careers in business, law, and other professions. In recent years, media research, preservation, and museums have offered new opportunities for persons trained in history.

Requirements for the Major in History

Twelve semester courses in history, to include at least two courses in each of three major fields: United States history, European (including English) history, and non-Western history. At least one of the courses in each of the three fields should be at the 200 level or higher. Two of the 12 courses counting toward the major may be selected from courses in related fields subject to approval by the department.

All majors must satisfy a comprehensive requirement either by taking a designated senior seminar or by a satisfactory oral presentation on a topic in the student's field of concentration in history.

Details on the division of courses among the fields and on the comprehensive requirement are available at the department office.

At least one January program in the major must be taken and passed.

Majors in history may apply during their junior year for selection for admission to the department honors program. On successful completion of the work of the honors program and of the major, their graduation from the College will be noted as being "With Honors in History."

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses in history. With the exception of History 111, 112, no requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail.

¹First semester only.
²Part-time, first semester only.
³On leave full year except January.
⁴Part-time.
⁵On leave first semester.

MS. WILSON

[352] Intellectual and Cultural History of Modern Europe
A historical survey of the changes in the idea of history expressed by representative speculators from Hegel to Heidegger. Major attention will be given to the contributions made by Darwin, Marx, and Freud in the development of the modern ideologies of liberalism, Communism, and fascism, and the production of the cultural phenomenon of existentialism. Three or four credit hours.

353d2 American Culture and Society, 1865-1975
The development of modern American culture from the Gilded Age to the "Me" decade, from the Civil War to Vietnam. Social change and the evolving meaning of work, leisure, the individual, and the social experiment as reflected in literature, film, music, and art. Three or four credit hours.
MS. HUNTER

[354] American Intellectual History, 1865-1917
An analysis of the dominant intellectual controversies during America's transition from an agrarian to an industrialized society. Focus is upon the effort made by American thinkers to redefine the meaning of community and the relationship of the individual to that community. Three credit hours.

[355] The French Revolution and Napoleon
The origins and political and social development of the French Revolution and Napoleonic dictatorship, 1789-1815. Considerable attention will be given to theories of revolution. Three credit hours.

*357 Modern Germany
The political and economic development and the international influence of Germany from 1806 to 1945. Three credit hours.
MR. GILLUM

[358] Modern France, 1815-1946
A survey of French political history from the restoration of the monarchy to the restoration of the republic. Attention will be given to the intellectual and cultural developments that have shaped republicanism in modern France. Three or four credit hours.

[371] The American South
Social, economic, political, and cultural history of the American South from 1600 to 1980, and its troubled relationship with the rest of the Union. Three credit hours.

372d1 The American Civil War
The origins of the Civil War and its military and political history from about 1850 to 1865. Three credit hours.
MR. RAYMOND

[373] American Political History, 1865-1929
American reform from the Reconstruction to the influence of the progressives. Topics include the changing nature of national politics in response to sectional and racial tensions, the growth of industry and urban life, agrarian and labor discontent, and the country’s deepening involvement in world affairs. Three or four credit hours.
†[374] American Political History, 1929 to the Present  The accelerated growth of federal power and responsibilities in meeting the challenges posed by the Great Depression, World War II, national security needs in a nuclear age, and rising demands by blacks and other minorities for equal rights. No prerequisites, but develops themes presented in History 373. Three or four credit hours.

376d1 America: The New World, 1607-1783  The American colonies from their earliest settlement to the Revolution; the emergence of a unique American society and mind from the Puritans to George Washington. Three or four credit hours. MR. BERNARD

378 The United States, 1783-1860  The problems of the new nation, including the Constitution, geographical expansion, religious revivalism, reform, democracy, slavery, and sectionalism. Three credit hours. MR. BERNARD

[379] Black History  The history of the black American and race relations from the Harlem Renaissance to 1955, including blacks and the New Deal and World War II, and events in the Truman and Eisenhower administrations. Prerequisite: History 277, 278, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

[381, 382] Islamic History, 622-1945  A survey of Islamic history from Hegira (622) to World War II (1945). Particular emphasis will be given to those portions of the Islamic world – the Near East and the Middle East – having greatest impact on the West. An effort will be made to interrelate social and cultural developments with more traditional political and economic interpretations. Three or four credit hours.

[392] The Industrial Revolution  The comparative social and economic history of industrialization in Europe and America, from 1750 to 1900. Three credit hours.

393 American Cultural History, 1600-1865  American life from the founding to the Civil War as seen from a social and intellectual perspective. Emphasis on the growth of a unique American mind and its relationship to new world social and political development. Three credit hours. MR. MOSS

415 Seminar in American History  Specific topics in American history. In 1985-86, reading and research in nineteenth- and twentieth-century history. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours. MS. HUNTER

416 Seminar in American History  Specific topics in American history. In 1985-86, "The Beauties of Biography," the art of historical biography. Reading and comparison of biographies; the writing of biographical pieces based on individual research. Prerequisite:Permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours. MR. MOSS

[417] Seminar in Diplomatic History  Specific topics in diplomatic history. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

419 Seminar in Medieval and Early Modern History  Reading and research in topics in Medieval, Renaissance, or early modern European history. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours. MS. WILSON
432d Seminar in Black History  "American Social Movements." Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. FONER

457d Seminar in Modern Chinese History  The Chinese Trotskyite Movement: Trotsky's works on the Chinese revolution, the Trotsky-Stalin debate, the Chinese Trotskyite movement and its failure. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. FEIGON

491, 492 Independent Study  A study of history through individual projects. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

494 The Holocaust  An examination of the Holocaust through literary and historical approaches, drawing on both primary and secondary sources, exploring the facts of the Holocaust, and confronting the moral and philosophical challenges posed by the event. Concurrent enrollment in appropriate section of English 494 required. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MR. WEISBROT AND MR. MIZNER

Acting Director, PROFESSOR JONAS ROSENTHAL
STEERING COMMITTEE: Professors Miriam Bennett (Biology), Yeager Hudson (Philosophy), Nicholas Rohrman (Psychology), and Rosenthal (Sociology)
ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Professors Thomas Easton (Biology), Frederick Geib (Sociology), Harold Jacobson (Education), Diane Kierstead (Psychology), Lewis Lester (Psychology), Francis Parker (Philosophy), Robert Reuman$^1$ (Philosophy), Sonya Rose (Sociology), and six students.

A multidisciplinary study of the origin and development of man and woman. Academic aims of the program are to provide an understanding of the development of humans as biological and psychological organisms; an appreciation of the relationship between individuals and their social environment; an opportunity to consider possible future directions for both the individual and society; and working experience with a local, state, or regional agency involved in some aspect of human development.

Requirements for the Major in Human Development

In philosophy: 331, 332.
In psychology: 111 and two additional courses, not to include 214 or 255.
In sociology: 121, 122, and one additional course in sociology or anthropology, not to include Sociology 237 or 271.

Either Sociology 271 or Psychology 214.
Either Psychology 255 or Sociology 237.
An additional nine credit hours above the introductory level in one of the following areas: anthropology, biology, philosophy-religion, psychology, or sociology.

At least one independent study project in human development taken either in January or one of the semesters.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses offered toward the major. No requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail.

$^1$On leave full year.
394 Seminar  The study of multidisciplinary perspectives on problems in human development. Two credit hours. INSTRUCTOR

491, 492 Independent Study  Individual study of special problems in human development in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor and the program director. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

493 Seminar in Human Development  An interdisciplinary seminar required of all senior majors in human development. Students are expected to integrate their previous work in the major into an articulated perspective. Three credit hours. MR. PARKER

Italian

121, 122 Elementary Italian  Introduction to the language, with emphasis on understanding, speaking, and reading. Use of taped materials in the language laboratory is a regular part of the class work. Four credit hours. MR. FERGUSON

†[123, 124] Intermediate Italian  Intensive review of the fundamentals of the language. Practice in the oral-aural skills, supplemented by work in the language laboratory and composition, all based on a variety of modern readings. Prerequisite: Italian 121, 122, or permission of the instructor; 124 may not be taken without 123 except with permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

†[138] Introduction to Italian Literature and Culture  Representative works by major authors since Unification, emphasizing the period since World War II. Parallel readings in the historical and cultural background. Regular practice in composition. Prerequisite: Italian 124 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

January Program

002j  Emergency Medical Technician Training  Intensive training in basic techniques practiced in emergency medicine. Theory and practical exercises given in conjunction with Kennebec Valley Vocational Technical Institute. Prerequisite: Permission of the faculty sponsor. Noncredit. INSTRUCTOR

091j, 291j Individual Projects  Each department and interdisciplinary major sponsors a number of individual January program projects, primarily for majors, to be offered under the appropriate subject heading. At the time of registration the student and sponsor will determine if the project is to be graded or nongraded, and if it is to be for credit or noncredit. The number of credits possible varies with depart-her January Programs Courses to be offered in January are listed with the department of the faculty member sponsoring the course. Listings of all available January programs will be available in October, when students register for the January term. Enrollment will be limited in most courses, and freshmen will have priority in all 100-level courses.

Japanese

are part of the East Asian studies program.*

21, 122 Elementary Japanese Introduction to the spoken and written language, to provide a thorough grounding in all the language skills: speaking, listenging, reading, and writing. Four credit hours. MS. PRINDLE

23, 124 Intermediate Japanese A continuation of the methods and goals used in elementary Japanese. Prerequisite: Japanese 122. Four credit hours. MS. PRINDLE

71 Japanese Literature in Translation A survey of important works of Japa-
ese literature. Three or four credit hours. MS. PRINDLE

72 Japanese Literature in Translation A survey of important works of Japa-
ese literature. Three or four credit hours. MS. PRINDLE

21, 322 Advanced Japanese Advanced readings in Japanese. Designed primarily for those students who have had substantial experience in a Japanes-peaking setting. Prerequisite: Japanese 124 or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours. MS. PRINDLE

91, 492 Independent Study Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequsite: Permission of the instructor. Two to four credit hours. FACULTY

Latin

111 Intensive Elementary Latin An intensive course in Latin grammar and syntax. Four credit hours. MR. WESTERVELT

WESTERVELT

113 Introduction to Latin Literature Readings in Livy. Three credit hours. MRS.
KOONCE
232 Introduction to Latin Poetry  Readings in Terence. Successful completion of this course fulfills the College language requirement. Prerequisite: Latin 113 or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours. MR. WESTERVELT

[251] Latin Literature  Roman drama. Three or four credit hours.

351d2 Latin Literature  Lucretius. Three or four credit hours. MRS. KOONCE

[352] Latin Literature  Livy. Three or four credit hours.

353 Latin Literature  Roman elegy and lyrics. Three or four credit hours. MISS VITO

[354] Latin Literature  Cicero: selected speeches. Three or four credit hours.

[355] Latin Literature  Roman satire. Three or four credit hours.

356 Latin Literature  Cicero: letters. Three or four credit hours. MR. WESTERVE

[357] Latin Literature  Horace: Odes and Ars Poetica. Three or four credit hours.

[358] Latin Literature  Tacitus. Three or four credit hours.

[359] Latin Literature  Virgil: Eclogues and Georgics. Three or four credit hours

[371] Latin Literature  Terence. Three or four credit hours.

491, 492 Independent Study  Reading in a field of the student's interest, with essays and conferences. One to three credit hours by prior arrangement. FACULTY †[494] Seminar  Virgil: Aeneid. Three or four credit hours.

Director, PROFESSOR ALBERT MAVRINAC

ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Professors William Cotter (Government), Frederick Gautschi (Administrative Science), Frederick Gillum (History), Sandy Maisel (Government), Mavrina (Government), Robert McArthur (Philosophy), James Meehan (Economics), Sonya Ro (Sociology), and Guenter Weissberg (Government)

The legal studies program consists of a selection of courses that examine the law and the legal process from diverse disciplinary perspectives. In the tradition of the liberal arts, these courses focus on the law as it relates to other areas of knowledge. The program is designed for the student who is not planning to go to law school and specifically not part of a pre-law curriculum. Courses range from those dealing with such specialized areas of the law as constitutional, international, and business, to those which examine the law in the broader perspectives of economic thought and moral philosophy. Some courses focus on the Anglo-American common law, while others use comparative techniques to gain insights into the legal systems of other societies with different legal traditions. The professors in these courses come from many disciplines and are all active in research, writing, or consulting on legal matters. related subjects. Two are members of the bar; one is a specialist in the law of others have had extensive specialized training in American law schools; several we worked in or with federal, state, or foreign governments.

Students who are interested in attending law school should consult the committee professional preparation for law and government service, and should avoid over­ concentration on law-related courses as undergraduates.

Courses Offered in the Legal Studies Program

Administrative Science: 354 Law.
Economics: 312 Topics in Law and Economics; 331 Industrial Organization and Antitrust Economics; 332 Regulated Industries.

Linguistics

In the department of modern foreign languages.

11] Introduction to Linguistics A multidisciplinary introduction to language, covering phonetics, morphology, syntax, language acquisition, and genealogical and topological relationships of languages of the world. The relationship of language to the fields of philosophy, English, philology, biology, physics, intellectual history, political science, and anthropology. Prerequisite: Successful completion of any intermediate language course or demonstration of equivalent proficiency. Three credit hours.

12] Man, Woman, and Language Human communication and culture. The scope of the course is broad; possible topics include dialects, women's speech, semantics, pragmatics, black English, nonhuman communication, jokes, logic, and lies. Prerequisite: Linguistics 211 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

Related Courses Other courses recommended for students interested in linguistics are Biology 377 (Topics in Neurobiology) (q.v.), Biology 378 (Animal Behavior), English 432 (History of the English Language), and Psychology 238 (Psychology of Language).

Literature in Translation

Offered by the departments of classics, English, and modern foreign languages.

133 Greek Myth and Literature Listed as Classics 133 (q.v.). Three or four credit hours. MR. WESTERVELT
*177 Greek Tragedy  Listed as Classics 177 (q.v.). Two or three credit hours.  MI. DE VITO

*178 The Epic Tradition  Listed as Classics 178 (q.v.). Two or three credit hours.  MR. PORTER

Mathematics

Chairman, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR HOMER HAYSLETT
Associate Professors Donald Small, Hayslett, and David Kurtz; Assistant Professors Dale Skrien, Carol Bassett, John Hosack, Kenneth Lane, John Gimbel, and Robert Kurtz; Lecturer Jonathan Allen

The mathematics department offers courses in computer science (see listings under "Computer Science") and mathematics for students who: (1) plan a career in an area of pure or applied mathematics or computer science; (2) need mathematics as sup for their chosen major; or (3) elect to take mathematics as part of their liberal arts education or to partially fulfill the science requirement.

Many mathematics majors in recent years have entered graduate school to do advanced work in such areas as mathematics, statistics, computer science, bioinformatics, and physics. They have also used the major as a solid foundation for careers in teaching, law, insurance, banking, management, and other areas.

Requirements for the Major in Mathematics

Mathematics 361, 362, 401, 402, 433, 434; and 12 additional hours selected from the following: Computer Science 231 or mathematics courses numbered 300 or above. The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses taken in the department. No requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail.

Freshmen planning to major in mathematics or one of the physical sciences should take Mathematics 123 or should elect in the sequence Mathematics 121, 122, 221, 222 (advanced placement or high school background would determine where a student should enter the sequence).

Requirements for the Major in Mathematics with a Concentration in Computer Science

Computer Science 125, 132, 231; Mathematics 128 or 221; 124 or 222; 361, 362 or 3; 401, 402; three additional credit hours at the 400 level in mathematics; and at least five additional credit hours in 300-level or 400-level courses in either computer science or mathematics.

Attention is called to the interdepartmental majors in administrative science-mathematics, economics-mathematics, philosophy-mathematics, and psychology-mathematics.

Students interested in teaching, private and public, are urged to read the education section of the catalogue and to contact a member of the education department.

1j Pre-Calculus Absolute values; equations of lines, circles, and parabolas; functional notation; combining functions; graphing functions; applications of functions to word problems; polynomial and rational functions; trigonometric functions of angles; trigonometric functions of real numbers. Noncredit. INSTRUCTOR

1 Introduction to Mathematics The historical and contemporary role of mathematics in culture and intellectual endeavor; history of mathematics; the nature of contemporary mathematics; mathematics as a tool for problem solving; logical reasoning; topics from geometry. Three credit hours. MR. HAYSLETT

12 Non-calculus Statistics Description of data, confidence intervals, tests of hypotheses, non-parametric statistics, correlation and regression (including multiple regression), use of computer statistical packages. Four credit hours. MR. HAYSLETT

15j Finite Mathematics Selected topics from modern mathematics, including probability, logic, linear programming, and the theory of games. Statistics is not taught but is offered in other courses. Three credit hours. INSTRUCTOR

21d Calculus I Differential and integral calculus of one variable: limits and continuity, differentiation and its applications, antiderivatives, the definite integral and applications. Students electing this course must take the mathematics placement test during freshman orientation. Four credit hours. FACULTY
122d Calculus II  Further study of differential and integral calculus of a variable: exponential and logarithmic functions, techniques of integration, infinite series. Prerequisite: Mathematics 121. Three credit hours. FACULTY

123 Calculus of One and Several Variables I  Differential calculus of one and several variables: functions, limits, continuity, differentiation. May not be taken for credit if the student has earned credit for Mathematics 121 or higher. Recommend for students who have had a calculus course in high school. Note that Mathematics 123 and 124 satisfy all calculus prerequisites for upper-level courses. Students selecting this course must take the mathematics placement test during freshman orientation. Four credit hours. FACULTY

124 Calculus of One and Several Variables II  Integral calculus of one and several variables: integration, infinite series, introduction to differential equations. May not be taken for credit if the student has earned credit for Mathematics 122 or higher. Note that Mathematics 123 and 124 satisfy all calculus prerequisites for upper-level courses. Prerequisite: Mathematics 123. Four credit hours. FACULTY

127 Introduction to Discrete Mathematics  A study of logic, sets, relations, and combinatorics. Three credit hours. MR. D. KURTZ

[128] Computational Linear Algebra  An introduction to linear algebra, taught from a computational and algorithmic point of view: matrices and determinants, linear systems, vector spaces, and eigenvalues. Prerequisite: Mathematics 127 and programming experience. Three credit hours.

197 Freshman Seminar I  An introduction to some of the basic ideas of mathematics: conjectures, refutations, proofs. Topics may include number theory, set theory, recursion, combinatorics, geometry. Prerequisite: Freshman standing and permission of the instructor. Nongraded. One credit hour. INSTRUCTOR

198 Freshman Seminar II  Topics may include number theory, set theory, recursion, combinatorics, geometry. Prerequisite: Freshman standing and permission of the instructor. Nongraded. One credit hour. INSTRUCTOR

221d Linear Algebra  Solutions of linear systems of algebraic equations and matrix algebra. Also an introduction to linear spaces and linear transformation theory and applications of determinants, eigenvalues and eigenvectors of linear transformations and matrices, and the principal axis theorem; quadratic forms. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122 or 124. Three credit hours. FACULTY

222 Multivariable Calculus  Topics in multivariable calculus. May not be taken for credit if the student has earned credit for Mathematics 124. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122. Four credit hours. FACULTY

231d Elementary Statistics and Regression Analysis  Elementary probability theory, special discrete and continuous distributions, descriptive statistics, sampling theory, confidence intervals, tests of hypotheses, correlation, linear regression, and multiple linear regression. Examples and applications slanted toward economic situations. May not be taken by students who have taken Mathematics 241. Prerequisite: Mathematics 121 or 123. Four credit hours. MR. VERMEULEN
d, 242 Elementary Statistics I, II  Statistics I: Descriptive statistics, elementary probability theory, binomial and normal distributions, elementary sampling theory, tests of hypotheses, confidence intervals, correlation. Applications are emphasized. Offered each semester. Statistics II: A continuation, including regression analysis, analysis of variance, and nonparametric statistics. Offered second semester. Neither course open to mathematics majors or students who have taken Mathematics 231. Prerequisite: Mathematics 121 or 123. Mathematics 241: four credit hours; 242: two credit hours.  MR. R. KURTZ AND INSTRUCTOR

Introduction to Differential Equations  Theory and solution methods of t- and second-order ordinary differential equations with applications; first-order linear systems, solutions, and stability. Prerequisite: Mathematics 128 or 221, and 124 222. Three credit hours.  MR. R. KURTZ

12] Topics in Differential Analysis  A continuation of Mathematics 311. Partial differential equations, particularly linear equations. Also Fourier series, Fourier transforms, Sturm-Liouville theorem as applied to partial differential equations; an introduction to potential theory; Green's functions. Prerequisite: Mathematics 311. Three credit hours.

15] Introduction to Mathematical Systems  Qualitative discussion of the core of systemic analysis, with examples drawn from computer science, ecological systems, human physiology, physics, and economics. Topics include linear systems of differential equations, control theory, nonlinear stability theory, numerical solutions of systems, discrete systems. Prerequisite: Mathematics 221, or 124 and 128, and knowledge of a computer language. Three credit hours.

32 Introductory Numerical Analysis  Solution by numerical methods of linear and nonlinear equations, systems of equations, and differential equations; numerical integration; polynomial approximation; matrix inversion; error analysis. A time-sharing computer system will be used to solve problems. Prerequisite: Some programming experience [FORTRAN recommended], Mathematics 128 or 221, and 124 222. Three credit hours.  INSTRUCTOR

352] Complex Variables  The arithmetic and calculus of complex numbers. Properties of analytic functions, including mapping by elementary functions, informal mapping, residues, and poles. Prerequisite: Mathematics 128 or 221, and 14 or 222. Three credit hours.

31, 362 Higher Algebra  Introduction to algebraic structures, such as groups, rings, integral domains, and fields. Prerequisite: Mathematics 221, or 124 and 128, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  MR. LANE

72 Discrete Mathematics  Selected topics in modern mathematics and operations research that have applications in current societal problems. The content will vary from year to year, but topics such as graph theory, combinatorics, game theory, near programming, optimization techniques, and Markov chains may be considered. Prerequisite: Mathematics 221, or 124 and 128, or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.  MR. D. KURTZ

calculus. Prerequisite: Computer Science 125, Mathematics 128 or 221. Three credit hours. INSTRUCTOR

381, 382 Mathematical Statistics Random variables, special probability distributions, moment generating functions, maximum likelihood estimators, sample distributions, regression, tests of hypotheses, confidence intervals, linear model analysis of variance. Although applications are discussed, emphasis is on theory. Prerequisite: Mathematics 124 or 222. Three credit hours. MR. HOSACK

401, 402 Mathematics Seminar Discussion of topics in pure and applied mathematics. Nongraded. Prerequisite: Senior standing in the mathematics major or a combined major including mathematics. One credit hour for the year. FACULTY

433 Real Analysis More advanced topics of calculus and an introduction to real analysis. Prerequisite: Mathematics 124 or 222 and senior standing, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MR. SKRIEN

434 Topics in Advanced Mathematics Content may vary from year to year, but topics such as topology, measure theory, functional analysis, or related areas may be considered. Prerequisite: Mathematics 433. Three credit hours. MR. SKRIEN

491, 492 Independent Study Independent study in an area of mathematics particular interest to the student. Prerequisite: Mathematics major and permission of the department. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

Modern Foreign Languages

Chairman, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR JONATHAN WEISS

Professors Jean Bundy, Henry Holland, Francisco Cauz, and Guy Filosof; Associate Professors Hubert Kueter, Charles Ferguson, Priscilla Doel, Weiss, James McIntyre, Arth Greenspan, Peter Nutting, and Jane Moss; Assistant Professors Camille Laparra, Javier Olivares, James Airozo, Anthony Anemone, and Margrit Lichterfeld; Instructors Bence Melançon, Marcia Tardito, Javier Gonzalez-Alonso, David Keenan, and Tamae Prindl; Lecturers Barbara Nelson and Dace Weiss

The programs in modern foreign languages are designed to bring students into close contact with the products of imagination and inquiry of other cultures; at the same time, the study of foreign languages and literatures heightens one's awareness of one's own culture. Students have the opportunity to study in a wide variety of areas, some interdisciplinary, to participate in one of Colby's language semester programs (Mexico, France, Germany), and to spend their junior year abroad either at Colby's own programs in Caen or Salamanca or at approved programs in other countries. Like most liberal arts majors, the study of foreign languages should be considered as background leading to a wide variety of careers. Some students go on to pursue advanced degrees in languages and literatures. When languages are combined with course work in history, government, economics, or the natural sciences, career possibilities in law, medicine, business, and government are enhanced. Prospects for teaching languages are somewhat limited, but needs do exist in certain areas, and the department offers both courses and practical training in this field.

Note: Majors are offered in French, German, and Spanish; the department also offers instruction in Chinese, Italian, Japanese, Portuguese, and Russian.

Students interested in Russian are invited to consider an independent major, com ning their study of Russian with another area of concentration (another language literature, art, economics, history, music, philosophy, or sociology).

Teacher Certification: Students desiring certification for teaching French, German, Spanish must take Modern Foreign Languages 411, and may in some cases be required to take other specified courses.

- In leave second semester.
- Resident director, Colby in Dijon, first semester.
- Resident director, Colby in Cuernavaca, first semester.
- Resident director, Colby in Salamanca, full year.
- Resident director, Colby in Lübeck, second semester.
- Part-time second semester only.
- Resident director, Colby in Caen, full year.
- Part-time.

11 Teaching of Modern Foreign Languages Problems and methods of teaching modern foreign languages. Readings, discussions, practice work, and criticism. Counts as three hours in education toward the Maine secondary-school teaching certificate. Conducted in English. Nongraded. Prerequisite: Two 200-level modern foreign literature courses. Three credit hours. Mr. Greenspan

91, 492 Independent Topics in Modern Foreign Languages Individual projects in language or literature in which the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the department chairman. Two to four credit hours. Faculty

Chairman, Associate Professor Paul Machlin
Associate Professors Adel Heinrich, Dorothy Reuman, and Machlin; Assistant Professors Bryan Gilliam, Jonathan Hallstrom, and Rebecca Gerber

The Colby music department includes music historians, composers, and theorists, all of whom are performing musicians. The curriculum for majors and non-majors is designed to provide the broadest possible range of studies in music at all levels, while also allowing students the opportunity to develop their creative and expressive gifts as performers. The department's conviction that music is an art which bears an intimate relationship to the cultural and social matrix from which it springs is reflected in the wide diversity of course offerings.

Facilities include a 394-seat recital hall, two concert grand pianos and several smaller grands, an orchestra and band rehearsal room, an electronic music center with a variety of sound-producing and recording equipment, teaching studios, and practice rooms. Performances are scheduled in the recital hall and in Lorimer Chapel. The fine arts library contains a listening center, tapes and recordings, and resource materials for curricular and recreational needs.

Several individual works of the post-World War II era will be analyzed. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Music 222 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

371] Composition  Utilization of skills acquired through the study of theory, harmony, and musical analysis in the creation of small and large forms. Individual assignments will be made on the basis of each student's ability, training, and experience. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Music 281 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

373] Counterpoint and Fugue  The principles of sixteenth- and eighteenth-century polyphony as exemplified in the works of Palestrina and J. S. Bach. Composition of motets, canons, inventions, and fugues; analyses of representative works of both composers. Formerly listed as Music 376. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Music 281 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

74] Conducting and Score Reading  Basic conducting techniques and their application to stylistic interpretation, designed to develop the student's ability to read full instrumental or choral score with fluency and insight. In addition to practice clef reading and transposition, analysis of scores for a variety of ensembles from different eras in music history will be stressed; elements of the analysis will include traction of the main melodic and harmonic elements from the score for keyboard rendition. Formerly listed as Music 378. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Music 281 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

91, 492] Independent Study  Individual topics in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Primarily for senior music majors. Prerequisite: Permission of the department. One to four credit hours.

493, 494] Seminar in Music  Topics will change each semester; a complete description will be available before registration. Primarily for senior music majors. Prerequisite: Music 282 and permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

99d] Music Teaching  Directed practice in conduct of introductory music courses. Open to a limited number of upperclass music majors. Non-graded. Prerequisite: Music 222, 282, and permission of the department. Praxis. Two credit hours.

Applied Music  Private lessons in voice and a variety of instruments are available, with or without academic credit, at additional cost. For a list of possible offerings, see Music 191, 192. For information concerning academic credit, see Music 091j, 191, 92, 291, and 292. In the case of Music 091j, a fee of $110 is charged for on-campus instruction. In the case of Music 191, 192, 291, 292, there are no fees for declared music majors. At the time this course catalogue went to press, the question of fees for other students was under review. Although the College may be able to waive fees for some additional students, normally a fee of $180 is charged for each semester of instruction in a two-credit course; for a one-credit course the fee is $110. Comparable fees are charged for extracurricular instruction in applied music, which is available during both semesters and during January. In order to elect Music 191, 192, 193, 194, the faculty or staff member designated as applied music coordinator must be consulted; however, individual lessons are scheduled in consultation with the appropriate applied music associate.

All majors are expected to demonstrate some skill at the keyboard; consult the department. Students not already proficient are urged to remedy this deficiency as soon as possible by enrolling for piano study.

Performing Arts

Chairman, Professor Howard Koonce
Professor Koonce, Associate Professor Eric Binnie; Adjunct Associate Professors Stephen Woody, Christine Mitchell-Wentzel, and Richard Sewell

Advisory Committee: Professors Mark Benbow (English), Binnie (Performing Arts and English), Patrick Brancaccio (English), Koonce (English and Performing Arts), Paul Machlin (Music), Mitchell-Wentzel (Performing Arts), Sewell (Performing Arts), David Simon (Art), and Woody (Performing Arts)

The program in the performing arts enlarges existing patterns of academic concentration through credited work in theater, theatrical music, and dance. The program is founded on two premises: first, that performance is essential to a full understanding of the art form; second, that all the arts share significant modes of thought and expression, and that a knowledge of one art form will contribute to an understanding of all the arts. In addition to traditional lecture/discussion courses, the program includes frequent opportunities for practical experience in the theater.

The major in performing arts is a liberal arts, not a pre-professional, major. It is, however, a major which will adequately prepare particularly interested and talented students for graduate study and further involvement with performing groups. It is structured major which ensures that all students have experience and training in technical theater as well as appearing on stage. It is an interdisciplinary major which relates the study of theater and dance to the study of art, music, and literature. A part of its program, the performing arts major not only recognizes but encourage performing experience and study with approved organizations outside the College through exchange programs with other colleges and universities, internships, and foreign study.

Requirements for the Major in Performing Arts

Philosophy

In the department of philosophy and religion.

Chairman, PROFESSOR YEAGER HUDSON
Professors Robert Reuman1, Francis Parker, Hudson, Robert McArthur2, and Thomas Longstaff; Visiting Associate Professor James Anderson; Assistant Professors Michael Birkel and Daniel Cohen; Lecturer Deborah Soifer3

"Philosophy," as William James put it, "is an attempt to think without arbitrariness or dogmatism about the fundamental issues." One of the core disciplines of the liberal arts, philosophy provides a unique perspective on human and social problems. As a critical and integrative discipline, it collects the questions that arise from the basic principles of all areas of knowledge. Our program features a sequence of courses dealing with both Western and Eastern intellectual and philosophical history, as well as courses treating the major philosophical issues.

Requirements for the Major in Philosophy
Philosophy 152, 211, 331, 332, 353, and 12 additional hours in philosophy, only six of which may be in 100-level courses.

Requirements for the Major in Philosophy and Religion
Religion 211, 212, 233, 234, 316; Philosophy 152, 211, 331, 332, 372, 373.

For each of the above majors, at least one independent study project of at least three credit hours (philosophy or religion) must be taken in January or one of the semesters of the junior or senior year, in addition to the requirements specified above.

A maximum of two courses, not to include any specifically prescribed courses, may be taken on a pass/fail basis in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the above majors. No specifically prescribed course may be taken on a pass/fail basis to satisfy major requirements. The point scale for retention of each of the above majors applies to all other courses that count toward the major.

Requirements for the Major in Philosophy-Mathematics
In philosophy: 152 and either 111 or 211: 258, 331, 332, and 353.

In mathematics: at least 18 credit hours, including 221, 222, 361. Physics 141, 142 is recommended for the major.
at least one independent study project in mathematics or philosophy, of at least 3 credit hours, must be taken in January or one of the semesters.

Attention is called to the interdepartmental major in classics-philosophy (see list of requirements under "Classics"), and to the interdisciplinary major in human development.

rt-time.

1 Central Philosophical Issues: Self and Society An introduction to philosophy by a consideration of two of its central branches: social and political philosophy and ethics. Some of the issues addressed are: the nature of political power, individual rights, the good society, the nature of morality, and whether there are moral absolutes. These issues are approached through readings from several of the great philosophers of the West, such as Plato, Aristotle, Locke, Rousseau, and Mill. Three credit hours. MR. PARKER

3d2 Central Philosophical Issues: Philosophical Anthropology An introduction to philosophy through a comparative study of theories about the nature and destiny of man. Readings from great philosophers and literary figures of the West, such as Plato, Aristotle, Dante, Goethe, Sartre, and Camus. Three credit hours. MR. HUDSON

4d Central Philosophical Issues: Nature and God An introduction to philosophy by a consideration of three of its central issues: knowledge, reality, and God. Some questions addressed are: how can we obtain knowledge, can we achieve certainty, how can we distinguish between appearance and reality, is it reasonable to believe in God, and how can evil be explained? These issues are approached through readings from several of the great philosophers of the West, such as Descartes, Berkeley, Hume, Aquinas, and Tillich. Three credit hours. MR. HUDSON AND MR. PARKER

16] Central Philosophical Issues: The Good Life An introduction to philosophy through an exploration of the theme of the good life in works of philosophy and imaginative literature. Such authors as Plato, Thoreau, Tolstoy, and Arthur Miller will be read. Three credit hours.

18 Central Philosophical Issues: Philosophy of Law An introduction to philosophy by a consideration of the interrelations between law, philosophy, and logic. Topics will include the nature and foundation of legal systems, the relation of law to morality, the limits of law, punishment, justice, and legal reasoning. Three credit hours. MR. MCARTHUR 135j] Puzzles and Paradoxes A probing plunge into philosophical perplexities, such as rational irrationality, dilemmas of decision, riddles of induction, and prior announcement of surprises. Two credit hours.

137j Philosophy of Art The nature of art and the basis of our judgments about art. Concepts of imitation, expression, form, institution, aesthetic attitude, and objective reasons as they relate to the arts. Two credit hours. MR. ANDERSON
152d Logic  The techniques of formal reasoning in a symbolic context, and their application to argumentation in natural language. Three credit hours. MR. COHEN

†[153] Nonviolence  Readings and discussion will focus on the following areas: theoretical considerations and definitions, the nature and advocates of violence, aggression, civil disobedience, Satyagraha, nonviolence and violence in American relations, violence in American society, international conflict, and conflict resolution. Three credit hours.

[173] Evil in Literature and Philosophy  How can the world, with its pervasiveness and wickedness, be the creation of one who is all-knowing, all-powerful, and perfectly good? This course examines the problem of evil, and examines and criticizes theodicies—proposed answers to this question. Thinkers such as Plato, Augustine, Leibniz, Milton, Voltaire, and Dostoyevsky will be studied. Three credit hours.

197 Atheism, Deism, and Other Heresies  Listed as Religion 197 (q.v.). Enrollment limited to freshmen. Three credit hours. MR. BIRKEL AND MR. COHEN

211 Moral Philosophy  Consideration of various philosophical theories about the bases of judgment on questions of good and bad, right and wrong, with less attention to the application of ethical principles to problem cases. Three or four credit hours. MR. ANDERSON

234 History of Science  A survey of the growth of scientific theories from the Aristotelian-Ptolemaic world view through Newton’s mechanical philosophy and Darwin’s theory of evolution. Three credit hours. MR. COHEN

†[236] Social Philosophy  Readings from Plato, Locke, Rousseau, Marx, and others; their relevance to contemporary problems. Three or four credit hours.

†[258] Intermediate Logic  The formal semantics of symbolic logic and its extensions, metatheoretic results such as soundness and completeness, the nature and limits of the axiomatic method, and philosophical problems concerning the nature of logical truth. Prerequisite: Philosophy 152 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

[293] Seminar on Socrates  The character, teaching, and influence of Socrates, using Plato’s Socratic dialogues, Xenophon, Aristophanes, and modern critical interpretations. Three credit hours.

294 Seminar on Aristotle’s Ethics  The nature and modern relevance of Aristotelian ethics, using Aristotle’s own ethical writings and modern critical interpretations. Three credit hours. MR. PARKER

98] Applied Ethics The interrelationship between moral principles and problem cases as a way of clarifying both theoretical concepts and practical policies. Emphasis on the problem cases themselves, including issues such as abortion, euthanasia, civil disobedience, affirmative action, experimentation, genetic intervention, and famine. Prerequisite: Philosophy 211 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

16] Metaphysics A study of classical Aristotelian metaphysics developed into modern times and its use as a perspective on modern metaphysical views such as existentialism and essentialism and also on such topics as the scope and grasp of being and its modes, the analogical method and fundamental principles of metaphysics, possibility and actuality, contingency and necessity, substance and accident, and causation and freedom. Prerequisite: One course in philosophy or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

317] Philosophy of Science and Mathematics How are mathematical truths known? What is the status of a scientific theory? Problems concerning inductive logic, observation, laws, theory construction, and scientific explanation will be considered. Three credit hours.

318 Ethics and General Theory of Value Philosophic approaches to the nature of value, especially ethical judgments. Among the views considered will be intuitionism, emotivism, "good reasons" theory, and those relating to scientific findings. Prerequisite: Philosophy 211 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MR. ANDERSON

31 History of Ancient Philosophy Comparative study of the philosophical systems of Plato and Aristotle, with secondary attention to the pre-Socratics, Socrates, Epicurus, the Stoics, and Plotinus. Four credit hours. MR. PARKER

332 History of Modern Philosophy European philosophy from Descartes to the nineteenth century, with special attention to the works of Descartes, Spinoza, Leibniz, Locke, Berkeley, Hume, and Kant. Four credit hours. MR. COHEN

333 Philosophy of Education A study of positions of the major philosophers from Plato to Dewey concerning education. Considers how thought on issues such as the nature of man, our conception of the ideal society, and our vision of the good life affects beliefs and practices concerning education. Three or four credit hours. MR. HUDSON 1352] American Philosophy American philosophical thought from the colonial period to the early twentieth century. Thinkers treated include Edwards, Emerson, Thoreau, Peirce, James, and Dewey. Three credit hours.

353 Contemporary Analytic Philosophy Major figures in the twentieth-century analytic tradition with particular emphasis on Russell, Wittgenstein, the Vienna Circle, Quine, and "Ordinary Language" philosophy. Prerequisite: Two semester courses in philosophy or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MR. COHEN
Indian Thought  Types of Indian philosophy of the ancient period. Prerequisite: Two semester courses in philosophy and/or religion; no previous Indian thought. Three credit hours.

Indian Thought  The development of Indian philosophy and intellectual history from the beginning of the Indian Renaissance in the late eighteenth century to the present. Readings from such thinkers as Gandhi, Tagore, Ramakrishna Vivekananda, and Radhakrishnan. Three credit hours.  MR. HUDSON Nineteenth-Century Philosophy  Post-Kantian thinkers such as Hegel, Marx, Kierkegaard, Schopenhauer, Nietzsche, and Bergson. Special attention to the revolt against reason, evolution, and alienation. Prerequisite: Philosophy 332 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

Philosophy of Religion  Some of the principal philosophical problems concerning the nature and justification of religious belief and experience, problems such as the nature of God, arguments for the existence of God, the problem of evil, mysticism, and the relation of faith and reason. Prerequisite: One course in philosophy or religion, or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.  MR. PARKER

History of Medieval Philosophy  History of philosophy from Augustine to Ockham. The principal issue studied is the problem of the reconciliation of faith and reason in the work of the scholastics. Prerequisite: Philosophy 331. Three or four credit hours.

Existentialism  A philosophical and literary study of the origins of existentialism, the modern development of French existentialism by Sartre, Camus, Beauvoir, and recent criticism and interpretation. Three credit hours.

Contemporary Continental Philosophy  A survey of phenomenology, structuralism, and deconstruction, with special reference to the body. Readings include Merleau-Ponty, Barth, Heidegger, and Foucault. Prerequisite: One philosophy course or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  MR. ANDERSON Philosophy Seminar  Seminars in selected areas of philosophy. Three credit hours.

Philosophy of Mind  Traditional and contemporary theories of mind, including various forms of dualism, materialism, and causal theories. Discussion of the problem of personal identity will provide new perspectives on these theories. The questions of whether machines can think, and whether investigations into artificial intelligence can help us understand our own minds will also be discussed. Three credit hours.  MR. ANDERSON

Independent Study  Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours.  FACULTY
Physical Education

Airman, Associate Professor Richard McGee; Adjunct Associate Professors Carl Nelson and Richard White; Adjunct Assistant Professors James Wescott, Gene DeLorenzo, Michel Goulet, Sora Pluck, Chris Raymond, Thomas Radulski, Debra Aitken, and Robert Pfeiffer

The department of physical education and athletics offers required and voluntary physical education classes, intramural sports, intercollegiate athletics (varsity and junior varsity), and informal recreational activities.

Physical Education 1, 2: two semesters of physical education are required of all by students for graduation. Waivers are available for members of varsity or junior varsity teams.

A program of instruction in a wide variety of activities is offered on a coeducational basis. Activities presently in the program are aquatics: swimming, lifesaving, water safety instructors' course, canoeing, scuba; leisure-time sports: tennis, racquetball, golf, squash, skating, figure skating, bicycling, skiing, cross-country skiing, badminton, riding; dance: modern, ballet; team sports: volleyball; other activities: yoga, conditioning, hiking, karate, aerobics, weight training.

In leave first semester.

Physical Education Activities Activity courses may be taken to fulfill the physical education requirement or as electives. Most activities last one season (one-half semester). Exceptions are so noted on transcripts and in materials available from the physical education department. Registration is made through the physical education department. Noncredit.

113 Lifetime Physical Fitness: Exercise Physiology A study of the adaptations and physiological mechanisms involved in man's response to exercise. Particular attention to the circulatory, respiratory, metabolic, and nervous adjustments that must be made with increased levels of physical activity. Also, the influence of environmental factors, the role of diet, physical fitness, training, age, sex, and body composition; the instruments and procedures used in gathering data on the physiology of exercise. Two credit hours. MR. MCGEE

In the department of physics and astronomy.

Chairman, Professor Roger Metz; Visiting Professor Roger Ptak; Associate Professor John Dudley; Assistant Professors Murray Campbell and Ross Reynolds

The department seeks to train students to think analytically in terms of the fundamental principles of physics. Subject matter in introductory courses is selected to illustrate basic laws with wide applicability and to help prepare students to enter professions such as medicine, law, teaching, and business. Advanced course offerings provide excellent background for graduate study in physics, astronomy, engineering, and computer science. Special emphasis is placed upon independent work and cooperative research with the faculty, using the department's machine, electronic, and technical shops, as well as both campus and departmental computers. Space physics, x-ray spectroscopy, and infrared astronomy are areas of current research interest in the department.

Requirements for the Major in Physics

Twenty-eight credit hours in physics, including 141, 142 (or 121, 122), 211, 232, 32, 3334; Mathematics 121, 122, 222 (or 123, 124), and 221. At least one January Program is required to be completed in physics or a closely related field. If possible, Mathematics 121 and 122 (or 123, 124) should be taken in the freshman year.

Students planning on graduate work in engineering or a physics-related science should elect at least 12 additional hours of physics, including 151 and 322, and several additional hours of mathematics, including 311. Attention is drawn to the three-year program in engineering, in which both a bachelor of arts and a bachelor of science degree can be earned upon successful completion of three years at Colby and two years in engineering at either Case-Western Reserve University or the University of Rochester.

In the second semester of the junior year, students who will have completed Physics 151, 322, Mathematics 311, and all courses specifically required for the major by the end of the junior year may apply for admission to the honors program. Successful applicants will be expected to complete, by the end of the senior year, Physics 441; Physics 331 or 332 or 336; and an additional mathematics course numbered above the 100 level. An experimental or theoretical thesis to be defended in the spring of the senior year is required. Successful completion of the honors program will result in the degree being awarded "With Honors in Physics." A thesis complete as part of the Senior Scholars Program may be substituted for the honors thesis. Attention is drawn to this program particularly for students planning graduate work in physics or astronomy.

Students seeking advanced standing in physics should consult the chairman of the department before electing courses. Students interested in pre-college level teaching careers should consult the education department.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses taken in physics and mathematics. No requirement for the major may be taken pass/fail.

¹On leave full year.

112 Energy and the Environment

Principles and practice of energy generation, transformation and degradation, and the effects of the use of energy in the environment. Emphasis on scientific understanding of current problems in energy, rather than economic or political implications. Lecture and laboratory. May not be taken for credit if student has earned credit for Physics 121 or 141. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. INSTRUCTOR

121, 122 General Physics

A quantitative introduction to the interpretation of theoretical and experimental problems in the fields of mechanics, thermodynamics, electricity and magnetism, optics, relativity, and quantum physics. Physics 211 may serve as a prerequisite for Physics 122. Lecture, laboratory, and discussion. Prerequisite: High school mathematics through trigonometry. Four credit hours. MR REYNOLDS

141, 142 General Physics

Coverage and format identical to that of Physics 121, 122, but lectures are calculus-based. Prerequisite: For 141: Mathematics 121 (or 123) for 142: Mathematics 122 (or 124). Four credit hours. MR METZ
Project in Physics  Individual or group work in experimental or theoretical physics. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two or three credit hours.

Essential Electronics  An introduction to modern electronics emphasizing laboratory work and including theory, problem solving, and circuit design. From simple, direct-current devices to digital integrated circuits, microcomputer instrumentation, and analog signal processing. Some knowledge of calculus recommended. Formerly listed as Physics 152. Enrollment limited. Four credit hours. Mr. Reynolds

Data Analysis  An introduction to treatment of physical data: dimensional analysis, approximations, analysis of uncertainty, elementary statistics, least-squares techniques, and methods of computer programming in FORTRAN. Three credit hours.

Mechanics  Theory of classical mechanics: Newton's laws, oscillatory motion, noninertial reference systems, classical gravitation, motion of rigid bodies, and Lagrangian mechanics. Lecture and discussion. Prerequisite: Physics 121 or 141; Mathematics 122 or equivalent. Open to well-prepared freshmen (normally those with advanced placement in physics and mathematics) with permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. Mr. Ptak

Atomic Physics  An intermediate treatment of the quantum physics of atoms, including atomic models, Schroedinger theory, atomic spectra, and electron spin. Emphasis is placed on the experimental evidence for modern atomic theory. Prerequisite: Physics 122 or 142 and Mathematics 222 or 124 [may be taken concurrently]. Four credit hours. Mr. Metz

Independent Electronics  An independent, self-paced course in electronics. May be taken as a sequel to Physics 153 for the further study of digital electronics and computer circuits. Enrollment limited. One or two credit hours. Mr. Metz

Research and Seminar in Physics and Astronomy  Individual or small-group work in one of several areas: development of laboratory apparatus, development of astronomical equipment, analysis of infrared astronomical data, or literature review of topics in physics or astronomy. Each student will present a written report and seminar midway through January, and at the conclusion of the work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two or three credit hours. Faculty

Electricity and Magnetism  First semester: a theoretical treatment of electrostatics and magnetostatics in vacuum and material media through Maxwell's equations. Second semester: a.c. circuits, electromagnetic radiation, relativity, Hamiltonian mechanics, and applications. Lecture and discussion. Prerequisite: Physics 122 or 142 and Mathematics 222 or 124 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. Mr. Campbell and Mr. Ptak

Nuclear Physics  A continuation of Physics 232, treating the physics of many-electron atoms and of nuclei; includes quantum statistics, nuclear models and reactions, and elementary particles. Prerequisite: Physics 232 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. Mr. Metz 332 Thermodynamics Concepts of temperature, energy, entropy, heat, and work, and their thermodynamic relations as developed from a microscopic point of view. Single and multicomponent systems are discussed, using both classical and quantum statistics. Lecture and discussion. Prerequisite: Physics 211, 232, and Mathematics 222 (or 124) (may be taken concurrently), or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. CAMPBELL

333, 334 Experimental Physics Experimental work in classical and modern physics: fundamental physical constants, mechanics, radioactivity, diffraction, and atomic and nuclear spectroscopy. Prerequisite: Physics 211, 232. Three credit hours. MR. METZ

336 Solid-state Physics An introduction to solid-state physics, beginning with a study of crystal forms and diffraction of x-rays. Thermal, optical, acoustical, and electrical properties of solids; the energy-band theory of semiconductors as applied to simple solid-state devices; superconductivity. Prerequisite: Physics 232, 321, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. REYNOLDS

351, 352 Tutorial in Physics or Astronomy Individual work for juniors or seniors on a subject of joint interest to the student and the instructor, involving close supervision, regular tutorial meetings, and active participation by both student and instructor. Topics in the past have included general relativity, nuclear reactors, fluid mechanics, and topics in astronomy. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two to four credit hours. FACULTY

441, 442 Quantum Physics First semester: an introduction to the mathematical formulations of nonrelativistic quantum mechanics, including Schroedinger wave mechanics, operator algebra, perturbation techniques, and electron spin. Applications to one-dimensional and simple three-dimensional systems are developed. Second semester: a continuation of the first semester, with applications as interests dictate. Lecture. Prerequisite: Physics 232 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MR. PTAK AND MR. METZ

491, 492 Independent Study Individual topics in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to five credit hours. FACULTY

Portuguese

In the department of modern foreign languages.

261, 262 Portuguese as a Second Romance Language The spoken and written language of Portugal and Brazil, utilizing previous knowledge of a Romance language. Extensive use is made of taped materials. Prerequisite: Successful completion of intermediate French, Spanish, or Italian, or indication of equivalent proficiency. Four credit hours. MS. DOEL
Psychology

Chairman, PROFESSOR NICHOLAS ROHRMAN
Professor Rohrman; Associate Professors Dorin Zohner, Lewis Lester, Diane Kierstead, and Edward Yeterian

The psychology department seeks to fulfill three objectives. First, to prepare students for graduate work in psychology and ultimately for professional careers as teachers, researchers, and practitioners. Second, to prepare students majoring in psychology to enter the business or professional community with a solid background in knowledge of human behavior and its determinants. Third, to provide service courses for students majoring in other fields for whom psychological knowledge may be useful. Laboratories are equipped to conduct a fairly wide range of studies in human sensory, perceptual, and memory phenomena and include animal facilities and surgery for physiological and comparative research. Currently the department is equipped with a microcomputer allowing real-time data acquisition and analysis, and a three-channel research-quality tachistoscope. The department stresses the scientific approach to the study of human behavior and requires a fairly extensive set of quantitative and experimental courses for all majors. Students are encouraged to conduct their own research. In the last three years, Colby psychology students have presented numerous papers at professional meetings, and have won the majority of prizes for undergraduate-paper excellence given by the Maine Psychological Association at its annual scientific meeting.

Requirements for the Major in Psychology
Psychology 111, 214, 215 (to be taken immediately following 214), 479, and 20 additional hours in psychology, to include three courses selected from 231, 232, 236, 238, 272, 273, 371, 375, 376, and three courses selected from 251, 253, 254, 255, 256, 274, 352, and 354. A full year of natural laboratory science is strongly recommended. Students majoring in psychology should consult very early with departmental advisers to determine which natural sciences or other courses best augment their psychological interests.

Seniors must submit a score on the Psychology Advanced Test of the Graduate Record Examination.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses offered toward the major as prescribed above. All requirements for the major must be met in conventionally graded courses.

Attention is also called to the interdisciplinary major in human development.

Requirements for the Major in Psychology-Mathematics
In psychology: 111, 214, 215, 371, 479, and nine additional hours, to include at least two of the following courses: 231, 232, 272, 273, 274.

In mathematics: 381, 382; at least 12 additional credit hours, of which six must be at the 300 or 400 level.

The point scale for retention of the psychology-mathematics major applies to all courses offered toward the major. All requirements for the major must be met in conventionally graded courses.

Requirements for Honors in Psychology
Students seeking to participate in the honors program must make formal application to the department prior to enrolling in Psychology 393d. In addition to fulfilling the basic requirements for the psychology major, the honors program requires that students take two courses from among Psychology 354, 371, 375, and 376, and complete the honors research sequence (Psychology 393d and 493d). Upon successful completion of these requirements and upon vote of the department, the student will be awarded his or her degree "With Honors in Psychology."

Attention is also called to the Senior Scholars program.

On leave first semester.

95j Internship  Augusta Mental Health Institute internship program. Following two weeks of intensive classroom work on campus, students will reside at AMHI and work in various treatment settings. During the two-week field placement, students will have an opportunity to observe therapeutic activities, participate in staff conferences, attend grand rounds, etc. Room and board will be provided by AMHI during the field placement. Enrollment limited. Nongraded. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Praxis. Three credit hours. INSTRUCTOR

111d Introduction to Psychology  An overview of contemporary psychology, introducing concepts and methods current in the field. Participation as a subject in psychological research is required. Three credit hours. FACULTY

214d Research Methods  Discussion of techniques used in conducting behavioral research. Includes literature survey, hypothesis formulation, control techniques, and research design, as well as descriptive and inferential statistics. Prerequisite: Psychology 111 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MS. KIERSTEAD AND MR. LESTER

215d, 215j Psychological Research  Each student will conduct a research project designed in Psychology 214, utilizing research design, data analysis, and other skills acquired in that course. Must be taken in the semester subsequent to Psychology 214. Prerequisite: Psychology 214. One credit hour. MR. LESTER AND MS. KIERSTEAD

†217j Sex Differences in Human Behavior  A study of the ways in which female and male behaviors differ. Consideration will be given to sex differences in physiology, perception, cognition, language, development, personality, psychopathology, and social-psychological contexts. Prerequisite: Psychology 111. Nongraded. Two credit hours.

†231 Conditioning and Instrumental Learning  A comparative examination of Pavlovian, instrumental, and operant theories of learning and their application to animal and human behavior. Includes historical antecedents and current issues. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Psychology 111. Four credit hours.

†236 Comparative Psychology  An examination of animal and human behavior, with emphasis on similarities and differences between species. Includes history of the discipline, behavioral description and categorization, genetic and environmental determinants, ontogeny, physiological mechanisms, evolution, and learning. Prerequisite: Psychology 111. Three credit hours.
238 Psychology of Language  Selected topics in psycholinguistics, language and thought, the role of linguistic entities in psychological processes, propaganda and persuasion. Will normally include an independent project. Prerequisite: Psychology 111. Three credit hours. MR. ROHRMAN

251 Psychology of Personality  Major theoretical interpretations and current research in the psychology of personality, with a focus on psychodynamic, behavioristic, and humanistic approaches. Prerequisite: Psychology 111. Three credit hours. MR. LESTER

253 Social Psychology  Representative topics in contemporary social psychology: affiliation, social perception, attribution, attraction, aggression, attitudes, cognitive dissonance, conformity, compliance, and group dynamics. Prerequisite: Psychology 111. Three credit hours. MR. LESTER

254 Abnormal Psychology  The etiology, diagnosis, and treatment of abnormal behavior, with emphasis on theoretical approaches, clinical syndromes, and current research. Prerequisite: Psychology 251 or 253 or 255. Three credit hours. MR. LESTER

255d Child Development  Principles of psychological development from conception through preadolescence, from a biological, sociocultural, and psychodynamic perspective. For related practica courses, see Education 253, 254, 273, and 274. Prerequisite: Psychology 111. Three credit hours. MR. ZOHNER

256 Adolescent and Adult Development  Principles of psychological development from adolescence through senescence. Emphasis will be placed on the individual's typical attempts to cope with changes in physical structure, social roles, and personal identity. For related practica courses, see Education 353, 354, 473, and 474. Prerequisite: Psychology 255. Three credit hours. MR. ZOHNER

272 Physiological Psychology  The study of neural mechanisms underlying mental processes and behavior, including the ways in which the nervous system subserves sensory coding and perception, movement, motivation, emotion, consciousness, learning, and memory. Includes historical antecedents and integration of animal experimental and human clinical data. Prerequisite: Psychology 111 or permission of the instructor. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory (enrollment limited): four credit hours. MR. YETERIAN

273 Sensation and Perception  The major human senses (vision, audition, somesthesis, taste, smell) studied as physiological systems and as intermediaries between the physical and perceived environments. Prerequisite: Psychology 111 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MS. KIERSTEAD

†[274j] Psychological Tests and Measurements  The theory and problems of psychological measurement, with special emphasis on the construction and application of psychological tests. Prerequisite: Psychology 214 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

†[275] Applied Psychology  A survey of the major non-clinical applications of psychology, including such content areas as industrial and organizational psychology, consumer behavior, forensic, environmental, and medical psychology. Prerequisite: Psychology 111. Three credit hours.
352d1 Psychology of Exceptional Children  The origins and implications of cognitive, sensory, emotional, and physical handicaps for development will be explored and discussed. Models for intervention and/or remediation at each age level and their developmental outcomes will be examined. For related practica courses, see Education 373 and 374. Prerequisite: Psychology 255. Three credit hours. MR. ZOHNER

†354 Seminar in Clinical Psychology  In-depth exploration of selected topics in personality and abnormal psychology. Will normally include an independent research project. Prerequisite: Psychology 251 and 254. Three credit hours.

371 Advanced Experimental Psychology  Experimental design and the application of inferential statistics. Strongly recommended for those students interested in graduate school. Prerequisite: Psychology 214, 215, and permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MR. ZOHNER

†375 Neuroscience Seminar  In-depth examination of current issues in physiological psychology and human neuropsychology. Topics include hemispheric specialization, sex differences in the nervous system, neural substrates of learning and memory, physiological bases of behavior disorders, drugs and behavior, psychosurgery, and brain tissue transplants. Includes integration of animal experimental and human clinical data. Prerequisite: Psychology 272 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

*376 Seminar in Vision  A detailed examination of the characteristics of the human visual system. Will normally include an independent research project. Prerequisite: Psychology 273 and permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MS. KIERSTEAD

393d Honors Research I  Individual and group meetings of students and faculty participating in the psychology honors program. Under faculty supervision, students will prepare a proposal and begin work on an independent research project to be completed in Psychology 493d. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Standing as a junior or senior major in psychology and permission of the department. Three credit hours. FACULTY

479 History and Systems of Psychology  The historical background of modern psychology and the development of such systematic viewpoints as behaviorism, Gestalt psychology, and psychoanalysis. Prerequisite: Senior standing as a psychology major or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MR. ROHRMAN

491, 492 Independent Study  Individual projects in areas in which the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the department. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

493d Honors Research II  Individual and group meetings of students and faculty participating in the psychology honors program. Under faculty supervision, each student will complete the independent research project begun in Psychology 393d, prepare a paper of publishable quality, and make a formal presentation of the work. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Psychology 393d, standing as a senior major in psychology, and permission of the department. Three credit hours. FACULTY
Public Policy

Director, PROFESSOR JAMES MEEHAN

ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Professors Calvin Mackenzie (Government), Meehan (Economics), Robert Reuman¹ (Philosophy), Sonya Rose (Sociology), and Thomas Tietenberg (Economics)

The public policy program is an interdisciplinary concentration that builds upon foundations of economics and government to enable students to engage in thoughtful and sophisticated analysis of important public policy issues. The public policy concentration, available in the economics and government majors, is designed to develop in Colby students the ability to apply the methodologies and accumulated knowledge of several disciplines to complex public problems through a combination of classroom, independent research, and work experiences.

Requirements for the Concentration in Public Policy

It is anticipated that all requirements listed below, with the exception of the senior seminar, will be completed before the beginning of the senior year.

(1) Method courses, to examine the major approaches to, and techniques for, the study of policy issues. The following courses are required:

- Economics: 234 Microeconomic Theory.
- Philosophy: 211 Moral Philosophy.
- One course selected from the following:
  - Economics: 393 Econometrics.

(2) Process courses, to explore the processes by which public policies are designed, enacted, and implemented. The following courses are required:

- At least one course each in economics and government selected from the following:
  - Economics: 312 Topics in Law and Economics; 332 Regulated Industries; 351 Public Finance.

(3) Practical applications. During the junior year, each student will complete an internship and, in consultation with program directors, will select a substantive policy area to serve as the focus for the senior research project. The internship may be undertaken during January, the summer, or an academic semester, and will culminate with a short research paper analyzing the issues to which the student was exposed.

(4) The senior seminar. Public Policy 493, required during the senior year, provides for independent, multidisciplinary student research. Each student is required to conduct an original analysis of some public policy issue.

¹On leave full year.

493 Public Policy Seminar Students will design and conduct an original research project on a local, state, or national public policy issue. Required of economics and government majors with concentration in public policy; open to other government and economics majors on a space-available basis. Three credit hours.

MR. TIETENBERG
Religion

In the department of philosophy and religion.

Chairman, PROFESSOR YEAGER HUDSON
Professors Robert Reuman1, Francis Parker, Hudson, Robert McArthur2, and Thomas Longstaff; Visiting Associate Professor James Anderson; Assistant Professors Michael Birkel and Daniel Cohen; Lecturer Deborah Soifer3

The study of religion in a college curriculum involves the historical and comparative scrutiny of the world’s religious traditions: Christianity, Judaism, Islam, Buddhism, Hinduism, Confucianism, and Shinto. Inevitably, the examination of basic questions about religion, such as the existence and nature of God, religious experience, and the role of religion in society, are central to the discipline.

Requirements for the Major in Religion
Religion 211, 212, 233, 234, 237, 238, 316, and two additional courses in religion, at least one of which must be at the 300 level or higher.

While Philosophy 372 and 373 are not required, they are highly recommended and may be used to satisfy the requirement of two additional courses in religion.

Requirements for the Major in Philosophy and Religion
Religion 211, 212, 233, 234, 316. Philosophy 152, 211, 331, 332, 372, 373.

For each of the above majors, at least one independent study project of at least three credit hours (philosophy or religion) must be taken in January or one of the semesters of the junior or senior year, in addition to the requirements specified above.

A maximum of two courses, not to include any specifically prescribed courses, may be taken on a pass/fail basis in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the above majors. No specifically prescribed course may be taken on a pass/fail basis to satisfy major requirements. The point scale for retention of each of the above majors applies to all other courses that count toward the major.

2Part-time second semester only.
3Part-time.

111 Idyllic Garden or Hostile Wilderness: Science, technology, and religion in modern America. Attitudes toward science and technology have often been understood to stand in sharp contrast both to religious values and to a pervasive pastoral ideal in American thought; the interrelationship of these elements in Western culture. Three credit hours. MR. LONGSTAFF

113 Religious Autobiography An examination of religious experiences as described in autobiography, and an introduction to a cross-cultural study of religion. Works include those of Black Elk, Gandhi, Malcolm X, John Woolman, and Augustine. Three credit hours. MR. BIRKEL

197 Atheism, Deism, and Other Heresies Some “alternative” answers to the central mystery of the universe. Topics will include eighteenth-century Deism, nineteenth-century Secularism, ethics without God, and the “future of an illusion.” Enrollment limited to freshmen. Three credit hours. MR. BIRKEL AND MR. COHEN

211 Religions of India A selective study of Hinduism and Buddhism in India, examining both religious texts and the cultural context from which they developed.
Religious hymns, renunciation texts, devotional poems, classical mythology. Cultural aspects of religion to include "caste," notions of righteous kingship, and village religion. Three credit hours. MS. SOIFER

2 Religions of China and Japan  A selective study of Confucianism, Taoism, Hinduism, and Shinto, examining their origins, development, and interaction through a study of representative texts and their historical contexts. The cosmological assumptions of Confucianism, the principles behind Taoist alchemy, Buddhist nasticism, and Zen. Three credit hours. MS. SOIFER

7 Religion in America  A survey of the religious components of American history as they are related to the broader aspects of American culture. Attention will given to the beliefs and practices of Protestantism, Catholicism, and Judaism and the issues, past and present, that are important for understanding religion in America. Three or four credit hours. MR. LONGSTAFF

18] Buddhist Literature in Asia  A study of Asian story anthologies, biographies, epics, novels, plays, poems, and sermons inspired by Buddhism in India, Tibet, China, Japan, Sri Lanka, and Burma; the diverse relationships between religious intentions and literary forms. Three credit hours.

19] Religious Responses to War and Violence  The ideals of pacifism, the first war, and the crusade; the concepts of holy war, the Christian response to the barbarian invasions at the beginning of the Middle Ages, Quaker pacifism, and Gandhi Satyagraha. Modern issues such as social violence, nonviolent resistance, and nuclear pacifism will be considered. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours.

31] Myth and Mind: Ways of Envisioning the World  The structure and content of myth as a form of religious expression, emphasizing material from Asian and preliterate cultures. History and method in the study of mythology, prominent interpretations of mythology, myths of the beginning and the end of the world, and the meaning and problem of mythology in the modern age. Three credit hours.

32] Western Spirituality  Representative spiritual traditions of the West, focusing on spiritual ideals and methods, mysticism, and concepts of what it means to be human and to relate to the divine. Movements and persons to be considered include Hildegard, Benedict, Hesychasts, Franciscans, Hasidim, Carmelites, and the British and European pietists. Three credit hours.

33 Biblical Literature I  An introduction to the literature of the Hebrew Bible (the Old Testament) in terms of its historical context, its original meaning, and its significance in the contemporary world. The narratives, prophecies, and other literary forms are studied against the background of the history of Israel in order to understand the history and religion of the people for whom this literature became normative scripture. Three or four credit hours. MR. LONGSTAFF

234 Biblical Literature II  Intended as a sequel to Religion 233; an introduction to the specifically Christian scriptures (the Old Testament Apocrypha and the New Testament). Beginning with the intertestamental period, an exploration of the literature which reflects the background and earliest stages of the Christian movement. Attention is given to the historical and cultural context of the literature, the development of early Christian theology, and its significance for the contemporary world. Three or four credit hours. MR. LONGSTAFF

†[235] Religions of the Oppressed  A look at five religious movements arising out of some form of political, economic, social, or sexual oppression: Melanesian Cargo Cults, American Indian religions, American slave religion, the Black Muslim and thirteenth-century European women mystics. Special Programs

Director, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR ROBERT KANY
Recognizing the fact that diverse interests exist in every community, and that eve the most professionally trained individuals have a need to continue their education, Colby maintains a division of special programs with a full-time director.

Each summer, approximately 6,000 individuals from throughout the nation and other countries are on campus for courses, conferences, seminars, and institutes in areas of medicine, public and professional services, and youth camps.

The major focus of the summer program is continuing medical education (CME); indeed, Colby is the only undergraduate college in the country approved by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to sponsor CME for physicians. There are about 15 CME offerings each year in a variety of specialty and family-practice programs attended by health-care professionals.

A coordinating council of Colby administrators and physicians from Waterville's Mid-Maine Medical Center advises and helps to manage this educational component.

Approximately 125 doctors enroll each summer in the nine-week Lancaster Course in Ophthalmology, and three- to five-day seminars are held in Anesthesiology, Emergency Medicine, Forensic Medicine, Allergy-Immunology, Nuclear Medicine Obstetrics-Gynecology, Ophthalmology, Orthopaedics, Otolaryngology, Pediatrics Pulmonary Disease, and Surgery. The Maine Orthopaedic Review is a two-week course.

In addition to CME accreditation, for courses designed for primary-care physicians, American Academy of Family Practice credit is generally available. Some of the medical seminars are cosponsored by nationally recognized organizations such as the National Association of Medical Examiners.

Public and professional service programs include the Estate Planning and Tax Institute, Advanced Audiology, Church Music Institute, Great Books, and Piano In Youth camps for cheerleading, field hockey, soccer, football, basketball, etc., available.

During the academic year, the division arranges such annual conferences as the Colby Institute for Management. Adult courses and noncredit courses for which the continuing education unit may be earned are also structured and evaluated through special programs. In addition, the use of Colby's facilities for conferences is coordinated through the division of special programs throughout the year.

Information may be obtained by writing to the director, Robert H. Kany.

Women's Studies

Ordinators, Associate Professor Jane Moss and Associate Professor Sonya Rose

The women's studies program is devoted to analyzing the social, psychological, political, economic, historical, and artistic dimensions of women's experience, drawing on courses from a broad range of disciplines to reflect the complexities of women's lives. It encourages the development of new methods of analysis and the introduction of previously neglected fields of study with the goal of enriching the entire college curriculum.

A major in women's studies may be pursued by students under the auspices of the independent Major Board. Students should consult with a member of the Women's Studies Advisory Board for guidance in structuring such a major.
