

About the map:

This map shows the weighted risk of contracting Lyme disease for each of Maine's school district blocks organized by county between the years 2009-2014. Each county was assigned a value of 1-5 based on average number of confirmed cases per year compared to the total population. Each county is also subdivided into smaller blocks which represent different school district blocks.

Fen Bowen Colby College '17

