Special Notice!

HAVING just added to our JOB PRINTING department a first class fast PRESS, with choice selections of fashionable TYPE, we are now prepared to execute all orders for JOB PRINTING at short notice, in the very best style, and on the most reasonable terms. Special pains will be taken to give satisfaction in Circulars, Bill-Heads, Business Cards, Town Orders, Bank Checks, Blanks of all kinds, large and small Posters and Dodgers, Labels, Tickets, Programmes, Price Lists, &c.

HAVING made expensive additions to our office, and contemplating still further outlay, we are driven to the collection of what is due us. We are therefore preparing bills to send and present, and trust our friends will, by paying them promptly, enable us to meet our engagements. We mean this particularly for those whose bills have been long standing.

THE "Pullman Cars" and the "Directors' Excursion" from Boston to Matamoras, have been the topic of the week for New England. A score or two of editors, in search of a spring airing, may have been the means of turning public attention to the matter a little earlier than the engineers would have done it with their whistles, but between the frequency of smash-ups and the ardency of consolidation debates the public have realized a rapid growth of interest in railroads during the past winter.

Of course our details of the excursion only begin at Waterville, where we found it at six o'clock in the evening. The most vexatious minutes stoppage at Bangor consisted of a five minute delay; in Kendall's Mills, when only a country road had been conceded to Waterville! Of course we bit our lips in silence, and only grew calmer as the train rumbled upon the long bridge, and we fell to dreaming of the time when that bridge shall have rotted down, and some bold adventurer from abroad constructed a beautiful substitute at the thriving locality known as "College Rips,"—and humming a few notes of "Fly swift around," we passed on to Bangor.

Somebody must have heard of the "Pullman Palace train," and its proposed patronage of Bangor, for at 9 o'clock the depot was filled and surrounded by an immense mass of her population. And yet the quietness of the principal streets an hour later was worthy of a special note of admiration—as though everybody felt holden for the good name of the city when she had distinguished visitors to entertain. It was carelessly said that a hundred and fifty prominent railroad men, leavened by some thirty or forty editors, were sumptuously entertained in Bangor that night,—many of the younger and bolder being indulged in the luxury of sleeping in the Pullman palaces.

The next day opened at 9 o'clock, and was consecrated to an excursion of some sixty miles to Matamoras, as the guests of the E. & N. A. Railroad. The road is open to that place, and was pronounced one of the smoothest in New England. It runs along the banks of the river most of the distance, and with some prolonged and marked exceptions, through a territory that promises well for agricultural uses when lumbering enterprise gets out of the way. In this respect this road in particular is doing much for the promotion of agriculture—running, perhaps, further into the future than most farmers would be willing to look for a harvest. Here and there we saw good looking farms—and here and there the reverse, with an emphasis.

Dining at 12 o'clock at Matamoras, an hour was spent in talk and exploration; when for the sake of variety a large portion of the company took passage back to Lincoln in the steamer that runs there, and were again taken up by the cars, for delivery in Bangor at 6 o'clock. Here a night of most hospitable entertainment ensued, and just before 9 o'clock on Thursday morning the party left for Boston. When we stepped out at Waterville they were just completing a census of noses for a telegram to the Falmouth Hotel, Portland, touching the popular topic of dinner.

(We have given the outlines of this very pleasant and well conducted excursion—reserving details for occasional patches, as we may find leisure.)

JUSTIN MCCARTHY, a well known English journalist who has contributed much to American periodicals, is in this state studying the practical working of the Maine liquor law.

DECORATION DAY.

All friends of the soldier—all who respect the memory of those who died in defence of their country—are requested to meet at the Town Hall, Monday evening next at 8 o'clock to devise measures for a suitable observance of Decoration Day, which occurs this year on Tuesday the 30th current.

Let it be remembered that the number of dead and maimed soldiers of Waterville far exceeds that of those at present living here in health and strength.

Every name in that Roll of Honor should be known and revered by young and old.

I. S. BANGS, JR.

Waterville, May 19, 1871.

SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION.—The annual convention of the evangelical Sabbath Schools of our State held a very interesting session in Gardiner this week. The following officers were chosen:—

President, I. A. Stanwood; Secretary, E. M. Haynes; Assistant Secretaries, J. M. Larabee, Howard Owen; Vice Presidents, S. L. Chase, D. B. Randall, Thomas Kenney, A. L. Park, C. M. Bailey.

A constitution was adopted, which provides that the name shall be the "Maine Sunday School Association," the object of which shall be to promote the interests of Sunday Schools in the State. Any member of an evangelical S. School may become a member. An executive committee from each denomination and the State at large to have charge of the business matters; to select delegates to the national convention, and to appoint corresponding secretaries in those counties that have no associations. The following Executive committee was appointed:—

S. Baker, Orono, } at large.
 E. M. Haynes, Lewiston,
 C. Sturtevant, Portland,
 O. M. Cousins, Hallowell,
 El. Jones, China

Isaac W. Hawkes, Manchester.
 Rufus Deering, Portland.
 A. L. Gerrish, Pittsfield.
 H. S. Burrage, Waterville.
 S. L. B. Chase, Bangor.
 G. H. Palmer, Bath.
 S. Toothaker, New Sharon.

Interesting discussions and exercises were had, in which we notice that Rev. Mr. Ladd and Rev. Mr. Burrage of Waterville participated.

The next meeting of the association will be held in Dexter, some time in May, 1872.

BANGOR ANECDOTE.—Wm. Lowe, the late noted market man of Bangor, once kept a market in Portland, and he used to describe the difference between a Bangorean and a Portlander in this way:—The Bangorean would ride up to his door and say, "Mr. Lowe, send me up five pounds of porter-house steak, ten pounds of sirloin roast, and whatever is necessary to go with it"—and off he would go. A Portlander would walk into his shop, and after a lengthy and careful examination would inquire the price of each kind of steak, roast and soup piece. When the price was given, he would inquire the price of liver, which he was always informed was five cents. The Portlander would then order a pound and a quarter of liver sent to his house and the bill to be sent in at the end of the month. This anecdote has never been told before, except in Bangor.

MR. GEORGE H. FARRINGTON, assistant Postmaster at Augusta, was drowned in the Kennebec river Thursday forenoon. He was sailing in company with Mr. J. B. Fellows, when the boat capsized near the bridge; Mr. Fellows clung to the boat and was saved, but Mr. Farrington undertook to swim ashore and was drowned. Mr. Farrington was 25 years of age, unmarried, and highly respected and esteemed.

WE hear it said that our assessors have strongly indicated by way of taxation, that the best horses, oxen and steers may be looked for in the West part of the town. They assessed the beautiful trotting mare "Nelly Otis," the property of Benj. F. Otis, at $500—said to be the highest sum ever assessed on a horse in Waterville. The Letreneau brothers are next highest. Mr. A. J. Libby was assessed $325 on a pair of oxen, and Wm. P. Blake $300 on a pair of steers. These must be the men called "small tax payers."

IT is worthy of note, that within a few weeks past each of the three members of our board of selectmen have been called to suffer affliction. The venerable father of Mr. Benjamin died at Winthrop, and the father of Mr. Libby at West Waterville, both as noticed in the Mail; and Mr. James Rice, who recently died suddenly at Winthrop, was a brother of our Mr. George Rice.

THE following sales of Jersey stock have recently been made in this vicinity:—

By C. M. Barrell, a choice grade cow to S. S. Marble, Esq., of Waldoboro; U. S. Marshall for Maine.

By Dr. Boutelle, full blood heifer "Clover 2d," to W. H. Carter, of Waterville, and a good grade heifer to Mr. Foss, of Kendall's Mills.

By William Dyer, a good grade heifer to Howard Murphy, Esq., of Belfast; a very fine full blood cow, and a grade heifer, 7-8 Jersey, to W. P. Blake, of West Waterville.

By the company of owners, the fine thoroughbred bull, "Humboldt," to Clarendon Barton, Esq., of Plymouth. Humboldt has taken three first prizes, viz: at the Newton, Mass., Jersey Stock Show, in 1868; at the N. E. Fair, at Portland, in 1869; and at the State Fair, at Augusta, in 1870. The company have been breeding from him two years, and have some fine animals.

NOTICE.—Services at the Universalist Meeting House in this village will hereafter commence at 10 1-2 A. M.

"THE HEATHEN CHINESE," by Bret Harte, with graphic illustrations by S. E. Ytinge, Jr., is published by Jas. E. Osgood & Co., Boston, in a neat little pamphlet, and sold by all book dealers for 25 cts. The artist has admirably supplemented the work of the poet.

OUR TABLE.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY for June contains no less than eight illustrated articles—the first in importance and interest being the second paper by Gov. Langford on "The Wonders of the Yellowstone." Twenty excellent illustrations accompany this intensely interesting article. Another very valuable and entertaining article is Mr. Twombly's description of the St. Louis Bridge, one of the greatest engineering undertakings of the age.

America being thus graphically represented as to her strange natural features and business and engineering enterprises—other illustrated articles are devoted to European subjects. William Wells, gossip pleasantly, with the aid of four illustrations, about "Lights and Shadows of the War;" there is an illustrated sketch of "The Mother of the Emperor William;" and a very entertaining account of "Lepidic and his Pals," illustrated by the author, Prof. Emmette. Samuel W. Duffield furnishes a witty and earnest article on "The Freedom of the Pulpit," in which he takes a very different view from that presented by Mr. Wilkison in his recent paper on the "Bondage" of the same. Mrs. Oliphant continues and concludes her admirable novelette of "Norah: The Story of a Wild Irish Girl;" Miss Trafton furnishes another powerful story: "The Shadow that Came Between;" and in "Wilfrid Cambermead" MacDonald has some very characteristic talk about the ministry, the law, and the mystery of Death. Lois Brooke's poem, "Three Leaves from a Story," has three graceful and poetic designs by Miss Hallowell; J. T. McKay's poem "Making Port," has the real sea swing about it; and Mrs. Platt's "Clothes of a Ghost" is weird and suggestive. Dr. Holland in "Topics of the Time" writes about "Living with Windows Open" and "The French Republic;" "The Old Cabinet" contains "Confessions of a Concealed Man" and "Two Weddings," and other editorials are on English Panpurgers, Wagner in the Bowerly, The Kindergarten, etc. The Etchings by Hopkins are very clever, and tell "The True Story of the Capture of Pegasus." The number contains nearly fifty pictures and is extremely attractive throughout.

Published by Sheldon &amp; Co., New York, at $3 a year.

THE EDINBURGH REVIEW for April has the following table of contents:—

Lord Brougham's Recollections of a Long Life: Applications of Photography: The Doctrine of the Chozoites: Arnold on Puritanism and National Churches: Rossetti's Edition of Shelley: The German Empire: Memoirs of Madame du Plessis-Normay: French Literature—Irish Federalism: Theodore Martin's Horace: Studies of the Recent War.

The four great English Quarterly Reviews and Blackwood's Monthly are promptly issued by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, 37 Walker Street, New York, the terms of subscription being as follows:—For any one of the four Reviews, $4 per annum; any two of the Reviews, $7; any three of the Reviews, $10; all four Reviews, $13; Blackwood's Magazine, $4; Blackwood and one Review, $7; Blackwood and any two Reviews, $10; Blackwood and the four Reviews, $15—with large discounts to clubs. In all the principal cities and towns these works are sold by periodical dealers.

New volumes of Blackwood's Magazine and the British Reviews commence with the January numbers. The postage on the whole five works is but 66 cents a year.

LIKE THE FROGS OF EGYPT, the city runners swarm over the whole land, and make up no small portion of the passengers on every public conveyance. Like the wares and merchandise they offer, they differ widely, varying from gold to brummagem, though none of them are lacking in brass. We overheard one of them give our quiet village a nice compliment the other day, which pleased us. His talk had been principally upon the stupendous accomplishment of billiard playing, in which he showed that he was up to many "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain," upon which he evidently prided himself. "You stop at East Waterville?" said he, addressing his chum interrogatively, a little while before he switched off on another road. "I do," answered the other. "Well, I congratulate you, hoping that your stay will be short. I stopped over Sunday there once, and I thought I should die." It reminded us of a rude fellow's criticism of a sermon—"Such preaching as that is enough to kill the devil." "Just what I am trying to do," quietly returned the minister.

THE DEXTER BRANCH RAILROAD is doing a brisk freight business, which is steadily increasing, but the travel is light, as indeed it is on all roads at this season. Conductor Owen is the right man in the right place; and we judge that he must have come up from the ranks and been promoted for his merit, for he has a wonderful faculty of making himself useful, being ready to "bear a hand" in handling freight, making up a train, "down breaks," &c. Ed. Chase is engineer of this train, and we noticed one other Waterville boy on the road.

THE EARLY TRAIN TO BANGOR.—Conductor Beals in charge—which passes Waterville at 7.52 in the morning, and at 5.25 P. M. on its return, is certainly a great public convenience, not only in its through route but in its way travel, picking up and dropping passengers at every station. It is probably not very profitable, but is an evidence that the railroad company, while trying to do a paying business, are not unmindful of the public convenience.

CARLETON, taking advantage of the season, before the leaves have started much, has made a large number of new stereoscopic views of scenery in this vicinity, principally taken on the other side of the river. They include views of our village from various points—of the Falls, the Bay, the mouth of the Sebasticook, Winslow village, the old blockhouse on Fort Point, etc. Many of these are very fine, and are very desirable apart from the charm of local association; but by old residents of Waterville they will be highly prized, and to a son or daughter or friend who has gone out from us, there can be no more acceptable present. Call in and look at them. Carleton is revising his display board at his door, and has already put out some charming pictures in the latest style.

In contradiction of the statement of the Gardiner Reporter, that freights on the Maine Central R. R. had been advanced since consolidation, the Station Agent at that place says that the only changes made are in favor of the shipper, while the arrangements for forwarding freight are much more convenient for all concerned. In support of his assertions he appeals to prominent businessmen who do a large business on the road.

ALLEN SPAULDING, a married man, (whom the down river papers locate in Waterville, but who belongs in Winslow,) is in jail, charged with committing a rape on Miss Dora I. Thomas of Hallowell, 14 years of age, daughter of Mr. William Thomas.

GOV. PERHAM, says the Portland Advertiser, will of course be renominated by acclamation, and the only thing to occupy the time of the convention, soon to assemble, will be the construction of a proper party platform. As to what should be put into this, and what left out, the Advertiser is "free to maintain" that—

It is unnecessary to declare by resolution, that as a party we hold irrevoably by the results of the war. This party name carries that pledge with it, and no fresh assurance is required. It is unnecessary, and would be unwise to raise any question here and now respecting the recent grant of unlimited power to the President. The experiment is temporary, and ought not to be treated as a measure of permanent policy; it is on trial, and ought not to be brought needlessly into discussion. But we owe it to ourselves and to our Representatives in Congress to affirm most clearly our faith in the policy of the amnesty initiated by Mr. Hale—in other words, our belief in the American theory of government, as applied, to the Southern States. We owe it to ourselves and to our Representatives in Congress to reaffirm the declaration of last year, that "we are opposed to fostering one branch of industry at the expense of another," and to demand, not absolute protection nor free trade, but an intelligent revision of the tariff for the greatest good of the greatest number. We owe it to ourselves, and to our Representatives in Congress to repeat once more the demand for relief to the shipping interest. With the premium on gold vibrating between 10 and 12 per cent, we have a right to express the hope that some steps may be taken to facilitate a return to the solid basis upon which the fabric of credit ought to rest. Last but not least important, it is to be hoped that the State convention, like the First District convention last year, will "cordially approve of the recent movement for a reform in the administration of the civil service of the country."

"BIG MEN AND LITTLE MEN."—Under this head the editor of the Presque Isle Sunrise has a long chapter defining the two characters, and ending with an enumeration of a few of the big men of the past. And then he adds:—

"Among her living sons who are 'big,' are R. D. Rice, R. B. Dunn, the two Morrills, J. G. Blaine, John B. Brown, John A. Poor, Wm. A. Drew, N. T. True, S. L. Goodale, Neal Dow, Joshua Nye and Edwin Noyes. We name these, not because they are particularly distinguished above hundreds of others, but as specimens of whom we regard as 'big men.' Among the younger men of our State who if true to themselves will be among the thousands of our future 'big men,' we may name S. L. Boardman, Percival Booney, E. B. Smith, T. B. Reed, Nelson Dingley, Jr., E. F. Pillsbury, and hundreds of others, young farmers, mechanics and merchants, as well as lawyers and editors, whom we are sure will not die without leaving a mark behind."

Ballard's Orchestra, of Lewiston, has been engaged to furnish music for the coming anniversary of the Maine Central Institute in June. They give a concert on Tuesday eve, June 20th.

This organization is received with enthusiasm wherever they go, and are showing steady improvement, if we can judge from the very flattering reports from papers and persons well posted in the matter.

Dr. Sheldon will by request repeat next Sunday, in the Unitarian Church, his sermon on God as Spirit.

AUGUSTA is to have pure water brought into its streets from the springs west of the State House, which will leave its thirsty citizens with no excuse for consuming so much bad whiskey, and other vile drink.

THE ALUMNI of the Maine Wesleyan Seminary and Female College will celebrate its semi-centennial, at the institution, June 8th, 1871, on which occasion an address will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Cummings, of the Wesleyan University, and a poem by Rev. Mark Trafton, of Boston, in the forenoon, to be followed by dinner and speeches in the afternoon, and a reunion in the evening.

The Anniversary and Commencement exercises of the school will take place June 5th, 6th, and 7th.

FRANCE.—The struggle around Paris still continues, and although the government is represented as constantly gaining, yet the troops do not make their way into the city. The Communists have destroyed the column in the Place Vendôme, in a very French way, with much of theatrical display—arranging a cushion of manure to receive the statue of the great Napoleon, spitting on the harmless bronze, &c. The latest report is that McMahon has called upon the Prussians for help, and that French and German troops will enter the city together.

THE TIN WEDDING of Rev. Mr. Dinsmore and wife will be celebrated by their friends, at the residence of the pastor, on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, May 20th. Mr. Dinsmore is an energetic and industrious laborer, and stands deservedly high in the respect and esteem of his people.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for June will be found at Henrickson's. Among other good things it contains a new poem by the author of "Nothing to Wear," with characteristic illustrations; The New York Custom House, Along the Florida Reef, An Excursion to Watkins Glen, all illustrated. The American Baron is continued, and there is a host of other attractions in this extra number of one of the best of American Magazines.

FIRE.—Two farm houses in Winslow, a few rods apart, were burned on Monday—one belonging to Mr. Freeman Reynolds and the other to Mr. Carlos Nelson. The wind was blowing violently at the time, and it was with considerable difficulty that other buildings and fences, quite distant, were saved from burning. Loss about $2000 on the two houses.

WINTHROP celebrates its Centennial tomorrow, (Saturday.) Hon. S. P. Benson will present a historical sketch of the town; Gen. Chamberlain will deliver an address, and J. W. May, Esq., will recite a poem.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.—The Belfast Journal says the trout are biting finely in that vicinity, and in the same paper we are told that "a citizen" of Belfast dug a box of angle-worms on Saturday at a late hour in the afternoon. "Put that and that together," and what has the editor of the journal to say for himself?

RULOFF, the murderer of Merrick, was hanged at Binghamton, N. Y., on Thursday.

MR. BENJ. F. OTIS, of West Waterville, has sold his five year old mare, "Nelly Otis," to a Boston gentleman, for $2,500. She trotted a half mile on the Waterville track, the day she was sold, in 1.18, we are told.

PAUL L. CHANDLER, Esq., formerly a lawyer of Waterville, a graduate of Bowdoin College, class of '42, we learn has been appointed Professor of Modern Languages in Oberlin College, Ohio.

A few very CHOICE garden and flower seeds may be found at the Mail office.

EXTENSIVE ART-GALLERY.—Next to the Bible, no book is more useful than Webster's Dictionary. The Unabridged is an excellent art-gallery, containing over three thousand engravings, representing almost every animal, insect, reptile, implement, plant, etc., which we know anything about. It is a vast library, giving information on almost every mentionable subject. It indeed has been well remarked that it is the most remarkable compendium of human knowledge in our language. [HOUSEHOLD ADVOCATE.]

THE SOUTH CAROLINA KU-KLUX.—A party of one hundred Ku-Klux visited the Newbury (S. C.) Court House on Sunday night, for the purpose of killing the Republican county officers. They surrounded the house of Simeon Young, a colored man, and chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, threw turpentine balls into his bedroom and fired a volley through the window, shooting Young's wife in the back and his child through the thigh. They then forced open the door and as they entered, Young fired upon the foremost, wounding him severely, and then jumped through a window and ran, receiving two wounds but making his escape. The Ku Klux went to the house of Trial Justice Long and David Halstock, County Commission, but they secreted themselves and escaped. The Probate Judge was warned the night before, and left town. A wounded Ku-Klux was taken off in a buggy and left at a house four miles from the town, where he was arrested on Tuesday and found to be a man named Faulkner, well known in Newbury. He was placed in jail but will probably be rescued by his comrades. The Republicans in Columbia are determined to make this a test case under the Ku-Klux law of Congress and will endeavor to have a U. S. warrant issued for Faulkner, and the Marshal with a squad of soldiers sent to bring him to Columbia for trial in the Federal Court. It is believed if this is done that he will give evidence implicating the other outlaws with whom he acted.

GORHAM, Me., May 18. A fire here to-day destroyed the Gorham House, H. B. Johnson, proprietor, and badly damaged the Pierce House near by; also an unoccupied building belonging to Hinckley & Co. The flying cinders threatened destruction to the village, and the steam fire engines were sent from Portland, but fortunately were not needed. Johnson was insured for $7,500. Mr. Arthur McClellan of Gorham, was badly hurt by falling timbers.

GERMANY.—Berlin 17. There was a strong discussion in the German Reichstag to-day, on the right of the members to inquire into the acts of the government. The Liberals were vehement in demanding this right. This is the first conflict between Parliament and the government since the Reichstag met. The Southern members are exceedingly suspicious, and speak their minds plainly and with energy. The Reichstag sits for three weeks. There will be no Whit Sunday holiday.

A tornado passed over Bridgeport in the southwest part of Illinois Tuesday evening, and a number of buildings were blown down, including the Catholic Church. Mrs. Mary Moore was killed by a falling beam, and several persons were injured. At Montgomery, Ill., three miles from Aurora, the gale destroyed P. & R. Chardon's lumber warehouse, and one or two other buildings.

Montevideo advices say that the fugitive Collector Bailey is living there with the United States Minister to Paraguay and Uruguay, John L. Stevens; the two having hired a house together. He claims to hold a salaried position from our Government worth $2000 a year, and to be the correspondent of a New York journal.

MR. GILMAN C. FISHER, a recent graduate of Colby University, who has been writing letters from France to the Springfield Republican, will enter the lecture field this winter, describing France and Scotland.

A man was arrested in Albany for stealing a lot of lead pipe. He undertook to defend his case before Justice McNamara, who said, in the language of the day, "that's too thin," whereupon the prisoner, striking an attitude, remarked, "I don't understand slang talk."

Many Doctors having learned the great curative properties of Dr. Wing's medicines by force of the cures done under their own observation, and under circumstances that admitted of no possible doubt, have thought it must be he had luckily come in possession of recipes of great value. They did not know the Doctor; his medicines are all original.

DR. E. R. CLARK'S Vegetable Sherry Wine Bitters are a certain cure for female sickness, by taking a wine-glass half full before getting out of bed in the morning. Delicate Ladies will find it of great service by using it three or four times a day. Sold by all dealers in medicines. See advertisement.

The worst Coughs yield, as if by magic, to the wonderful curative powers of Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery. It also surpasses anything else ever before discovered for the cure of Pimples, Blisters, and Rashes on the face; also for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, and all Skin and Scrofulous diseases. Sold by druggists.

A gentleman in Lenox says: "My feet felt as though thousands of needles were being stuck into them, but as soon as I commenced using Remie's Magic Oil, the chilblains began to disappear, and soon got well. It is good for Chilblains." Sold by Plaisant & Co., Waterville.

The use of Hall's Vegetable Sulfur Hair Renewer not only restores the hair to its natural color, but gives it a soft and healthy look.

When the NERVOUS SYSTEM loses its tone and vigor the whole body suffers in consequence, and frequently some one organ suffers more than the rest; hence the origin of Heart Disease, Consumption, Softening of the Brain, &c. The most direct method of curing these is restoring the vital principle to the nerves, which is most easily accomplished by using FELLOWS' Compound Symplic or HYPOPHOSPHITES.

C. & F. Milliken expect to have their steam saw mill, in Hallowell ready for operation July first. It is 108 feet long, two stories high, chimney 100 feet in height. There is deep water close to the mill, so that vessels can load without trucking the lumber. Their mill just below it will also continue in operation.

MR. ELIHU STEVENS, of North Bergrade, who served in the war of 1812, was in the city a day or two since for the purpose of taking measures for securing his pension. He is 81 years old, and is sound in body and vigorous in mind. He has outlived three wives and is the father of twenty one children, seventeen of whom are living. He has had seventy eight grand children, sixty three of whom are now living; sixty grand grand children, fifty of whom are still in the land of the living; making the old gentleman the sire of one hundred and thirty persons who are now living. [Augusta Journal.]

The Portland Press truthfully says of the new mail car just put upon the track: "One of the most elegant mail-cars, possessing all the conveniences desirable, that ever run on a railroad in the State of Maine, was put upon the Maine Central train Saturday. It was manufactured at the company's works in Augusta."
