OUR TABLE.

THE BRITISH PERIODICALS.—We call the attention of literary and reading men to Leonard Scott & Co.'s advertisement of Foreign Magazines. The necessity of greater familiarity with European politics. The republication in this country of the principal British periodicals, throws them within the reach of all, and the low rate of postage under the present law affords an additional facility. They fill a place which American magazines cannot supply; for they discuss topics relating more strictly to the affairs, political, religious, scientific and literary, of the continent of Europe.

The Edinburgh and the London Quarterly are respectively the exponents of the two great parties, Whig and Tory, of Great Britain.

The Westminster Review is the organ of the Ultra-Liberal, or styled, of the British House of Commons. It advocates the views of the masses.

The North British Review is mainly, though not exclusively, devoted to theological discussion. It is the champion of the Anti-National Church party, and is conducted by Dr. Hanna, the successor of the late Dr. Chalmers.

Blackwood's is a Magazine of general literature, biography, narrative, poetry, &c.; and its republication in this country furnishes the first access to the serial works of Bulwer, and other popular writers, so eagerly sought by general readers here.

Those who wish for any of these publications can examine them at this office.

THE KNICKERBOCKER, OR NEW YORK MAGAZINE.—Is the Old Knickerbocker I see here before me, by mail just brought to hand? Come, let me clutch thee!

Any of a variety this is Old Knicker; albeit not in flesh and blood, yet truly in black and white; looking very much—yes, and reading very much, too—akin bygone days, when it was under the kind care of the warm-hearted, genial-humored, child-loving Olden—now fallen asleep; and showing that his mantle is not unworthily bestowed upon his brother, Mr. Louis Gaylord Clark, the present editor. Although the Knickerbocker has always ranked as the first literary magazine in the country, and enjoyed a goodly share of popular favor, yet, from its high position, it has heretofore been somewhat "caricatured to the million"; but now that the price has been reduced from five dollars to three, we look to see its circulation largely increased, and this spirited and piquant monthly warmly welcomed to many a heart and home from which it has hitherto been excluded, not through a want of appreciation, but from a lack of the times.

"With the reduction of price," says the publisher, "there will be no change in its form, size, character or quality, except a change always continued for the better." Among the new contributors engaged in "The Knickerbocker," the popular author of "Reveries of a Bachelor," who will furnish a new and original work, wherewith to enrich the volume for 1857.

"We shall desire you of more acquaintance," good Mr. Knickerbocker; and shall make bold to lay before our readers some occasional scraps from your "table," in the hope of thereby so sharpening their appetites for your rarities, that they can but choose to be served regularly from your daily furnished board.

The Knickerbocker is published by Samuel Hueston, 128 Nassau st., New York, to whom we will gladly forward the names of those who wish to become subscribers.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for January—from Fretledge & Co. by way of Griffin is promptly at hand as usual.—The best magazine in the country, for those who want profit with amusement. Abbott's Napoleon still continues.

"PAINTING THE LATE."—This piece of poetical extravagance has lately been paralleled by the proprietors of that excellent paper, the Boston Museum; for not satisfied with the former handsome appearance of their sheet, with which nobody could find fault, they have commenced the new year by giving it a new dress of unsurpassable beauty; and that the literary department may not lag behind the mechanical, they have brought to the assistance of the editor, who is himself a host, some of the best talent in the country. An original romance by John Neal, that literary hybrid, is commenced in the first number under the new order of things; and as Mr. N. has lately changed his theological views, and his religious notions, it must be especially interesting to all who have ever been acquainted with that gentleman, either personally or through the medium of the press. The Museum is published by Chas. A. V. Putnam & Co., 12 School street, at $2 per annum, and is sold by all periodical dealers.

THE INTERNATIONAL MAGAZINE.—We have received from Fretledge & Co. the 18th State Street Boston, the number of this truly valuable, monthly, which contains a large amount of good reading, and some of the articles are beautifully illustrated. This number commences a new volume, which promises to be more attractive than its predecessors even. Several new contributors are engaged, among whom is Hawthorne, who is to contribute a series of beautiful tales, the first of which will appear next month. Published by Stringer & Townsend, 222 Broadway, New York, at $3 a year. It can be found, with all the other magazines, at Griffin & Hancock's building.

"TWO SINGLE GENTLEMEN BOLLED INTO ONE."—The North American Magazine and our old favorite, the Dollar Magazine, have been united, and will hereafter be issued monthly, in elegant style, 56 large octavo pages, with illustrations. The well known character of these works renders it unnecessary to say anything in praise of them; and as in this improved and enlarged form the price is only one dollar a year, as before, the rush of the "mighty dollar" into the pockets of the publishers must be "immense." Address Angell, Engell & Hewitt, 1 Spruce street, New York.

Later from Europe.

The steamer Africa from Liverpool at half past nine, A. M., Dec. 20, arrived at N. York at about 11 o'clock, January 2, bringing the news of her own arrival at Liverpool at half past eight, on the evening of Sunday, Dec. 14.

FRANCE. The accounts from Paris are of a peaceful character. The President had distributed an immense number of the medals of the Legion of Honor, and decreed a large sum of money to be distributed among the disabled soldiers of France.

General Cavaignac has been released from prison unconditionally, and was about to leave France, with his family for Holland. The other generals are to be liberated on agreeing to become voluntary exiles. Victor Hugo was at Brussels.

The partisans of the President are active in getting up a strong feeling in his favor, and are using every exertion to induce all parties to vote. The Orleansites appear anxious that the President should have a large majority, fearing if it were not large, that he might proclaim himself Emperor. Others are doing all in their power to induce the people not to vote at all.

Appearance, however, indicated that Louis Napoleon would have full as many votes in his favor as in 1848.

A majority at Metz garrison voted against the President, and all the scholars in the Polytechnic school who are electors, amongst them the young Prince de Polignac.

The President's levee on the 17th.—All the Corps Diplomatic attended, except Mr. Rives, the American minister.

The President is said to take an active part in drawing up the new Constitution, occupying no less than eight hours daily. The Constitutive Commission is said to have disagreed upon the principal points.

The Duke de Gorch, eldest son of the Duke de Gramont, has been appointed minister to Hesse Cassel.

The Department of the Police has been ordered to the rank of the Ministry. Mr. Orléans is the new minister.

SUBJECTS FOR THE REFORM SCHOOL.

Several boys, from 10 to 14 years of age, have lately been detected in abstracting keys from the doors of our merchants, doubtless with the intention of entering in the night and pilfering. As many as fifteen or twenty keys are said to have been taken in this way. A couple of the young rogues recently purloined a quantity of boots and shoes from an upper room in a store—throwing them from a back window, and then picking them up. These and some other articles have been found in possession of certain female receivers, whom the boys charge with enticing and encouraging them to steal.

Mrs. S. Crowell, a widow, was brought before the Municipal Court yesterday, on a charge of receiving stolen goods from children, and waiting an examination, recognized in the sum of $300 for appearance at the District Court in April.

The City Marshal informs us that seventeen boys, from 9 to 13 years of age, are known to have been engaged in these acts of pilfering from stores.—[Kennebec Jour.]

FIRE. On Sunday, about noon, the barn of Mr. John Mason, in the upper part of this city, was destroyed by fire, with a pair of oxen and one or two tons of hay. A couple of cows were saved by the personal efforts of Mrs. Mason, who was considerably burned in the attempt. Mr. Mason was at meeting. The barn was set on fire by children playing with matches—a fact that affords another warning for the better safe-keeping of these dangerous articles. Mr. Mason is a poor man, and the loss is a severe one to him.—[Kennebec Journal.]

SNOW IN THE SOUTH.—The Charleston and Savannah papers record the occurrence of a tolerably severe snow storm in those localities in the middle of last week. The Savannah Republican of the 18th says:

The weather for the past two days has been the severest we have had since the year 1835. At seven o'clock this morning the mercury, in the open air stood only 16 degrees above zero. The ground all the day was covered with a sheet of snow and sleet, with a sharp, biting wind from the north-west. We observed several persons out skating, cutting all sorts of figures in the ice and snow, as well as any number of snow-balling parties. On Wednesday there was an alternate fall of sleet, snow and rain—or, as a facetious old writer has it, first it blew, then it snowed, then it rained, and then it froze.

It is probable that the late storm has extended as far south as the orange groves of Florida. If it has, and has been anything like so severe there as here, there is reason to fear they have been much injured, if not destroyed. It was in the year 1835 that the orange trees were killed along the southern coast of this State and in Florida.

LIQUOR SEIZURE.—Deputy Sheriff Kimball seized, on Tuesday afternoon, a quantity of liquors; said to be fifty barrels or more.—The liquor was taken on a warrant of search issued by the Judge of the Municipal Court. The liquor was stored in the cellar of the building, situated north of the Saco House, and occupied by Mr. Rufus M. Lord and others.—We are told that the liquor is claimed by officer Haley, as having been attached by him as the property of some person against whom he has a writ, and that some difficulty has arisen about its removal. The legal process which can hold liquor as property subject to attachment must be a great invention. The question whether liquor can be turned by the distilling process of the law into material wherewith to pay old debts, will be an interesting one.—[Saco Union.]

DEATH OF PROF. STUART.—It becomes our painful duty to announce the death of the venerable Professor Stuart, of Andover Theological Seminary. He died of influenza, on Sunday the 4th inst, at the advanced age of 71 years. Prof. Stuart was a devoted professor of the Seminary; and has done more to awaken an interest in the philology of the Bible than any man in the U. S. Indeed, he may with truth be styled the Father of Biblical Philology in the United States.—[Traveller.]

FLUNKYISM RUN MAD.—The New York correspondent of the Providence Post says that the manager of the Broadway Theatre has been offered $100 a night for front seats at the first appearance of Lola Montez. Really we believe that if that woman of Babylonish memory were to appear in a ballet, half the American people would be ready to fling themselves at her feet. Says the correspondent:

"It would astonish you to hear the names of all the staid and sober gentlemen who have endeavored to get an interview. A governor of one of the New England states has been particularly pressing in urging his claims; and a distinguished judge of this city offered Mr. Marshall, five hundred dollars down, for such an introduction as would at once put him on the best of terms with the Countess. It is also currently reported that a distinguished ex-governor of this state disguised himself as a coachman, and called at Lola's residence one evening, to offer his services in that capacity, merely to get one squint at her.—[Republican Journal.]

Mr. Barnum delivered a lecture in Connecticut, a few days ago in favor of the Maine anti-liquor law. In it he denounced politicians, and said if any one would show him an honest politician he would try and get him for his menagerie.—Upon this the Hartford Times gives him the following Rowland for his Oliver:

"This is an unjust assertion, and it certainly should not have been uttered by Mr. Barnum. He has accumulated a large property as a showman, and if it is 'honest' to represent a codfish tail and a monkey head as a mermaid; an old yellow horse with wool tied to his tail and flanks as a wonderful animal from the Rocky Mountains; an old negro as Washington's nurse, who has several grand children in slavery that are to be set free by the money obtained at her exhibition; a large lump of gilded iron pyrites exhibited under glass as California gold—if these operations are 'honest,' then the public will be content, probably to listen to Mr. Barnum when he declares that all politicians are dishonest."

The Duke of Northumberland has given orders for the construction of no less than a thousand new and comfortable dwellings for laborers.

The Duke of Northumberland, the heir of the Percy's is a Rear-Admiral in the British navy—and has the free, off-hand, half-folish manner of his profession. He it was who opened his palaces, near London, last season, to the public.

A WARNING.—The Pittsburgh Enterprise says: "It is our painful province to record the death of Frederick Miller, a worthy lad, who came to sea as a compositor in this office three months since. His disease (lead fever) was one of rarity, seldom being any save printers and painters. He had contracted a practice, which all beginners are cautioned against, that of putting type in his mouth while

'spacing out' lines, and recently swallowed, accidentally, some small pieces. This, and the frequent application of type to his lips, combined, was the cause of his death."

The Burlington Courier reports the following interesting interview with the venerable patron of Christmas sports. We think the old fellow's complaint reasonable; it is not handsome to use him so.

The hoofs of "Dunder and Blixen" were heard patterning on the roof, last night, and old Santa-Claus created a great fluttering by his descents through the chimneys. He called on us, however, and requested us to announce that if the abominable practice of building houses without a single open fire-place is not abandoned, he will not come any more, for he can not submit to have his "Little round belly," squeezed through dirty black stove pipes any longer.

At Machias the small pox prevails extensively. There were eight cases, and had been one death, at last advice. The scarlatina and canker rash prevailed extensively among the children. Several had died.

Barnum's Museum, at Philadelphia, was entirely consumed by fire on the evening of the 30th ult.

PUT TO A NEW USE. Three apprentices had run away from their master, a Mr. Russell, a file maker of Sing Sing, New York, were recently arrested in Connecticut, under the fugitive slave act and returned to their master.

Lola Montes was received by a full house at the Broadway theatre, on Monday evening, but the applause was not very cordial. There were but few ladies present.

'The cars are now running to the village of Gardiner, six miles below this city.'—[Angus paper of Nov.]

The same cars have recently commenced running to the village of Augusta, six miles above this city. [Fountain.]

A HARD RUB.—Some of the former friends of Webster occasionally say a sharp thing of him. For instance, it is said Judge Allen remarked in a recent speech during a recent campaign in Massachusetts, that he did not wonder at the number of names obtained to the paper nominating Webster to the Presidency, as it must be a luxury to Boston merchants to see a Webster subscription on which nothing was asked but their names!

REMOVAL OF THE BRITISH FLAG.—The Journal of Commerce, in relation to the compulsory hauling down of the British flag at the Irving House in New York last week, states that it believes nearly all the persons concerned in the affair were foreigners. A correspondent of the same paper remarks:

"As a contrast to this piece of intolerance, let us, in our mind's eye, take a glance at the good town of Liverpool, as it appeared on the fourth of July last. A procession is defiling through the principal streets, carrying banners and flags, while a band of music gives to the air the triumphant anthems of a foreign land. The same flags are flying peaceably in various directions and in prominent situations. What flag is it that thus flaunts in the wind in England's second city, and what airs are sounding from one end of the town to the other? The stars and stripes of this union and the national airs commemorating their independence of England! Does any one tear down the colors and put to flight the musicians? They are as safe as if they were at home in America. The enlightened people of Liverpool scorned to interfere with an innocent demonstration, made without offensive intentions, but cheered the rival flag as it passed along, even on the day when its exhibition might have been construed into an affront."

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce has a long article on the Fire Annihilator, reviewing its history and character, and concludes by pronouncing it 'good for nothing at all.'

The Cleveland Plaindealer calling attention to taxes imposed on the press for every public and benevolent object, offers to pay five hundred dollars for the coming year as our benevolent tax, provided the public will allow us to charge a reasonable amount for our services in a professional way, now donated to these same objects.

HOUSEHOLD MEASURES. As all families are not provided with scales and weights referring to ingredients in general use by every housewife, the following may be useful:

Wheat flour, one pound is one quart.
Indian meal, one pound two ounces is one quart.
Butter, when soft, one pound one ounce is one quart.
Loaf sugar, broken, one pound is one quart.

Best brown sugar, one pound two ounces is one quart.
Eggs, average size, ten eggs are one pound.
Sixteen large table-spoons are half a pint, eight are one gill, four half a gill, etc.

AS GOOD AS HIS WORD. We met an acquaintance a few days since, in the afternoon, who was yawning and rubbing his eyes as if he had just turned out.

"How is this?" said we, "just up, eh?"

"Why, yes," replied he, "my note had to lay over to-day, and I thought I would be as good as my word, and so I have just lain over, also."

UNPARALLELED SUCCESS!

Mr. James Lark, our agent at Beehiveville, Sumner County, New Jersey, will be happy to give any one who may call upon him the particulars of an interesting and remarkable cure, recently effected upon the person of a young lady in his neighborhood, who had been afflicted with many remedies with no benefit, but was cured by the use of five or six bottles of Dr. Rogers' Compound Syrup of Liverwort, Root, and Quinchina.

This was a most wonderful cure, and should encourage all those cases may seem to themselves cure desperate, not to despair, but apply at once for this great remedy.
