The strange suicide by two girls at Lewiston gives rise there to much talk and many suggestions for improving the moral condition of the employees of the factories. Some paper reflects upon Lewiston with the charge that these girls were out of work and in a starving condition. The Journal responds with a contradiction, and hints that they were in the habit of being out too much nights. This gives a pungent correspondent an opportunity to say that they were out nights because the factories give them no other time for recreation or errands. To this the Journal attempts no reply, evidently feeling willing to concede that "here's the rub." We fear it is. Report says, though we hope it is not true, that the working hours in the Lewiston factories are even considerably more than ten hours, and at a time when almost all other classes of laborers are contending that eight hours, especially in winter, is enough for a day's work. In the government offices at Washington the day's work does not average six hours of actual labor. In some it is not even four, and high pay at that. If it be true that the factory corporations at Lewiston are ignoring the law for securing common schooling to children, and holding their employees to unreasonably long days, we are glad to see the facts coming to light. It is only the influence of the factory power that prevents the day laborers in other pursuits getting the day's work legally limited to proper hours. During the war the factories in Lewiston divided enormous profits—even as high as 40 per cent.—but with no proportionate rise in the wages paid.—When the hands struck for shorter time—still even more than ten hours—they were starved into submission; for starvation is the arbiter that has always settled this question. Of course the girls and boys of the factories rush to the streets in the evening if not allowed to see day light or breathe fresh air outside the factory walls. See to it, neighbor Journal, that they are not cheated out of the education provided for them in the common schools, and in due time they will secure for themselves the privileges which everybody else knows belong to them. Without education they will have only poverty and oppression.

GEN. BUTLER recently visited Wiscasset to attend court professionally, and, strange to say, he won all hearts by his courteous bearing and his masterly and ingenious conduct of the case, in which he easily won a victory for his client out of the adverse testimony. Those who looked to see the court turned into a bear garden were agreeably disappointed. A correspondent of the Port. Press says of the General that "He is bold without bluster; pungent, but courteous and gentlemanly in all exhibitions of himself on the occasion described."

We learn from the Bangor Whig that the Maine Central Railroad Co. have located their new depot in Waterville on the Eaton lot above the Colleges. This will be an inducement for us to push our village towards Kendall's Mills as fast as possible. Passengers from the lower end of our village can either take the cars there or at the Winslow depot—the distance being about the same. The lot selected is level and a very eligible one for the purpose, affording a fine opportunity for building a handsome and commodious depot, a better one than we have ever had in Waterville.

A MURDEROUS ASSAULT was made upon policeman Grant, of Bangor, on Tuesday evening, by Edward Lake, "a young man about town," as we learn from the Whig. The officer by a sudden movement escaped a pistol ball, and arrested the young man, who was locked up, resisting in a mad way. Lake has since been examined and bound over for trial in $8000 bonds.

THE COLLECTION at the Baptist Church in our village, last Sabbath, for the relief of the West, amounted to $196, and the amount has since been increased to $210, of which $100 was designated for the Chicago Theological Seminary, small sums for the sufferers in that city and in Wisconsin, the remainder going to a relief committee at Port Huron, Michigan.

AN APPEAL to the Sabbath Schools of America for aid in rebuilding the famous Mission School established in Chicago, by that indefatigable worker, D. L. Moody, has been issued, signed by Henry Ward Beecher and other prominent clergymen.

[For the Waterville Mail.]
WE KNOW OF ONE.

In Kennebec County, Maine, we have an educated Baptist clergyman, well known in this community, who has for some nine years been the Pastor of a well-to-do, prosperous, united church and society in the town of _____; his people paid him all the salary he asked, though not large, and were ready to pay him more whenever he should ask it. He owned a good house, and several acres of land in good cultivation, which, with his salary, afforded a good support and living for himself and family. With such a united society and home, most men would be contented and satisfied that they could do as much good there as anywhere; but not so with our pattern minister of Christ. He saw his people so well trained and united that he believed they would do well and work well with some other man, conveniently secured for a Pastor. He told them so and asked them to let him go to _____ No. 2, where he was well known, and where circumstances are such that it would be regarded next to impossible to find a man for a minister who would unite the elements of society so as to secure a support and do good.

No. 2 is a wealthy farming town, where the large majority seem to neiher think nor care much about religious matters. They love their oxen and their dollars, and want morals to be good enough to allow them to enjoy life quietly; and to keep that, calculate that it will pay to have a minister if he comes cheap. In the town are a few Baptists, a few Congregationalists, a few Methodists and a few Free Baptists, and they all unite in asking our friend to be their Pastor, and with what can be obtained from others, offer him a small salary and the use of a poor house. He accepts the reduced living in the faith that in so doing he acquires a moral power to do good, in the name of his master, worth more than the sacrifices, and that God will make him instrumental in building up in _____ No. 2, a united, happy, christian church. If he succeeds, those farms will then be worth double what they now are. Each person in _____ No. 2 will see and know that our friend went there for their good,—he will have a power with them. There is one who is not self,—we know him. We hope there are many such.

The minister referred to above was, for some years, the Pastor of the writer, who is not a Baptist.

We suppose we know the individual referred to, and we give him credit for all that is claimed by our correspondent; and yet we cannot help fearing that through his invincible modesty he is "hiding his light under a bushel." A man's place is where he can be most useful; and that man, with his gifts and graces and culture, is best fitted to preach to a refined and cultivated audience. He is a power for good wherever he is, but he could exercise more power in a higher position.

Not being upon the books of our Congressional representative, we do not receive any public documents issued for the enlightenment of the people; but a friend who is thus favored turns over to us a Report of Mines and Mining, made to the 2d session of the 42d Congress by U. S. Commissioner, Rossiter W. Raymond. Among other interesting matter in this volume we find a full description, with engravings, of the Burleigh Rock Drill and the Burleigh Air Compressor for driving the drill, used in Colorado.

With a good deal of confidence we have counted the Portland Advertiser as one of the watchful, and incorruptible guardians of the public weal, and yet here is the Hon. Commissioner of Agriculture encouraging the cultivation of the Jute plant in this country, by distributing seed, &c., and that paper has not raised a single howl of indignant remonstrance. We should be loth to believe that this leading Maine paper has been bribed to keep silence.

The Methodist mentions the anomalous fact that although the Catholic reform movement, headed by Dr. Dollinger, reaches into nearly all the European states, and is even active in Rome itself, especially among the Faculty and students of the city university, yet in our country, the freest in the world, there is no appearance of the slightest sympathy with it among the Roman Catholics; and that although some of the American prelates were among the strongest opponents of the dogma of the infallibility of the Pope, in the council at Rome, they have all since succumbed. And the same is true of Ireland.

F. P. LORING, Esq.—a student at Colby for two or more years, but a graduate of Bowdoin and now a rising lawyer in Fitchburg, Mass., who attained the rank of Major while serving in the 13th Maine and has since been breveted Colonel—was recently elected Prohibitory representative to the Massachusetts legislature in the 5th Worcester district, having been run on an independent ticket against the regular republican nominee.

REV. C. V. HANSON, a graduate of Colby of the class of '65, now preaching in Peabody, Mass., was in town this week. He has just been chosen a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, from the Danvers district, on the Prohibitory and Republican ticket.

THE HUTCHINSONS sang to a large audience at the Methodist Church on Monday evening, those in attendance finding that a concert by these sweet singers may be improved by pleasant surroundings.

Nearly a foot of snow fell here last Friday night, which was an earnest beginning of winter. Under the influence of sun and rain it has suffered some diminution since. There is no frost in the ground.

SMITH'S BIBLE DICTIONARY, acknowledged to be the best work of the kind in existence, is advertised in our columns and may be obtained of C. K. Mathews, Waterville, or any bookseller in the country, or of the publishers.

THE METHODIST CHURCH AND SOCIETY are still busily laboring for the Western sufferers, and will report in due season.

THERE will be baptismal services at the Baptist Church next Sabbath evening.

The Great International Highway.

The European and North American Railway sustains a relation to the railway system of America corresponding to that of the Central Pacific R. R.

The latter is the only railroad reaching to California and the Pacific coast, and all the Railway traffic of the rest of the United States with California, Japan, China, &c., passes over the "Central Pacific." The European & North American Railway extends eastward toward Europe, and terminating at Halifax, will, on completion in July next, bring America and Europe within six days' sea voyage of each other. Heretofore eight days has been the minimum length of the voyage from New York.

The saving of some 36 hours time from that now required, and the avoidance of seven hundred miles of ocean travel altogether, will make this route to and from Europe by far the most popular. The travel between Europe and America, and vice versa amounts to over four hundred thousand passengers annually. Arrangements have been made already with the U. S. and Canadian Governments for taking the European mails over this Road, and the increased speed of transit will ensure to this R. R. the carrying of all the mails of China, Japan, and America, to and from all the nations of Europe, after its completion to Halifax next July. Because of the saving of time, and the entire avoidance of the worst part of the voyage across the Atlantic, (along the coast from New York to Halifax),—specie, and valuable freight will also take this route. The enormous magnitude of our business relation with Europe is too well known to need mentioning here.

Suffice it to say, that this E. & N. A. Railway, affording such remarkably valuable facilities for travel and traffic to and from Europe, will surely and beyond all question enjoy a remarkably large and lucrative business from this source.

Besides this, its local business is large and profitable. Being the only railroad connecting the Provinces, (population one million,) with Canada and the United States, its business is large and constantly increasing, and the immense mills and tanneries along its line furnish a business alone sufficient to make it a paying road.

The "Central Pacific" is the western, while the E. & N. A. Railway is the eastern terminal line of the Railway system of America, and as the former receives the outpouring of travel and freight from America towards California and Asia, and return,—so will the E. & N. A. Railway receive that of America toward Europe, and of Europe toward America,—an endless stream.

The 6 per cent. Gold Bonds of the Central Pacific are quoted at about 103, and are sought for as in every respect desirable and thoroughly safe.

The 6 per cent. gold bonds of the E. & N. A. Railway Co., (of the portion of the road in Maine, 114 miles,) are most amply secured and no R. R. Bonds ever offered in Maine have met with any quicker sales. They are not only secured by first mortgage on a valuable trunk line of Railway, and by a Sinking Fund, but also by first mortgage on some 800,000 acres of timber and farming land belonging to the Company in Maine. These amount to four hundred acres to each $1000 Bond. Nearly all of the entire amount of Bonds issued ($2,000,000,) have been sold, and the remainder soon will be.

Meantime they can still be had at 90 and accrued interest in currency, but after they are all sold, as the total amount is limited—($2,000,000,) and mostly held by Savings banks and others for permanent investment, it will be but seldom that any can be bought, and only at a price approximating that of "Central Pacific" and other first class 6 per cent. Gold Bonds.—[Bangor Whig.]

The above securities, thoroughly safe and excellent in every respect, can be procured for a short time at the People's National Bank, Waterville, Homer Percival, esq. Cashier.

On account of the handsome difference to be obtained by exchanging U. S. Bonds for the (from $200, to $275 in cash on each $1000) holders of U. S. Bonds are exchanging large amounts.

WILLIAM FLETCHER, JR., a young man 18 years of age, employed in Hinkley & Egery's foundry Bangor, is missing since Friday last. [He has been seen in Pittsfield.]

THE Kennebec Journal complains that the passenger depot there is crowded with ladies who throng in regularly, but go neither for the purpose of leaving in the trains nor to accompany or to meet friends who leave or arrive. We hope that is not a chronic disease anywhere else.

THEY have a cholera ship in New York harbor, but feel confident that the precautionary measures taken will prevent the spread of the disease.

IN 1811, Oscar Dunn, the present Lieutenant Governor of Louisiana was advertised in the N. O. Picayune as a runaway negro boy apprenticed to the plastering trade.

GEORGE G. PERCIVAL, of our village, has recently obtained a patent upon his process for extracting essential oils.

SOME CHANGES have been made in the trains on the Maine Central Railroad, for particulars of which see new advertisement.

THE UNITARIANS of our village are raising a subscription for Dr. Colyer's Church and have thus far secured about seventy dollars.

A collection for general distribution to the sufferers in Michigan, to the amount of $30, was made at the Congregational Church in our village, last Sabbath.

The apparatus for warming the new rooms in the North College, is said to work admirably. The fall term closes soon and these new rooms will be occupied in the Spring.

VICK'S FLORAL GUIDE for 1872, advertised in our columns, will of course be ordered by many of our citizens, for those who have bought his seeds are loud in his praise. Vick's labels are reliable and mean what they say, and he has all the new and beautiful varieties found anywhere.

Two vessels of the Russian fleet have arrived at New York, but Alexis was not in either.

ANOTHER RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

The public were again shocked Thursday morning by an exaggerated report of an accident in the night on the M. C. Railroad, near Gardiner. It was said that the entire Pullman train from Bangor was off the track, and badly smashed from engine to the Pullman inclusive. Of course report took it for granted that there was great destruction of life and limb, as there reasonably must be. Not till the arrival of the Kennebec Journal at 7 o'clock in the evening could the actual condition of things be learned.

It turns out that nobody was killed or severely hurt. This is the first inquiry, and of course first answered—for there is a growing feeling of indignation that renders the public careless of the destruction of the property of the road. In this respect the present accident is truly a strange one, if correctly reported. All the cars, with engine and tender, are off the track and badly smashed, and yet no lives lost, nor anybody seriously injured. It was storming furiously, and a wash-out in Farmingdale, opposite Lombard's ice house, and near the locality of the collision, caused the accident. The Journal says both the engine and tender were badly smashed, but that the engineer and fireman both escaped without being much hurt. The baggage car was thrown on its side, badly smashed, and took fire, but was extinguished by the passengers. The passenger and sleeping cars all had their trucks knocked out, and the road was badly torn up. A relief train, with several physicians, was promptly sent from Augusta.

[The Journal's report is only such as could be obtained in the night, and in spite of the storm and darkness, and may be materially changed under careful revision.]

A VIOLENT STORM—of which due notice had been given by the U. S. Signal Office—raged along our coast and throughout New England on Wednesday and Thursday. In some sections the fall of rain was very heavy washing out the roads and interrupting travel, and the wind being very violent an unusually high tide flooded the wharves and submerged the railroads along the coast, detaining the trains. No serious disasters, however, have yet been reported. Here we had some rain, some sleet, and some snow, and are left in about the same condition of travelling as when the storm began—heavy wheeling and very poor sleighing.

"There is more life sustaining material in one egg than in twenty times the amount in any other article of food."—So says a paragraph going the rounds of the papers. Just try the experiment on your cat with one egg against twenty chickens just hatched, and then tell the fool who started that paragraph to give it the lie and stop it.

We cheerfully and heartily endorse the following:—

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE.—We learn that the publishers of the PORTLAND DAILY PRESS and the MAINE STATE PRESS have just ordered a new Hoe Press and an entire new dress, in which both the daily and weekly will appear very soon. The Press has always been one of the most reliable and independent of our Republican exchanges, and we hail this large outlay as the best evidence of its prosperity and promise of its future usefulness. We commend this paper to such of our readers as now support a paper published outside of the county. Portland is the commercial center of Maine, and the record of its markets and other matters is of growing importance. The publishers offer rare inducements to clubs. Address the Portland Publishing Company, Portland.—[Rockland Free Press.]

THE REV. F. W. BAKERMAN, formerly of Newburyport, has received a unanimous call to the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Janesville, Wis., with a salary of $2,000.

MR. GEORGE W. DAVIS, of Alfred, a late graduate of Colby University and the Newton Theological Institution, was ordained as pastor over the Baptist church at South Amesbury, Mass., the eighth inst.

A SECOND HAND PIANO is advertised for sale in our columns this week.

OYSTERS!—Lovers of the bivalves, who like them large and fat, and fresh from their beds, will be interested to know that Mr. E. R. Mayo, of Kendall's Mills, is prepared to furnish them in any quantity. See his card in another column.

THE LEEHAN MURDER.—Boston, Nov. 15.—Michael Cusick, who has figured as witness in the inquest into the murder of Kate Leeihan, was to-day committed to jail as the murderer. The evidence against Cusick is at present withheld by the coroner, except that he was known to be in the vicinity when the girl was murdered, and his contradictory statements and failure to account for himself at that time.

All classes and all ranks are exposed to danger. The "care of the world" becomes the snare of those who have little, and the "deceitfulness of riches" the snare of those who have much. Thus the world was against the soul alike when it smiles and when it frowns. Pinching want and luxurious profusion are two widely diverse species of thorns, but they may be equally effective in destroying the precious seed.—[Dr. Arnot.]

Confessions by the South Carolina Ku-Klux still continue to be made, and the facts that are becoming known in the community are having the effect of compelling the respectable people there, however bitter they are in their rebellious sympathies, to disclaim relations with or support of the atrocities.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14. Mr. Loring, who was murdered with others in the Arizona stage, was a popular author and journalist and was on his way to the East, intending to lecture on Arizona, and expose Colyer's Indian peace negotiations.

The states which have held elections this year throw 222 electoral votes. Those which have gone Republican throw 171 votes, and of the Democratic states this year nobody believes New Hampshire will vote for a Democratic President.

FITTING NAMES.—"Many a true word is spoken in jest." Standing, the other day, near the entrance of the saloon of a large hotel at the seaside, we saw several young men pass in. As they stood at the bar, one said to another, with a smile, "Nominato your poison?" He had said a terribly true thing in joke. Yes, name your poison—just the word! And they swallowed the poison and went away. Soon another party went in. Said the leader to his companion, as they leaned against the counter, "What is your family trouble?" meaning, "What will you drink?" Family trouble!—rightly named; for what has made so much domestic misery as liquor? And we walked away, feeling that we had learned two new and strikingly appropriate names for liquor, poison and family trouble.

A gentleman makes a suggestion in the New York dailies, that to every congregation in this country at least one sermon be preached on the Sabbath next preceding any popular election, local or state, upon the privileges, duties and responsibilities of the possessor of the right to vote, enforcing especially the duty of professing christians to do their best to exert a salutary influence, in promoting the nomination and election to public office of men of known high moral character; and he further proposes that on such occasions the special guidance of the Almighty be evoked, that all who possess the power to vote may rightly use it. If prayers of this nature were offered and answered, there would be a remarkable scratching of tickets.

An ambitious project has been formed by a small knot of Rabbis at Frankfurt, to lead the scattered Children of Israel back to Palestine, and establish a Jewish Kingdom there again. Invitations to join the project have been printed in great numbers, and are by this time spread among the numerous members of this ancient race throughout Germany; and, if we believe the report of newspapers friendly to Judaism, influential money men in Frankfurt—now the headquarters of German Jews—have given it their substantial support.

General O. O. Howard, Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau, in his forthcoming annual report will recommend the total abolition of what there is left of that institution, and the transfer of its functions to other departments. Little remains to be done, save the adjustment of claims of colored troops for bounties and back pay, and this can as well be accomplished by the proper bureau of the War Department.

MORMON WOMEN.—Grace Greenwood, now in Salt Lake City, is writing the New York Times a series of letters respecting that country and its people. Speaking of the women she says:

Those I have met appear to me, I must say, like good and gentle Christian women. They are singularly simple in dress, and modest in demeanor. What saddens me is their air of extreme quietude, retirement and repression. But for the children around them you would think some of them were women who had done with this world. I am told that the wives of even the highest Mormon dignitaries show little pride in their lords. It were perhaps difficult to feel much pride in the sixteenth part of a man, as men go. Even the first wife of a wealthy saint betrays in her husband and household, they say, no exultant joy of possession. An investment in a Mormon heart and home must be rather uncertain stock for a woman. I am assured, though, that the second wife is seldom taken without the full consent of the first. Not only are the poor woman's religious faith and zeal appealed to, but her magnanimity toward her sister-woman out in the cold. It must be through great suffering that such heights of self-abnegation are reached. The crucifixion of the divine weakness of a loving woman's heart must be a severe process. But there is some sorry comfort in the thought that for these poor polygamous wives there is no wearing uncertainty, no feverish anxiety—that they are spared the bitter pain of jealousy, the vague nightmare torture of suspicion, the grief and horror of the final discovery, the fierce sense of treachery and deception. They know the worst. Perhaps it is the "dead certainty" that gives them the peculiar cold, still look I have referred to. As to the Mormon men whom I have met, mostly leaders in the church, and prominent well-to-do citizens, I must say that they look remarkably care free and even jolly under the cross. Virgil, I believe, has somewhere the expression, "three times and four times happy!" "Well, that is the way they look."

WORDS OF ADVICE.—Mr. Agassiz, being about to leave the country, as he says with the possibility of never returning, has bequeathed to the friends and promoters of education among us a lesson of wisdom and an admonition which is worthy of being cherished and practically remembered. He thinks we are too proud of the success we have achieved in our education; that too much is made of the memory and too little of the mind; that there are too many branches of study for proficiency in any one important respect, and too many text books, the work of men who write not from knowledge but as a trade. The true text book is the living voice. Thoroughness is sacrificed to ostentatious display. Our system has not, as he thinks, given to the people the culture necessary to preserve republican institutions. There is much truth in these criticisms, although they are seriously in conflict with the prevalent educational notions and theories of the day, and are humbling to our pride, and not pleasant to hear. Mr. Agassiz only confirms the apprehension of many minds among us, that education has not kept pace with the physical progress of the age, and that our boasted system has not given us the culture which is indispensable to the preservation of our republican institutions. As a nation we are in danger of realizing a material greatness which we may not be morally and intellectually able to sustain. The theory of Macaulay may even be verified in our experience, namely, that "civilization itself may engender the barbarians who shall destroy it." Our system of education generally is defective in some vital respects, such as are hinted at by Mr. Agassiz. Its results are superficial and speculative, rather than practical and useful. The elementary principles are neglected for such things chiefly as were better unlearned. "Too much is made of the memory and too little of the mind." Discipline of the intellect and the culture of habits of study are neglected for the more ostentatious and captivating purpose of storing the mind with facts which are unavailable in the business pursuits of life. Reading, writing and arithmetic are deemed unworthy of the time and labor which proficiency in those fundamentals involves. Text books are more numerous than profound; more popular than exact; and have altogether more of a commercial than an educational value. Boys who went to school forty or fifty years ago, with an educational library made up of Webster's Spelling Book, Whifford's Writing Lessons,

Adams's Arithmetic, and perhaps Murray's Grammar, were better educated, it might be, than those who now go burdened with text books almost too numerous for a catalogue. Showy exhibitions, and not thoroughness and solidity of acquirement, are the tests now of proficiency and success.—[Boston Post.]

Here is common sense for you: The Tribune says that newspapers which are worth a brass farthing support themselves, and owe no thanks whatever to political parties. The moment they begin to hang on the skirts of a political party for support, they simultaneously begin to be good for nothing, and merely pensioners, without any independent opinions of their own. "Organs" will please take notice.—[Watchman and Reflector.]

It is not true that slavery now flourishes in Cuba and Porto Rico alone. A resident of Tangier, in Morocco, writes that African children are dragged along the streets there by a Moorish auctioneer, and the vile traffic in human beings goes on every market day in connection with the sale of cattle and agricultural products.

From observations of the spectrum of Encke's comet made at the Harvard Observatory, it appears that it is a gaseous body, emitting light, and not merely reflecting it.

A farmer in the Empire State is attempting to establish the fact that animals can live with no water. Some time in June last, he put in an enclosure a number of hogs and a small calf. Neither the hogs nor the calf have had any water during this entire period, and yet, strange to say, they are all fat as moles, and in an exceedingly thriving condition.

From JOHN G. DILLINGHAM, of Freeport.
This is to certify that I had a tumor on my face; it was there about three years. It kept increasing in size. I was advised to try Miss Sawyer's Salve. I got a box and carried it with me, and every time I thought of I would rub the tumor with the Salve; and before I used a box the tumor entirely disappeared.

FOUR EVILS.—Whoever habitually uses any alcoholic liquors as a "stomachic" will be likely to suffer from four evils, viz.: an overplus of food in the stomach, impaired ability to digest it, the pangs of dyspepsia, and doctor's bills. DR. WALKER'S VEGETABLE VIKINGAR, the great Teetotal Restorative of the age, without overstimulating the palate or irritating the stomach, purifies the liver and bowels, purifies the blood, and, instead of entailing four evils confers four inestimable benefits.

The North British and Mercantile of London and Edinburgh are heavy losers in the Chicago fire, but the money to pay the claims to be drawn from the other side of the water, so that the assets held in this country which amount to more than $1,300,000 will not be touched on account of that disaster. The chairman of the London Board in response to despatches from the New York management promptly sent the following satisfactory cablegram, "Subscribe $5,000 for the sufferers, settle all losses promptly, draw at three days sight."

The members of the Brooklyn investigating committee say that they have evidence showing about 4100 fraudulent votes cast, and they are anxious that the canvassers be compelled to give certificates of election to a majority of the Republican candidates on the county ticket, and all Republican candidates, including the Mayor, on the city ticket.

Justin McCarthy writes to the New York Mail that John Bright is as well as he ever was, and will remain so as long as he is content to wholly abstain from any mental exertion whatever. But if he should once break that condition, his mind would be gone in a week. There is no prospect that he will ever reappear in public life; his career is over.

An exchange says the "meanest thing in the world is the jealousy which a certain class of politicians entertain for men who served their country in the field and at the front during the war for the Union. And this class show their bitterness of soul more especially when they attempt to make capital out of the fact that one or two ex-soldiers have proved false to official trusts. The implication is as contemptible as it is false."

THE CAUSE AND CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

C. R. McFadden

The primary cause of Consumption is derangement of the digestive organs. This derangement produces deficient nutrition and assimilation. By assimilation I mean that process by which the nutriment of the food is converted into blood, and thence into the solid of the body. Persons with digestion thus impaired, having the slightest predisposition to pulmonary disease, will be liable to it. The very thing to be done is to cleanse the stomach and bowels from all diseased mucus and slime which is clogging these organs so that they can perform their function, and then rouse up and restore the liver to a healthy action. For this purpose, the surest and best remedy is SCHECH'S MANDRAKE PILLS. These Pills cleanse the stomach and bowels of all the dead and morbid slime that is causing disease and decay in the whole system. They will clear out the liver of all diseased bile that has accumulated there, and arouse it up to new and healthy action, by which natural and healthy bile is secreted.

The stomach, bowels and liver are thus cleansed by the use of Schech's Mandrake Pills; but there remains in the stomach an excess of acid, the organ is torpid and the appetite is poor. In the bowels, the mucus is weak and requires strength and support. It is in a condition like that of a man who has been overworked and is now in need of rest and strength. It will give prompt tone to this important organ, and create a good, hearty appetite, and prepare the system for the reception of nutriment. It is then, by the great strength of the stomach and bowels, that the system is able to assimilate and create good, healthy blood. After this preparatory treatment, what remains to be done is to cure the consumption in the free and recovering use of Schech's Pulmonic Syrup. The Pulmonic Syrup nourishes the system, purifies the blood, and is ready to absorb the diseased lungs. There it ripens all morbid matters, whether in the form of abscesses or tubercles, and then assists Nature to expel all the diseased matter in the form of free expectoration, when once it ripens. It is then, by the great strength and purifying properties of Schech's Pulmonic Syrup, that all ulcers and cavities are healed up, and the patient is cured.

The essential thing to be done in curing Consumption is to get up a good digestion, so that the body will grow in flesh and get strong. If a person has diseased lungs, a cavity or abscess in the lungs, or a general debility, the matter cannot ripen, so long as the system is below par. It is necessary to cure in a new order of things, a good nutrition, the body to grow in flesh and get fat. Then Nature is helped. The cavities will heal, the matter will ripen and be thrown off in large quantities, and the person regain health and strength. This is the only and only plan to cure Consumption. If a person is very bad, if the lungs are not entirely destroyed, or even if one lung is entirely gone, there is hope.

I have seen many persons cured with only one sound lung, and all enjoy life as good as new. This is what Schech's medicines will do to cure Consumption. They will clean out the stomach, sweeten and strengthen it, get up a good digestion, and give Nature the assistance she needs. They clear the system of all the disease that is in the lungs, whatever the form may be.

It is important that, while using Schech's medicines, care should be exercised not to eat cold and damp weather; avoid night air, and take out-door exercise only in a genial and warm sunbath.

I wish to distinctly understand that when I recommend a person to be careful in regard to taking cold while using my medicines, I do so for a special reason. A man who has but partially recovered from the effects of a bad cold is far more liable to a relapse than one who has been entirely cured. So long as the lungs are not properly healed, just so long is there liable to be a relapse of the disease. Hence it is that I so strenuously caution pulmonary patients against exposing themselves to a "catching" cold, for it is not a "catching" cold, but a relapse of the disease. The great secret of my success in my medicines consists in my ability to subdue inflammation without striking it, as many of the faculty do. An inflamed lung cannot with safety to the patient be exposed to the biting blasts of winter or the chilling winds of autumn. The student of medicine should have observed in this particular, as without it a cure under almost any circumstances is an impossibility.

The person should be kept on a wholesome and nutritious diet, and all the medicines continued until the body has recovered all the natural quality of flesh and strength.

I was myself cured by this treatment of the worst kind of Consumption, and have lived ever since in perfect health, and many years ago, and very many have been cured by this treatment who I have seen.

About the first of October I expect to take possession of my new building at the north end of Sixth and Arch streets, where I shall be pleased to give advice to all who may require it.

Full directions accompany all my remedies, so that a person in any part of the world can be cured by strict observation of the same.
