REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

FOR GOVERNOR,

SIDNEY PERHAM,
OF PARIS.FOR REPRESENTATIVE TO CONGRESS,
JAMES G. BLAINE.

A HARD POLITICAL JOKE.—Very few jokes can endure an explanation; it is like sweat to a starved dicker. We have one that will stand it—and it is too good to be confined to the press and the politicians. Everybody has seen more or less of the Portland Advertiser's "cold-shoulder" for Mr. Blaine—resulting in opening the eyes of senator Morrill to the fact that the Speaker was his friend, as certified by card. The Advertiser had been so savagely cruel in bringing about this reconciliation, that most of the good-natured papers, such as the little one at Waterville and the big ones at Augusta and Lewiston, were willing to make an atoning sacrifice of all their doubts and a small slice of their veracity, to heal the wounds it had made. "What has Mr. Blaine done?" had been the key-note of the Advertiser, which its own modest echo answered with "Nothing at all!" Such a trump must be taken—and forthwith those papers which had been most astonished at the Advertiser's audacity began to enumerate the good works of Speaker Blaine. The catalogue was long enough to fill a dictionary—for who does not know that in order to get to Congress a man must do almost everything? Nobody doubted a single item. From week to week and from day to day the announcements followed one upon another, till the poor Advertiser seemed utterly drowned in a storm of his own brewing. Speaker Blaine, shouts the Augusta organ, has procured an appropriation for clearing the channel of the Kennebec. Speaker Blaine, echoes the Bath Times, has done a glorious thing for the shipping interest. Speaker Blaine, chimes in the Portland Press, is working miracles for Fort Popplem. Even the Lewiston Journal tramples upon its own creed to utter the distinct "opinion" that Speaker Blaine has wrought a miracle for the benefit of the Lewiston cotton factories—or for something else. It really seemed as though Speaker Blaine was working his life out, while the unquitting world looked coldly on. The Advertiser was sick unto death—but his time was not yet. By-and-by it came.

"(Hamlin is sure pay!)" Mr. Snell, of Winthrop, who assassinated Mr. Morrill by heading the card of half a dozen merchantable men at a critical moment, was suddenly jerked over the telegraph wires as the newly appointed municipal judge of the distant city of Washington! Who did that!—and the man "who struck Billy Patterson" was a saint in comparison.

To-wit, to-wit, to-wit! Will you listen to me? Who made a Ju'ice of Wile B. At Washington, D. C.?

Not I, says James G. He never asked me, And I never knew Till 'twas all through—Thank you, no more for me.

Not I, says Lot. I know myself, not Any to speak of, says Lot.

Not I, says Lynch. I don't care a pinch Of snuff, and that's enough.

Not I, says Plum. I'm too much on my hum-Any for that, and that's flat.

Not I, says Peter. We're too good, even, I wouldn't for my neck Do such a thing for Kennebec.

Not I, says Eugene. I wouldn't be seen; What, strike my friend Lot? I rather think not!

The Portland Star rhymed it, but the pugnacious Advertiser belched it in blunt prose—"Speaker Blaine has procured for William B. Snell, Esq., the appointment of judge of the municipal court at Washington!" The ignoramus!—didn't everybody know that Hamlin had paid off another creditor?—and that the oily Advertiser had paid off several? Not an editor in Maine but laughed that day.

So far so good—but strange to add, Speaker Blaine didn't laugh! It was the one thing he failed to do. Blissfully ignorant of what the newspapers had been about, he took the Advertiser's joke in sober earnest, and squarely "put his foot in it!" The next Kennebec Journal contained Speaker Blaine's solemn card, denying the Advertiser's charge of the imputed crime! Who didn't laugh now?—flat in the face of which the Advertiser mutters his explanation after this fashion—

"Of course he didn't do it; but as Speaker Blaine has done everything else, why not let him pay off Snell?"

We compile this anecdote of political life merely to set the grim pugnacity of the Advertiser in contrast with the honest simplicity of our worthy representative, who was so closely occupied with his duties as to be ignorant of what a few toady newspapers were doing. Of course we can't afford to lose the moral of our story, which is dimly seen to read, "Speaker Blaine don't pay senator Hamlin's debts."

P. S.—Climax! the Lewiston Journal comes in, after three weeks grace, with the brilliant discovery that "Speaker Blaine denies the charge of the Advertiser," &c. Enough!

Waterville Classical Institute.

COMMENCEMENT.

Henceforth the annual graduation of a class of young ladies at this institution is to make one of the great literary festivals in which our citizens have been so long taught to take pride. If large and attentive audiences are a criterion the rivalry for public favor between this and a certain other literary power will in time become a sharp one. In all the exercises this year have been very marked proofs of good talent and thorough instruction—so emphatic as to advance the popularity previously well founded in the reputation of the board of instruction.

Monday evening, with an exhibition in Composition and Declamation, secured a crowded audience for the following programme:

- 1—Death of the Old Year.
CHARLES E. WILLIAMS, Waterville.
- 2—Essay. Difficulties of Purpose Essential to Success.
ELLEN M. STROUT, Limerick.
- 3—The Flight of Youth.
ABRAM B. CATES, Vassalboro'.
- 4—Essay. Weaving.
JULIA W. PEARCE, Eastport.
- 5—Essay. Beauty in Nature.
OLLIE W. SMILEY, Sidney.
- 6—Hannibal at the Altar.
HENRY W. DUDLEY, Vassalboro'.
- 7—Essay. Signs and Songs.
ADDIE P. BARNES, Lee.
- 8—Execution of Montrose.
WILLIE H. KELLY, Augusta.
- 9—Essay. Thoughts on the Study of Natural History.
ELLA M. MAXWELL, Waterville.
- 10—The Traitor's Death.
EDWARD O. HOWARD, Winslow.
- 11 Essay. Ruins.
NELLIE H. BARRELL, Waterville.
- 12—Idylls.
HENRY M. HEYWOOD, Winslow.
- 13—Essay. Mistakes.
MARY S. IRISH, Waterville.
- 14—Essay. Waiting.
HATTIE LOW, Waterville.
- 15—Unjust National Acquisitions.
CHARLES YOUNG, Corinna.
- 16—Essay. Music.
ESTELLE SAWYER, Waterville.
- 17—The Light-Keeper's Daughter.
CASSIUS M. FERGUSON, Dixmont.

The first prize in composition was awarded to Miss Estelle E. Sawyer, of Waterville, and the second to Miss Ollie W. Smiley, of Sidney. The first in declamation to Henry W. Dudley, of Vassalboro', and the second to Charles E. Young, of Corinna.

The public exercises of the Graduating Class, numbering eight young ladies, were held on Tuesday afternoon, in the Baptist Church. An audience resembling those of Colby's Commencements listened to the very pleasant exercises with most flattering attention—flattery well supported by the hearty compliments everywhere heard from those best qualified to judge. The following was the order:

- 1—Oases.
ALTHEA C. GREENWOOD, FAIRFIELD.
- 2—The Conflict of Ages.
ADA E. STEVENS, WATERTOWN.
- 3—Mountains.
THALIA HOWARD, WINSLOW.
- 4—Poetry.
JENNIE E. TAYLOR, WATERTOWN.
- 5—Walls must hear the weather-stains ere they grow the Ivy.
SARAH C. RIGBY, KINGSTON, N. B.
- 6—Tomatoes.
ANNIE G. WOOD, MADISON.
- 7—Battlefields.
ISA M. BILLINGS, CLINTON.
- 8—Image Breaking.—Valedictory Addresses.
ALICE E. GOULD, WATERTOWN.

The Degree of Baccalaureate of Letters was conferred on the eight young ladies of the Graduating Class, and also on the following members of the class of 1868:—

Mary C. Low, Waterville; Abbie J. Flagg, Benton; Carrie S. Mathews, Waterville; Emma E. Jose, E. Winthrop; Laura A. Parlin, E. Winthrop; Nellie M. Stuart Winslow; Lizzie J. Rideout and Julia B. Rideout, Cumberland.

The Concert Tuesday evening, by Chandler's Band, Portland—which had given the highest satisfaction to previous audiences—secured very liberal patronage, notwithstanding the rain; dismissing from Commencement festivities a multitude sufficiently numerous to hold Waterville Classical Institute, with its faithful and accomplished Board of Instruction, in genial remembrance till next year.

All the leading religious sects in England join in the labors of the proposed revision of the English Bible, with the exception of the Catholics. Even Dr. Adler, the Jewish rabbi, has accepted the invitation of the Convocation.

Free run in New York City rolls up a frightful record of crime daily. The arrest on Independence day numbered 435, and those for the week 2,137.

The Fenian Generals Starr and Thompson were convicted on the charge of prosecuting a military expedition from the States into Canada, on Wednesday, but they were both recommended to mercy.

Rear Admiral Dahlgren died at Washington on Tuesday morning, and Commodore Henry Walker has been appointed in his place.

Hon. Mark H. Dunnell, formerly of Maine, has been nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the first Minnesota district. The district is strongly Republican, the present incumbent having received a majority of about 9000.

OUR TABLE.

EVERY SATURDAY for July 23 is a fine specimen of this excellent pictorial. Hoppin has a characteristic sketch, "On the Bench at Newport," Bush has a good picture of "Jo and the Professor," illustrating a scene in Miss Alcott's "Little Women"; and there is a fine engraving of DeLoach's Condemnation of Marie Antoinette, and a life-like portrait of Christine Nilsson, with "July," another of the months, by Gavardi, and "Blithe May-Day," by Pettie. "The Mystery of Edwin Drood" is continued, and there is the usual supply of agreeable miscellaneous reading.

Published by Fields, Osgood & Co., Boston, at $5 a year, and sold by all periodical dealers.

PETERS' MUSICAL MONTHLY for July has the following pieces of new music:—
Father, Hear Us! sacred song; Then art ever in My Dreams; Only a Baby Smiled; I Wish that I had been Born a Boy; Fairest of Fairy Land, Titania's Song, for mezzo-soprano or mezzo-tenor, by Wm. Kepler; White Beauty Clothes the Fertile Vale, quartet for mixed voices with instrumental accompaniment, by Mozart; From Every Earthly Pleasure, hymn, by R. S. Pray; No Home to Shelter Her Poor Little Head, trio or three-part chorus and solo for female voices; The Angels Loved Her; Golden Bubble Scattered, by G. Kinkel; Wayside Rose Schottisch; La Belle Helene, polka; The Red Stockings' March, by G. Kinkel; Haunting Eyes Galop.

Published by J. L. Peters, New York, at $3 a year. For further particulars see advertisement on our fourth page. This is a meritorious publication, a great favorite wherever known, and we shall be pleased to forward subscriptions for it.

TILTON'S JOURNAL OF HORTICULTURE AND FLORAL MAGAZINE.—The July number of this elegant periodical is full of valuable and interesting articles on a variety of topics that come within its sphere—How to Propagate Shrubs; Pear Culture, New Way of Handling the Greenfly, Warlike Cases, Raising Seedling Grapes, Greenhouses, The Currant Worm, How to Can Fruit, Decorative Plants, Pruning Tomatoes, etc., with a liberal supply of Notes and Gleanings, domestic and foreign.

Published by J. E. Tilton & Co., Boston, at $3 a year.

THE PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL for July is a very good number of this attractive monthly. One of the most attractive articles, perhaps, is a fervid but discriminating tribute to the memory of Albert D. Richardson, which is all the more effective for the reason that the writer, Janus Henri Browne, does not claim too much for his friend. We will not enumerate the articles several of which, as usual, are accompanied by illustrations.

Published by S. R. Wells, New York, at $2 a year.

THE TECHNOLOGIST.—Full page illustrations of the new Masonic Hall, now in process of erection in New York, and of a novel mode of refrigeration, lend pictorial interest to the July issue. There are other engravings and the usual amount of valuable reading matter, which conveys important scientific information in a lucid and popular manner.

Published by the Industrial Publication Society, New York, at $2 a year.

BALLOU'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE for August is very promptly at hand, with a store of good things such as are usually found in this popular monthly.

The opening article is an illustrated chapter on billiards, which is followed by Pictures of Havana, and several engravings of interest to the general reader. Among the stories are two sea-yarns, several for lady readers, two for children, and tales of adventure and daring such as most persons like. On the whole this is a very cheap and desirable publication for the average reader.

Published by Thomas & Falbot, Boston, at $1.50 a year.

JUNE.

O, the Earth is drest in flowers,
And our senses truly blest,
Wasteful in her thousand bowers,
Wasteful in her many showers,
In her bridal robes is drest.

Rich frankincense floats around,
Almost sick of love I am,
Summer on her mission bound,
Nought but harmony in sound,
Heaven sends down a telegram.

"Oh, ye mortals, work and toil;
I have given you the Earth,
I have blest the seed and soil,
I will pour the wine and oil,
As I promised at my birth.

Neighbor, do you feel as I?
All around is beauty bright,
Love written on the sky,
Love, the signet on his sky,
Love would be a time to die.

Never in our Memory
Have we seen a June like this;
Ere it from our fingers fell,
You and I will agree
That it has been one of bliss.

Soft and sweet the air around,
Wooling invalids' bowers;
Sluggish pulses quicker bound,
While our thoughts are more profound
Of the seen and unseen powers.

Promise hangs on every bough,
Heavy laden are the trees;
Hope can almost say to you,
Unto Him who holds the plow,
Tends the showers, and sun and breeze.

It is our fault that this, which was received in June, appears in July. [Eds. Mail.]

Augusta has finally consented to assume the costs and risks of the lock and fishway at the dam, in consideration that the Spragues will rebuild this year. With Augusta's old notions and practice it won't cost much; but we wish it to be remembered that one of the Augusta papers has admitted that as regards a fishway, at the dam—Common law requires it of every dam owner; statute law requires it, and it is one of the express provisions of the original charter from which A. & W. Sprague derive the right to maintain this dam. Now let us see if they will stand to that.

Since the above was written the Farmer has come to hand, and we are pleased to see that it adheres to its position. It thinks that the ready assent of many of their citizens was obtained to the project in aid of the Spragues under the notion that they can defeat the building of a fishway; but it hopes that the citizens of Augusta will no longer be so mad as to seek longer "to perpetuate the wrong that has existed for thirty years in the shape of an impassable dam across the Kennebec, which they have no more right to maintain than Bath has to maintain an impassable bridge." Let the people of Maine, for they are all interested, be on the watch for an attempt at legislation adverse to fishways.

FATHER L'HIVER, formerly of Waterville, but now of Rockland, resembles his apostolic predecessors in one particular, sure—he is a good fisherman; and because we know that it will interest his old parishioners, by whom he is held in kindly remembrance, we mention the fact that he lately hooked a four pound trout.

A violent tornado swept across the State on Thursday afternoon doing much damage. Many buildings were unroofed, some were blown down. In Greene a Mr. Parker was crushed in the ruins of his barn and killed.

COMMENCEMENT at Colby University will this year occur one week earlier than usual, and as there is to be a semi-centennial celebration with appropriate exercises, the attendance will no doubt be large. Our hotel accommodation is not large, it is true, but those who apply in season will be able to secure comfortable quarters in private houses. In addition to the programme which we published last week, we will state that Judge Thomas Russell, of Boston, will deliver the oration before the literary societies, and Rev. Dr. Shailer, of Portland, will preach the sermon before the Boardman Missionary Society on Sunday evening. There will be no poem.

We may also add that the Concert on Wednesday evening will be by the renowned Germania Band who will be in attendance upon the Commencement exercises; and it is to be hoped that the graduating class will be liberally rewarded for their enterprise, and not lose heavily as they have at Lewiston and Bowdoin.

WAR, on a big scale, is threatened in Europe. Spain chose Prince Leopold as king, and as he is a relative of King William of Prussia and the movement promised to strengthen his kingdom, which is thought by some of its neighbors to be already quite too formidable, the jealousy of France was aroused, and Napoleon protested that unless the candidate was withdrawn, he would fight. Communications have been exchanged, and friendly powers are busy in endeavoring to preserve the peace of Europe; but in the mean time both parties are busily preparing for a war. It is impossible to predict how it will end, mutually contradictory rumors following each other in rapid succession.

BALLARD'S ORCHESTRA, of Lewiston, will visit Waterville on the 19th inst., to furnish music for the closing exercises of the Maine Central Institute. Our citizens retain pleasant recollections of their entertainment, in our village; and although the Germanians are engaged for Commencement at Colby University it may not be amiss to remind the students that if any music is needed for any minor entertainments, this band could readily be secured upon favorable terms.

The river drivers have come and gone during the past week, sweeping the logs from the rocks and dam at Ticonic Falls and also from the shores above and below. The logs were never more numerous here, but nearly fifty men, under Messrs. Gullifer and Kineaid, made short work of what seemed to be a gigantic labor.

A second derrick has been set upon the Winslow shore for operating on the abutment of the new free bridge and the corner stone was swung into place on Friday. The work will now be vigorously pushed.

THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT ASSOCIATION at the West Village have concluded to build a Memorial Hall, and have adopted a plan prepared for them by Mr. L. W. Siloway of Boston.

Mr. Lo indulges in a little grim humor occasionally. "How did you become a great warrior?" was somewhat bluntly asked of Little Swan, at the recent interview. "By my deeds in battle," proudly answered the Indian. "By killing people," said his questioner, translating it into plain Saxon. "Yes," responded Little Swan, and his eye must have twinkled slyly, "the same as the Great Father in the White House."

FOR THE SOLDIERS.—There is still great need of old cotton and linen cloths for the wounded soldiers in the hospital at Togus. Those who can spare them will confer a favor by depositing them at the Mail office, or with Mr. Hendrickson, bookseller.

M. J. KELLY.

Stickney, of the Sunrise, himself a Universalist, we believe, says that denunciation furnishes a larger amount of Governor timber than any other; and for proof enumerates, as present at the Universalist State Convention, Ex-Governor Washburn, Ex-Candidate Pillsbury, Ex-Candidate Hieborn, would-be candidate Hersey, and acting-candidate Perham. Candidates for office are usually prominent politicians and it may be a questionable compliment to say that those are very abundant in a religious body.

"LOOK-UP EMPTY."—That was the significant record in the Bangor Whig Monday morning. That came from a rigid enforcement of the liquor law in that city. Keep doing so.

Cyrus Arnold, of Augusta, as we learn by the Journal, committed suicide by hanging one morning this week. Supposed to have been insane. His age was about 75.

A ram-crazed river driver attacked Conductor Barrell, of the Maine Central Railroad, the other day, while in the discharge of his duties at Danville Junction, and very soon found himself in Auburn jail.

Our old friend William Mathews, (both Doctor and Professor) has left his home in Chicago thus early and is already here to attend the annual meeting of the ancient and honorable Waterville White Perch Association. Being here he will also be very likely to attend the Commencement exercises of his alma mater and join in its semi-centennial celebration. These yearly visits to his old home, with a renewal of the sports of his boyhood, revivify him like a draught from the waters of the fabled fountain of youth, and he returns to us with as keen a relish for life and its pleasures, as when, so many years ago, we navigated our tiny ship upon Hayden Brook, wading gleefully up and down, the livelong day, wholly oblivious of the bramble bush that awaited us at home.

Of the new "Sprague Mower," advertised by Gerald & Allen, we find the following notice in the Augusta Banner:

The latest invented mowing machine we have seen has been recently perfected and put before the agricultural public by the "Sprague Manufacturing Machine Co., of Providence, Rhode Island. Col. DeWitt, the efficient agent of the Messrs. Sprague in Augusta, has two of these machines in use on their grass lands near this city. We have personally seen one of them in operation and examined its work, which it does in a superior manner, and besides, it possesses several important qualities which are indispensable to entire success. It is simple, compact in its arrangement of gearing, light of draft, does its work rapidly and is strong and durable. It mowed an acre of very heavy grass in about fifty minutes. We think three-fourths of an hour would be sufficient for good mowing, say one and a half or two tons to the acre. This company say that they offer this Mower to the farmers of the world as the best cutting implement, all things considered, that has ever been built." Our opinion is, that it will be found to be fully equal to others in all good qualities, while it can be offered and will be sold at from $15 to $25 less than any other leading mower in the market.

This last desideratum is a very important one, as all our farmers know.

Gerald & Allen of Kendall's Mills, are the only authorized agents in Maine, but if we are correctly informed, they have none of the machines on hand as they are sold so rapidly by the manufacturers there are none to be had here. Another year they will be for sale in this state.

The Editor of the Banner was misinformed; for we have reliable information that Gerald & Allen have received and sold from 30 to 40 of the Sprague mowers this season, and that they are proving a success. Interested parties are referred to their advertisement in another column, and to Mr. A. P. Marston, local agent for Waterville. [Eds. Mail.]

From a report of the committee of the Farmer's Club, N. Y. Tribune, July 6, 1870:

"It was operated at Mr. Sinclair's farm on meadow land, somewhat rough, and containing many trees. The grass was for the most part very heavy, and in many places lodged. The mower was not inconvenienced by these obstacles, but worked steadily, for the two hours during which the test lasted, without any stoppage or delay. It left a stubble closely and smoothly clipped, and altogether its action was such as to warrant the good opinion of the Committee, as also of Mr. John Sullivan, a practical farmer, accustomed to the use of old favorite machines. The chief characteristics of the Sprague are its notable beauty and neatness, ease of management, the compactness of the gearing, all of which is included in a tight, safe, and yet accessible case; the reduction of friction, the nice adaptation of cutting power to driving-power, rendering "clogging" almost impossible, even on short curves; and the comparative cheapness of the implement, the price asked being considerably less than the general range for first-class mowers."

STONE & MURRAY'S GREAT CIRCUS, which is advertised to exhibit in Waterville on Saturday of next week positively promises THREE THINGS, all good, namely first, a Grand Street Pageant, to be led by the elegant Band Chariot, drawn by FORTY HORSES.—Second an "Up in the Air" performance, in which a lady will walk a tight-rope to the top of the pavilion and return;—and third that both the above exhibitions will be FREE to ALL. The great procession will enter this village from Skowhegan probably between nine and ten o'clock. The ascent of the lady on the rope will commence about 12 1-2 o'clock. No doubt this will be the grand circus of the season; being probably the largest now travelling either in this country or Europe. Those who want to know beforehand what is promised should examine the pictorial posters that may be found everywhere.

Bowdoin College Commencement occurred this week, the graduates numbering thirty.

The story of the massacre of Frenchmen in China is contradicted.

An American vessel has taken part in suppressing the insurrection on the West coast of Mexico, and has very summarily put an end to the rebels who attempted to put to sea. It will be remembered that on attacking Guaymas lately the rebel Mexican Gen. Placido Vega captured a steamer, which he armed and sent on a piratical expedition against other towns on the Mexican coast. The United States man-of-war Mohican coming up with the pirate, destroyed her and captured six of her crew.

The Forward, captured by U. S. steamer Mohican, was intended, it is said, to seize our Panama steamer. Eight casualties occurred on board the Mohican, during the action with the pirate. Killed—Ensign Wainwright and Coxswain James Donnell. Wounded—F. W. Townsend, C. B. Scott, Thomas Dailey, Cecil McIntire, Wm. Higgins and John White.

The two great men of the hour in Europe are Bismark and Napoleon. They stand at once before and above all others, through their splendid achievements, and by the force of their magnificent genius. General Prim, who is partly responsible for the present outbreak, has a fair record as a soldier and a statesman, and fills a place in Spanish political history which atones for many failures. But he has no power on the commanding theatre where the issues of peace or war are now being made up. Prince Leopold is a name and nothing more in comparison with the giants who are measuring their weapons over his head. King William is an intelligent and ambitious ruler with good capacity for governing, inherited from a long line of princes. But Bismark towers above him, and all Germany looks to the minister for the sign by which it must conquer. In France the Emperor bears no rival near the throne. His hand alone has raised the whirlwind and will direct the storm. [Port. Adv.]

Speaker Blaine will preside at the National Congress on Penitentiary and Reformatory Discipline, and deliver the opening address. The Congress meets on the 11th of October, at Cincinnati.

Thomas Hughes of "Tom Brown" fame is coming to this country for a three months' visit.

A new name for the German is "Hugging set to Music."

Arrangements are nearly perfected for the annual exhibition of the Maine State Agricultural Society to be held in Augusta on the 20th, 21st, 22d and 23d of September next. The outdoor show will be upon the grounds occupied by the society in 1858 and 1859. The State House, the free use of which has been granted by the governor and council, will be used for the display of fine arts, needle work and manufactured products, fancy goods, household fabrics, fruits &c. A large tent will be pitched in rear of the State House for the exhibition of agricultural and other implements, machinery; 100,000 feet of lumber will be required to build the stalls, pens, &c., for stock. Besides the regular premiums, amounting in the aggregate to a large sum, there will be outside purses offered for special excellence in horse raising and training. An interesting feature of the show will be the evening discussions on matters pertaining to the various departments of agriculture. The annual address will be delivered probably by ex-Governor Brown of Massachusetts or Horace Greeley. Efforts will be made to ensure an exhibition worthy of the society and the State.

PRINCE LEOPOLD OF HOHENZOLLERN AND THE SPANISH THRONE.—There is a grand commotion just now in Paris over the offer, by Gen. Prim, of the Spanish crown to Leopold, the son of Prince Charles Anthony, of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen, and his wife, Princess Josephine, of Baden, daughter of Stephanie de Bounarmis, the adopted child of the First Napoleon, and aunt of the reigning Napoleon of France. Leopold is about 35 years old, and has a fair reputation for a well-behaved young man, of no special gifts or brilliancy; a titular colonel in the Prussian service. Though of a protestant family, he is, himself a catholic and is the head of the youngest branch of the house of Hohenzollern, of which King William of Prussia is the head. He was married in 1861, to the Princess Antoinette of Portugal, a younger sister of the reigning sovereigns of Europe—Prussia, France and Portugal—though Prince of but a bit of German territory of about 335 square miles, and of a population of less than 50,000 souls. But the trouble with the French is, that this principality has been sold out to Prussia, and all the ulterior claims of the princes to that crown have been abdicated in favor of William, the reigning sovereign of Prussia. And of all the sovereigns of Europe, France is most jealous and most afraid, too—of William of Prussia. [Portland Press.]

SOMETHING INTERESTING FOR FARMERS.

Being in want of a Mowing Machine, and having received an offer from both the Sprague and Clipper mowing machine agents, to take one on trial. I did so, taking and trying both at the same time, and on the same ground. After giving both a fair and impartial trial, I decided to take the Sprague, for the following reasons: It was the lightest in draft and weight; easiest to handle and ride; less weight on the horses' necks; more compact; less complicated;—and upon examination I find that it only takes about half as many pieces to make a Sprague as it does a Buckeye, Clipper, Wood, Kniffin, or most any other, making it of course more durable. I consider it one of the strongest machines in the market; at least I have tested the strength of mine by raking out stones firm in the ground of 100 lbs. weight. I would also say, that I should take the Sprague in preference to the Clipper, at the same price, although I consider it no disadvantage to the Sprague for being $30 less. Feeling confident that it will do as good work, and as much of it as any machine in the market, I would say to all JUST TRY it before you buy anything else. GRANVILLE D. PULLEN.

Clipper Mowers and Reapers.
Having had over twenty years experience in the Hardware, Saw, Tin Ware and Agricultural Tool business, I take pleasure in saying to those wanting to purchase a Mowing machine, that I believe the CLIPPER has more points of excellence than any other mower yet put into the market—such as Light Draft, Ease of Management, Safety to Driver and Team, Center Lifting Dragnet, running directly to the Cutter Bar, which, when it meets an obstruction often lifts and passes over itself, instead of crowding harder downward against it, as is the case in the market does. The team walking in, and the wheels follow in the track made by the track bar.

It does not pull the team by shaking the harness or bearing on the necks.

The Clipper was awarded the preference at field trials at Lewiston, Waterville and Bangor. In some of these trials were all of the following machines—Buckeye, Kniffin, Wood, Union American Advance, and others. On the one horse size at Lewiston, a horse weighing only 750 pounds was used; and at Bangor, one weighing only 725 pounds, and neither had ever pulled a mowing machine before.

I know these machines are durable, as I have had for the past three years a large stock of Repair parts, and nearly all there is in Maine, a very few of which have been sold.

I have an assortment of the best quality of Wheel Rakes, Seythors, Forks, &c., Oil for Mowing Machines, &c., &c.

J. H. GILBRETH,

MISCELLANY.

DON'T CROWD.

Don't crowd; this world is broad enough.
For you as well as me;
The doors of art are open wide—
The realm of thought is free.
Of all earth's pleasures you are right
To choose the best you can,
Provided that you do not try
To crowd some other man.

What matter though you scarce can count
Your piles of golden ore;
While he can hardly strive to keep
A beggar's fattened deer?
Of willing hands and honest heart
Alone should man be proud,
Then give him all the room he needs,
And never try to crowd.

Don't crowd, p. old Miss, pour dainty silk
Will glisten none the less,
Because they come in contact with
A beggar's fattened deer?
This lovely world was never made
For you and me alone;
A proper has a right to tread
The pathway to a throne.

Don't crowd the crowd from out your heart
By fostering all that's bad,
But give to every virtue room—
The best that man can be;
Be each day's record such a one
That you may well be proud,
Give each his right—give each his room,
And never try to crowd.

HOT WEATHER PRECAUTIONS.—A correspondent of the Advance offers this practical advice concerning precautions for farmers in extreme hot weather:

Use wide rim, light straw hat, with a rather high crown, not closely fitting to the head; have the rim turned down all round, put your handkerchief in the crown, and if very warm pluck some fine fresh grass and put between the handkerchief and the crown, which will most effectually keep the rays of the sun from the brain. When the pores are well open and one perspires freely, there is not so much danger from the effects of the sun, as the dry burning sensation sometimes experienced. Labor early and late, and if possible allow yourself a siesta or good long nooning, in the hottest portion of the day. If your work is near the house, so that it will be practical, have an early tea, say at five o'clock, with fifty minutes rest, and then continue your work until evening. Be cautious about over-taxing the system. A good rule is never to get so exhausted as to be unable to rest well at night, and that you will get up tired in the morning. This the constitution will not stand long. Money never will atone for a broken down constitution, and in no sense does over laboring pay. Healthy and light food, simple drinks, such as every farmer can always command, are the best—bread and butter of the first quality and fruits in their season. All may and should have ice, but caution is necessary as to its use when the body is heated. Vinegar and molasses in water make a cooling drink, using perhaps a good proportion of the former. All fixed up drinks, usually, are not proper to allay thirst. Indeed, good sound judgment goes a long way in getting safely through this season of the year with the agriculturalist. There are, every season, a very few excessively hot days, not more than one or two at once, when it is decidedly impracticable to labor at all through the middle of the day.

SUMMER DISEASES.—Diarrhoea is a very common disease in summer time. Cholera is nothing more than exaggerated diarrhoea. When a man has died of diarrhoea, he has died of cholera in reality. It may be well for travelers to know that the first and the most indispensable thing in the arrest and cure of looseness of the bowels is absolute quietude on a bed; nature herself always prompts this by disinclining us to locomotion. The next thing is to eat nothing but common rice, parched like coffee, and taken with a little salt and butter. Drink little or no liquid of any kind. Bits of ice may be taken and swallowed at will. Every step taken in diarrhoea, every spoonful of liquid, only aggravates the disease. If locomotion be compulsory, the misfortune of the necessity may be lessened by having a stout piece of woolen bound tightly round the abdomen, so as to be doubled in front and kept well in its place. In the practice of many years we have never failed to notice a gratifying result to follow these observances.—H. Hall's Journal of Health.

Dr. Hall says "picking the ears" is a most mischievous practice. In attempting to do this with hard substances, an unlucky motion has many a time pierced the drum; nothing sharper or harder than the end of the little finger, with the nail pared, ought never to be introduced into the ear, unless by a physician. Persons are often seen endeavoring to remove the "wax" of the ear with the head of a pin; this ought never to be done; first, because it not only endangers the rupture of the ear by being pushed to far in, but if not so far, it may grate against the drum, excite inflammation and an ulcer which will finally eat all the parts away, especially of a scrofulous constitution; second, hard substances have often slipped in, and caused the necessity of painful operations to fish or cut out; third, the wax is manufactured by nature to guard the entrance from dust, insects, and unmoderated cold air, and when it has subserved its purpose it becomes dry, scaly, light, and in this condition is easily pushed outside by the new formations of wax within.

There are probably few persons who have not at some time in their lives had, if not for more than a moment, palpitation of the heart. The disease is dependent on over-excitement of the nerves of this organ. Where not caused by disease of the heart or its valves, it is not a dangerous affection. The best treatment is perfect quiet and composure in a recumbent posture. If it continues long, apply hot compresses over the region of the heart, changing them often to prevent their occurrence, avoid over-exertion, tight clothing, nervous excitement, a crowded or unventilated room, and above all, loading the stomach with indigestible articles of food.

There is no such thing as a good stimulant, so there can be no best stimulant. Stimulants are all bad. What is a stimulant? It is a poison. To stimulate means to goad, to excite. Alcohol is a stimulant. When alcohol is taken into the stomach, the vital powers, recognizing it as a poison, are excited to resist it and throw it out; which they do with all the force they are capable of exerting, and this action to rid the system of poison is stimulation. Stimulation is really poisoning, and nothing else; therefore if there is a best poison, there is a best stimulant.

A writer on reform in woman's dress says: The ornaments worn by men are such as interfere with neither freedom nor health, and have some ostensible purpose to effect. Let it be so with the ornaments of woman; let her make her dress a means and not an end, a convenience and not a pursuit, and leaving gewgaws to children and savages, set to work to substitute ease and simplicity for discomfort and multitudinous details.

A Card to the Ladies.
DUPONCO'S
GOLDEN PILL.

Infallible in correcting irregularities, and removing obstructions of the monthly periods. It is over forty years since this now so well known pill was first brought to notice by Dr. Duponco, of Paris, during which time they have been extensively and successfully used by some of the leading physicians, with unparalleled success. Ladies in poor health, either married or single, suffering from any of the complaints peculiar to females, will find the Duponco Golden Pills invaluable, viz. General Debility, Headache, Painful Loss of Appetite, Mental Depression, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Pain in the Lungs, Bearing-down Pains, Palpitation of the Heart, Nervous, Excessive or Irregular Menstruation, Rush of Blood to Head, Dizziness, Dimness of Sight, Fatigue on any slight exertion, and particularly that most annoying, weakening ailment, so common among females, both married and single, the Leucorrhoea or Whites. Females in every period of life will find Duponco's Pills a remedy to aid nature in the discharge of its functions. They invigorate the debilitated and delicate, and by regulating and strengthening the system, prepare the youthful constitution for the duties of life, and when taken by those in middle life or old age they prove a perfect blessing. There is nothing in the pills that can do injury to 16 or 18 years. Safe in their operation, perpetual in their happy influence upon the Nerves, the Mind, and the entire organization.

PURCHASERS OF MUSIC

Will consult their own interests by subscribing to PETERS' MUSICAL MONTHLY. It is issued on the first of each month and gives all the latest and best music, by such authors as Hays, Kiesel, Thomas, Bishop, Danks, Deet, Frey, Keller, Wyman, etc. Every number contains at least twelve pieces of new and good music, printed on fine white paper, and from full size music plates, every piece of which is afterward printed in sheet form, from the same plates, and sold at from 20 to 60 cents each, and all we ask for this valuable magazine is 20 cents a copy, $3 a year, $1.50 for six months; and we guarantee to every yearly subscriber at least 432 pages of choice new music, do not expect PETERS' MUSICAL MONTHLY to pay us as a Magazine, because we give too much music for the money. It is issued simply to introduce our new music to the musical world. Our subscribers sing and play the music we give them. Their music club friends hear the music we give them. Notice to Owners of Maine Central and Pen.

and Ken. R. R. Bonds.

THE holders of the Bonds of the Penobscot and Kennebec Railroads, due in August next, can now exchange their securities and receive a bond of the Maine Central R. R., having twenty-eight years to run, bearing interest at seven per cent, and free from any encumbrance.

It will be perceived that by this arrangement the holder of the bond gets over one per cent. interest more than he has received on the old bond; while the security of the new, is also more than the former loan.
